SCHOOLS TO OPEN

Children Will Return to Studies on Monday

On Monday next the public schools of the city will reopen their doors and Supt. Whitcomb and his assistants have made all arrangements for the annual event which is now a matter of regular routine with the department. Some increases in attendance are expected though the size of the increase cannot be estimated until the schools have been open a week.

An additional room will be opened in the Moody school where Principal Greene is assured of a sufficient number of pupils to warrant it, and there will probably be some crowding at the Varnum and Highland schools, both of which are in need of more accommodations. The principals of these schools, however, made their promotions in June to make room for the newcomers in September and thus are prepared for the opening. A week will tell just what their needs will be.

Asked if he expected an increase in pupils Supt. Whitcomb said: "I should expect that there would be an increase this year owing to the fact that the assessors this year found a substantial increase in the number of polls in the city. For the past several years there have been decreases in the number of polls and in each case a corresponding decrease in the number of pupils in attendance at the schools, and therefore with an increase in polls we would naturally look for an increase in the number of children. We are prepared for most any number, however, and come who may we shall open without any friction."

MANY TEACHERS; FEW JOBS.

Mr. Whitcomb when asked if any new teachers would receive employment this year replied: "Wherever a vacancy is found on the opening day a substitute will be sent in the order of her seniority, under the civil service rules. It is remarkable how the number of vacancies has decreased, while the supply of teachers is ever on the increase. For the past 10 years we averaged 20 elections a year but last year we had only three vacancies and this year we have but four thus far."

The following young ladies were recently admitted to the Training school as practice teachers: Misses Edith A. Kelly, Christina M. Kane, Elizabeth Provencher, Annie E. Irving, Clara E. Perkins, Mabel A. Metcalf, Harriet B. Whittaker, Margaret Hagerty, Mary E. Cassidy and Eleanor Cull.

Besides these Miss Lucy M. Stevenson and a Miss Driscoll from Lawrence passed the examination and were admitted, but since their admission have notified Supt. Whitcomb that they have obtained positions elsewhere and will not present themselves at the Training school. Four of the young ladies admitted were college graduates but they took the examination with the rest. Supt. Whitcomb said that it had been found necessary to have the college graduates take the examination with the others in order to keep the school from being filled with college graduates. Last year 24 college girls applied for admission under the supposition that they would be admitted upon their diplomas. Supt. Whitcomb when asked how many of the girls ad- from this city, replied: "They are practically all Lowell girls".

Mr. Ketchum, the new supervisor of drawing, evidently intends to lose no time in getting down to business for he has notified Supt. Whitcomb that he will address the teachers without loss of time according to the grades they teach and has sent out a call to the primary school teachers of the city to meet with him on Tuesday afternoon in the basement of the Greene school. He will take the other grades later.

DIED SUDDENLY

Heart Failure or Apoplexy Caused Death

Frederick Peterson, aged about 42 years, died very suddenly at W. F. Bennett's boarding house at 29 Webster street on the Hamilton corporation this morning. Death was due either to heart failure or apoplexy.

Mr. Peterson came to Mr. Bennett's boarding house about four or five weeks ago and was employed at the Lowell machine shop. Last Tuesday he was taken ill and gradually grew worse. This morning at 6.30 o'clock Mr. Bennett went to the police station to have the man removed to an hospital, and the ambulance was summoned, but in the meantime the man had died and when the ambulance arrived it was found that its services were not needed.

Undertaker Ela was then notified and the body was removed to his undertaking parlors.

MANAGER DODGE

GREETED BY A NEW BOY ON HIS RETURN FROM OHIO FAIR.

Manager Dodge, of Hood's Farm, returned from the Ohio state fair at Columbus yesterday very jubilant over the success of his exhibition of Berkshires, which took six first prizes, five seconds and five thirds.

At the New York state fair at Syracuse his Berkshires took both championship prizes, together with eleven first prizes, seven seconds and three thirds.

He is now shipping the exhibit of twenty Berkshires to Indianapolis to be exhibited there, after which they will be sent to the St. Louis fair, to enter a competition about the first of October. Manager Dodge will go there before the end of this month.

On his return home yesterday he was greeted by a boy betr, who arrived during Mr. Dodge's absence. This piece of news caused more jubilation at the Dodge home than did all the prizes won by the Berkshires.

BRADLEY KILLED

His Body Was Identified Twice

MARLBORO, Sept. 10—There was a double identification of the body of the man struck by a train on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. at Fayville, Wednesday night.

Yesterday a section foreman on the railroad identified the body as that of "John Murphy," employed with a construction gang on the railroad, and who, the foreman said, had relatives in Cambridge.

An effort was made to locate them, and in doing so, members of a family named Bradley were met, who said the body might be that of a relative who, for some reason, had given his name as "John Murphy."

This morning a brother of the dead man came here and identified the remains as those of John J. Bradley, and took the body to Cambridge.

Yesterday Bradley's father and mother arrived from Ireland and it was arranged that a reception should be tendered them, which was to have taken place last night, but when the suspicion was aroused that the dead man at the Marlboro undertaker's might possibly be a son of the couple it was intended to honor, there was called a halt in the preparations for the festivity.

The deceased, according to his brother's statement, was some time ago arrested in Lowell for some trivial offence, and it is thought that because of that fact he had assumed the name by which he was known to his fellow workmen.

The local police say that Bradley was never arrested in this city.

PHONOGRAPHS TO BE DRIVEN FROM POOL ROOMS.

Starts War on Phonographs in Pool Rooms

Because of the many complaints that have reached police headquarters relative to phonographs in pool rooms and other places, Supt. Moffatt has determined to do what he can to suppress what has really grown to be a nuisance.

Phonographs are used for advertising purposes, to call attention to the place where they are located, and Supt. Moffatt finds that his authority relative to phonographs is not as far reaching as it might be. He can order them out of pool rooms and bootblack stands, but when it comes to private residences, barber shops or places where the noisy things are sold, his hands are tied.

The chief objection to the phonograph is that it sounds far into the night. It is in a sense a disturber and as the phonograph is not a thing of life and unable to create a disturbance of its own accord the responsibility of such disturbance falls upon the shoulders of "the man behind."

While the superintendent cannot order the phonograph from certain places he suggests a way that the war against the alleged musical instruments can be waged. If the phonograph fiend keeps the thing running late enough to disturb the slumbers of his neighbors he can be complained of for disturbing the peace or maintaining a nuisance.

The pool room managers look upon the superintendent's order as a hardship and think it unjust they should be ordered to dispose with their machines while barbers and others are allowed to keep them.

Several liquor saloons use phonographs to attract customers and these, too, it is stated may be ordered out. The police commissioners, it is stated, have been appealed to in this direction and immediate action will be taken to abate the alleged nuisance.

STEAMER LOST

Crew Rescued After Hard Battle With Breakers

HIGHLAND LIGHT, Mass., Sept. 10—The steamer Longfellow of New York loaded with 300 tons of dynamite and bound from Wilmington, Del., for Lake Superior, sprang a lead on Nantucket Shoals yesterday afternoon and sank about three miles southeast of Cap Cod light before midnight. The entire crew of sixteen men, after several hours in two open boats, reached land although one of the boats capsized in the surf. The Longfellow lies in about thirty fathoms of water and is not believed to be a menace to navigation.

The steamer was sighted off the Pamet river life saving station at nine o'clock last night, showing red lights and blowing signals of distress.

Owing to the terrific surf which was breaking on the beach the life-savers of that station were unable to launch their boat and were compelled to wait upon the beach.

At ten o'clock the whistling ceased and the lights went out. The life-savers, however, kept a sharp watch and early this morning two boats were discovered just outside the breakers. They were warned to keep off shore until daylight and they pulled away to sea.

At dawn they had both gone farther up the beach and one of thm attempted to land opposite the Highland Light saving station, but in doing so was capsized in the surf. The crew of that life-saving station rushed into the breakers and dragged the men ashore considerably exhausted. The other boat kept off again and the crews of the Highland and High Head stations launched their own life-boats to their assistance.

Taking the Longfellow crew in tow all three pulled still further up the beach and managed to reach land without any mishaps opposite the Peaked Hill Bar station seven miles from that point.

Captain Edward G. Riley, of the Longfellow, reported that his vessel sprang a leak under the engine room, when going over Nantucket Shoals yesterday afternoon. He kept on, hoping to reach Provincetown, but before going up to Highland Light the water reached the boilers and the vessel began to sink. The crew of 16 men taking their personal effects put off from the vessel in two boats and about midnight the Longfellow sank in thirty fathoms of water.

Captain Riley had orders to call at a Nova Scotian port for coal. The Longfellow was a vessel of 218 tons net, 146 feet long, 27 feet wide and 12 feet in depth.

She was built in Boston in 1883.

THE LONGFELLOW

WAS FAMILIAR CRAFT IN MASSACHUSETTS WATERS.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Sept. 10.—The steamer Longfellow which sank off Highland Light during the night was a familiar craft in the waters of Massachusetts Bay several years ago. For a long time she was owned by the Boston and Provincetown steamship company and plied between those ports. It is regarded as a peculiar incident that the old boat after being absent from the cape so long should find her last resting place within a few miles of her former moorings in Provincetown Bay. The Longfellow was a small boat and was built by the Lockwood Mfg. Co. of East Boston in 1883. Several years ago she was sold to the New York and Porto Rican S. S. Co. and used by that concern in West Indian waters. It is understood she was recently chartered by a company operating on the lakes. The dynamite on board was consigned to Hancock, Michigan.

At the time of the great storm in 1898 the Longfellow was one of the mediums by which the first details of the loss of the steamer Portland, northeast of the cape, were conveyed from her to Boston. The value of the vessel is not known here.

MILLS TO CLOSE

For One Week Only Says Agent Southworth

AGENT THOMAS OF BOOTT MILLS

Says He Hopes to Start up in Two Weeks

The Massachusetts mills closed today for one week, only. The mills will open again Monday morning, Sept. 19. The reason of the shut-down is because the Massachusetts is short of cotton, but the cotton is on the way.

Agent Southworth was not very well pleased with the insinuation in a morning paper to the effect that the shut-down in the Massachusetts might, like the Boott mills, mean for a longer period than at first stated.

"There is no reason why," said Mr. Southworth, "the Massachusetts mills would not resume operations on Monday morning, September 19. We are closing down for one week because we are short of cotton, but the cotton is on the way. The statement in the morning paper was somewhat mischievous."

The Massachusetts mills employ 2000 operatives and everybody will be glad to know that the shut-down will be for one week only.

While nothing is positively known relative to the starting up of the Boott mills, it is believed that operations will be resumed one week from Monday. Agent Thomas of the Boott mills in reply to questions by a representative of The Sun today, said: "We are awaiting orders from the selling house through the treasurer. I am not in a position to say when the Boott will resume operations, but I think and hope that it will be within two weeks."

ARRESTED HERE

Agnes McLaughlin Figures in Arson Case

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 10—The mystery surrounding the disappearance from Manchester, N. H., three weeks ago of Agnes McLaughlin, the 18-year-old daughter of James McLaughlin of East Manchester, is solved.

She lies at the point of death at the Rhode Island hospital, and is known there as Mrs. Jack Sweeney. Her partner husband is locked up at the central station, for the authorities scout the theory that her terrible burns were self-inflicted. The young couple came to this city last Saturday. Sweeney says they were married in April, 1903. Her father denies this and says the young folks eloped from Manchester last month. Last Wednesday night the 6th station officers were called to a house, where they were told a woman had been burned. They found Mrs. Sweeney literally roasted and were told that she and Sweeney had had a quarrel and that a kerosene lamp had been thrown at the wife. Sweeney avers that his wife became despondent because she could not dress better and that she deliberately poured kerosene upon her night clothes and applied a match.

Sweeney will be arraigned next Monday unless his wife dies sooner, which seems probable.

Agnes McLaughlin was arrested in this city about one year ago for setting fire in Hills' block on Tyler street. Later on she was released and returned to Manchester.

THE LATE EDWARD R. DONOVAN.

ED. R. DONOVAN

Well Known Real Estate Dealer Passed Away

DEATH WAS CAUSED BY A CARBUNCLE

Had Been Ill But a Short Time

Edward R. Donovan, the well-known real estate dealer, and a widely known and highly respected citizen, died at St. John's hospital, yesterday afternoon, after a two weeks' illness with a carbuncle at the top of the spinal column.

The news of Mr. Donovan's death was entirely unexpected to the public at large, very few knowing of the serious nature of his illness, and it shocked the community.

Mr. Donovan took ill with a carbuncle about two weeks ago and first paid no more than ordinary attention to it. But as it grew and his sufferings increased he decided to submit to an operation and accordingly was removed to St. John's hospital last Tuesday where he was operated upon at once. The operation showed that the carbuncle had made great inroads into his system yet he appeared to rally from the effects of the operation and was in the best of spirits on Thursday when it was believed he might recover. But a relapse set in on Thursday evening and from that time on a series of sinking spells followed until the end came yesterday about 4 o'clock, the dying man having received the last rites of the Catholic church.

Edward R. Donovan was born in North Billerica 37 years ago and received his early education in the Howe school at the Centre.

After leaving school he came to Lowell and engaged in the provision business in Lincoln street. Subsequently he engaged in other business pursuits, among them being the real estate business in which he was most successful up to the time of his last illness.

He was an active worker in the old Catholic union and one of the organizers of the old Les Miserables club. He was a man of sterling qualities and made friends of all with whom he came in contact. He possessed a sunny temperament and highly moral character and in business was industrious, straightforward and the soul of integrity. While in his bachelor days he was the life of many a social gatherings, since his marriage several years ago, he had resigned his earlier pleasures for the delights of the family hearthside and had become a veritable homebody, the latchstring of whose hospitable domicile was ever out to his friends.

Besides his wife and daughter he is survived by four brothers and three sisters, the latter being Mrs. Mary Spencer, the widow of the late Robert Spencer; Annie E. Donovan, the well-known teacher in the Edson school; Grace, the wife of Dr. Hurtubise. Of the brothers, James C. is the well-known harness manufacturer of Market street, and William H. is employed in the same establishment; John J. is a resident of Seattle, Washington, and J. P. resides in Marblehead. This is the first death in the Donovan family in twenty years, the father dying in 1884. The remains were removed from St. John's hospital last night by Undertaker Savage to the late home of the deceased, 14 Stevens street.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon from his late home.

Democratic Committeemen Held Meeting

TALKED OVER CITY AND TOWN AFFAIRS

Lowell Men Among Those Who Attended

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—The chairmen of the democratic city and town committees of the 5th, 6th and 7th congressional districts, and other representative democrats of that territory, met with the executive committee of the democratic state convention at the Fernecroft inn, in Middleton, yesterday. The meeting was the third in a series which the state committee has promoted during the past month, and the fact that Middleton returns democratic majorities about as large and as often as Vermont did not seem to have a discouraging effect upon the gathering.

On the contrary, those present were very enthusiastic as to the prospects of democratic success and delighted with the picturesque surroundings in which the conference was held.

COMPLAINS OF STATEMENT. ABOUT MONEY.

Mr. McNary, chairman of the state committee, who presided, complained in his opening remarks that a statement made at the Hyannis conference some time since, to the effect that a contribution of $1000 on Cape Cod would mean an increase of 1000 votes for the party, had been misconstrued by the reporters.

The Hon. Charles S. Hamlin declared that this was the most hopeful year the democrats have ever entered upon.

William P. Connery of Lynn said that he felt the state committee, or any other executive body of the democratic party, was open to criticism, if the rank and file of the party chose to offer it, and that whatever fault existed was not confined entirely to the privates in the ranks.

J. Joseph Hennessey of Lowell, candidate for the democratic congressional nomination in the 5th district, said he did not think money ought to enter too prominently into the campaign. "If we cannot get the money let us work all the harder. Let us work for principle, and if we go down into defeat, we will have the satisfaction of having fought for a principle."

Mr. Connery of Lynn then again took the floor, and said that one of the difficulties which the party in his city was confronted with was the treachery of men who posed as democrats, who held office as such, but who allied themselves and conspired with republicans to defeat democratic candidates. "I have been many times a candidate for mayor," he declared, "and I know just what this combination does."

This brought Mr. Hennessey of Lowell to his feet again. He declared that it was not the duty of the state committee to interfere in local affairs. "We have local differences, too," said Mr. Hennessey, "but if the state committee came to Lowell and attempted to interfere, they would be drummed out of town."

It was said that the meeting had done much to solidify the democratic forces throughout the several congressional districts, and that its effect would be manifest in an increased democratic registration this fall.

MAYOR WHIPPLE

Candidate For State Treasurer in Lowell

The Martin Luthers held one of their delightful bi-weekly outings at their camp in Tyngsboro and had many out-of-town guests, including ex-Mayor Whipple of Brockton who is a candidate for state treasurer on the republican ticket.

The Luthers are composed of both democrats and republicans and politics are tabooed at the outings. But yesterday's gathering was a golden opportunity for the ex-mayor of Douglassville to become acquainted with some leading republican pols and he just swallowed the opportunity whole, each introduction including the little words, "the candidate for state treasurer, you know."

Mayor Chapin of Holyoke, who is also after the nomination, was in Lowell last week looking around but it would take him several days to find the crowd of party leaders that his rival fell in with at the outing.

NEGRO DEN

WAS RAIDED BY THE POLICE IN TREMONT STREET.

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—A house where girls from 12 to 17 years old were lured for immoral purposes was discovered yesterday by Sergt. O'Neil of station 10, when that officer found a young girl who had been sought by her parents in the house 972 Tremont street, Roxbury, together with two companions and a number of Chinamen and colored men. The girls were brought before Judge Bolster and a warrant for the arrest of the negro proprietor, Cyrus Walker, was granted. He was later arrested and locked up in station 10.

From the three girls the police learned that other girls are employed by the man as runners and went about among the little girls of the district to entice them to the house with stories of reward. In some cases the girls were told that they were to be given employment as housekeepers, with good salary and every afternoon off, and if it was necessary, they could go home nights. The mothers and fathers were told that they had obtained employment as nurse girls, which kept them out several nights a week. When they tired of the life they were sent adrift with the warning if they told anything about the place they would get in trouble.

The three girls taken from the place yesterday were under the influence of liquor when brought to the station house. Walker has been driven from one district to another in the city and has appeared in court many times.

SIGNAL VICTORY

THE ADVANCE IN CROCKERY HOLDS GOOD.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—A signal victory has been won by the domestic potters, by the ruling of sub-board No. 2 of the United States general appraisers, sustaining an advance of 10 per cent. made by Appraiser Whitehead on crockery from Holland. In doing so the sub-board, which consists of General Appraisers Fischer, Howell and Devries reversed the decision of General Sharrett, who on the first appeal sustained the importers' invoice values.

The goods on which the advance is made are chiefly cups and saucers of the cheaper grades, made in the Maseinicht district of Holland. Until a year ago, the domestic manufacturers controlled the market on this class of goods.

FACE BURNED

MYSTERY SURROUNDS ATTACK ON SOCIETY GIRL.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 9.—Miss Mabel MacPherson, aged 22 years, one of the most beautiful society girls in Evanston, sister-in-law of Benjamin F. Crawford, millionaire president of the National Biscuit company, was attacked in the Crawford home, 1218 Sheridan road, and horribly burned with carbolic acid early yesterday.

Members of the family declare the crime was committed by men bent on robbery. This is denied by the police working on the case, who hint at sensational developments. Bert Crawford, Mr. Crawford's son by a former marriage, was brought into the mysterious affair yesterday, although he is said to be absent with his wife at Mansfield, O., and not expected to return to Chicago.

STRUCK BY BRIDGE

YOUNG MAN KILLED WHILE STEALING A RIDE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—While the passengers were alighting from the Chicago limited train which had just arrived at the Grand Central station today the lifeless body of a young man with the head crushed was found lying on the roof of the mail car. One arm was clasped around a ventilator and the body was held firmly on the narrow roof. It is supposed that the young fellow was stealing a ride and that he was struck by one of the low bridges along the line. A letter signed by Paul Hanke of this city recommending "A. Jacobson" as a dentist was the only clue to the man's identity.

LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 9.—Those who have visited the Chicago and St. Louis expositions declare that the designs for the government building at the Lewis and Clark exposition indicate it will surpass in beauty anything heretofore attempted by the government, and that the Maine exhibit building will establish a precedent in architectural beauty for government exhibit buildings.

GOULDS IN CONTROL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—The announcement that Edward T. Jeffery, president of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad had been appointed director of the Western Pacific Railroad company, is accepted as proof that the Goulds are quietly preparing to annex that project to the system of railroads which they control.

The Western Pacific Railroad company was organized to build from Salt Lake to San Francisco and to construct certain branch lines in California.

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—The New Service Ticket company, a New Jersey corporation, to which was awarded the contract for printing the tickets used by the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis, has assigned for the benefit of its creditors to Richard B. Stanley of Boston.

APPLY FOR WORK

Former Strikers Want Their Old Jobs

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—More than 600 striking livestock handlers appeared at the office of Mr. Skinner of the Union Stock Yards and Transit company today to apply for their old positions. He had previously announced that he would employ all the old men needed.

Members of the other unions were not so much in evidence when work was being done at the packing house today. Most of the men did not know that the strike was off. President Donnelly has received a telegram from the last member of the international executive board of the butchers, giving permission to call off the strike.

None of the stock handlers were taken back, being informed that they would be sent for when needed. It is understood that before going to work they will be required to sign an agreement setting forth that they return as individuals and not as an organization.

Business Agent Golden of the Teamsters' union said that the teamsters will go back to work as an organization or not at all.

WRECKED VESSEL

PROVED TO BE SCHOONER BONNEY DOON.

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 9.—The mystery surrounding the schooner towed in bottom up by the revenue cutter Woodbury was solved today after an inspection by a diver. The vessel proved to be the Bonney Doon, built at Quaco, N. B., in 1890, and owned by Chapman, Son & Company of St. John, N. B.

All the spars were gone and the bowsprit smashed, indicating a collision. No record of the accident was known here. A peculiar feature was that the schooner was only a few tons different from the abandoned schooner Lizzie Dyas and the repairs on her keel were the same.

LOCKJAW CURED

PATIENT CONFINED IN COLD STORAGE.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 9.—The deadly tetanus, or lockjaw, which up till now was supposed incurable, has been robbed of its terrors by an Omaha physician. A cure has been discovered in the form of a treatment that consists simply in keeping patients confined in cold storage during the course of the disease.

Dr. W. J. McCrann has cherished a theory that freezing temperature would cure lockjaw. Friday he found a patient in the person of a 10-year-old boy, who had stepped on a splinter, and the resulting tetanus had passed the first stages. Physicians had given the lad up. Dr. McCann arranged with a brewery for the use of its cold storage room, and within an hour the severe pains in the neck and jaw and the faltering speech vanished. The temperature was kept at freezing.

The boy is still in the chill room, but is pronounced entirely recovered from the tetaus.

HUNTING SEASON

PLENTY OF GAME IN WOODS OF MAINE.

HOULTON, Me., Sept. 9.—With the approach of the fall hunting season which opens in Maine next month, numerous reports have come from the northern section of the state regarding the abundance of large game. Throughout the summer the presence of deer in and about the clearings has been of almost daily occurrence in many districts. In several instances large moose have been seen far south of their usual haunts, at least one family, a big bull, cow and calf, being seen only a short distance north of Bangor. Late reports tell of plenty of big game in practically all parts of northern Maine.

WANT CLOSED SHOP.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Blacksmiths in the ship yards hereabouts, who have been working on the open shop plan, have made a demand on the New York Metal Trades association for the closed shop and recognition of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths. Conferences are now being held, but there is no talk of striking on the part of the men. About 1,000 are involved.

RENEWAL OF CUBAN BUSINESS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Houses in this city actively engaged in trade with Cuba report a distinct revival in business throughout the island, according to the Journal of Commerce. Wednesday's steamer went out absolutely filled with cargo, and tomorrow's steamer, one of the largest plying between here and Havana, has been compelled to leave over 1,000 bags of oats for lack of room.

STREETS AND SEWERS

Superintendent Farnham is Making a Good Showing

Superintendent Farnham has been in the greatest demand for the past few days of any of the heads of departments at city hall, for he has been overrun with men asking for work and members of the city council asking for work on behalf of others. Yesterday morning there were several hundred men at the city barn, all anxious to go to work and many carrying with them their dinners in case they should be successful. Superintendent Farnham engaged as many as possible and then was obliged to turn the others away. He addressed the large concourse of men briefly telling them that he would gladly give work to all of them were such a thing in his power but under the circumstances he was forced to turn many of them down and hoped they would be able to catch on elsewhere. Several members of the city council make a practise of going to the barn in the morning to look after the interests of their constituents despite a provision in the charter discouraging such practises.

When Superintendent Farnham appeared again at his office prior to the meeting of the committee on streets yesterday he was met by another assemblage of job seekers who sought his ear.

For a superintendent who does not want the position and who is in office only temporarily Supt. Farnham is certainly making a big success in his position for he is making a fine showing with the material at hand. He seems to possess the happy faculty of knowing just what work the greatest number of people want done and on all sides he is being warmly complimented. At the present time the street department is repaving the sidewalks along Merrimack street above City hall and laying edgestones. These were in bad condition and their improvement had long been needed. A big improvement in Exeter and Dalton and adjacent streets is also being made. These streets are so sandy that it is almost impossible for a loaded wagon to turn around in them. The sand has been dug out to a depth of about one foot and then laid with immense cobblestones such as are put into the crushers. These stones are pressed down as far as they will go on the sandy bottom by the steam road rollers and then upon this solid rock foundation a good gravel street is being built.

The sewer department is kept busy at present, and a big job was started yesterday in Stromquist avenue which will keep a big gang employed until the cold weather. This sewer has been badly needed for a long time and will accommodate the entire territory from Gorham street to the Concord river in the rear of the Fair grounds. This territory has been built upon largely within the past few years and the residents up to the present have been putting up with out-houses, some of which are 50 feet removed from the dwellings. The new sewer will do away with all these out-houses. The sewer will cross the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad and will run under them.

Great progress has been made on the extension of the White street sewer along the bed of the Merrimack river and while the job is not yet completed, the nuisance which made the extension necessary has been abated. Where formerly the sewage emptied at the foot of White street and was left on the bare rocks when the river was low it is now carried from that point through 1500 feet of 24 inch pipe into a pool from which there is always running water.

THE SEMI-FINALS

GOLF PLAYERS NEARING FINAL STRUGGLE.

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 9.—Today's play will end the semi-final stage in the national golf championship tournament here. The two survivors will meet tomorrow for the final struggle over 36 holes at match play for the title, which was so unexpectedly wrested from Walter J. Travers yesterday by Geo. A. Ormiston of the Oakmount golf club of Pittsburg.

The match between these two will long be remembered by those who witnessed it as one of the most spectacular ever seen in this country. The passing of Travers removed the last of the former winners of the American title in the contest as Findlay Douglas, Chas. B. McDonald and Louis H. James, each of whom had held the honor for a year, were disposed of earlier in the tourney. Another player of prominence, E. M. Byers of Pittsburg, who was runner up in two of the championships, after defeating Walter Eagan of Chicago in the morning round yesterday was beaten later on by Frederick Herreshoff, the Vermont state champion.

This removed the last of those who distinguished themselves in the national events of previous years and the field of eight survivors is composed of six young players of more or less prominence and two older players. Among experts the winner of the Ormiston-Herreshoff match today is expected to be in the final tomorrow and H. Chandler Eagan is the other choice on account of his consistent playing since the championship started. The players in the morning round today are paired as follows: W. T. West, Camden, N. J., vs. Archie Reid, St. Andrews; Frederick Herreshoff, Ekwano, Manchester, Vt., vs. Geo. A. Ormiston, Pittsburg; J. M. Reid, Crescent A. C., vs. Dr. Fredericks, Oil City, and A. Havemeyer, Sea Bright, vs. H. Chandler Eagan, Chicago.

PERSONALS

Mrs. C. C. Hard of Nesmith street leaves today for Wilkesbarre, Pa., to visit her parents.

J. W. Whittemore and family have returned from a two weeks' vacation at Salisbury beach.

The Misses Mary and Fannie Hope of Concord street are with friends in New York city and vicinity.

HIGHLAND COUNCIL, R. A.

Highland Council, No. 950, held its regular meeting last evening at its hall on Branch street. During the meeting four applications were read. The council voted to invite prospective members and their lady friends to be present at an entertainment to be given at the next meeting, Sept. 21. Orator Langevin announced the line-up of the base ball team for the game with Lowell 5 Saturday, p. m. The series stands 1 to 0 in favor of Highland. Manager Langevin says he is out to win the Arcanum championship of the city.

After the business meeting, cigars and light refreshments were served, and whist was enjoyed until a late hour.

JUDGE HAWES DEAD.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Judge Kirk Hawes is dead at his summer home in Leschenoux Islands. During nearly 40 years he was the prominent figure in the law machinery of Chicago and for 12 years he served on the superior court bench of Cook county. Judge Hawes was born in Brookfield, Mass., January 5, 1823. He was a brother of Mrs. Mary J. Holmes, the author.

In the presidential campaign of 1880, Mr. Hawes opposed the third term movement in favor of General Grant. He and Robert G. Ingersol opposed the Grant forces at the Springfield state convention, were successful and thereby had much to do with the result of the national convention.

THUMB LACERATED.

Joseph Douglass, aged 25 years and residing at 116 South Highland street, while at work at the Heinze Electric company today, met with a painful accident. He had his left thumb caught in a buffing wheel, causing a laceration which required three stitches to close it. He was attended at the Emergency hospital.

CARREIRO GONE

SUM OF $2400 ALSO IS MISSING.

FALL RIVER, Sept. 9—Considerable surprise was manifested yesterday when it became generally known that Manuel Carreiro, Jr., well known as a steamship agent, was missing from home, and that about $2500 received from the sale of tickets to passengers on the steamer Peninsular, which sailed August 9 from New Bedford for the Azores, was also unaccounted for. A week ago Mr. Carriero went home to dinner, and that was the last seen of him by his wife.

RECEIVED BY POPE

1500 FRENCH PILGRIMS VISITED THE VATICAN.

ROME, Sept. 9.—The pope yesterday received 1500 French pilgrims mostly priests and nuns, and, in reply to their address, the pontiff said the reception was most important, being the first French pilgrimage to visit Rome since the conflict between France and the vatican. He thanked the pilgrims for their loyalty and devotion, and added:

"You, descendants of the sons of France who were unreservedly faithful to the church, unreservedly devoted to the chair of St. Peter, and always ready to defend and propagate truth and goodness, will not be degenerate heirs. In spite of the difficulties and sacrifices which, especially at the present time, you must face, be always generous-minded, with the certain knowledge that you will thus be working not only for your own happiness, but for the prosperity of your country.

"France is always, notwithstanding all that has happened, most dear to our heart. If necessary we are ready to endure again sufferings to insure the welfare and greatness of your country."

The moderation of the pope's discourse was much commented upon. It was compared with the aggressive tone of the recent speech made by the French premier, M. Combes, at Auxerre, France.

BATTLE ENDED

Gen. Grant Not Able to Carry Out His Plans

CORPS HEADQUARTERS, Gainesville, Va., Sept. 9.—The final day of the manoeuvres was being concluded at midnight. Heretofore the forces under Gen. Bell, the aggressor in the movement against Washington, were pushed forward toward the lines of defence. The tread of the infantry as they marched to orders delivered in hushed tones in the dark, the shifting of the huge field guns and the click of the cavalry horses' hoofs against the stony roads all combined to invest the historic Bull Run battlefield with a spectre return of the days of '62. When the first glimmer of day came, however, the spectre vanished and in its place was all the hustle and bustle of modern warfare. The troops had rested since three in the afternoon; they had been well fed; they were doing their last turn at the war game. All this combined to increase the animation and excitement of the moment. Hostilities began early. A crack at the blue uniforms was the first desire of the browns and the fight was taken up practically where it had ended the night before on the Wellington pike near Pageland Lane. The brown force seemed more inclined to push the blue with greater vigor.

The waiting game which had been played by General Wint with his blue force was not so easy to maintain. General Bell was eager to locate the main defence line. This line rested securely behind Bull Run in the extreme eastern end of the war zone and if it is to be assaulted the rear guard of blue will have to be pushed back with greater rapidity than was the case yesterday.

General Corbin brought the manoeuvres to a close at 9 o'clock this morning. At that time Gen. Bell with his broken army had advanced across Stone bridge, pushing General Grant back and also had swung a large part of his force from the left wing to the entire right flank of General Grant and put them across Bull Run at Sudley Springs. The manoeuvring on both sides was pronounced of the highest order. General Grant's plans were not fully developed on account of the desire on the part of General Corbin not to put too long a strain on the militia.

The spectacular feature of the morning's work was the battle of Stone bridge. General Grant had a strong line of defense on the east side of this stream, consisting of Price's brigade, including two battalions of the Alabama and another in the rear and a detachment of engineers. The brown force which had approached the bridge consisted of Barry and Regan's brigades. The attack was made by the Second Massachusetts and 12th New York. They were driven back twice with great loss, after advancing under heavy fire.

Just as they came up for the third time the ninth regulars succeeded in fording the stream below the bridge and came up in the rear of the blue forces. This movement was executed so cleverly that the blue force was not aware of their danger until the infantry was within 20 yards of them. The umpires ruled all out of the blue force at this place as either killed or captured. Previous to this the browns had brought up two machine guns within range of the rifle fire of the blues and untimbered for action. As this movement was not covered by any fire of any kind the guns were ruled out of action. The umpires ruled that the brigade was blown up by the blue army and the brown troops which were brought up in force at this place all had to ford the stream.

In the meantime the Brown force which had crossed Bull Run at Sudley had made its way down on the blue side. A blue line was formed back of the bridge and was being pushed hard by the brown force which had also formed in skirmish line for advance. Just as these two lines were becoming actively engaged the brown force from Sudley poured an enfiladating fire into the blue line from its right and had not Colonel Wagner, chief umpire, sounded secession the blue line probably would have been completely surrounded by the brown force. Still farther back and to the right the remainder of the brown force which crossed at Sudley was making a desperate effort to cut off Grant's communication in the rear. A wagon train was reported as captured and a squadron of cavalry came dashing within sight a short distance to the right of General Grant and his staff at his headquarters on the pike a mile back of the bridge.

This was the situation when the problem closed.

General Grant had withdrawn Wint's brigade across the bridge with the loss of one battalion earlier in the morning. This brigade had done nearly all of the work of the blue line yesterday and was short of ammunition. It was General Grant's plan to sacrifice the whole brigade if necessary and withdrawing it is regarded as an excellent piece of work. On the other hand the work of Gen. Bell in withdrawing his large force from the extreme left of Grant's position to the extreme right was a remarkable movement and was executed with the utmost skill and despatch. Its success was practically assured when the problem began.

Governor Bates and Adjt. Gen. Dalton of Massachusetts and Adjt. Gen. Farnham of Maine arrived at Corps headquarters today.

FINE OF $15,000

London Company Violated State Law

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—A fine of $15,000 has been imposed on the Royal Exchange Assurance company of London by the Massachusetts supreme court, for violating the state laws in transacting business in this commonwealth. A fine of $200 has been levied on Herbert G. Fairfield, the Massachusetts agent of the company. The company's license to do business in Massachusetts was revoked several weeks ago on account of the alleged violations. It is probable that on the payment of the fine this license will be returned to them.

The fines were imposed after a bill of information had been lodged by Attorney General Parker at the instance of the state insurance commissioners, who found that the company had been insuring Massachusetts properties in companies not authorized to do business in the state and that it had been insuring properties on forms other than those required by Massachusetts law.

GUEST OF PRESIDENT

AMBASSADOR HENGELMULLER AT OYSTER BAY.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 9.—Baron Larislaur Hengelmuller, ambassador of Austria-Hungary to America, and Count Appony, president of the Austria-Hungarian Diet, were guests of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt today at Sagamore Hill. Count Appony, who is a distinguished Hungarian leader, arrived in this country last Saturday to visit the St. Louis exposition and to make a short tour of the country. He desired to pay his respects to President Roosevelt and his presentation to him today was arranged through the Austrian embassy. The visit, it is stated, was one of no official significance, the desire of the distinguished callers being merely to meet and greet the president in his home. They were entertained at luncheon by the president and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Although no other visitors had engagements with him the president passed the remainder of the day about the grounds at Sagamore Hill, transacting with Secretary Loeb in the course of the day considerable executive business.

100 YEARS OLD

ANNIVERSARY OF THE LAFAYETTE ARTILLERY.

SOUTH LYNDEBOROUGH, N. H., Sept. 9—The 100th anniversary of the Lafayette artillery, was observed here today by the villagers and a large number of guests. Although the weather was damp, about 1,000 people came to town including Gov. Nahum J. Bachelder and staff, as well as representatives of several organizations.

The village was handsomely decorated and the commodious tents had been erected for the accommodation of the guests.

A salute was fired at sunrise from an old six pounder which was the only piece of artillery fit for service at the outbreak of the civil war.

The governor and other guests were received at the station by the Lafayette artilley, the Granite Rifles of Milford and Troop A, of Peterborough, New Hampshire cavalry. A military parade followed and at noon a dinner was served in the tent. This afternoon Governor Bachelder and other guests made addresses.

BUILDING NEWS

Contactors are Not Very Busy

Building operations in this city at the present time are rather quiet as regards new buildings. Carpenters, masons, plasterers and other crafts are at work finishing up houses and also making repairs and alterations, but the first of September generally marks the close of the active building season.

During the building season this year many new structures were erected, while large alterations and repairs were made. Among the improvements in the business centre were the Fellows block and Bascom block which were practically rebuilt, while great repairs were made in the old Odd Fellows building, now known as the Grafton block, the old Albion block and many others.

Dwelling houses and apartment houses have been started, some of which have been completed while others are now well under way.

George Stanley is going to have a house erected in Middlesex street, opposite Queen street. George W. Jockow has the contract and the building which will be a single dwelling house will consist of two stories with a pitch-hip roof.

J. G. Steadman is erecting a double house in Wannalancit street near the corner of Sargent street for Maria Lyons. The building will have a frontage of 25 feet and will extend back 51 feet and will be two and a half stories high.

The following table compiled by the F. W. Dodge company shows the total value of contracts awarded on new building and engineering enterprises throughout New England, as compared with corresponding periods during several years past:

Approximately 8 per cent. of the total amount of contracts awarded for the week is for manufacturing projects.

Contracts awarded Jan. 1, 1904, to date, $61,217,000. Contracts awarded corresponding period 1903, $74,903,000. Contracts awarded corresponding period, 1902, $101,488,000. Contracts awarded corresponding period 1901, $79,120,000.

Notwithstanding the extreme old age of the deceased, 84 years, there were many evidences of deep sorrow and mourning for the loss of so estimable a husband, father and friend.

There was a profusion of flowers. The bearers were Messrs. Charles A. Wilson of Lowell, A. S. Davis of Uxbridge, John McLellan and Frederick N. Haskell of Dracut, all sons-in-law of the deceased.

Two very appropriate selections were beautifully rendered by Miss Mollie Johnson and Miss Ethel Smith. Undertaker C. M. Young was funeral director and burial was in the Edson cemetery.

Lawrence J. Tighe, O. M. I. The choir was in attendance and sang the Gregorian mass and during the service appropriate selections were rendered by the different members of the choir.

There was a large profusion of floral tributes in evidence, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held by her many friends and acquaintances, the following being the most prominent: Wreath of ivy leaves and violets from the family; cross on base, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Donohoe; pillow, William Fitzgerald and wife; spray, Fred Lake; spray, friends. RUSSIAN PRESS FOR REORGANIZATION

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 9—2 p. m.—An impenetrable curtain seems to be rung down on the exact situation at the theatre of war. The lack of news here concerning the details of the Russian retreat to Mukden and the movements of the Japanese armies may be described as complete. Even the meagre reports published in the foreign press are not fully communicated to the Russian papers and for three days practically no newspaper dispatches have been coming through from the front. Information may be withheld for strategic reasons, but the public is disposed to regard it otherwise, resulting in the circulation of wildest reports, some of the Russian papers demanding in pretty outspoken fashion the re-organization of the conditions at the front and also demanding that Gen. Kuropatkin be given untrammelled control as commander in chief, evidently aiming at Viceroy Alexieff, who is supposed to be responsible for insisting that the re-inforcements should go to Vladivostok in view of the probability of early Japanese operations there or at Harbin, thus depriving Kuropatkin of troops which might have turned the scale at Liao Yang.

The Russ is especially bold, considering the restrictions placed on the Russian press. It declares that numerically superiority is not enough and that what is needed is some of the do-or-die spirit of the Japanese.

The paper quotes the words of Gen. Dragomiroff, former governor general of Kieff, and an authority on military matters, as follows:

"Give me a soldier who is firmly determined to die for his country and I will guarantee that my tactics will be superexcellent.

"A bullet may stop such a man, but it will not stop a company. It is difficult to fight and more difficult to vanquish them."

The Russ continues:

"What we need is an entirely new organization of everything connected with the military operations. A good deal is admirable, but a good deal is deplorable.

"The fact that things have not gone well at the theatre of war may be due to the fact that everything is not directed with a single aim, subservient to a single, undivided will.

"Kuropatkin, now entrusted with the command of the Manchurian army, should be commander in chief."

The following dispatch filed at Lioan has been received from the captain of the Russian cruiser Urakal.

"Have just returned from a thirty days' expedition, fraiding the enemy's contraband on the Spanish coast."

The announcement that the water supply of Port Arthur has been cut off does not create particular anxiety here. It is explained that the water of Port Arthur was never good and that the fortress is provided with distilling apparatus.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN KILLED BY RUSSIANS

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—3 p. m. A private telegram received here says that a small Russian expedition from Kamchatka visited Sonshu island, north of the island of Hokaido, and in the absence of the men killed the women and children and burned the houses. Official confirmation is lacking in regard to this report which seems incredible.

LIAO YANG LOSSES WILL REACH 50,000

MUKDEN, Wednesday, Sept. 7—Via Pekin, Sept. 9—A correspondent of the Associated Press who has just returned to Mukden with the Russian rear guard, after having accompanied the army the whole time since the battle of Liao Yang, says the losses on both sides were enormous.

As a moderate estimate he places them at 50,000. He confirms the reports that the fighting at Liao Yang recalled the sanguinary battles of the American civil war. Gen. Kuroki's flank movement east of the Russian position precipitated the retreat from Liao Yang. When the Russians left Liao Yang the town was strewn with corpses of the slain. The Japanese shell fire continued until September 4, when the bridges over the Taitse were destroyed. The Russians admit that their positions at Liao Yang were too extended for their army to hold. The greater portion of the Russian forces crossed the Taitse during the night of September 3 and engaged Gen. Kuroki with two corps. The fighting on the first day was favorable to the Russians, but the conditions changed at night time. The Russian infantry suffered heavily from shrapnel and rifle firing. The fighting continued Sept. 3 and 4, the Russians successfully protecting the east side of the river. When the Japanese appeared they immediately commenced to attack. The Russian transport began to retire at midnight September 4 and was attacked three miles from Yentai on the morning of September 5 along the Mukden road. The Russians pushed out two corps and much artillery to protect their right flank.

The condition of the roads rendered the retreat slow and the troops and horses were fatigued. The Japanese seemed to lack enterprise and failed to recognize the serious situation of the Russians, the morale of their troops having been severely tried.

A Japanese army of 540,000 men is reported to be west of Mukden and it is considered likely in view of the conditions of the two armies that hostilities may be indefinitely prolonged unless the Japanese are able to push on and force the Russians to give battle.

RUSSIAN ARMY UTTERLY CONFUSED

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9—A special messenger of the Tartar general at Mukden who escaped from that city through the cordon of Russian outposts, reports according to advices received here that the Russian army is utterly confused and demoralized, especially the remainder of the two Russian army corps which recently joined General Kuropatkin's forces.

EVACUATION OF MUKDEN NOW IN PROGRESS

BERLIN, Sept. 9—A dispatch to the Local Anzeiger from Mukden, timed 11.40 a.m. today, says the evacuation of Mukden is now in progress and adds that the Japanese have not yet crossed the river Hun, which flows a few miles south of Mukden.

THE DEFENCE WON

Evidence Against Snell Excluded for Present

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Sept. 9.—At the opening of the Snell murder trial this morning, the defense succeeded in securing the exclusion for the present at least of evidence that Snell had endeavored to induce Uriah G. Pierce of Fall River to join in a plot to make way with Burden Head, at whose house at Horseneck, Mr. Kirby was in the habit of staying. Witnesses testified to finding Mr. Kirby's pocketbook in the grass near a clamhouse at Horseneck, and to the fact that there was no money in it. It had previously been testified that Mr. Kirby took about $160 to Horseneck. Wm. A. Scholes of Fall River testified that in August of 1903, he asked Snell how business was and that Snell replied: "I can't do any business while Kirby is there; if Kirby was not there I could do some business."

Frederick Reilly of Fall River said he was at Horseneck the day before Labor day last year and that Snell pointing to Mr. Kirby who was sitting on the back piazza of the house, said: "If that man was out of the way, I could do anything I wanted to around here, for Burden Head's housekeeper was once my housekeeper."

G. Butts of Dartmouth testified to helping Mr. Kirby push off his boat at 11 o'clock on the morning of the day he disappeared. In the afternoon Snell went out in his boat and was not seen again until evening. The next morning the witness saw Kirby's boat moored and Snell went out and got it.

FRYE INDICTED

FIFTY COUNTS OF LARCENY AGAINST HIM.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 9.—Nathan Frye, formerly treasurer of the Watertown Savings bank, who according to the bank officials, confessed to stealing about $12,000 from the institution, was indicted today for larceny on 50 counts by the Middlesex county grand jury. The indictment was reported before Judge DeCourcey. District Attorney Sanderson stated that the various counts of the indictment charged the larceny of about one-half the amount of money which Frye is said to have confessed to stealing. The former bank treasurer was not in court to plead to the indictment since he had been admitted to bail earlier in the day upon the appearance of John C. Gray of Cambridge and Frank E. Sweetser of Brookline, as his bondsmen to the extent of $10,000.

SAVED FIVE LIVES

Monomoy Crew Went to Aid of Wrecked Seamen

CHATHAM, Mass., Sept. 9.—The life saving crews of the Monomy and Monomy Point stations after a hard struggle with the elements today succeeded in saving the lives of Captain Thorne and four men, comprising the crew of the British schooner Fraulien which was abandoned in a water logged condition off Pollock Rip.

The vessel is thought to be a total loss.

The Fraulien was bound from St. John for Providence with 900,000 laths. When off Cape Cod during the night she encountered a stiff northeasterly gale and sprung a leak.

In a short time the schooner became water logged and unmanagable.

She drifted down the coast until she reached a point off Chatham where signals were set union down, summoning assistance. Terrific seas swept over the helpless craft and gradually washed overboard everything moveable including the entire deck load of lumber. Captain Thorne and his men let go anchors in order to prevent the vessel from striking on the shoals and going to pieces. The anchors were put out near the bell buoy on Pollock Rip. She struck the shoal, however, and her keel was carried away but the high seas took the schooner clear and she lay tugging at her anchors with the seas sweeping over her. The crew found shelter on the house for a time but were later driven into the rigging.

At daylight the Fraulien was sighted by Captain Kelley of the Monomy Point life saving station. Word was sent to Captain Ellis of the Monomy station and both crews launched their boats notwithstanding the heavy seas. The northeaster made the pull a hard one and at times the boats were almost swamped.

On one occasion Capt. Kelly's craft hit a big sea and was partially filled with water. Both crews were successful however in reaching the distressed vessel and in twenty minutes after making a line fast the Fraulens crew had been taken from the rigging. All hands were landed at the Monomoy station, where they were cared for by the life savers. The schooner lies in the path of shipping passing over the shoals.

It is thought that she may drag ashore but this forenoon the anchors were holding their own. She was built at Hopewell Cape, N. B., in 1880 and registered 351 tons gross and 316 net. Her dimensions are 93 feet in length, 28 feet wide and 8 feet depth of hold. She is insured for $3,000.

HELD IN $10,000

La Ninfa is Accused of Manslaughter

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 9.—Tomasso La Ninfa was adjudged probably guilty of manslaughter of James McGuire in district court today and bound over for the grand jury in $10,000 bail. Security was not given and he was committed to jail to await trial.

McGire was stabbed in the stomach on the evening of August 21 and died in hospital August 26. La Ninfa was arrested soon after the affair.

You can't expect to weave white satin with blackened hands, any more than you can expect good results from papers with a bogus circulation.

BUY A HOME OF YOUR OWN—If you are renting a house a thousand rent receipts hold no meaning for the future, investigate our plan it is never too late to begin, it is easier to pay a few dollars down and balance as rent than to pay a thousand dollars all at once. Rent money is like seed, but the harvest is the landlord's not yours. The renter lives from day to day, from springtime to springtime. The home owner enjoys the satisfaction of a permanent home for his family, the small improvements and adornments that make a home the center of a family pride are doubly dear, because their permanency is assured. Hundreds of renters are yearly becoming home owners through the assistance of the liberal terms of the S. Lagasse Co. You can sow those rent dollars in the field of easy payments and reap a home of your own, start today. Without seeding there can be no harvest, you can begin with $25.00 or more down, balance same as rent, call today. S. Lagasse, 385 Hildreth street, Centralville.

VAN ZANT IS REINSTATED.

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 10.—Connie Mack, of the Athletics, has waived all former claims to Van Zant, of the local team, and that player will be able to get into the game today. Mack purchased him from the Nashua team and Van Zant refused to play with his team.

It is said that Mack was afraid he would cause trouble between the Browns, who had strings on Van Zant, and the Philadelphias, so he gave him up. Van Zant was very much pleased because his suspension had been removed. He says he will do his best to wipe out any ill feeling which was caused by his refusal to become an Athletic.

DOUBLE-HEADER TODAY.

There will be a double-header at Spalding park this afternoon between the Lowell and Lawrence teams. The first game will be called at 2 o'clock sharp. As Lawrence always puts up its best game against Lowell some lively ball playing can be confidently looked for.

MIXED TENNIS

AT THE TRI-STATE TOURNAMENT.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10.—The finals in the ladies' doubles and men's doubles were played at the tri-state tennis tournament here yesterday. In the ladies' doubles, Miss M. McAteer of Pittsburg and Miss M. Wehmer of Washington, defeated Miss W. Closterman and Miss E. Neely, 6—2, 6—4.

L. D. Little and Robert Leroy of New York easily won from Beals Wright and Edgar Leonard of Boston in the finals for the men's double, 6—2, 6—2, 6—4.

Owing to the illness of Kreigh Collins of Chicago, the present holder of the Governor's cup, Beals Wright of Boston and L. H. Waidner of Chicago will compete for the cup today. Miss McAteer and Miss Closterman are the contestants in the ladies' finals.

GOLF CHAMPION

EGAN AND HERRESHOFF TO BATTLE FOR HONORS.

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 10.—With Walter J. Travis defeated as the champion of American golfers, the honor of succeeding him is to be decided today on the Baltusrol club's links. Either H. Chandler Egan of the Exmoor Country club of Chicago, or Frederick Herreshoff, of the Ekwanok Country club of Manchester, Vt., will be the new champion, as these two are the survivors of a field of 133 men representing clubs all over the United States, who started in the annual tournament last Tuesday.

Herreshoff defeated Ormiston of Pittsburg in the third round yesterday morning by four up and three to play.

In the semi-final round, Herreshoff again displayed excellent form and won by six up and five to play, from W. T. West, a young player of much promise, from Camden, N. J.

Egan played well in his morning round with Havemeyer of Seabright, N. J., but he was a bit wild in his drives, while his short game was excellent. He beat Havemeyer by four up and three to play. In the semi-final round, Egan defeated Dr. D. F. Fredericks of Oil City, two up and one to play.

As Egan is the western champion and Herreshoff is the Vermont state champion, the final round of 16 holes match play will be a battle between the East and West.

SEA GIRT SHOOT

GOOD SHOOTING AT INTERNATIONAL TOURNAMENT.

SEA GIRT, N. J., Sept. 10.—Four contests were concluded yesterday at the joint international shooting tournament of the National Rifle association of America and the New Jersey Rifle association and firing was continued in all the individual matches. The skirmish team match was won by United States Marine corps second team with a total of 412.

The Seabury long range military rifle match was won by Lieutenant Twees of New Jersey and the Tyro company team match went to the first team of the second troop of New Jersey whose total was 129 out of a possible 150.

Lieutenant K. K. V. Casey was awarded first prize in the Spencer match. The president's match for individual military championship of the United States will be in progress all today. The executive office announced last evening that the protest against the marine corps being allowed to compete last Wednesday in the company team match, on the ground that the marine corps is not organized as companies, was not sustained. The ruling entitles the marine corps to second prize in the company team match.

BASKET BALL

The following is from the Manchester Mirror:

The basket ball season is near at hand, and the question arises is Manchester to be represented in the game this winter.

At the preliminary drawing for franchises at the recent meeting of the New England league, in Boston, this city was overlooked, for some reason or other, and the impression obtained that Manchester had been dropped. John Smith, however, declares that the local association has not been dropped and that its standing with the league is just where it was at the close of last season. Manchester was notified of the meeting in Boston, Mr. Smith says, but did not send any representative. There is to be another meeting of the league in Boston next Sunday at which the local association will probably be represented.

It is said that Barney McLaughlin, the well-known ball player, is gunning for an opening to place a Manchester team in the league, but Mr. Smith declares Manchester is still in the game and adds that there is no opening for another team.

The stories published in Massachusetts papers regarding Manchester's standing with the league, alleging that the association had been dropped because John Smith had tried to get Jake Morse into the league as president and that the Manchester association was in debt to its players, Mr. Smith says, are amusing. He says that the association at the close of last season was in debt to the players but that there was a dispute as to the amount due. The question is still unsettled, but will be fixed up as soon as the association and the players can come to terms. Mr. Smith also says that President Cummings himself told him that there was nothing to the story that Manchester had been dropped from the league.

In Lawrence nothing has been given out as yet regarding basket ball and nothing stronger than surmises can be gained with other New England teams. However it is officially stated that the league will be much stronger and the contest warmer than last season.

In Haverhill, Connie Driscoll has his old team of players signed and some of the salaries which he is to pay are reported to be larger than those of last season. Fortune smiled on Driscoll a year ago, and the barrel of coin which came his way has lent inspiration to the working of the new team. Pat Doyle, of Manchester, who used to create all sorts of rough houses, has signed, and Joe Plante, formerly of the new champion Bristol, Pa. team, will play with the Haverhill bunch also.

Just what will be the roster of the Lowell outfit has not been given out officially, but Jimmie Gray will handle the ribbons without doubt.

RECORD BROKEN

Prince Alert Makes New Mark

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 10.—On an excellent track but with a fairly heavy head wind, in the stretch, Prince Alert yesterday afternoon established new figures for pacing geldings without wind shield, going the mile in 1.59½. The previous record was 1.59¾, held by himself. With Alta P. McDonald up in place of Jack Curry, who was in Hartford, the gelding went the first quarter in 29¾, the half in 59, the three-quarters in 1.29¼, and the mile in the time given.

The judges announced their decision in reference to the 2.24 pace of Monday last, when Alta P. McDonald, relieved John Aylward of Syracuse, won the fourth, fifth and sixth heats and race with Ambiem. Aylward and the mare were suspended for the balance of the season and $150 of the former's winnings, awarded to McDonald. C. Pitman of Trenton, N. J., was suspended for 20 days for not trying to win with Mixed Wood on the same event, and ten days additional for failing to drive out Fonda in the first heat of the 2.11 pace Thursday.

MATCH ARRANGED

GANS AND WALCOTT WILL MEET SEPT. 30.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—It's Gans and Walcott now. The two colored champions will meet before the San Francisco Athletic club on the evening of Sept. 30. Walcott wired his acceptance and Gans grabbed up the match, being a chance that he has always wanted. The weight will be that asked by the welterweight champion, 142 pounds at the ringside.

O'NEIL BESTS LOWRY

LEWIS' SECONDS STOP BOUT WITH JONES.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—Jack O'Neill of this city had the best of Jack Lowry of New York last night in the windup at the Manhattan Athletic club. The men appeared afraid of each other. The fight was tame until the sixth round. At the start of that round O'Neill was staggered by a hard right, but came back and clinched, and before the bell had Lowry bleeding from the nose and mouth and in distress.

In the semi-finals "Grif" Jones, the Brooklyn boy, met Harry Lewis, but the bout was stopped in the third round by Lewis' seconds who jumped into the ring and protested against the tactics employed by Jones. Jones was very rough in the first two rounds, and pushed Lewis to the floor through the ropes in the second round, injuring Lewis' knee. The third was the same rough house and the fight was stopped.

SHE TOOK POISON

WOMAN THOUGHT SHE HAD NOTHING TO LIVE FOR.

LYNN, Sept. 10.—Mary E. Collins, aged 22, bright and pretty, drank laudanum Thusday night because she had a quarrel with a man. She is at the Lynn hospital and will recover. According to her friends, she has repeatedly said she would end her life if her lover did not make up with her.

Miss Collins came here from New Hampshire and has been employed in a number of shoe factories, packing shoes. She became acquainted with a young man and they were fast friends up to a few months ago, and were often seen together.

He ceased his attentions, and the young woman took the matter much to heart. Thursday night she received a letter from him, and after reading it she announced to her roommate at 171 Summer street that she had nothing else to live for.

The girl friend went away to spend the evening and when she returned she found Miss Collins unconscious. She aroused the household, and a physician was summoned. After several hours' work Miss Collins was partially restored and then taken to the hospital.

JAPS ADVERTISE

They Say to Drink Beer and be Happy

THE SUN TRADE JOURNAL OF TOKIO

Is Decidedly a Hustling Publication

"Drink and be merry. Drink and be happy. Come, gents. If you come near the Shinbashi Bridge, drop in our beer hall where our famous beverage from the brewery free-routed may be had by the cup. Try our delicious and sparkling Yebisu."

Such, with a Japanese Bacchus for trade mark and photograph of a brewery, is a full-page advertisement, part in English, part in Japanese, in the current issue of the Sun Trade Journal of Tokio (head office, Sanchome, Honcho Nihonbashiki, Tokyo, Japan, 30 cents a copy, $3.50 a year.) It is the second most conspicuous advertisement in a magazine as well filled with advertisements as most American trade journals. The most conspicuous is a brain-tonic advertisement. In English it reads, "The Kennogwan. This remedy has a marvelous efficacy and speed in the cure or all diseases of the brain and nervous affection. Compounded by H. Mori, Sold at Tampei & Co., Osaka, Nippon."

Merely parenthetically, one may note a certain significance in these two advertisements, evidently representing two articles of consumption most in demand in the Japanese capital. On the one side, Drink and be Happy. Quite so. It is "our delicious and sparkling Yebisu," and that, if one reflects is a light lager which is found copiously agreeable in the clubs of the foreign settlements of the East. For Japan, herself, with so much hustling yet before her, judiciousness of the invitation is yet to be proved. There seems an incongruity in the association of beer swilling with the world's present estimate of Japan. And on the other side—a brain tonic. Something to stimulate brains already abnormally active, and something to repair brains already showing the exhaustion of an unexampled outflow of intellectual application to the mastery of a whole world of new ideas and new sciences.

A description of a Japanese trade journal and monthly magazine should make a useful criterion for the estimate of the new world power. It is already trite to say that this country needs to study Japan quite as much as any other foreign power. China is recognized to be the biggest open market for the products of modern industry. The United States is near China, Japan is nearer. Japan is in process of assimilating a portion of the Chinese empire and of dictating the policy of Peking.

The Sun Trade Journal, founded in 1887, now boasts a circulation of 100,000 copies. Its motto is "International Peace and Prosperity Depend Upon Enlightened Commerce and Industry." Its primary function is that of a trade journal, carrying trade advertisements appealing to Japanese buyers. Where do most of these advertisements come from. That on the front page is monopolized by an English canned milk firm. That seems to indicate who is going to supply Japan with what she has not hitherto supplied for herself. The articles advertised are watches, tools, pianos, revolvers, stoves, incandescent lights, naval and surveying instruments, fans, rolltop desks and principally, machinery. But the largest advertisement, from the Midvale Steel company of Philadelphia, is for face-hardened armor plates and armor piercing shells.

As to the contents of the magazine, these are worth cataloguing in detail. Of no less than 270 pages of magazine matter, 250 are in the native writing, which is, in the main, Chinese, though now differing in meaning, word for word, from its parent; 24 pages are in English. There are a number of blue half-tone illustrations, all dealing with the war, and of value to military students. One of them shows how barbed wire obstacles look after demolition by shells. Without artillery they must prove veritable shambles for the attackers, and the Japanese have doubtless been "up against" a lot of them round Port Arthur.

Of the Japanese letter press one cannot speak except by the card. The table of contents show excellent magazine matter, entirely devoted to war, with one exception. This is an article entitled "Character Sketch: Roosevelt, the Present President of the United States," by Toyage. One would like to be able to read that article in the vernacular. After a newsy review of current war news there are special contributions, all by authors prefixed "Hon." The subjects discussed, again very significant, are:

On financial topics, by Baron Tajiri.
How to stand prolonged war.
The war finances and the post-bellum measure.
War preparations beside the military equipment.
The Japano-Russian war and the German policy.
The Russian war finance.
A view of the war finances.
Manchuria and Korea.
The resources of the people.

After that there are departments devoted to:

Novels and amusement.
Literature.
Historical and geographical.
Home and foreign events.
Our foreign advertisers.

This, it will be conceded, is the magazine reading of an intensely active, vigilant and modern nation. The fact that novels have a separated department from literature is worth noticing, a suggestion that fiction is a large branch of itself. The special contributions in the English section are:

"The Three Great Refutations," by the Hon. Shimada, M. P.

"Japan—Her Destiny," by Professor Rose, American Trade, the association for promoting our business in Korea and Manchuria, the export of mineral water, the government monopoly of tobacco, etc. All these headings are in themselves suggestive of large Japanese questions which deserve more attention in America. Mr. Shimada's article, "The Three Great Refutations," opens in the following vigorous strain:

"Since the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese war, there have been not a few rumors afloat against Japan, groundless, of course, but highly prejudicial to Japan's true interests, if they are believed even to the slightest extent. They have doubtless been invented and spread abroad by the Muscovites who are not slow in having recourse to such base and cowardly means against their enemies. Nothing can be more untrue than the assertions of these unscrupulous liars that the war between Russia and Japan is nothing less than a struggle for existence between Occidental and Oriental civilization, between the white and the yellow race, between Christianity and heathenism, respectively representing the two nations. They are too glaringly false to need any refutation whatever on the part of Japan; still, for the sake of self-preservation, the ambitious intentions imputed to our country can not be construed at without making some remarks on them."

KILLED TRAMP

WOMAN SENT BULLET INTO HIS HEAD.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 10—Mrs. Charles Nebbington was alone in her farm-house near Clarks Mills yesterday, when a burly tramp called. The woman locked the doors, but the unknown visitor climbed through a window and began to ransack the house. The tramp found a trunk which was locked, and when Mrs. Nebbington refused to hand over the key he knocked her down and pounded her.

The woman finally promised to get the key, and the tramp let her rise. She was gone a minute and returned with a revolver in her hand. The tramp saw the weapon and darted through the window by which he entered.

Mrs. Nebbington fired as the man rushed out of the yard. She emptied two shells and decided that one must have taken effect when she saw the fleeing thug lift one hand to his head and hold it there as he ran down the road.

Word came from Clarks Mills yesterday afternoon that an unknown man answering the description of the tramp had been found dead at the roadside a few miles distant. There was a bullet hole in his head.

NEGRO HANGED.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 10.—Geo. Williams, the Jefferson county negro who waylaid and criminally assaulted Laura Knade near Harper's Ferry, several weeks ago, was hanged at the state prison in Moundsville last evening at 5.16 o'clock. Eleven minutes later, life was pronounced extinct. Williams never lost his nerve and declared to the last his innocence.

WARD FOUR RALLY

In Interest of Mr. Hennessy Last Evening

J. Joseph Hennessy, democratic congressional candidate, and his Ward Four friends to the number of about 150, held an enthusiastic rally in the Lyon street school basement last evening.

The affair was gracefully presided over by Patrick B. McHugh, who after brief remarks, introduced the several speakers.

William E. Curtin was the first speaker and after referring to the different problems of importance that come before congress, dwelt upon the necessity of sending to congress a man capable of handling these problems.

J. Joseph O'Connor spoke next and after reference to the subject of reciprocity with Canada, dwelt upon that ever-present enemy, apathy, and urged all democrats not only to take a lively personal interest in the coming campaign, but to interest their democratic friends as well.

Edward P. McVey was then introduced and he made a stirring speech, in which he referred to the candidate in glowing terms.

The last speaker was Mr. Hennessy, who was warmly received. Mr. Hennessy branded as a lie the report that he, if nominated, would "lie down," so to speak before Butler Ames. He stated that if nominated he would go through every town and hamlet in the district and arouse all the democratic voters.

At the conclusion of the rally it was announced that other ward rallies will be held, the dates and places to be announced later.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Says Practical Politics:

If certain rumors from the 4th Essex district are to be taken seriously the situation there will shortly be simplified by the withdrawal of "Dick" Bow from the race and the selection of Walker of Amesbury as the republican candidate. Up to date the fall man from Haverhill has not publicly announced the fact, but people who claim to be pretty close to him say that he will not be in the fight much longer. According to the story, "Dick" has his eye on a good, fat county job and is laying his wires far enough ahead to be able to land it without much of a contest.

Senator Hoar is a relative and great friend of Mayor Howe and is a frequent and welcome visitor here.

FOR PRESIDENT OF SENATE.

Gen. Francis H. Appleton of Peabody who has been mentioned as a candidate for the presidency of the senate ever since the legislature of 1904 adjourned, has issued a statement as follows:

"A few days after the prorogation of the general court I announced my willingness to be a candidate for return to the state senate. It had been indicated to me by friends within and without my district that a return to the upper branch might mean for me the presidency of the state senate. Since that time I have carefully looked the ground over and analyzed the situation. My friends have done likewise. They are confident that I can be elected president of the upper branch, and my own investigations lead me to the same conclusion. I am, therefore, in the contest for the high honor to stay.

"As far as my renomination from the Middlesex-Essex district is concerned I have little doubt. In fact nothing appears today to make me believe that the custom of nominating for the senate by acclamation will not be adhered to this fall. The rumors that I was about to withdraw from this contest for the presidency were pure fabrications and as unfounded in fact as the allegations spread broadcast by a few individuals that the business interests would not support me. My strongest assurances of support have come from business men of the state. I have the greatest respect for my senatorial colleagues who are looking for the presidency, but the situation has so shaped itself that I would be unfair both to my district and myself did I not take advantage of the opportunity offered.

"I trust there will be no further misunderstanding of my exact position in this matter."

It is reported that General Kuropatkin is breaking down under the strain of such a severe campaign as he has been through. FLIMSY FIRE ESCAPES.

Flimsy fire escapes that fall to the ground as soon as a few persons attempt to use them are among the latest dangers attached to fire fighting in New York. It appears that some tenements are fitted with fire escapes fastened only by spikes driven into the mortar in the walls. Such escapes are about as valuable as the life preservers that go to the bottom like lead.

RICHARD OLNEY FOR GOVERNOR.

Col. Gaston's withdrawal as a gubernatorial candidate, shows that gentleman's unselfishness in seeking the advancement of the democratic party. No man in Massachusetts did more to strengthen the party or to bring it back to what it was in the palmy days of Governor Russell than did Colonel Gaston. He used his time, money and talent unsparingly and to him the party is more deeply indebted than to any other man for self-sacrificing labor and support for the past few years. It is true that Col. Gaston was the standard bearer of the party, but even so, had he been merely a selfish office seeker he would not have made so many sacrifices as he did.

He has chosen to retire and he urges the nomination of Hon. Richard Olney as a means of helping the national ticket. Should Olney be nominated, his election would be almost a certainty. Compared with Olney, such men as Governor Bates and Curtis Guild dwindle into the rank of political pigmies.

It is by no means settled that Mr. Olney will run, but if he should he will be the next governor of Massachusetts.

CONNECTICUT CAMPAIGN.

Hon. A. Heaton Robertson, a prominent lawyer of ability and wide popularity, has been nominated for governor of Connecticut with excellent chances of carrying the state. His opponent on the republican side will probably be Hon. H. W. Cleaveland, who succeeded Heaton as judge of probate. The platform adopted by the democrats comes out squarely for reciprocity with Canada, an issue which seems to concern the Nutmeg state more than any other single state issue yet put before the people. The democrats are to go in for a red hot campaign in Connecticut with a good prospect of winning.

PRESIDENT COMBES AND THE CONCORDAT.

President Combes of France has made a flat-footed demand for the severance of the Concordat under which the government supports the Catholic church. He cannot sever the instrument any too soon for Pope Pius X who is utterly disgusted with the assumption of political control over the appointment of bishops. His Holiness knows how far the church would be degraded if such influences ruled and for that reason he will not yield a jot to save the Concordat. He realizes that the church must be independent or else weakened and unable to fulfill her mission as she should.

The Concordat is bound to fall; and the sooner the better for the church. After being supported by government the people will find it difficult to support the church by voluntary contributions but they will get used to it like the people of other countries.

GENERAL WOOD'S MONUMENT

The best monument which General Wood as governor of Cuba left behind is a lottery or gambling institution which President Palma is endeavoring to abolish. It is known as the "Jai Alai of Havana," and Bishop Candler after a visit to Cuba in a burst of indignation makes this comment on the Jai Alai of Havana, supposed to be legalized under the Platt amendment:

"Could anything reflect more discreditably upon our government than that it should be placed in such a position of sponsorship for a gambling concern which the Cuban government would destroy if it had a free hand? Was the Platt amendment designed to be perverted to such base ends? Cannot the congress of the United States by some act of modification or statute of construction of the Platt amendment give the Cuban government enough freedom of action to extirpate this abomination? Shall our government be disgraced and the Cuban people damaged for ten long years by the continuance of this detestable franchise and the maintenance of this den of blacklegs?"

CATCHES IN THE LUCE LAW.

Referring to the operation of the Luce law, Practical Politics has the following:

It is not at all improbable that some of the cities of the commonwealth will jump into a stack of trouble on account of the operations of the Luce election law. The law requires the appointment of election officers in the month of August, and as the primaries do not occur until about the middle of September, some of the cities may have overlooked the provision and will be put to more or less bother to comply with the election law requirements. Under the Luce law the election officers become of importance. They are to conduct not only the elections, but are to have charge of the primaries. Instead of two days' pay at six dollars a day, the election officers will receive four days' pay at the same figure. On account of the additional expense, it is presumed that the expenses of some of the election departments will this year exceed the appropriations.

This is but one of the many catches in the Luce law and it is safe to say that more will crop out during the first practical tests.

THE NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

The city council has elected a new superintendent of public buildings, a man, it is presumed, selected wholly on the ground of qualification. There is need of new schools in various parts of the city. Will they be erected now? Will that rear entrance be constructed in the Green school? Will the heating apparatus of the High school be remedied forthwith? According to some members of the city council the only obstacle to the speedy performance of all these different tasks was Supt. Conlon. They refused to place any money at his disposal. They claimed he was extravagant. Well, if he was he was not the first man who showed extravagance in that office, nor is that the only office in the city government today in which extravagance is apparent. It would be well for the city council to go along the line and cut off the heads of other officials who spend the city's money recklessly.

The school board we understand or certain officials thereof had serious fault to find against Conlon on the ground of extravagance, yet the school board is itself the most extravagant of all the city departments, and that is saying a good deal.

Let us hope Supt. O'Connor will meet the public demand for efficiency, economy and all the other qualities desirable in an official.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Lightnin' does play strange tricks," said the old farmer. "I paid $50 for a lightnin' rod, when, here comes a storm, an' the lightnin' made for that rod the first thing; ripped it off the buildins, an' twisted it into them hoops there you see the children playin' with. Then it came down the chimney, an', finding the key in the clock wound the clock up, threw a dishpan at the cook, an' then went gallopin' 'cross country!"

A few suggestions for trolley officials from the Boston Record:

Reserved seats for large people three in a seat.

Reserved seats for parents with squawling, sticky-fingered babies.

Three rear seats reserved for smokers. First for pipe smoker, second for cigar users, and the last for cigarette fiends.

No tobacco chewing allowed on cars.

I am only a little grafter,
A thief of low degree;
But the politicians whom I "salt",
Keep good watch over me.
And bar the courts from "butting"
In our reciprocity.

My field is not confined at all,
The trade is piled most free,
In nation, stat or township,
North, south, from sea to sea.
Of course I get more "take-offs" where
They're not quite on to me.

And wealth is piling up so fast,
That friends will often say—
"What shall you ever do with it
When you have had your day?"
I have the answer ready but
To tell it seems a shame.
I've planned to leave posterity
A grafter's Hall of Fame.

A friend who contemplates a hunting trip to New Brunswick, which means a big game chase, has asked when the big game season opens in that section. I answer in this column thinking others might like to know. The big game season will open on Sept. 15th. The license fee for shooting moose and caribou is $30 for a non-resident and $2 for resident sportsmen. No license to shoot deer is necessary. One moose, two caribou and two deer are all that may be shot by one person during the season. It will give one an idea of how the hunt for big game has increased in New Brunswick to know that in 1896 the hunting license receipts were but $300; in 1903 they were $18,000 and promise to be greater this year.

Two women of my acquaintance, who have been as thick as hops for a year or more, had a falling out last week. Yesterday a third woman undertook to effect a reconciliation between them. Having pointed out to Mrs. A. how foolish it was to maintain the quarrel, she went to Mrs. B. and said:

"Mrs. A. is ready to make up if you are."

"Make up?" said Mrs. B., with a curl of her lip. "Hump! She's always ready to make up. She stands before her glass an hour every day making up."

So the peace-maker told Mrs. A. what Mrs. B. said, and now the breach is wider than ever.

"Well," said the peace-maker to me afterward, with a beatific expression on her face, "I am sure I did everything I could to bring them together."

So, there!

My friend 'Henry was seated in a crowded open car the other day when a woman with a small baby in her arms came aboard. Henry gave his seat to her and undertook to stand in front of a well dressed man who sat next to her.

"You can't stand there," said the man, shoving forward on the seat so that his knees might take up all the space.

"Why not?" Henry asked, unwilling to believe that, under these circumstances, any man could do this from purely selfish motives.

"Because I paid for this seat and I am going to occupy it in comfort," the man answered, sprawling as far as conditions would permit.

Now Henry says he thinks this incident ought to be a good subject for an editorial. Perhaps it ought but somehow I can't help feeling that the police court reporter is really the proper person to handle it. I believe most men would enjoy reading that Henry had been arrested for assault and battery and that his case had been postponed until the other fellow could get out of the hospital.

This is the way the Salem Quaker monument question impressed a writer in the Boston Transcript:

"While in the Witch city, I was shown a copy of the princely offer of Frederick Fanning Ayer, to erect on Salem common statues of his Quaker ancestor and ancestress, Lawrence and Cassandra Southwick, at a cost of $50,000; together with a copy of the remonstrance of about a score of Salemites against the acceptance of that offer. Slighting the sage counsel of Senator Hoar, these remonstrants would prefer to see Salem common remain bare rather than see it adorned with statues of these early settlers who followed in religion the ways of George Fox and William Penn. Their objection to the appearance of the tiger in the group as the incarnation of the spirit of persecution is a poor one, and in making it they disregard the time-honored maxim not to look a gift-horse in the mouth. Far better would it be for them if they would follow the example of Hawthorne, and apologize to Mr. Ayer for the cruelties inflicted by their forbears upon his forbears. Discovering no artist's name among the obscure remonstrants, I am half inclined to quote for their edification a speech made by B. W. Ball, the poet, in reply to a local magnate in Lawrence, where he then lived, on a subject too wonderful for the magnate's understanding. 'Mr. Chairman,' the poet observed, 'if this question related to the price of butter or eggs or Cheshire cheese, I should defer very much to that gentleman's opinion. But this is a question which calls for the exercise of judgment, intelligence and skill. It is no barnyard question, and therefore the gentleman must excuse me if I decline to adopt his view'. The local magnate had nothing to do but join in the laughter, with which all present greeted the poet's sarcasm."

PAPAL SECRETARY OF STATE RECEIVES ARCHBISHOP CHAPPELLE.

ROME, Sept. 9—Papal Secretary of State Merry Del Val, who came to Rome today from his summer residence at Castel Gandolf only for a day to receive the diplomatic corps, granted an audience to Archbishop Chappelle, which is a special distinction, audiences being very rare now.

The archbishop explained that the object of his visit was to present his homage to the new pope and to submit his report as apostolic delegate to Cuba and Porto Rico and as archbishop of New Orleans.

The secretary was most cordial and expressed a wish to see more of Archbishop Chappelle during his stay in Rome.

TRADES UNIONISTS

DENOUNCED THE SOUTH AFRICAN LABOR ORDINANCE.

LEEDS, England, Sept. 9—The Trades union congress at its session today, unanimously adopted a resolution emphatically protesting against the government's action in sanctioning the South African labor ordinance as being opposed to the best interests of British workmen at home and abroad, as sanctioning conditions of labor for unfortunate beings and as contrary to the anti-slavery traditions of the British empire.

MINERS LOST STRIKE

THEY WILL RETURN TO WORK MONDAY.

ZANESVILLE, O., Sept. 10.—After an idleness of nearly six months, 2000 coal miners in sub district No. 6, have declared off the strike which was begun because of a request that they accept a greater reduction than that contained in the Indianapolis convention agreement. The miners now agree to accept a wage reduction of 10 per cent. less than that received for two years prior to April 1, 1903. The miners have lost $320,000 in wages, and the operators about $2,000,000 income since the suspension of work. The miners will resume work Monday.

BIG RAILROAD DEAL

WABASH ROAD MAKES $12,000,000 PURCHASE.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 10.—One of the most important railroad deals ever consummated affecting Pittsburg, was closed yesterday in New York when the Wabash interests, for the sum of $12,000,000, purchased the Pittsburg Terminal railroad and Coal company, the West Side belt road and its branches, including all the associated companies of the coal company.

The deal gives the Wabash the advantage of an immense tonnage for immediate haul and entrance into all the iron tonnage producing mills of Pittsburg.

At the hospital he complained that someone had taken his good clothes and $8000 in money, but he could not remember the circumstances.

PURE FOOD BILL

IT WILL COME BEFORE THE NEXT CONGRESS.

Every day's events show the country more and more how imperatively necessary for our food it is that the pure food bill should pass at the next session of congress, and yet there is plenty of indication that it will be held up in the senate. The situation at present is that the bill has passed the house by a vote of 201 to 68, and the senate committee has reported favorably upon it and added to it amendments tending to make it more stringent in favor of the consumer. One of these brings drugs also under authority of the government, and would make it possible to prevent the sale of the pernicious adulterations which too often are used to fill physicians' prescriptions, and put a stop generally to traffic in adulterated and imitation drugs. There is another amendment which calls for pure whiskey. It is not necessary to dilate on the value to suffering humanity which these just measures for the protection of the sick would have.

But the effect of these amendments has been to add an army of new opposers to the great body of food manufacturers who are ready to bring millions of dollars to fight the bill. Delay in its passage is all they ask, for the good reason that they know it is all that they can get, but this delay, if it can be carried on long enough, is perfectly satisfactory to the dealer in food frauds. The men who make money by them are alert and determined, and well able to spend fortunes to gain their ends. The people who suffer loss of both health and money, as long as the pure food bill is hung up, are patient and confiding, and not all in a way to obtain the information which would make them strong in support of the men who are fighting in their interests. The papers of the country have done their best to awaken the community to the truth in regard to food adulterations, of both the harmless and the harmful sort, but the very mass of evidence of the great extent of this has proved so appalling that it takes a clear-headed man or woman to see how easily the reform could be made if those trying to bring it about had the support of the consumers.

No amount of money spent in influencing the people's representatives in Washington in favor of what is ostensibly merely a little longer consideration of the pure food bill would prevent its passing at the coming session if the people were roused to their interests and determined that it should pass. But it is a case of a wealthy, active and well organized force standing against an indifferent set, too careless to exert a power which would be overwhelming if once felt. The men who are trying to have an interstate pure food bill passed are energetic and persevering, but it is ten years now since they have known what it is to fail regularly. It is not all failure, for their work has resulted in great agitation of the subject and the institution of state and city laws which are effective in a degree, but not able to check the evil as they would be if all the states came under the same rules.

The attempt to keep impure and improperly marked foreign goods out of the country has been very successful since the Agricultural Department was authorized to sample all food imports, and given power to exclude them if found fraudulent or dangerous. Already the foreign manufacturer has learned that there must be greater honesty on his part in dealing with Americans. The reform has come about so quietly that it has hardly been realized how much stuff has been returned to European ports, or else destroyed in ours, under the late rulings. The new laboratories intended for the inspection of imported goods will make it sure that we have these practically pure. The citizen's knowledge of this superior purity of what comes to us from abroad will be a help in making our fraudulent manufacturers improve their ways, in order to keep their markets in opposition to the goods that are worth the money paid for them and known to be what they are said to be. The outlook for a better food supply for the United States is excellent, but the passing of the pure food bill must come before we can be certain of what we eat and what we drink and what we give our sick. The state laws must be supplemented by a law that will allow no evasion through local rulings.

WOMAN COLLAPSED

WHEN SHE LEARNED SHE HAD BEEN LEFT A FORTUNE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Miss Louisa Haycox, a stenographer employed by Charles Lavanne, formerly of this city, but who died after an operation for appendicitis in Toledo, O., has been left Lavanne's fortune of $30,000. Miss Haycox was his clerk and stenographer for six years, and as he had no near relatives he wrote a will just before the operation, bequeathing to her all his property.

He felt he would not rally from the operation and told the surgeons and nurses that he desired to leave his property to one who had always been faithful in his employ, careful of his business interests and tactful in her treatment of his patrons.

Miss Haycox collapsed when she was notified of the provisions of the will last evening.

HORRORS OF WAR

Japanese Losses Estimated at 30,000, Russian 20,000

Dreadful Sufferings of Russian Army on Its Retreat to Mukden—The Japanese on Wednesday Abandoned the Pursuit

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10.—1.50 a.m.—It seems to be definitely established that Field Marshal Oyanma's tired troops practically abandoned on Wednesday the atempt to head off Gen. Kuropatkin, and the latter's army has arrived safe at Mukden, after frightful exertions in floundering through mud and mire.

Some descriptions of the scenes along the line of retreat are almost incredible. They tell how the men lay down in the mud and slept in a drenching rain and without shelter.

It is evident that the last determined effort of the Japanese to bring Kuropatkin to bay was made on Tuesday, but the Russian commander-in-chief faced about and two corps, with artillery, beat off the Japanese, while the remainder of the troops continued the march to Mukden. After that the Japanese could only hang on to the flanks and try to shell the retreating columns from the hills.

The outposts are still in contact, but they are not even exchanging shots.

A late Associated Press despatch sent last night from Mukden described the horrible plight of the tentless and shelterless soldiers. The detailed statement of Russian losses, which it is promised will be issued Saturday, is awaited with intense interest. The general expectation is that the losses will approximate 20,000 against 30,000 for the Japanese.

The work of burying the dead was left to the Japanese, who were forced to attempt the task as a matter of self-preservation, but it was almost impossible. The awful rain handicapped the work of cremating, on which the Japanese relied, and only shallow trench burials were possible under the circumstances. Not only is this work one of the greatest difficulty, but it is almost valueless from a sanitary point of view, the storms undoing it soon after it is accomplished.

The care of the wounded has taxed the hospitals to the utmost. One correspondent says that 12,000 wounded had passed through Mukden hospitals up to Sunday, and only the most severe cases could be attended to by the nurses and physicians. Many, therefore, had to be left to the rough but well meant care of their comrades.

Now that the battle of Liao Yang belongs within the domain of history, officers of the general staff are more disposed to discuss some of the circumstances of the fight, although they still lack specific information, which makes it impossible for them to speak authoritatively on many points. General Kuropatkin's army at Liao Yang consisted of 200 battalions, 147 squadrons of cavalry and 700 guns, approximately 198,000 bayonets, 15,000 sabres and 10,000 gunners. Portions of the European corps and one Siberian corps had been left at Mukden, and a number of these reserves were brought into the fight. The size of the Japanese army has not been definitely established, but its actual fighting force is supposed to have had a superiority in numbers of from 50,000 to 60,000 men, and a considerable superiority also in artillery.

One of the chief advantages possessed by Field Marshal Oyama, according to the Russian experts, consisted in the greater elasticity in movement and in handling, on account of the separation of the three respective armies of Generals Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu. Kuropatkin very late also introduced the same system after a fashion, when he created the eastern and southern armies under the respective commands of Generals Ivanoff and Zaraubnaieff, but these armies had not been acting independently for months, while the Japanese armies had been so acting.

On his arrival at the seat of war Lieut. Gen. Bilderling of the Seventeenth army corps, took over the command of General Ivanoff, who, though a seasoned and tried commander, familiar with his men, with the field of battle, and with the tactics of the Japanese, had to give way to a man older in years, who possessed none of these advantages. The changes in commanders at such a critical time is considered here to have been extremely unfortunate. Although it is admitted that the eastern army had to face Kuroki, who has earned a reputation as the most skilful of the Japanese leaders, the poor showing which it made in comparison with the southern army under Zaroubaieff, perhaps not altogether unjustifiably, might be attributed to this change of commanders, and the battle might have been won if Bildering had been able to duplicate in the east, the splendid fight which Zaroubaieff made against Oku.

It was the second repulse by the Japanese force on the heights at Yentai which induced Kuropatkin to order a retreat, and there are officers of the general staff who believe that this order was precipitated, holding that if Kuropatkin had followed up the offensive on September 2, leaving to Stakelberg, who arrived at the Yentai mines in time to support Orloff, the blocking of the sweeping movement, the day might have been saved.

The subsequent retreat of the Russian army over the terrible roads in the face of the determined foe is considered a brilliant feat by all, but it is undeniable that Kuropatkin has disappointed many of his old admirers, who are unable to forgive the defeat. Nevertheless, perhaps with the majority, faith in General Kuropatkin remains unshaken.

HEAVY RAINS AND LIGHTNING

MUKDEN, Sept. 10.—Last evening around Mukden occurred the greatest downpour of rain of the whole campaign and with it a terrifying accompaniment of thunder and lightning. There has been the greatest difficulty in preventing the cavalry stampeding by the double guards and all the horse lines have been tied. The men are scarcely able to keep their feet around the moving horses and are singing and talking to quiet them.

All the lower ground is under water and Chinese boats from the Hun river are navigating many of the roads and some of the streets. This makes little difference to the men who are under canvas; but all others are soaked to the skin and are sleeping exhausted in mud and water, indifferent to the weather if they can snap much needed rest.

One advantage is that the rain has entirely checked the movements of the Japanese eastern and southern armies—in fact quiet reigns over the whole front.

The Chinese population of Mukden is so far fairly orderly. The Chinese are suffering greatly and in the villages all around, crops, cattle and poultry have been trodden down and killed. The Russians are endeavoring to pay for all damage, though this is often difficult owing to the rapid shifting of the troops and the natives are always ready where possible to induce two or more commanders to pay for the same damage.

JAPS' SILENCE LOOKS OMINOUS

LONDON, Sept. 10—The horror and privations of the Russians' retreat recounted in the Associated Press despatches have not been printed here, hence the English morning papers, for lack of news, comment chiefly on the details of the battle of Liao Yang. Another day of Japanese silence, however, strikes the military critics here with suspicion that the lull in action may be ominous for the Russians.

The explanation in the Associated Press despatches that the absence of developments around Mukden is largely due to the rains, has not yet been published in London, hence the Daily Chronicle eulogizes Gen. Kuropatkin, declaring that Captain A. T. Mahan, U. S. N., (retired) was the first and only military critic to foresee the genius which inspired the strategy of the Russian commander-in-chief.

The Daily Telegraph in commenting on the full accounts of the battle of Liao Yang, says it was a struggle "terrible beyond imagination, with a desperation unparalleled in war. Henceforth," it says, "a new standard of heroism is set in war. The Japanese and Russians alike have shown culpably for sacrifice, contempt for death and utter abnegation of self in answer to the supreme demand of patriotism which have never yet been excelled."

The Daily Telegraph declares that Kuropatkin completely foiled Oyama's strategy, but that "Russian and Japanese capacity of sacrifice for an ideal has restored the sense of heroism which redeems even the horrors of war, ennobles armies and strengthens nations."

OKU'S INFANTRY FINEST IN THE WORLD

LONDON, Sept. 10—The Times this morning prints a despatch dated at Pekin from a correspondent lately with Gen. Oku's army, which says:

"Liao Yang at sunrise on September 4 presented a dismal spectacle. The Russian settlement was burning and overhung with a pall of smoke. The scared Chinese were in hiding and the dead-beat Japanese were bivouacking in the suburbs. Not a shot was fired inside the barricade that day and not a Russian left except a few deserters disguised as Chinese.

"The town was not greatly damaged by the shell fire, but all the European shops and the wealthy Chinese residences had been sacked by the Tenth Siberian Rifles. Over fifty Chinese were killed by the Japanese shell fire.

"The Japanese shells of war were insignificant. They got no locomotives, which they urgently need, and which would have been more valuable to them than artillery.

"The Japanese divisional commander attempted to pursue the Russians and managed to secure a bridge, but his troops were too fatigued to effect anything."

"My honest opinion," says the correspondent, "is that there was nothing strategically excellent in the handling of either army, though Kuropatkin can claim to have defeated the main object of the Japanese operations.

"The Russians obviously in their tactics cling to the cardinal error of overmanning their defensive positions, while the whole spirit of the Japanese tactics, as illustrated under Oku, was sledge hammer frontal attacks.

"I am satisfied that Oku commands the finest infantry in the world. I do not believe that any other army could in five days deliver eight unsuccessful infantry assaults against entrenchments and still persevere.

"It is probable that Kuropatkin will now take up a position somewhere on the Harbin road, and that the Japanese army will be compelled to rest at Mukden; and if the report of the advance of Lieut. Gen. Linevitch should be true, Kuroki may find it necessary to base himself on the same line of communications as Oku and Nodzu."

INTERNAL POLICY WILL NOT BE CHANGED

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Echo De Paris sends an interview which he had with Prince Peter Sviatopol K. Mursky, the new minister of the interior in which the prince said:

"I do not intend to change Russia's internal policy, but shall strive to follow the program set forth in the emperor's manifesto of February, 1903, working on the foundation laid by my sovereign to inspire my actions by true and broad liberalism, especially as this will not change the established order of things I am a firm partisan of centralization and consequently propose to give the provincial communal assemblies extensive powers to regulate their local affairs."

The prince declared that he intended to treat the Jews kindly, but said that if he granted them the liberty now possessed by the Orthodox they might assume too great importance.

KUROKI'S ADVANCE TO BE CHECKED

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Daily Express claims to have trustworthy information that the Russian army is divided into five columns. The first has reached Tie pass (4 miles north of Mukden) and is preparing to defend that place against the Japanese. The second is midway between Mukden and Tie pass. The third is at Mukden. The fourth, consisting of 40,000 men, under General Meyendorff, is holding General Kuroki in check by hard fighting, 12 miles south of Mukden. The fifth, of about 12,000 men, is further south, exhausted by incessant fighting, and is surrounded on three sides by the Japanese, its position being one of extreme danger, from which it can hardly hope to escape.

"Everything now depends," says the paper, "on Meyendorff's ability to hold Kuroki in check, which so far, has been successfully done."

FIERCE FIRE

PROGRESSO, TEX., VISITED BY BIG FIRE.

PROGRESSO, Tex., Sept. 10.—The fierce fire which broke out here yesterday, raged unchecked all day. It wiped out an entire block of business houses occupied by firms engaged in the general merchandise business. The loss is estimated at from $1,000,000 to $1,200,000, with but little insurance.

The burned territory consists of the square and two blocks south of water front and facing one of the principal plazas directly opposite the custom house.

The warehouses were burned to the ground and the loss on fibre will aggregate $300,000.

The loss of the dry goods and grocery, drug, and coffee importing concerns will approximate $400,000.

What is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at P. H. THE LUCE LAW

Politicians Discuss the Provisions of it

MEETING OF REGISTRARS HELD IN BOSTON

Details Left Out of the Law

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—At Young's hotel last evening the association of Massachusetts registrars listened to the two leaders of the house of representatives, the Rev. H. H. Newton of Everett and George A. Schofield of Ipswich, republican and democrat, respectively, while they expatiated on the good and bad points of the Luce law.

Representative Newton said that the purpose of the Luce legislation aimed to give dignity to the caucus. Here he compared our representative form of government with monarchial forms and showed that the caucus was necessary in our system.

The fault in these latter days, he said, lies in the fact that our younger voters are not being educated to understand the real idea of suffrage. It is a matter of common knowledge that votes today are bought and sold. The belief seems to be general that individuals and not principles are of the greatest moment. In other days the caucus was more simple. Then principle was uppermost and individuals were known personally to the voters. The election law aims to better conditions, to place principle uppermost by making it more difficult to pack caucuses in the interest of self-seeking individuals.

The present law aims to prevent the use of money in elections, though perhaps it is not entirely effective. The Luce law is simply the evolution of our election laws.

Direct nomination he thought exceedingly satisfactory, and the principle should be extended. Another difficulty was that a man might skilfully carry on an advertising campaign and get the nomination, though that opportunity might not prove to be for the best interests of the people. Direct nomination, he thought, would not work well in the "shoestring" district because he doubted if the people of that strung-out district could thoroughly know a candidate.

As to the hours for primary elections, from 12 to 9 o'clock he thought the best time.

The corrupt practice act aims to prevent the wrong use of money in elections. The feelings of the newer voters seem to be that the size of the pocketbook of the candidate is bigger than the principles involved.

Representative Schofield could not wholly agree with his opponent in the house. The Luce law went into effect after days of battling, and then, with nine-tenths of it amended, so that only one-tenth of the "evolutions" and Luce's ideas remained. Luce himself said that he was dissatisfied with it at the time and practically disowned it. Today, however, Luce is enthusiastically in favor of retaining it. The author he believed to be sincere, though his ideas were colored by strong partisanship.

He believed with Mr. Newton in a government of principles, but he would add a government of individuals who could be trusted to carry out the principles. He thought a better solution of the problem would be a government of both interviewed.

He then offered a number of suggestions with a view to improving the election laws. The section providing that each party shall appoint two registrars of voters is nullified in the smaller towns by granting the selectmen, who very often dominate matters, the power to appoint registrars. If the principle is good in a city ward or precinct, it is good also in the smaller town.

He regarded the reading and writing test as something of a gamble because the several cards containing extracts from the constitution are not of equal difficulty.

The corrupt practice act is all right in intention, but a failure in practice. Differing from the previous speaker, he said he was not in favor of party politics.

The registrars discussed the election law, and it seemed to be the opinion that the Luce law was legislation on principles with the details left out. The purpose of the association is to bring about a uniform system of registration and unravel the Luce law, about which no one seemed to have a very clear idea.

A question about the right of a citizen duly registered, who will be 21 the 28th day of September, to vote in a primary election, to be held the 27th created some discussion. All but John P. Farley of Lowell were of the opinion that the citizen could not vote, and they went so far as to say that they would not register any one under those conditions. They learned, however, that the supreme court (Mass. 107, 425) decided that a man is entitled to vote in an election occurring the day before his birthday.

During the afternoon the present board of officers was re-elected, and it was voted to reduce the annual assessment to $2. The following were present: Allen P. Joyce, Medford; John F. McCormack, Cambridge; John P. Farley, Cornelius F. Sullivan, Girard P. Dadman, Lowell; W. D. S. Haven Jones, Melrose; Walter A. Davis, president, Fitchburg; Preston Friend, Gloucester; John H. Flun, secretary, Woburn.

Needless to say, there is no element of trickery in the contest, while the award of prizes will be scrupulously guarded. The proverbs selected are those in common vernacular use and the educational test will lie largely in the accuracy with which the authentic texts are quoted, transcribed and transmitted, including spelling, handwriting, and even to the neatness and general care displayed in filling, filing and mailing the coupons. A jury, composed of three disinterested persons of unquestioned standing, will be announced in due course.

GRANT DEFEATED

General Bell Demolished the Blue Army

CORPS HEADQUARTERS, Gainesville, Va., Sept. 10—The second manoeuvre problem ceased at 9 o'clock yesterday with Gen. Bell commanding the Brown army, demolishing Gen. Grant, commanding the Blue army, east of Bull Run.

This result awards victory to the attacking force in each of the two problems and makes Gen. Grant the first victor and Gen. Bell the second so far as results can be estimated without bullets.

The manoeuvring and fighting yesterday, was far the most spectacular and exciting of the campaign. The first day of the second problem developed nothing but a rear guard action on the part of Gen. Grant, while Gen. Bell had spent his time endeavoring to make a demonstration on the left wing or to the south of the Blue line. During the night the situation was changed. Gen. Grant's main position remained the same behind or to the east of Bull Run. He withdrew his first brigade under Gen. Wint, who had fought the rear guard action the day before, to the famous stone bridge across Bull Run, along whose eastern shores the trenches dug by the Federal troops still remain and in which Gen. Grant posted Gen. Wint's line after it had been driven across the bridge with the loss of one brigade. Gen. Bell executed a magnificent march with the forces which the day before were on the left wing of his enemy. He drew them during the small hours of the night from the left to the right of Grant's position. When daylight came, they were put across Bull Run at Sudley, or to the extreme north of the manoeuvre scene. His centre remained practically the same and fought a brigade action at Stone Bridge. It was here that the fighting of the day began. The Brown forces charged up to the bridge, which was constructively blown up, but were repulsed and ordered back. A second charge likewise did not meet the approval of the umpire, but the third was accomplished by a most brilliant action. A part of the Brown forces, a section of the Ninth Infantry, had deployed in the woods, gone down stream and waded across. They crept up on the east bank and got in position not twenty yards behind the Blue defenders, when the Eighth Massachusetts and 12th New York, who were making the charge on the west side, came up the third time. It did not take the umpires a second to rule out the entire Blue force at this point and the Brown army crossed the run at will. In the meantime the force which had crossed to the north of Sudley had been coming down towards the pike. They struck Grant's line to the rear and the manoeuvre ended when this force appeared in a flanking movement on a Blue line which was facing a Brown line that had crossed at the stone bridge.

In summing up the situation last night, Col. Wagner, chief umpire, gave the precise movement of each brigade during the night, after which he commented on the manoeuvre as follows:

"The Blue cavalry accomplished nothing during the day, Gen. Bell having taken the precaution to change his base. Among the Blue regiments that lost most heavily in constructive killed or captured were the South Carolina, the Alabama and the Florida regiments, in all the Blue army. The withdrawal of Gen. Grant to a defensive position east of Bull Run, was effected most skilfully, the handling of the rear guard by Gen. Wint, being especially fine.

"Gen. Bell's plan of action was an able one. Menacing the left flank of the Blue, he had a long, prompt night march, by which he placed himself on the enemy's right flank in a way that promised brilliant result. What the result would have been in actual warfare, it is impossible to say. The Blue right was badly shattered, but Price's brigade was still intact and immediately available for support. Reinforcements could have been drawn from the brigade of Frost. Whether the frontal attack across Bull Run would have been sufficient to hold these two brigades in check, or whether the brigades in question would themselves have been carried away in the general rush, it is idle to speculate."

In relinquishing the command of the manoeuvre force, Gen. Corbin issued a general order last night expressing his approval of the work done by each commander and the force under him.

The militia will be paid today after the review, which is to be held at Wellington at 1 o'clock. After the review, 8,000 of the eastern militia will be entrained and started for home. The Southern railway will run as many special trains as necessary from Washington today, as good crowds are expected to witness the review.

WAS STABBED

RICHARD WALLACE JOSTLED A STRANGER IN STREET.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Richard Wallace, 32, living at 20 Union street, Peabody, while passing through Beach street about 7.40 last evening on his way to the station to take a train for home, accidentally struck against a man who was standing on the sidewalk filling his pipe.

There were words between the two. Suddenly the man who was filling his pipe, and incidentally was holding his knife in his hand, jabbed Wallace in the abdomen and then ran away. Wallace was not seriously injured and made his way to the Emergency hospital. Word was sent from there to the police of division 4 and the injured man was removed to the City hospital relief station.

Immediately upon his arrival he was put up under ether and operated upon. The doctors said last night that unless peritonitis set in Wallace would recover.

The police of division 4 went out in search of Wallace's assailant and arrested a man on suspicion. It is claimed that he was identified by a man who saw the assault. The man under arrest was taken to the Relief station for the purpose of identification, but as Wallace was under ether, he was taken back to the station and locked up.

Capt. Dugan of police headquarters was also notified of the case and visited the hospital, but was not allowed to interview Wallace.

Light refreshments were served and Master Gendron was the recipient of many presents.

JACK THE RIPPER

Negro Says He Committed Eleven Murders

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 10.—A "Jack the Ripper" in black was arrested last night at Shreveport, La. The negro is a young man, probably not more than 30 years old, but since attaining his majority he has committed not less than 11 murders and perhaps some that he does not now recall. He can give no excuse for his sanguinary disposition except that he cannot refrain from seeing human blood.

Jim Lee, which is the name of the negro, is arrested upon complaints of having during the past year committed four murders as follows: James Johnson, a white levee camp foreman in Concordia parish, La.; Tice Lyons, a negro at the same place; Bud DeWitt, a negro of Bossier parish, and Mary Seabrooke, a negro woman who resided near Donaldsville. All of the murders were committed in Louisiana. It is remarkable that with all these deaths occurring within a radius of 100 miles Lee was not before suspected. But so cleverly did he conceal his identity that it was only when he murdered Johnson in daylight and the deed was witnessed by several workmen, that the other crimes were laid at his door.

JEWELRY GONE

YOUNG WOMAN HAS ARDENT SUITOR ARRESTED.

WORCESTER, Sept. 10.—William Brayton, a conductor on the Fitchburg Gardner & Westminster street railway line, was arrested yesterday at the request of the Worcester police and will be arraigned in central district court on a charge of larceny made against him by Miss Laura E. Tracy of Leicester, who claims he has taken from her a diamond ring valued at $200 a pair of gold earrings valued at $25, and a gold ring set with opals valued at $25.

According to Miss Tracy's story Brayton had been keeping company with her for some time and she told him about her diamond ring being broken. He volunteered to bring it to a jeweler in Worcester to have it repaired and she gave it to him, but has not been able to get it back. She has also missed her earrings and her gold ring.

Although Brayton visited her as an unmarried man, Miss Tracy says she has learned he is married and has a wife and two children in Fitchburg.

The warrant issued by the Worcester police was served by Chief Tinsdale of Fitchburg and Inspector Patrick O'Day of the Worcester force went to Fitchburg for the prisoner.

TAP AN INFERNO

TUNNEL DIGGERS MADE STRANGE DISCOVERY IN ROME.

ROME, Sept. 10.—Work on the Simplon tunnel, which it was expected would be completed by the beginning of next month, was suddenly stopped yesterday, owing to the exposure of a hot spring flowing 1500 gallons per minute, while the temperature in the tunnel reached 112 degrees. The workmen had to flee for their lives. Refrigerators will be installed and the work resumed a month from date. The Simplon tunnel, which is being cut through Simplon mountain will be 21,-374 yards long, and it already has been pierced for a distance of 21,142 yards.

A dispatch from Turin Sept. 20, 1902, said that the heat in the interior of Simplon mountain was deadly to the workmen in the tunnel. The men had to be sprinkled with cold water constantly, and though fresh air was pumped into the tunnel, many of the workmen succumbed.

JOY POLLARD, GENERAL ORGANIZER OF THE WESTERN FEDERATION OF MINERS.

CRIPPLE CREEK

Miners' Agent Tells of Conditions There

Joy Pollard, general organizer and representative of the Western Federation of Miners, was in this city yesterday in the interest of the striking miners of Cripple Creek, Col., district. He is collecting funds and at the same time giving the miners' side of the trouble in Colorado.

Little need be said of the condition of affairs in and around Cripple Creek at the present time, or of the murders, riots, fires, persecutions and other acts which thrilled the country for weeks when the eyes of the world were centered on the mining districts at Cripple Creek.

Mr. Pollard left Cripple Creek just one year ago to go to northern Michigan and Wisconsin to keep the miners of that district from going west and taking the places of the miners who struck in sympathy with the smelters and mill hands of the Cripple Creek district, for an eight-hour day. At about the same time the mine managers sent agents to the different places to secure help, but as the miners of Michigan and Wisconsin were members of unions which were affiliated with the Western Federation of Miners, the agents of the mine owners met with little success.

Mr. Pollard understands the situation at Cripple Creek from beginning to end and gave the following brief history to a representative of The Sun:

"The miners of Cripple Creek and the vicinity, which is a district of about six square miles, with Cripple Creek as the principal town, were receiving $4 per day for an eight-hour day, while the smelters and the people who worked in the mills were working 11 hours on the day shift and 13 hours on the night shift. The fumes from the smelting works in a great measure shorten life and few if any men work more than seven years in the smelting works. Five years ago a law providing that miners, smelters and mill hands working in the mines of Colorado should work but eight hours a day was passed by the legislature. The owners of the mines carried the law to the supreme court and it was declared unconstitutional owing to technicalities. In 1902 the state voted on the eight-hour day for miners and the eight-hour day won by a majority of 46,714 votes. The members of the legislature were elected shortly after this and the different members were pledged to vote for the eight-hour law, but the governor of the state at a meeting called in the militia and tried to unseat some of the members of the legislature. The matter hung fire for 90 days when the session was speedily adjourned. It was afterwards found that the session had adjourned before making an appropriation for the state of Colorado at the St. Louis exposition and a special session was called.

"On the tenth of August of last year 5000 miners in Cripple Creek and other towns refused to supply the gold ore to the smelters and mill workers until an eight-hour law was given the latter.

"Ever since the lawless governor of the state recalled his mob of soldiers from Cripple Creek the reign of terror continues. Stores belonging to a foreign corporation have been looted in broad daylight by 'law abiding citizens' of the town. Not one of these criminals fears arrest or punishment and daily outrages are committed with impunity, by mobs composed of members of the 'Citizens' Alliance and the Colorado Mine Operators' association who run the affairs of the state as they please. These crimes are committed with the consent and approval of the governor, who refuses to enforce the law and restore order on the pitiful pretense that he has 'not been officially notified.'

"Ex-convicts, gamblers, desperadoes and other [illegible] have been and are now knowingly employed and paid by the Colorado Mine Operatives' association and the Citizens' Alliance in Cripple Creek, Victor and elsewhere in the state as deputy sheriffs, guards, detectives, etc. A man serving a 14 years sentence for rape was taken out of jail and made marshal of Goldfield, while a convicted robber and horse thief who was serving time in jail was appointed deputy sheriff in the district.

"It was stated by the mine operators that the [illegible] of the district were largely foreigners, but such is not the fact; 90 per cent. of the miners and workmen in the smelting mills and other industries connected with the mines are native born and read and write good English. We are going to have the eight-hour day if it costs the state of Colorado."

Mr. Pollard during the past year has been working eastward addressing labor unions and soliciting funds and intended to address the labor unions in this city, but upon learning of the cotton strike which occurred in this city a year ago last spring he decided that it would not be right to impose upon the people, a good many of whom have not yet recovered from the effects of the strike, and has been making his headquarters in Nashua. He did not, therefore, solicit any funds here.

He stated, however, that if any person wished to assist the miners that all contributions would be gratefully received by William D. Haywood, secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners at room 3, Pioneer building, Denver, Col.

JUDGE PARKER

WILL MAKE HIS TEMPORARY HOME IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—There is every reason to believe that Judge Parker will make arrangements to come to New York for temporary residence soon after his formal leter of acceptance is made public.

It is known that leading democrats have strongly represented to him that his continued presence at such an inconvenient location as Rosemount, with no hotel accommodations, has kept Judge Parker from personal contact with many prominent men, who are frequently in New York city, but who have not time for the journey to Esopus.

The plan has even progressed as far as the making of tentative arrangements for him to take a suite of rooms here.

According to those close in Judge Parker's counsels his idea is to be immediately in touch with the party leaders and accessible to those whom it is needful and desirable to meet as the campaign progresses.

CAPTAIN NOWELL SAYS WIFE THREW BRIC-A-BRAC.

DEDHAM, Sept. 10.—The divorce libel of Capt. John P. Nowell, Brookline, prominent in military, social and business circles in Boston, against his wife, Elizabeth B. Nowell, or better known to the public as Lizzie B. Raymand, a vaudeville actress, was heard yesterday in the superior court by Judge Sherman.

The libel was uncontested. Mrs. Nowell is supposed to be in South Africa, although recently in New York city.

In the libel Capt. Nowell says he was married to Mrs. Nowell March 17, 1902.

He asks that he be granted a divorce on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment and of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication.

In speaking of his wife's habits and treatment of him, Capt. Nowell testified that she was under the influence of liquor on numerous occasions. He testified that his wife frequently assaulted him with bric-a-brac while he was in bed. He also told of other men being in the house.

Two other witnesses supported his testimony.

Capt. Nowell's marriage to the actress caused a stir among his circle of society and business friends, and was strongly opposed by his relatives.

Since her marriage, the vaudeville star forsook the stage for only a short period.

BARELY ESCAPED

J. PIERPONT MORGAN'S LAUNCH NEARLY RUN DOWN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—J. Pierpont Morgan had a narrow escape from death in the North river yesterday, his second this summer under similar circumstances, when the steamer Grand Republic came near running down a naphtha launch in which Mr. Morgan and his two friends were passing from his yacht, the Corsair, to the New York yacht club landing at East 26th street.

Mr. Morgan was at the helm of the launch and the second mate of the Corsair was looking after the engine. The launch had gone several hundred feet when the Grand Republic came along. Mr. Morgan suddenly realized that he could not cross the bows of the steamer and he ordered the mate to reverse the engines. This takes several seconds, and meantime the launch stood still directly in the patch of the Grand Republic.

When it seemed that nothing could save the little craft, the engine suddenly started to work and the launch backed away from the steamer. As the Grand Republic went swiftly by, great swells rolled away from her sides and those on shore saw the frail launch picked up and tossed about as though it were a feather. They saw Mr. Morgan throw up his hands and almost plunge overboard from the sudden lift.

Mr. Morgan grasped the tiller again and stood with a white face as a second and a third great swell caught the launch and tossed it high. By good luck it lived through both.

When Mr. Morgan landed he looked exhausted. His clothing was soaked and the launch had taken a foot of water aboard. Every one in the party was more or less drenched.

EXCURSION

TO LAKE WINNIPESAUKEE, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13.

On Tuesday, September 13, the Boston & Maine railroad will run an excursion to Lake Winnipesaukee from Lowell at a round trip rate of $1.50. Lake Winnipesaukee is an ideal spot for a day's outing. A large and swift steamer, the Mt. Washington, connects at Alton Bay with the train and takes the excursionists for a sail of sixty miles over the lake. FOR PRESIDENT
ALTON B. PARKER
OF NEW YORK.

What does the election of Judge Parker mean to the people of Massachusetts?

It means that every effort will be made to secure reciprocity with Canada both in raw and manufactured products.

It means extended markets, more work, high wages, and lower prices.

Massachusetts would receive a liberal share of the benefits of such a Treaty.

The National Democratic Convention has pledged the Democratic Administration, if elected, to try to secure such a Treaty, by the following provision in its platform:—

"We favor liberal trade arrangements with Canada and with peoples of other countries where these can be entered into with benefit to American agriculture, manufactures, mining or commerce."

Republican leaders in Massachusetts, thoroughly scared at the declared sentiment of the people in favor of Canadian Reciprocity, have made a twenty-fourth hour statement that they, too, favor reciprocity with Canada, even in competitive products.

The Home Market Club of Boston, which largely fixes the policy of Massachusetts Republicans, on April 3, 1903, passed a Resolution which was in part as follows:—

"We accept the policy of reciprocity in non-competing products as laid down in the last Republican national platform, but we are unalterably opposed to reciprocity in competing products."

As applied to Canada, this declaration would leave only arctic furs as a subject for reciprocity!

The Republican National Convention of 1904 declared for:—

"Commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistent with the principles of protection, and without injury to American agriculture, American labor, or any American industry."

Under this declaration we could never hope for reciprocity in any product whenever any protected industry objects!

Does any reasonable man suppose that the Republican Party could overcome the opposition of the Home Market Club to a genuine reciprocity treaty?

If you want extended trade with Canada, if you want to see a marvellous industrial growth in Massachusetts, Vote for ALTON B. PARKER electors for President!!

TAKEN TO COURT

Legality of Committee Assessments Will be Tested

Writ of Mandamus Served on Sec. O'Brien to Show Cause Why He Will Not Give Francis Donahue Nominations Papers, Even Though Donahue Refuses to Pay Assessment

Francis A. Donahue of ward three, who wants to be a democratic candidate for the legislature without giving up the assessment levied on candidates, has secured a writ of mandamus, ordering Sec. J. Frank O'Brien to appear before court on Tuesday and show cause why he should not give Donahue his nomination papers.

It is alleged that Donahue refused to pay the assessment of the city committee and demanded his nomination papers from Sec. O'Brien. The latter refused to produce the papers unless Donahue could show him a receipt from Treasurer O'Brien.

Mr. Donahue decided to take legal steps in the matter and brought his case to the attention of John L. Hunt, Esq.

Mr. Hunt presented the case before Justice Lathrop of the supreme court in Boston yesterday morning, and after hearing the petition the justice authorized the issue of papers notifying Secretary O'Brien to appear before the supreme judicial court in Boston next Tuesday morning, to show cause why nomination papers should not be issued to Mr. Donahue without an accompanying assessment.

The notice was served upon Mr. O'Brien in his office yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Clark.

The petition which has been drawn up by Lawyer Hunt to be presented before the court Tuesday morning is as follows:

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

Suffolk ss.

Francis A. Donahue, Petitioner for Mandamus.

The Petitioner, Francis A. Donahue, says that he is a citizen of Lowell in the county of Middlesex, a voter therein and has been for several years a recognized member of the democratic party; that in conformance with the provisions of Chapter II of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts, nomination papers were issued to John F. O'Brien, secretary of the Democratic City Committee of said Lowell by the Clerk of said City of Lowell without any payment of any money or pecuniary conditions as to the same, and the said nomination papers did not under the provisions of said Chapter, become the property of said John F. O'Brien, or of the said Committee, that he represents, but remained the property of the source that issued them, and under the provisions of said Chapter are returnable to the City Clerk of said City of Lowell after the same have been filed with the Secretary of said Committee that nomination papers would be issued by him to applicants therefor, and no condition as to the payment of any money or thing for the issue of the same was made therein, and the Petitioner in conformance with the terms of said notice, and having legal right to obtain from said Secretary nomination papers so issued, made application to the said Secretary of said Democratic City Committee for nomination papers as a candidate for the nomination by the Democratic voters of his district, comprising wards 1, 2, 3 and 6 of said City of Lowell and was informed by him that the nomination papers would not be issued until he had paid to the Treasurer, of the Democratic City Committee, Patrick J. O'Brien, a sum of money, to wit: $25.00, therefor, and exhibited to him, said John F. O'Brien, the receipt of said Treasurer for the same. Your Petitioner demanded the issue by said John F. O'Brien of said nomination papers without the payment of any sum of money therefor, but the said Secretary of said City Committee unlawfully refused to issue them to or for him unless said payment was made as aforesaid, and still refuses and your Petitioner has not been able to obtain the same.

Wherefore your Petitioner respectfully prays the Honorable Court to issue its writ of mandamus in favor of your Petitioner to be directed against said John F. O'Brien to restore your Petitioner to the full exercise and enjoyment of all his rights as said candidate for said nomination, and as to the issue by said John F. O'Brien, of said nomination papers to applicants for the same to him, and not further to deny, interfere or abridge them.

FRANCIS A. DONAHUE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Middlesex ss. Sept. 8, 1904.

Then personally appeared Francis A. Donahue, the above Petitioner, and made oath to the truth of all the foregoing matters and statements by him subscribed.

Before me.

JOHN L. HUNT,
Justice of the Peace.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Suffolk ss. Supreme Judicial Court.

In the foregoing petition it is ordered that the petitioner give notice to the said respondent to appear before the Justice of this court to be holden at Boston within and for said county of Suffolk on the thirteenth day of September current at 9.30 o'clock A. M., by serving him an attested copy of said petition and of this order thereon, forthwith that he may then and there show cause why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

By the court.

Sept. 9, 1904.

WALTER F. FREDERICK,
Assistant Clerk.

A true copy of said petition and order.

Attest.

WALTER F. FREDERICK,
Assistant Clerk.

At the hearing before Justice Lathrop yesterday morning Lawyer Hunt called attention to the provisions of the election laws relating to the matter of obtaining nomination papers, and pointed out to the judge that there had been a violation of the same.

He does not predict that a legal battle will ensue, but says Mr. O'Brien will be instructed by the court to deliver the nomination papers to his client.

TWO BOSTON BOYS

Mr. Woodbury of Pelham Caused Their Arrest

George H. Moulton, 16, and Henry A. Walsh, 15, two Boston lads, were arrested in this city by Inspector John Walsh last evening and are now at the police station awaiting the arrival of their parents from Boston.

George and Henry started out last Saturday on a tour of inspection. They visited Lexington and Old Concord and talked of the battles that had been fought. They grew eloquent when they saw a monument and were rich in reminiscense when they came upon a cannon. Although the cannon's mouth was forever silenced they talked of its destructive powers until their fever for adventure grew apace and instead of returning to Boston as was originally their intention they set out to see other places and other things.

They went on and on and finally landed in Pelham, N. H. Their desire for adventure began to fade when they were unable to provide for the inner man. When they arrived in Pelham they looked so hungry that Mel Woodbury, the fellow who runs the store and other things near the monument, set out to pinch them.

Just as he was about to do so the boys boarded a car for Lowell and a new idea occurred to Mel. He telephoned to the Lowell police and told them that two hungry and suspicious looking youngsters were on the car that would arrive in the square at such a time. Inspector Walsh was on hand when the car came in and the boys were arrested. Young Moulton has satisfied himself on one point. He told the police he had arrived at the conclusion that a boy's best friend is his mother and he wants to get back to her just as fast as steam will carry him.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

At the regular meeting of Passaconaway tribe last night two applications were received. The adoption degree was conferred on six palefaces. At the next meeting six more palefaces will receive the adoption degree. Visiting brothers were present from sister tribes and spoke on the order in general. At the close of the meeting a musical program and whist and a social hour were enjoyed.

Woman's Relief Corps, No. 33, spent a pleasant afternoon and evening at the home of one of their members, Mrs. Shay, 75 Foster street, Thursday. An elaborate supper was served at six o'clock and the event was graced by the presence of Rev. George F. Kenngott, pastor of the First Trinitarian-Congregational church. Two army nurses, Mrs. Lacy of Rahway, N. J., and Mrs. Smith of this city, were also present.

Music, both instrumental and vocal, was enjoyed by the large crowd present. A number of Post 120 comrades helped to make the affair pleasant and one to go long remembered.

A new council to be known as Campeau council, has been formed within Court St. Antoine, No. 566, Catholic Order of Foresters, consisting of 35 members, upon whom the second degree was worked at the last regular assembly of the court. IRISH DELEGATES

HON. JOHN E. REDMOND, THE IRISH LEADER WHO WILL SPEAK IN LOWELL NEXT TUESDAY.

Got a Rousing Reception in Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—An enthusiastic and warm-hearted reception was given the Hon. John E. Redmond and his Irish colleagues in parliament when they arrived in Boston last evening. They have come here to meet their countrymen and the friends of the Emerald Isle at a mass meeting in the Boston Theatre tomorrow evening, and their coming has been looked forward to with much interest.

For several days Mr. Redmond and his associates have been in New York.

Mgr. Denis O'Callaghan of South Boston and a large number of the other members of the reception committee, including Thomas B. Fitzpatrick, national treasurer of the United Irish League; John O'Callaghan, national secretary of the league; Dr. P. J. Timmins, president of the central council, and Dr. T. J. Dillon, president of the Boston council of the league; Daniel P. Sullivan, M. J. Jordan, Mark H. Crehan, M. A. Toland, Michael A. Maynes and Michael P. Curran, were at the station to greet the Irish envoys, and when Mr. Redmond and his party appeared he was cheered again and again.

After the greeting of the city had been extended to Mr. Redmond and his associates, carriages were taken for the Hotel Lenox, where they will make their headquarters during their stay in the city.

During the evening many prominent Irish-Americans called at the hotel to meet Mr. and Mrs. Redmond and their charming daughter, Esther, and the other members of parliament.

The local branches of the league held meetings during the evening to complete arrangements for the reception tomorrow evening at the Boston Theatre. A large sale of tickets was reported, and Mr. Redmond will face a representative gathering of the Irish cause when he rises to explain the present condition of affairs in his native land.

Mayor Collins, who will return from his vacation to meet the Irish envoys, will preside.

In addition to Mr. Redmond, the speakers will be Capt. A. J. C. Donellan, M. P.; Patrick O'Brien, M. P., and the Hon. W. Bourke Cockran of New York. Mrs. Redmond and her daughter will occupy one of the private boxes at the reception.

COMING TO LOWELL TUESDAY.

The committee on arrangements for the reception to the Irish envoys, Messrs. Redmond, Donohue and O'Brien met at Barristers hall last evening and heard reports upon various matters pertaining to the home rule demonstration in Huntington hall on Tuesday evening.

It was announced that Div. 2, A. O. H., had voted to turn out as escort to the Irish visitors from the depot to the hall or from the American House to the hall.

It is understood that if the other divisions of the A. O. H. do not find it convenient to take action on the invitation to turn out, all the individual members thereof who wish to turn out in regalia will be welcome to join Division 2. A committee was appointed to see the Irish envoys today so as to ascertain the time of their arrival and other details which will be reported to the escorting society tomorrow. Orders for the turn out will then be published in Monday's papers.

The mayor of the city, members of the city council and all the local legislators together with many prominent citizens have been invited to attend.

The United Irish League will meet at Jackson hall tomorrow evening to complete the arrangements.

Mr. Redmond's wife and daughter, accompanying him on his tour, will probably visit Lowell on Tuesday evening.

ABBOTT JEWELS

COURT SAYS WIDOW CANNOT RECOVER THEM.

FALL RIVER, Sept. 10.—Another phase of the litigation over the property of the late Dr. John H. Abbott, a former mayor of this city, was heard yesterday before Probate Judge Fuller. Mrs. Elizabeth C. Abbott, the widow, sought for the removal of O. Elton Borden as executor, alleging that he had not properly administered the estate, and had not properly prosecuted a claim against Dr. A. C. Dedrick, Dr. Abbott's nephew, for the diamonds left by the doctor. It was shown that the jewels were given to Dr. Dedrick by Dr. Abbott, but remained in the possession of the latter. The petition was denied, Judge Fuller saying that the executor was not obliged to commence expensive litigation that would eat up the estate.

KILLED BY FALL

WOMAN FOUND DEAD AT FOOT OF FLIGHT OF STAIRS.

HINGHAM, Sept. 10—A woman employed as a domestic in the family of C. F. McCaffrey, a Boston undertaker, whose summer home is on Rockland street, was found dead at the foot of a flight of stairs in his home last evening with her neck broken. The woman, of whom little is known, came from Boston Thursday morning, securing the position through an employment office.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. McCaffrey and family had been out sailing, leaving his mother, a hired man and the servant at home. When he returned about 5.30 the hired man said to him: "I guess the woman servant must have gone back to Boston—I can't find her."

Mr. McCaffrey then began a search about the house. During the conversation with the hired man he had been standing at the rear of the house and started to enter through the rear entrance.

At first he was unable to open the door, but after a struggle, it was finally forced and there at the foot of the stairs lay the body of the woman. She was facing the door and had a dustpan in her left hand. The last seen of her was about 4 o'clock and it was nearly 6 when the body was discovered. Medical Examiner J. W. Spooner was notified and pronounced death to be due to accident, her neck being broken by the fall.

The dead woman was about 5 feet 4 inches tall, and weighed about 200 pounds. She had mixed gray hair. In her clothes was found a bank book made out in the name of Miss Margaret McArt, and calling for a little more than $200 on the East Cambridge savings bank.

Among other effects found on her person was a letter addressed to Miss Margaret McArt, 17 Davis street, Boston, Mass., and dated June 17. A small trunk which she brought with her had not yet been opened.

NOT GOOD EVIDENCE

JUDGE STONE MADE AN IMPORTANT RULING.

CLINTON, Sept. 10.—This has been a week of important decisions by Judge C. C. Stone of the district court. If yesterday's finding in a liquor case is sustained generally in the practice of the courts of the state there will have to be adopted a new method of procedure in the office of the state chemist.

Judgment was yesterday given by Judge Stone in the case of Edward C. Graham of Fitchburg, a manufacturer of hop ale. The case of the police rested entirely on the certificates of the state assayer of analysis of samples of the hop ale seized by Chief of Police O. B. Bates.

These certificates showed that the samples contained respectively, 1.24, 1.19 and 1.06 per cent. of alcohol. The legal limit fixed by statute is 1 per cent., an excess of that amount of alcohol making an intoxicating liquor out of a temperance drink in the eyes of the law.

Counsel for the defence objected to the admission of the certificates as evidence, and argued that they did not bear the official seal of the state assayer, which, he claimed, was necessary to make them legal. Judge Stone for two days considered the matter, and yesterday morning, on the ground that the certificates were not admissible without being sealed, found the defendant not guilty and ordered his discharge from custody.

The police are now somewhat at sea in the matter. Certificates similar to those presented in the Graham case have been used to secure the conviction of several people of illegal liquor traffic in the past few months. Chief Bates, knowing that the matter turned on the admissibility of the certificates, has had a conference with State Assayer Albert E. Leach, in which the latter said that he never had an official seal, that none of his certificates were sealed, and that never before had the question of their being admitted as evidence been raised.

CURTIS MISSING

THE GIRL HE DESERTED TOOK POISON.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 10.—Officials are looking for a man who, under the name of Curtis, is accused of marrying or promising to marry, Mamie Lalando, a French-Canadian girl, when, according to his own admission, he had a wife and child living at Hartford, Ct. Curtis has disappeared and Miss Lalando is dead from swallowing paris green.

Curtis, who claimed to be a near relative of J. Pierpont Morgan, was a patient at the Britannia private hospital. While there he met Miss Lalando. Two weeks ago Curtis disappeared and a few days later Miss Lalando was arrested, charged with stealing from her employer. The next day she committed suicide by taking paris green.

The officer who made the arrest admitted afterward that he had furnished the girl with money to procure laudanum for toothache. The newspapers then took up the case and forced the officials to begin an investigation. No trace of Curtis has been found.

LARGE INCREASE

In Attendance at the Parochial Schools

NUMBER OF PUPILS MAY EXCEED 4500

Church Notes From the Several Parishes

On Monday those parochial schools of the city which did not begin the fall term this week will open their doors for the reception of pupils. The schools connected with the French Catholic diocese began sessions last Tuesday and the registration was ahead of that of last year. At the French college which is in charge of the Marist Brothers the books show a registration which passes the 800 mark while at the convent where the girls are taught by the Grey nuns and the kindergarten school for little chaps there are more than 1200 pupils in attendance. Thus about 2000 children are cared for at the schools conducted by the French parishes.

The Sisters of Mary, who have charge of the Sacred Heart parochial school, spent Thursday and Friday of this week in grading the new pupils and performing other preliminary work so that on Monday the regular school work will be taken up. While the pupils were notified that the school term would open last Thursday little aside from the arranging of classes could be done in the two days of this week. The attendance is ahead of the opening registration last September, but as there will be others who will be enrolled next week no figures have been given out as yet. During the vacation a large veranda has been built on the convent occupied by the Sisters and several rooms added.

ST. MICHAEL'S SCHOOL.

Last year was one of the most successful in the history of St. Michael's school and Rev. John J. Shaw, the pastor of the church, expects that the registration Monday will reach the 500 mark. The attendance last year was 435 but Fr. Shaw has every reason to expect a large increase and has provided for any extra call for space by having a new class room laid out. The teaching corps has been increased and this term will find thirteen Dominican Sisters engaged in educating the young people of St. Michael's parish. This means an extra regular teacher and a teacher of music. Rev. Fr. Shaw will celebrate mass for the children at 8.30 Monday morning after which the pupils will march to the school building adjoining the church and take their places in their respective classes.

Sessions of Sunday school for the public school children will be resumed next Sunday.

There will be a reception of new members into the Rosary society the third Sunday in October.

The annual reunion of St. Michael's parish will be held in Huntington hall September 22. The stage performance in which a number of well known young people of the city will take part is called "The Husking Bee" and is one of the most humorous pieces, filled with local hits that Lowell people have ever been treated to. There will be dancing, also the usual booths and decorations. The management of the affair is in the hands of Rev. Fr. Mullin.

ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOLS.

There are two parochial schools and Notre Dame academy connected with St. Patrick's parish. All will begin the school term Monday morning. At 8 o'clock the pupils will assemble at St. Patrick's church and the pastor, Rev. William O'Brien, P. R., will celebrate mass. Afterwards the boys will return to the school in Suffolk street which is in charge of the Xaverian Brothers. There will be at least 500 boys at this school. The lower classes will be in charge of Sisters of Notre Dame as formerly. The Sisters of Notre Dame also have charge of the academy and the school for girls. Some of the pupils of the academy have arrived here already and many more are expected tomorrow to be in time to attend the mass on Monday morning.

When asked last evening how work on the church is progressing Rev. Fr. O'Brien said "The work is going along in a satisfactory manner and I expect that the work of slating will begin next week. The outside work will be practically completed and the church closed in by the time bad weather sets in.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

The Immaculate Conception parochial school pupils will attend mass at the parish church Monday morning and the celebrant will be Rev. Fr. Smith, O. M. I. This school is for boys and girls and so fine a showing has it always made that the seating capacity of the school is taxed about all the time. The preliminary work here will occupy little time as all the old pupils know just what classes they have been assigned to, and the only trouble will be in grading the new applicants. During the vacation season the interior of the school has been painted and decorated and other improvements made that will conduce to the comfort of the young people.

It is expected that the total opening registration for the parochial schools of the city will pass the 4500 mark.

CLEAN, WHOLESOME FAIR

THE MIDDLESEX NORTH SOCIETY'S SHOW NEXT WEEK.

With such a favorable year for fruits and vegetables and flowers there is sure to be a fine display of these rich products of the soil at the Middlesex North agricultural society's fair next week. And after all, what is more beautiful than nature's loveliness as displayed in her variety of apples, pears, peaches, plums, apricots and other fruits as well as in the coarser but none the less valuable potatoes, beets, celery, corn, wheat, oats, beans, etc? Already the assurances point to the best display in these classes ever seen at a Middlesex North fair.

The stock sheds are also likely to be well filled, and the poultry fully up to previous years.

Without introducing attractions of questionable character, which are seen at too many fairs nowadays, there will be a varied list of attractions. The baby show on Friday will doubtless be bigger and better even than this very successful feature was last year, and a new attraction will be the competitive drill for cash prizes between companies C, G, and M of the local militia.

Other good things are being arranged and those who go to the fair are sure to be well interested and entertained.

WOMAN STARVING

SHE WAS FOUND WANDERING IN A PARK.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—A woman bedraggled, wet and weak from hunger, was found about 9 o'clock last night wandering in Franklin Park, near Blue Hill avenue, on the Dorchester side of the park. She was taken in charge by Patrolman Dupee of the Jamaica Plain station, who escorted her to the waiting room at Blue Hill avenue, where he provided her with food.

After she was warmed, the woman was asked to give an account of herself. She said her name was Miss Beatrice Lyons, 50 years of age, and that she lived with her niece, Ella McKinnon, at 132 Selton street, Waltham.

She could give no information as to how or when she got into the park, but knew that it was a long time since she had anything to eat. She was taken to the station and sent from there to the Charndon street home. From the woman's condition and her general appearance, the police think she must have been wandering about the park for two or three days.

STOCKHOLDERS KICK

WANT LARGER DIVIDENDS ON THEIR STOCK.

A meeting of the stockholders of the American-Mason Safety Thread company, which operates a plant on Perry street, this city, was held Thursday afternoon in the board of trade rooms in Lawrence. The meeting was called at the request of a number of stockholders, who were represented to be very much dissatisfied with their dividends and the amount of money being paid by the company on the stock.

A number of the stockholders reside in Lawrence and vicinity. William S. Marsh, formerly superintendent of streets there, is one of those at whose request Thursday's meeting was called.

William S. Marsh of Kennebunkport, Me., presided. The situation was thoroughly discussed by the 18 stockholders present.

Mr. Marsh presented a letter from President Lamson of Lowell, stating that he would be glad to hold a conference with the stockholders and furnish them any information in his power. The meeting adjourned without setting a date for a future meeting.

Rev. J. M. Rife of Columbus, O., who has been attending the encampment at Boston and with his wife has been visiting at Mrs. Damon's at 597 Pine street, will leave soon for home.

Mrs. Frances McNamee of Stackpole street, has returned from Franklin Falls, N. H., where she attended the funeral of her brother, Archibald McDonald.

OFFICE, 162 MARKET STREET - - - - LOWELL, MASS.

Open Evenings From 7 to 9.

Saturday, Sept. 17, at 3 o'clock p. m.

I wish to call your attention to one of the best opportunities for investment that has been offered for some time at public auction. Two tenement blocks, one of 6 tenements, the other of 2, and about 3000 square feet of land, more or less, situated at 451 Broadway, directly opposite the American Card Clothing Co.'s building and the Turner Screw Co., but a step to the Lowell Hosiery and many private manufactories which warrant good tenants.

This property has always paid the present owner a good per cent. on the investment, and has a yearly income of $768, and a first class lot of tenants.

The building, No. 451 Broadway, is a three-story building with a gravel roof laid out in flats of 3 rooms each, all piped for water and gas, with water closet for each tenant. The building is well constructed on modern architecture and is very conveniently arranged.

The building in the rear is a 2 1-2 story house of two tenements of 4 rooms each, with all modern conveniences and has always been occupied until recently, and if a person has the time to look after this property and fix the property up a little and give it a coat of paint you can not find a spot in the city of Lowell where you will get such a large return as you can from this property. As Broadway is as fine a street as you have in the city, it has smooth pavement, electric cars, one of the main thoroughfares to and from the center of the city, and a good business street. Look this property over before day of sale as it is to be sold in one parcel.

Terms of sale: $500 must be paid or secured to the auctioneer as soon as sold; other terms made known at sale.

Per order E. A. HARRIS.

COTTAGE HOUSE AND ABOUT 1863 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 1 STANLEY AVENUE.

Owing to my poor health, which causes me to dispose of this parcel of property, also all my household furniture, for it is my intention to go abroad to the old country and remain there the rest of my days. The cottage contains six large rooms, large hall, cemented cellar, best of sewerage and is in perfect repair. It sets on the southerly side of Stanley avenue, which is a short avenue, running westerly from Stanley street to West street, Centralville. The lot contains about 1863 square feet of land with a frontage on the avenue of about 41 feet. There are four pear trees and grapevine on the lot, and good room on the easterly side which gives it quite a nice garden. It is all fenced in, it is high and dry, and on the whole, makes a very neat and comfortable, small home. The neighborhood is all that could be desired, being clustered with many pretty little homes and good neighbors, and handy to the street cars. Now, as I have said before, it is my firm intention of leaving the country, and the highest bidder will positively buy this place on the day of sale.

Terms: $200 must be paid or secured to the auctioneer, at time and place of sale; other terms at sale. By order of

THREE STORY, SIX TENEMENT BLOCK, STORE AND ABOUT 3237 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NOS. 92, 94 AND 96 CONCORD STREET.

Promptly at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the 13th instant, at the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, I will offer to the public and make a positive sale by auction of this six tenement block, store and about 3237 square feet of land, in one parcel. While I have owned this property it has been a fine paying one at mostly all times, it being rented to very good tenants. Now other things arising which I have to give my sole and undivided attention, causes me to release that care and attention which a piece of realty of this kind should receive. The block is a wooden structure of three stories, with six tenements and a basement store; there are two tenements of seven rooms each and four of five rooms each. Each tenement has separate cellar, and has separate toilet closets on their respective floors. The whole building is in fair condition, outside of a little papering and painting, which would put it in perfect condition. There is a bulk-head leading to Pond street on the north side, giving easy access for the removal of ashes, etc., from each cellar to the street. It sets on a good solid foundation, is dry land, and has the best of sewerage and city necessities. The lot contains about 3237 square feet of land, with a frontage of about 56 feet on Concord street and about 60 feet on Pond street. There is a small yard room in front, as the building sets back about 10 feet from the street line. The street walks are concreted and curbed and there is no out-lay to make, except but for the few things mentioned above, if the purchaser so desired. It is situated in a fine tenement district, a place where your tenements will always rent, as it is in close proximity with the several industries in this section, handy to schools, churches, and has every requirement for a well located piece of tenement property. It is up for absolute sale, and Mr. Keyes is authorized to positively sell to the highest bidder, on this day.

Terms: $400 must be paid or secured with the auctioneer, at time and place of sale; other terms at sale. By order of

MARGARET A. HEERY.

COTTAGE HOUSE OF SIX ROOMS AND ABOUT 3623 SQUARE FEET OF LAND, AT NO. 50 FULTON STREET, AT THE CORNER OF BLINKHORN AVENUE.

Promptly at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, I will make a positive sale by public auction, of this cottage house and about 3623 square feet of land at No. 50 Fulton street. The house contains six rooms and pantry. It sets on the northeast corner of the lot, giving good room on the south side of the house for building purposes. It has a frontage of about 80 feet on Fulton street and about 45 feet on Blinkhorn avenue. This will undoubtedly be a grand, good speculation for someone, as the chances for improvement are very good. Fulton street runs northerly off Lakeview avenue, and this being a corner lot certainly adds to its value. Now, I am determined, to sell it to the highest bidder, on the day and time set apart, and someone will make a good purchase.

TERMS: $100 must be deposited or secured with the auctioneer, at time and place of sale.

THE LIBBY RESIDENCE, CORNER OF TROY ND HARVARD STREETS. HOUSE AND ABOUT 7150 SQUARE FEET OF LAND. FOR FURTHER DESCRIPTION, SEE TUESDAY'S SUN.

Saturday, Sept. 17, at 4.15 o'clock

TWO-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 1197 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NOS. 11 AND 13 GARNET STREET.

Regardless of any condition of the weather, I will positively sell to the highest bidder by public auction, this two-tenement house and 1197 square feet of land, situated at Nos. 11 and 13 Garnet street. Being a non-resident of your city, I feel that it is a duty I owe myself of releasing all care and responsibility that incumbers one while holding a parcel such as this, without being handy to watch and care for it. The house contains two tenements of five rooms each with separate cellars and water-closets. This is a good parcel of tenement property and would require but a few dollars spent to put it in perfect condition. It is well located on the west side of the street between Appleton and Middlesex streets, and is handy to the stores and mills. For an investment, one will make no mistake by attending the sale, for at the price it will sell for, its purchaser will undoubtedly receive a large interest on his money, from renting.

TERMS: $200 must be deposited with the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off; other terms at sale.

Make all inquiries of the auctioneer, whom I have left in full charge.

EXECUTRIX SALE. THE BEAUTIFUL WALKER RESIDENCE, AT NO. 14 BELROSE AVENUE; HOUSE AND ABOUT 7837 SQUARE FEET OF LAND.

Wishing to make a settlement of this estate, and feeling that the surest and only way of obtaining best results is to place it before the public at auction sale, so that all might know, and have a chance of purchasing as fine a built modern house, as there stands in Lowell, for in its construction Mr. Walker spared nothing in making it modern, up-to-date and finished. Its exterior is of a pretty style of architecture, with a large wide piazza rounding the south and west sides, large side-bays giving beautiful window seats to the rooms of which they are parts, and setting well high on the lot makes it a very pretty and attractive home. On the interior is a large reception hall finished in chestnut, floors of oak; drawing-room, music room with tiled fireplace and mirrored mantel, a large dining-room finished in chestnut, china closet built in, and oak flooring; library, lavatory, kitchen and pantry; there are four large chambers and large bath on the second floor, servants' room on floor above and excellent closet room throughout the house; the cellar is all cemented with laundry in same, and door leading to garden in rear. It is heated throughout by steam, the boiler fittings, piping, etc., in basement, being incased in asbestos, making it a finished job; it is lighted by gas and electricity, has electric bells and nothing is found wanting in its entire make-up. The lot is high and situated on the north side of the avenue with a frontage on the avenue of about 82 feet, and contains about 7837 square feet. It is at the base or overlooking the beautiful Fort Hill Park and clustered with the many pretty residences at this point, gives it as fine a residential locality as one would wish for. The sale will be an absolute one, and the highest bidder will purchase it.

TERMS: $650 will be required as a deposit and must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off; other terms made known at sale.

Make all inquiries at the office of the auctioneer, who will be pleased to show the residence at any time.

By order of

LOWELL'S GAME

Lawrence Defeated in First of Double Header

Lowell defeated Lawrence at Spalding park this afternoon in the first game of a double header. The attendance was very light, owing to the threatening weather and there were about three hundred fans present when the first game was called.

The grounds were in good condition and the weather was warm enough to insure a larger attendance, while both teams were on their mettle. Lowell and Lawrence players went on to the field at 1.30 o'clock and practiced for half an hour, and at two o'clock sharp Empire Brady called the game.

FIRST INNING.

Lawrence went to bat first and in the first inning neither side scored. Beard was the first man up and he singled to left field. Eaton singled to right field, sending Beard to second base. Wiley flied out to Dorgan, and when the latter tried to make a double play, the local players were off their bases and could not complete it. O'Hara hit to McLaughlin and the latter tagged second, putting Eaton out and then threw to first for a double play.

In Lowell's half Tierney opened up by striking out. Connors flied out to Colburn, the latter making a pretty catch in back of first base. Hickey hit to centre field and Lake foul flied out to Eaton.

Score—Lowell 0, Lawrence 0.

SECOND INNING.

Two goose eggs were also registered in the second inning. Green opened up for Lawrence by striking out. Colburn flied out to Bigbie, and Murphy flied out to McLaughlin.

In Lowell's half Bigbie sent a line drive to Wiley, and was the first out, while McLaughlin and Diggins sent grounders to Murphy, and were retired at first base.

Score—Lowell 0, Lawrence 0.

THIRD INNING.

The ice was not broken in the third inning. Lawrence got men on second and third bases with but one man out, when Tierney steadied down and struck out two men. Foley opened with a fly out to Grant. Klobedanz hit along the first base line for a single. Beard hit to centre field and Kloby went to third. Beard then stole second base. Tierney closed the inning by striking out Eaton and Wiley.

In Lowell's half Grant singled to left field and Dorgan sent him to second with a pretty sacrifice, but Tierney foul flied out to Wiley. Connors drew his base on balls and Hickey hit to Murphy and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 0, Lawrence 0.

FOURTH INNING.

In the fourth inning O'Hara singled to right field. Green sacrificed and sent Foley to second. Colburn drew his base on balls but fell asleep off first and was thrown out by Diggins. Murphy drew his base on balls and Foley struck out.

In the latter half of the fourth inning Lowell earned two runs. Lake opened with a single to the left field fence. Bigbie tried to sacrifice but bunted to Kloby and Lake was thrown out at second. McLaughlin hit to the right field fence but the ball got by Green and Barnie made three bases while Bigbie scored. Diggins sent a Texas leaguer to short left field and McLaughlin scored. Grant flied out to Green and Dorgan sent a pop fly to O'Hara.

Score—Lowell 2, Lawrence 0.

FIFTH INNING.

Lawrence went out in one, two, three order in the fifth inning. Klobedanz and Beard struck out and Eaton flied out to McLaughlin.

For Lowell Tierney drew his base on balls and Connors sacrificed. Hickey struck out and Lake flied out to Foley.

Score—Lowell 2, Lawrence 0.

SIXTH INNING.

The first error made during the game was in the sixth when Connors made a bad throw which resulted in Lawrence scoring its first run. O'Neil opened the inning by striking out. O'Hara foul flied out to Connors. Green hit to Connors and Billy threw about a mile over Lake's head and Green reached second. Colburn singled to deep left field and Green scored. Murphy drew his base on balls and Foley flied out to Dorgan.

Lowell went out in quick order. Bigbie flied out to Colburn, and despite the fact that the ball was right over O'Hara's head the latter did not make a move to catch it. McLaughlin hit to Colburn and went out at first and Diggins was the third out, hitting to Klobedanz and going out at first.

Score—Lowell 2, Lawrence 1.

SEVENTH INNING.

In the seventh inning Klobedanz hit to deep left field and though Bigbie misjudged the ball he got his hands on it but dropped it and Kloby found two bases on the hit. Beard bunted to Tierney and the latter threw to third, catching Kloby. Eaton hit to Hickey. Hickey threw to McLaughlin, getting Beard and the ball was then sent to first catching Eaton and completing a double play.

Lowell failed to score in the latter part of the seventh. Grant hit to right field and Dorgan sacrificed sending him to second. Tierney foul flied out to Eaton and Connors drew his base on balls. Hickey was the third out, foul flying out to Eaton.

EIGHTH INNING.

Wiley opened the eighth inning for Lawrence by striking out. O'Hara flied out to Dorgan. Green closed the inning by flying out to Dorgan.

Lake drew his base on balls after a big kick by Wiley and Klobedanz with the umpire. On the third ball Klobedanz swung around as if to deliver the ball and it dropped out of his hands. The umpire then called three balls, stating that the ball had been delivered. Both Wiley and Kloby kicked against this, but it did not go and the next ball delivered sent Lake to first base. Wiley made a pretty running catch of Bigbie's foul fly. McLaughlin hit to the right field fence for two bases. Diggins hit a line drive to Murphy, the latter catching the ball a few inches above the ground. Grant drew his base on balls, filling the bases. Dorgan hit a hard grounder at O'Hara which struck him in the face and then rolled away and Lake and McLaughlin scored. Eaton threw to first to catch Dorgan napping and Grant went to third on the play. Dorgan tried to steal second and was thrown out.

Score—Lowell 4, Lawrence 1.

NINTH INNING.

Colburn foul flied to Diggins and Murphy flied out to Hickey. Foley singled to left field. Klobedanz hit to Connors who threw to Hickey putting Foley out at second.

ANSWER FILED

BY CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY OF AMERICA.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The Catholic university of America filed an answer in the district supreme court today signed by Cardinal Gibbons, chancellor of the university to the petition of petitioning creditors of Thomas E. Waggaman, denying that Mr. Waggaman committed an act of bankruptcy by transferring to the trustees of the university a deed of trust to certain tracts of land owned by Mr. Waggaman and stating that this deed of trust was to secure an indebtedness to the university of $876,-766. It is averred that the deed of trust was received with the positive assurance by Mr. Waggaman that over and above all liabilities he was worth not less and considerably more than $1,000,000 and the university denies that the conveyance was made with the intent to prefer the university as a creditor.

THE LOSS IS 60,000

Battle of Liao Yang Resulted Disastrously to Both Sides

Reports are still current that the Russian army is effecting a retrograde movement from Mukden, though St. Petersburg officials say they are unable to confirm them. Only brief dispatches have been received today from the seat of war and they leave the situation rather vague. No fighting has occurred beyond occasional contacts of outposts, a condition probably due largely to the heavy rains which dispatches say now prevail, preventing any extended movements of either army.

No official figures on the losses of the battle of Liao Yang have been given out but estimates still place the casualties on both sides at not far from 50,000 to 60,000. The news silence continues unbroken from Tokio, no advices being directly on the operations having been received from that source for several days.

JAPANESE HOSPITAL AT LOUISA BAY

CHEFOO, Sept. 10—The Novikara of Port Arthur, official organ of Viceroy Alexieff in its issue of September 3, a copy of which was received here today, says the Japanese have erected a hospital at Louisa Bay and apparently confirms previous reports to the effect that a Japanese vessel was sunk while laying mines off Port Arthur, August 31st.

The Japanese squadron on the horizon on Sept. 1 consisted of the protected cruisers Matsushima, Itsushima, Hassidate and Akashi, the armored cruiser Adsumn and 12 torpedo boat destroyers.

CRUISER ASKOLD TAKEN FROM DOCK

SHANGHAI, Sept. 10.—The Russian protected cruiser Askold was taken from her dock today and moored alongside the Russian gunboat Mandjur and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi.

It has been decided that the crews of these Russian ships will remain on board under the supervision of the local customs authorities and a Chinese gun boat.

RUSSIAN LOSSES NOT MADE PUBLIC

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10, 5.31 p. m.—The general staff up to this hour has no news confirming the report of a retrograde movement from Mukden, though it is frankly admitted that whether General Kuropatkin intends to remain at Mukden or not, the transport and baggage and a portion of the troops will be sent north.

The story that Kuropatkin himself has gone to Tie pass is positively denied as is also the current rumor that Major General Orleoff will be court martialled for disobedience to orders.

The promised statement regarding the Russian losses has not yet been made public.

CHINESE BETRAY JAPANESE PLANS

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10—8.10 a.m.—Workmen attached to the St. Petersburg torpedo factory have returned from Port Arthur where they were detailed some time ago. They left the besieged fortress August 2 and give long interesting accounts of the conditions.

The defences they assert were largely augmented by the discovery of a Chinese store of artillery thirteen miles from the fortress. It consisted of 300 Krupp guns of large calibre with from 300 to 3,000 rounds of ammunition for each piece.

The guns and ammunition were in perfect condition. A large store of rifles found were not so good.

The Japanese made many arrangements with residents of the suburban Chinese village to furnish information from the fortress by means of pigeon post. The plan was divulged by Chinamen. Conspicuous gallantry was displayed by two companies of sailors who were cut off in the hills by the Japanese and were isolated two days. Their ammunition soon ran out. Stones and boulders were hurled at the heads of the attackers. Finally several old cannon were dismantled and rolled down the hills upon the heads of the attacking column. Ultimately 40 sailors out of 320 escaped. The returned workmen say that riding in cabs was an almost prohibitive luxury, the smallest drosky fare being $2. There are 300 cabmen in Port Arthur. The commandant forces ordered them to remain back of the firing line during actions and transport wounded free of charge.

KUROPATKIN'S MOVE WAS WELL PLANNED

TIE PASS, Manchuria, Sept. 10.—The breakdown of General Kuropatkin's strategy when he had withdrawn his main army to the right bank of the Taitse river, after General Kuroki had crossed the stream above Liao Yang is explained as follows:

The movement was beautifully planned. Kuropatkin intended to engage Kuroki, push a column up the right bank and completely isolate him from Generals Oku and Nodzu on the other side of the river. Only an accident upset his plan. General Stakelberg's corps which was still on the left bank at the extreme right, assailed to stand up against the superior force of the Japanese. When Stakelberg' reported that he was retreating it seemed to Kuropatkin that a portion of his army which he had faced eastward with the right resting on the river and the left unprotected might be enveloped by the Japanese in pursuing Stakelberg. He, therefore, drew off and reformed his front and the retreat from Yentai began had continued the rest of September 3, the Russians reaching Shakespet September 4. The losses on both sides from August 26 to September 5 are estimated at from sixty to seventy thousand killed or wounded. Many of the killed and wounded were left behind in the Chinese corn.

The Japanese are experiencing great difficulty in bringing up supplies of ammunition.

RUSSIAN ARMY MOVING NORTHWARD

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10.—1.15 p. m. There was no specific news from the front this morning but it continues to be reported that the Russian army is moving northward from Mukden. General Kuropatkin is said to be at Tie pass. The evacuation of Mukden, however, is not officially admitted.

GRAND ASSAULT HAS BEEN POSTPONED

CHEFOO, Sept. 10—Noon—Japanese who left Dalny yesterday say that the grand assault on Port Arthur which it was rumored was planned by the Japanese for today, has been postponed until Tuesday next, September 13, and that a still further postponement is possible, as the Japanese intend to make every possible preparation before again hurling themselves upon the worn-out garrison. A Chinaman who left Port Arthur on the evening of September confirms the reports of heavy fighting from August 27 to Aug. 31 when he and many others were kept busy day and night burying the dead which included Chinese, Russians and Japanese. He says that during this fight four forts in the vicinity of Rihlungshan, were captured.

The Russians signalled the garrisons of these forts to retire, whereupon the Japanese occupied them but were compelled to retire later under a heavy bombardment. Previous reports said that the Japanese had only entered one fort during this attack. Since August 31 fighting has been comparatively unimportant. The Russians have since remounted guns upon forts above mentioned.

The Chinaman also confirms the report of a three hours' attack upon Fort Itzshan on the morning of September 2. When he left the Russians were preparing vigorously to resist the next assault for which their spies said the Japanese are making elaborate preparations.

STOLE DIAMONDS

Married Woman Lost Rings and Money

The police are looking for a young man who won the good graces of a married woman at the grocers' picnic at Willow Dale several days ago. The woman in question, who belongs in one of the neighboring towns, was robbed of two diamond rings, her wedding ring, a gold watch and chain and two silk waists.

The young man whom she met at the picnic was a very pleasing young fellow and it didn't take him very long to install himself in her good graces. Although married she was very susceptible to his flattery and she leaned on his arm in a way to convince the natty young fellow that he had a "crush."

They came to Lowell together and had supper at a restaurant. The young man displayed quite a roll of bills and he was willing to buy wine or anything else there was going. The pair adjourned to a hotel and instead of wine the young man ordered a bottle of whiskey.

The woman declares that she did not drink the whiskey and that she indulged in nothing stronger than ginger ale. She claims that the young man drugged her, and when she recovered from her stupor she found that she had been robbed of rings, watch and money. She had a box containing two new silk waists and they too had disappeared together with the jewels and money and the slick young man. The woman did not tell her troubles to the police right away but finally decided to and now they are looking for the young man. The woman is doing a little detective work herself. She is following the clues, hoping that she may catch a glimpse of the young man who stole her heart and diamonds.

SUBPOENA WRIT

Served on Daughters of Veterans

Miss Stella B. Smith, of this city, who was elected junior vice president of the Mary E. Smith tent, Daughters of Veterans, at a meeting held last December, has had a sub-poena served on members of the local organization for their appearance in court on the first Monday of October to show why she should not be recognized as a member of the local organization.

Named in the writ are a number of the leading members of the organization. According to the story of a member of the organization, Miss Smith was elected junior vice president, but owing to the fact that a person who voted and who it was claimed was not a rightful member of the organization, the election was declared null and void. The officers was served last spring the meetings were declared to have been illegally elected. Miss Smith, it is alleged, tried to gain recognition from the local branch, the state branch and the national body, but was refused recognition on all sides and thus she decided to have a sub-poena issued, summoning members into court to show why she should not be recognized as a member.

The meetings were always held in the Memorial hall, but after the sub-poena was served last spring the meetings were transferred to another place. The ex-president of the tent stated to a representative of The Sun this morning that the only reason why the meeting place was changed was so that no disgrace would fall on Memorial hall.

The ex-president, who refused to give her name, stated that the account in a morning paper in regard to the affair was all wrong, it being intimated that injunctions had been served on the local, state and national bodies. The ex-president claimed that such was not the case.

At a meeting held last night new officers were elected, but the above mentioned ex-president refused to divulge the names of the newly elected officers. The whole business will be aired in court on the first Monday of October, when the members of the local tent will appear in court on the sub-poena which was served by Deputy Sheriff Ewens.

HAVERHILL POLICE

SEARCHING FOR BODY OF MRS. SINOTTE.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Sept. 10. The police and relatives of Mrs. L. J. Sinotte are searching for her body in the Merrimack river at Groveland, their action resulting from a theory held that she has committed suicide by jumping from the Groveland bridge into the river. Her jacket and hat together with her shopping bag and several recent purchases were discovered on the roadway of the bridge early today by a street railway conductor.

After they had been taken to the police station the husband of the missing woman reported that his wife had been ill for several weeks and that she had not returned to her home.

EXTRA

SWEPT BY FIRE

Timber Land Ruined and and Lives Probably Lost

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Forest fires are now raging in many of the principal timber sections in the northern districts of California and in the immediate vicinity of this city. In the Santa Cruz mountains the situation is serious in the extreme and it is believed that at present the state park in the Big bushs which contains some of the finest red wood timber in the state, is doomed.

Down the mountains to the coast line the flames are now sweeping everything before them, ranches and property of all kinds and it is hoped that the conflagration may not extend to the city of Santa Cruz. The fire in Marin county is now checked, it is believed, after devastating an area of 140,00 acres.

From Tethama, Butte and other points up north come reports of loss by flames which have swept the mountains. So far no loss of human life has been reported, but it is feared that in many instances it must have been impossible for people to escape.

SPECIAL TRAINS CANCELLED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—All Knights Templars' special trains scheduled to leave for the east via Ogden last night were cancelled on account of the fires in the snow sheds in the Serrias.

The only east bound train that left here last night was the one destined for Reno, Nev., and which was held at Colfax.

The special car of the Earl of Ustonia attached to this train and will be taken up by the first through train. According to railroad advices received here all the sheds between Blue Canyon and Cleco were destroyed. It is expected that the overlands will resume running today.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN

Children Will Return to Studies on Monday

On Monday next the public schools of the city will reopen their doors and Supt. Whitcomb and his assistants have made all arrangements for the annual event which is now a matter of regular routine with the department. Some increases in attendance are expected though the size of the increase cannot be estimated until the schools have been open a week.

An additional room will be opened in the Moody school where Principal Greene is assured of a sufficient number of pupils to warrant it, and there will probably be some crowding at the Varnum and Highland schools, both of which are in need of more accommodations. The principals of these schools, however, made their promotions in June to make room for the newcomers in September and thus are prepared for the opening. A week will tell just what their needs will be.

Asked if he expected an increase in pupils Supt. Whitcomb said: "I should expect that there would be an increase this year owing to the fact that the assessors this year found a substantial increase in the number of polls in the city. For the past several years there have been decreases in the number of polls and in each case a corresponding decrease in the number of pupils in attendance at the schools, and therefore with an increase in polls we would naturally look for an increase in the number of children. We are prepared for most any number, however, and come who may we shall open without any friction."

MANY TEACHERS; FEW JOBS.

Mr. Whitcomb when asked if any new teachers would receive employment this year replied: "Wherever a vacancy is found on the opening day a substitute will be sent in the order of her seniority, under the civil service rules. It is remarkable how the number of vacancies has decreased, while the supply of teachers is ever on the increase. For the past 10 years we averaged 20 elections a year but last year we had only three vacancies and this year we have but four thus far."

The following young ladies were recently admitted to the Training school as practice teachers: Misses Edith A. Kelly, Christina M. Knox, Elizabeth Provencher, Annie E. Irving, Clara E. Perkins, Mabel A. Metcalf, Harriet B. Whittaker, Margaret Hagerty, Mary E. Cassidy and Eleanor Cull.

Besides these Miss Lucy M. Stevenson and a Miss Driscoll from Lawrence passed the examination and were admitted, but since their admission have notified Supt. Whitcomb that they have obtained positions elsewhere and will not present themselves at the Training school. Four of the young ladies admitted were college graduates but they took the examination with the rest. Supt. Whitcomb said that it had been found necessary to have the college graduates take the examination with the others in order to keep the school from being filled with college graduates. Last year 24 college girls applied for admission under the supposition that they would be admitted upon their diplomas. Supt. Whitcomb when asked how many of the girls are from this city, replied: "They are practically all Lowell girls".

Mr. Ketchum, the new supervisor of drawing, evidently intends to lose no time in getting down to business for he has notified Supt. Whitcomb that he will address the teachers without loss of time according to the grades they teach and has sent out a call to the primary school teachers of the city to meet with him on Tuesday afternoon in the basement of the Greene school. He will take the other grades later

6 O'CLOCK

STEAMER LOST

Crew Rescued After Hard Battle With Breakers

HIGHLAND LIGHT, Mass., Sept. 10—The steamer Longfellow of New York loaded with 300 tons of dynamite and bound from Wilmington, Del., for Lake Superior, sprang a lead on Nantucket Shoals yesterday afternoon and sank about three miles southeast of Cap Cod light before midnight. The entire crew of sixteen men, after several hours in two open boats, reached land although one of the boats capsized in the surf. The Longfellow lies in about thirty fathoms of water and is not believed to be a menace to navigation.

The steamer was sighted off the Pamet river life saving station at nine o'clock last night, showing red lights and blowing signals of distress.

Owing to the terrific surf which was breaking on the beach the life-savers of that station were unable to launch their boat and were compelled to wait upon the beach.

At ten o'clock the whistling ceased and the lights went out. The life-savers, however, kept a sharp watch and early this morning two boats were discovered just outside the breakers. They were warned to keep off shore until daylight and they pulled away to sea.

At dawn they had both gone farther up the beach and one of them attempted to land opposite the Highland Light saving station, but in doing so was capsized in the surf. The crew of that life-saving station rushed into the breakers and dragged the men ashore considerably exhausted. The other boat kept off again and the crews of the Highland and High Head stations launched their own life-boats to their assistance.

Taking the Longfellow crew in tow all three pulled still farther up the beach and managed to reach land without any mishaps opposite the Peaked Hill Bar station seven miles from that point.

Captain Edward G. Riley, of the Longfellow, reported that his vessel sprang a leak under the engine room, when going over Nantucket Shoals yesterday afternoon. He kept on, hoping to reach Provincetown, but before going up to Highland Light the water reached the boilers and the vessel began to sink. The crew of 16 men taking their personal effects put off from the vessel in two boats and about midnight the Longfellow sank in thirty fathoms of water.

Captain Riley had orders to call at a Nova Scotian port for coal. The Longfellow was a vessel of 218 tons net, 146 feet long, 27 feet wide and 12 feet in depth.

She was built in Boston in 1883.

THE LONGFELLOW

WAS FAMILIAR CRAFT IN MASSACHUSETTS WATERS.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Sept. 10.—The steamer Longfellow which sank off Highland Light during the night was a familiar craft in the waters of Massachusetts Bay several years ago. For a long time she was owned by the Boston and Provincetown steamship company and plied between those ports. It is regarded as a peculiar incident that the old boat after being absent from the cape so long should find her last resting place within a few miles of her former moorings in Provincetown Bay. The Longfellow was a small boat and was built by the Lockwood Mfg. Co. of East Boston in 1883. Several years ago she was sold to the New York and Porto Rican S. S. Co., and used by that concern in West Indian waters. It is understood she was recently chartered by a company operating on the lakes. The dynamite on board was consigned to Hancock, Michigan.

At the time of the great storm in 1898 the Longfellow was one of the mediums by which the first details of the loss of the steamer Portland, northeast of the cape, were conveyed from her to Boston. The value of the vessel is not known here.

DIED SUDDENLY

Heart Failure or Apoplexy Caused Death

Frederick Peterson, aged about 42 years, died very suddenly at W. F. Bennett's boarding house at 29 Webster street on the Hamilton corporation this morning. Death was due either to heart failure or apoplexy.

Mr. Peterson came to Mr. Bennett's boarding house about four or five weeks ago and was employed at the Lowell machine shop. Last Tuesday he was taken ill and gradually grew worse. This morning at 6.30 o'clock Mr. Bennett went to the police station to have the man removed to an hospital, and the ambulance was summoned, but in the meantime the man had died and when the ambulance arrived it was found that its services were not needed.

Undertaker Ela was then notified and the body was removed to his undertaking parlors.

MANAGER DODGE

GREETED BY A NEW BOY ON HIS RETURN FROM OHIO FAIR.

Manager Dodge, of Hood's Farm, returned from the Ohio state fair at Columbus yesterday very jubilant over the success of his exhibition of Berkshires, which took six first prizes, five seconds and five thirds.

At the New York state fair at Syracuse his Berkshires took both championship prizes, together with eleven first prizes, seven seconds and three thirds.

He is now shipping the exhibit of twenty Berkshires to Indianapolis to be exhibited there, after which they will be sent to the St. Louis fair, to enter a competition about the first of October. Manager Dodge will go there before the end of this month.

On his return home yesterday he was greeted by a boy heir, who arrived during Mr. Dodge's absence. This piece of news caused more jubilation at the Dodge home than did all the prizes won by the Berkshires.

RESCUED BY BOYS

TWO MEN WERE SAVED FROM DROWNING.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Clinging to the bottom of an upturned dory half a mile off Wood Island Point, East Boston, yesterday afternoon, two men were rescued from drowning.

Their cries were heard by three boys, John Mahoney, Michael Chisholm and Lawrence Moran of East Boston, who were fishing. They at once started in the direction of the cries, which came from the other side of the point.

Upon seeing their rescuers the men urged the boys to hurry, as their strength was beginning to fail and the heavy sea was fast weakening them.

The boys bent to their oars and were soon alongside the submerged boat and, after hard work, succeeded in pulling the men into their boat.

The men would not give their names, but they took the names of the boys and told them that they would hear from them in a few days.

MILLS TO CLOSE

For One Week Only Says Agent Southworth

AGENT THOMAS OF BOOTT MILLS

Says He Hopes to Start up in Two Weeks

The Massachusetts mills closed today for one week, only. The mills will open again Monday morning, Sept. 19. The reason of the shut-down is because the Massachusetts is short of cotton, but the cotton is on the way.

Agent Southworth was not very well pleased with the insinuation in a morning paper to the effect that the shut-down in the Massachusetts might, like the Boott mills, mean for a longer period than at first stated.

"There is no reason why," said Mr. Southworth, "the Massachusetts mills would not resume operations on Monday morning, September 19. We are closing down for one week because we are short of cotton, but the cotton is on the way. The statement in the morning paper was somewhat mischievous."

The Massachusetts mills employ 2000 operatives and everybody will be glad to know that the shut-down will be for one week only.

While nothing is positively known relative to the starting up of the Boott mills, it is believed that operations will be resumed one week from Monday. Agent Thomas of the Boott mills in reply to questions by a representative of The Sun today, said: "We are awaiting orders from the selling house through the treasurer. I am not in a position to say when the Boott will resume operations, but I think and hope that it will be within two weeks."

ARRESTED HERE

Agnes McLaughlin Figures in Arson Case

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 10—The mystery surrounding the disappearance from Manchester, N. H., three weeks ago of Agnes McLaughlin, the 16-year-old daughter of James McLaughlin of East Manchester, is solved.

She lies at the point of death at the Rhode Island hospital, and is known there as Mrs. Jack Sweeney. Her purtative husband is locked up at the central station, for the authorities scout the theory that her terrible burns were self-inflicted. The young couple came to this city last Saturday. Sweeney says they were married in April, 1903. Her father denies this and says the young folks eloped from Manchester last month. Last Wednesday night the 6th station officers were called to a house, where they were told a woman had been burned. They found Mrs. Sweeney literally roasted and were told that she and Sweeney had had a quarrel and that a kerosene lamp had been thrown at the wife. Sweeney avers that his wife became despondent because she could not dress better and that she deliberately poured kerosene upon her night clothes and applied a match.

Sweeney will be arraigned next Monday unless his wife dies sooner, which seems probable.

Agnes McLaughlin was arrested in this city about one year ago for setting fire in Hills' block on Tyler street. Later on she was released and returned to Manchester.

SUPT. W. B. MOFFATT

PHONOGRAPHS TO BE DRIVEN FROM POOL ROOMS.

Starts War on Phonographs in Pool Rooms

Because of the many complaints that have reached police headquarters relative to phonographs in pool rooms and other places, Supt. Moffatt has determined to do what he can to suppress what has really grown to be a nuisance.

Phonographs are used for advertising purposes, to call attention to the place where they are located, and Supt. Moffatt finds that his authority relative to phonographs is not as far reaching as it might be. He can order them out of pool rooms and bootblack stands, but when it comes to private residences, barber shops or places where the noisy things are sold, his hands are tied.

The chief objection to the phonograph is that it sounds far into the night. It is in a sense a disturber and as the phonograph is not a thing of life and unable to create a disturbance of its own accord the responsibility of such disturbance falls upon the shoulders of "the man behind."

While the superintendent cannot order the phonograph from certain places he suggests a way that the war against the alleged musical instruments can be waged. If the phonograph fiend keeps the thing running late enough to disturb the slumbers of his neighbors he can be complained of for disturbing the peace or maintaining a nuisance.

The pool room managers look upon the superintendent's order as a hardship and think it unjust they should be ordered to dispose with their machines while barbers and others are allowed to keep them.

Several liquor saloons use phonographs to attract customers and these, too, it is stated may be ordered out. The police commissioners, it is stated, have been appealed to in this direction and immediate action will be taken to abate the alleged nuisance.

DEPORTED MINER

Says He Had a Hand in Explosions

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 10.—B. F. Siegel, alias Robert Romaine, a deported miner, under arrest here for burglary, has confessed to the county attorney to complicity in the Independence depot and the Vindicator mine explosions in the Cripple Creek district last June, by which 15 non-union miners were killed outright and others injured. Romaine says he helped to place the dynamite and wires running beneath the depot and by which the charge was set off. He gave the names of those whom he alleged were implicated with him in the plot.

A Cripple Creek dispatch says Sheriff Bell declared today: "We know positively that Romaine worked in the district while the strike was in progress and was a spy employed by the Western Federation of Miners. He had long been under suspicion."

The men whom Romaine implicates with himself, 12 in number, are said to be former officers and members of miners' unions in this district. Only one of them, believed to be Charles G. Kennison, former president of the Miners' union 40, Cripple Creek, is now in the district. Kennison is in the county jail charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in connection with the Independence depot explosion.

Romaine was sentenced to the state penitentiary from Pueblo for burglary in March, 1901, for two to four years. He was discharged in July, 1903.

The candidate accepts Colonel Lamont's statement that he does not desire the governorship nomination for New York and it is understood that he has no intention of asking him to change his mind. Judge Parker and Colonel Lamont are warm personal friends.

About one third of the book will be devoted to the Spanish War, concerning which the admiral will say in his preface:

"In the chapters which relate to the operations against Cervera's fleet the purpose has been to record the events from the writer's own viewpoint, to criticize in a spirit of fairness, but without malice bearing in mind that wherever it has been necessary to refer to apparent inconsistence in the statements of others the author has endeavored always to avoid unnecessary personalities.

"Through the courtesy of Secretary Moody, recourse has been had to official papers which were not available before his accession to office."

COL. YOUNGHUSBAND

SAYS GREAT BRITAIN HAS NOT ANNEXED ANY TERRITORY.

LHASSA, Thursday, Sept. 8—Via Gyangtse, Sept. 10.—In a speech after signing the treaty with Thibet, Sept. 7th, Colonel Younghusband, the British political agent, pointed out that the British therein avoided interfering in the smallest degree with the international affairs of the country. They had not annexed any territory and had fully recognized the continuing sovereignty of China. They had merely sought to ensure the observance of the treaty of 1890 that trade relations between India and Thibet should be established and that Thibet should not depart from her traditional policy in regard to political relations with other countries.

MAINE CAMPAIGN

Each Side Claims an Increased Vote

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 10.—The final day of the state election campaign in Maine was a busy one for the workers of the four parties. Chairman F. M. Simpson of the state republican committee gave out the following statement concerning the outlook for Monday's election:

"We will carry the state for Mr. Cobb, the gubernatorial candidate, by a plurality of from 15,000 to 18,000. We will carry every congressional district in the state by pluralities which will be the equal of those which we have had in previous years when the opposition has made a hard fight. We shall elect the majority of the legislative tickets throughout the state and at least 27 of the 31 state tickets with an even chance for the other four. All over the state our plurality will be fully as good as in years when both parties have made a vigorous campaign. The democrats have injected state issues into their campaign with a view of crowding out the national issues and in consequence the campaign has been waged more on the line of state issues than national."

Dr. Edgar L. Jones of Waterville, chairman of the state democratic committee, said:

"The republican claim on the stump and in the press of 10,000 or 15,000 majority is an old trick of those claiming less than they expect or ought to have, and then winning what they call a victory. If the people are with them as they claim they should have the full majority of four years ago, 33,384, or their majority of 48,246 of eight years ago. But we will take for a standard their majority over the democrats in the last presidential year. A single vote over that is a gain, one less a loss."

BLEW HIMSELF UP

Indian Chief's Way of Committing Suicide

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 10—An Indian chief at Bella Bella sent down to a local firm a short time ago an order for a coffin. From another firm he ordered a keg of gun powder.

The keg of powder was taken to the chief's house and carefully placed under the chief's bed. During the night the inhabitants of the village were startled by a terrific explosion and rushing out they found the chief's house had been blown to atoms.

Small fragments of the body of the unfortunate chief were found in the debris. It is thought to have been a case of deliberate suicide.

Ransom Demanded for Banker Eikend

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 10—A dispatch to the Record from Roswell, N. M., says: Banker Eikend has returned to his home at Portales, N. M., and verified the story that he had been held by brigands in the state of Sonora, Mexico. Hardships which he encountered caused him to lose 50 pounds. Eikend was forced by the bandits to write to his wife demanding the ransom. He was captured August 6 and marched through the mountains until the night of August 30, when he escaped and finally reached a railroad 40 miles from where he started.

JUDGE PARKER

GRATIFIED WITH WORK OF COMMITTEE.

ESOPUS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The following authoritative statement was issued at Rosemount today:

A. B. McClauseland, Judge Parker's private secretary, said this morning that the stories to the effect that Judge Parker is to go to New York to take personal charge of the canvass or to assist the committee in its conduct or that he is dissatisfied with the work of either the national or state committee are untrue. He is gratified with the efforts of both the committees. He believes the members of all of them are working intelligently, harmoniously and effectively and that they are wise in not telling about it. The judge has thought of going to New York for a day or two after the publication of his letter of acceptance, but he may not even do that.

INSANE SWEDE

Tried to Murder His Wife and Children

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 10—Julius Nelson, a Swede, attempted in a fit of insanity to murder his wife and two children in their tenement here today. Police Officer John F. Brazell heard the woman's cries and forcing the door open, got there in time to overpower the man after a hard struggle, in which the officer broke his club over the maniac.

Leaving Nelson apparently unconscious, Brazell went to summon the patrol wagon. Returning he found Nelson gone.

Later he saw the lunatic running over Tower Hill nude. Two pedestrians helped capture him. Mrs. Nelson is in the Lynn hospital, badly bruised and hysterical. Nelson was committed to the Danvers asylum.

MAY BE SUICIDE

A Wealthy Haverhill Woman is Missing

HAVERHILL, Sept. 10—Standing on the lonely Groveland bridge over the Merrimack at midnight, gazing into the swiftly flowing waters, the conductor and motorman of a late car saw a richly dressed woman of middle age. When they returned on the next trip the woman was gone, but near the railing was a black silk coat, a silk umbrella, a Boston bag, and a purse, which Louis Sinotte, a wealthy druggist, early this morning identified as belonging to his wife.

Sergeant Pierson and two officers with the aid of lanterns started immediately after the matter was reported to police headquarters to drag the river in the hope of finding a body.

The current is particularly swift at present and it is feared that if a body is in the river it may have been carried a mile or more down stream within a short time.

Mr. Sinotte, who lives at 36 Jackson street and is in business at 16 Locust street, told the police the following story early this morning:

"My wife left home at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, saying she was going shopping. She had not returned at 11 p.m. and I went in search of her.

"I visited several relatives and then came here to the police station.

"The articles which the car crew brought in belonged to my wife, I am positive.

"Mrs. Sinotte is 45 years old and the mother of six children. Since the birth of the last child, 10 months ago, she has been in poor health.

"For the last three months she has been acting in a more and more strange manner."

Sinotte, as he identified the coat and other belongings, seemed dazed and suddenly burst into tears.

FAST GOLF PLAY

Egan Proved Stronger Than Herreshoff

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 10.—The youthful golfers, one a Harvard student, the other a Brooklyn lad who attends school at Pottstown, Pa., are striving for national amateur golf championship honors in the final match play round of 36 holes on the Baltusrol club links today. H. Chandler Egan of the Exmoor Country club, Chicago, champion of the western golf association and captain of the Harvard university golf team, represents the west and Frederick Herreshoff, a 16-year-old Brooklyn boy who won the state championship of Vermont a few weeks ago and entered from the Ekwanok Country club of Manchester, Vt., is the eastern representative in today's battle. Each of the survivors of the big field of 133 starters has shown remarkably good form during the week and while Egan by his consistency is considered to be the more likely to succeed Walter J. Travis, the defeated champion, young Herreshoff has a host of followers who believe that his work being less erratic and his long game the surer, he ought to be returned the winner. When the pair started out today for the first round of the 18 hole course a large and representative gallery of prominent men and women followed in their wake.

At the start Herreshoff, for whom Donald Bell, the professional of the Ekwanona club acted as caddie, won the toss for the honor and drove a long ball, slightly sliced, while Egan with his cousin, Walter E. Egan, acting as caddie, pulled into the long grass. He took two iron shots to get out and was on the green with a beautiful cleek shot. Herreshoff's third went to the far side of the green and he was short on his putt. Egan rimmed the cup with a long putt and Herreshoff won the hole (463 yards) in 5 to 65 both pulled slightly from the second tee, the balls going into the long grass. Egan had to play back and sent the ball into a bunker. Herreshoff's second was close to the green and he was on in 3. Egan made a fine recovery with an iron reaching the edge of the green and gained a half in five. The second hole was 376 yards.

Playing in the third hole (200 yards) both players drove well close to the edge of the green. Herreshoff's approach putt laid dead for the hole which he won in 3 to 4, making the Brooklyn boy 2 up.

Herreshoff made the better drive, going to the fourth hole (488 yards) as Egan sliced. Both landed in the rough with their brassey shots. Each was on the green in 3 and Egan holed out in 5 to 6.

Egan drove 230 yards for the fourth hole (300 yards) which Herreshoff was short and had to play a full iron shot.

Egan putted poorly and the hole was halved in fours.

Both got into rough going to the sixth (345 yards) Egan having the better lie. Herreshoff got to the right of the green in 3. Egan was dead to the hole with his third and won it in 4 to 5, making the match all square.

From the seventh tee Egan pulled his drive into the road.

Herreshoff drove a shorter ball on the fair green and sliced his second into the rough. Egan here demonstrated his superiority at the long game, winning the hole (525 yards) in 5 to 7. Herreshoff picked up instead of putting out. Egan 1 up.

The eighth (283 yards) was halved and Egan was 2 up at the turn, having won the ninth hole (182 yards) in 3 to 4, cleverly negotiating a half stymie.

Egan drove the tenth green (184 yards) but Herreshoff's ball fell into a sand trap. He took two to get it out, Egan winning the hole in 3 to 5.

Herreshoff placed his drive for the eleventh hole (310 yards) the ball lying behind the trees back of the bunker. Egan drove straight and won the hole in 4 to 5, increasing his lead to 4 up.

Egan outplayed his opponent on the twelfth hole (262 yards) and won it 3 to 4.

On the thirteenth hole (321 yards) Hereshoff missed a short putt for a half and Egan holed out in 4 to 5, giving him a lead of 6 up.

Egan played a very strong game all the way through but occasionally had a tendency to cull his drive but his recoveries were remarkably well executed.

The younger player, Herreshoff, seemed to lose heart as the match progressed, frequently playing shots poorly which he executed with vigor and precision yesterday.

Egan had a splendid four on the 14th (329 yards) but Herreshoff topped his drive and was down in five. Egan was 7 up at this stage.

Egan missed the cup by a hair's breadth for a four on the fifteenth (464 yards) and won it in 5 to 6. Egan 8 up.

The sixteenth (525 yards) was halved in sixes. Herreshoff topped his tee shot but made a beautiful brassey which made up for this blunder.

Egan pulled his drive going to the seventeenth (352 yards) the hill on which he won his semi-final match from Dr. Fredericks yesterday and his ball fell almost on the same spot.

While Herreshoff was in a good position on the fair green, Egan's second struck near a bank of the green and rolled back but the hole was halved in fours.

Egan's drive for the eighteenth with a slight slice fell on the road within 20 yards of the green. Both were off the green in 2. Egan just barely missed a 12-foot put for a 3 but Herreshoff missed one at half the distance and Egan won in 4 to 5, finishing the first half of the match 8 up.

The cards:

Out: Egan 654, 544, 553-41.
Herreshoff 553, 645, 754-44.
In: Egan 343, 445, 644-37,78.
Herreshoff 554, 556, 645-45-89.

BRADLEY KILLED

His Body Was Identified Twice

MARLBORO, Sept. 10—There was a double identification of the body of the man struck by a train on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. at Fayville, Wednesday night.

Yesterday a section foreman on the railroad identified the body as that of "John Murphy," employed with a construction gang on the railroad, and who, the foreman said, had relatives in Cambridge.

An effort was made to locate them, and in doing so, members of a family named Bradley were met, who said the body might be that of a relative who, for some reason, had given his name as "John Murphy."

This morning a brother of the dead man came here and identified the remains as those of John J. Bradley, and took the body to Cambridge.

Yesterday Bradley's father and mother arrived from Ireland and it was arranged that a reception should be tendered them, which was to have taken place last night, but when the suspicion was aroused that the dead man at the Marlboro undertaker's night possibly be a son of the couple it was intended to honor, there was called a halt in the preparations for the festivity.

The deceased, according to his brother's statement, was some time ago arrested in Lowell for some trivial offence, and it is thought that because of that fact he had assumed the name by which he was known to his fellow workmen.

The local police say that Bradley was never arrested in this city.

THE LATE EDWARD R. DONOVAN.

ED. R. DONOVAN

Well Known Real Estate Dealer Passed Away

DEATH WAS CAUSED BY A CARBUNCLE

Had Been Ill But a Short Time

Edward R. Donovan, the well-known real estate dealer, and a widely known and highly respected citizen, died at St. John's hospital, yesterday afternoon, after a two weeks' illness with a carbuncle at the top of the spinal column.

The news of Mr. Donovan's death was entirely unexpected to the public at large, very few knowing of the serious nature of his illness, and it shocked the community.

Mr. Donovan took ill with a carbuncle about two weeks ago and first paid no more than ordinary attention to it. But as it grew and his sufferings increased he decided to submit to an operation and accordingly was removed to St. John's hospital last Tuesday where he was operated upon at once. The operation showed that the carbuncle had made great inroads into his system yet he appeared to rally from the effects of the operation and was in the best of spirits on Thursday when it was believed he might recover. But a relapse set in on Thursday evening and from that time on a series of sinking spells followed until the end came yesterday about 4 o'clock, the dying man having received the last rites of the Catholic church.

Edward R. Donovan was born in North Billerica 37 years ago and received his early education in the Howe school at the Centre.

After leaving school he came to Lowell and engaged in the provision business in Lincoln street. Subsequently he engaged in other business pursuits, among them being the real estate business in which he was most successful up to the time of his last illness.

He was an active worker in the old Catholic union and one of the organizers of the old Les Miserables club. He was a man of sterling qualities and made friends of all with whom he came in contact. He possessed a sunny temperament and highly moral character and in business was industrious, straightforward and the soul of integrity. While in his bachelor days he was the life of many a social gatherings, since his marriage several years ago, he had resigned his earlier pleasures for the delights of the family hearthside and had become a veritable homebody, the latchstring of whose hospitable domicile was ever out to his friends.

Besides his wife and daughter he is survived by four brothers and three sisters, the latter being Mrs. Mary Spencer, the widow of the late Robert Spencer; Annie E. Donovan, the well-known teacher in the Edson school; Grace, the wife of Dr. Hurtubise. Of the brothers, James C. is the well-known harness manufacturer of Market street, and William H. is employed in the same establishment; John J. is a resident of Seattle, Washington, and J. P. resides in Marblehead. This is the first death in the Donovan family in twenty years, the father dying in 1884. The remains were removed from St. John's hospital last night by Undertaker Savage to the late home of the deceased, 14 Stevens street.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon from his late home.

BRAVE FIREMEN

Score of Women and Children Rescued

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—More than a score of women and children were rescued from a fire in a five-story tenement house at No. 501 Tenth avenue early today. The blaze started under a stairway on [illegible] second floor and spread so quic[illegible] [illegible]ough the tenement that the f[illegible] [illegible] living above the second floor had no time to gather clothing.

Twelve families occupied the second and third floors and all had narrow escapes losing everything they possessed. One woman was confined to her bed by illness and the flames had reached her roof when a fireman stood in the window and called her down to the fire escapes. Her husband and children who had remained in the first flat were carried down extension ladders by the firemen.

The most sensational rescue was that of a mother and two children who were taken from the ledge of a fourth story window. They had been driven from their apartment by the flames and were clinging to the ledge crying for help when the firemen arrived.

When a 35-foot ladder was thrown up against the side of the burning building it fell four feet short of the fourth story window.

There was no time to make a change and two men rushed up the ladder. Balancing himself on the topmost round while his companion firmly grasped his legs from a more secure position below, the ladderman caught the children as the mother dropped them into his arms. Other firemen had taken position on the ladder by this time and the rescued ones were passed safely to the ground.

CONTRACTS TRANSFERRED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Francis Bowles, late rear-admiral and chief constructor in the navy, has succeeded in effecting an arrangement with Secretary Morton for the transfer of all of the contracts of the important naval construction work at the yards of the Fore River Engine and Ship Building company to its successor. The government works now under way at the yards comprise the three great battleships, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Vermont, which the navy is particularly anxious to have completed on time.

EYE FOR EYE

ANSONIA MAN ALSO GETS WOODEN LEG AND $200.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 10—William Galway of Ansonia, who has just been released from the New Haven hospital, announced yesterday that the hospital authorities had tendered him a wooden leg, a glass eye, and $200 in cash for an eye which he claims to have lost while there through the carelessness of an attendant.

Galway was taken to the hospital to have amputated a leg, which was crushed by the falling of a derrick. As a result of the ether which was administered to him during the operation, Galway claims his eye became swollen and inflamed, and the nurse in charge was left some eye lotion to drop into the affected member. According to the story she was unused to the business and dropped iodine into his eye, instead of the liquid intended for it.

His eye was so terribly burned as a result that an operation was performed at once and the eye removed. The doctors, it is claimed, told him that his eye had been affected by blood poisoning from the crushed limb.

GEOGRAPHIC CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—There was no general meeting of the geographic congress today but sectional meetings were held in the various lecture rooms of the George Washington university. The subjects of these meetings included physiography, biography, glaciers, meterology and terrestrial magnetism. The attendance upon the meeting today was good.

The last session of the congress at Washington will be held this afternoon. On Sept. 12, the congress will resume its session in Philadelphia.

Mrs. J. W. Paradis, Sr., has gone to Charlemagne, Que., where she is to visit her daughter, Mrs. Alderic Bonenfant, formerly of this city.

RETURNING HOME

Troops on Way Back From Manassas

CORPS HEADQUARTERS, Gainesville, Va., Sept. 10.—One-half of the militia men who participated in the four days of manoeuvring were too badly used up to participate in the review at Wellington today. The review closed the annual army manoeuvres for the Atlantic division, the reviewing officer being Gen. Chaffee, chief of the general staff. Accompanied by Inspector General Burton, General Chaffee arrived from Washington at 11 o'clock and the review was started at 11.30 and was witnessed by a large number of persons.

Special trains were run from Washington and the south over the Southern railway. Immediately after the review troop trains were supplied at Wellington and 8000 militia men from the eastern states including the Maine and Massachusetts regiments were entrained and started on their homeward journey.

After the four days of actual campaigning, marching along dusty roads, sleeping in the field, fording streams and fighting the enemy the ranks of regulars and militia, both blue and brown looked decidedly like veterans.

General Grant and his forces of the first division had the right of the line and General Bell and the troops of camp number 2 and the troops of the second division formed the left. The line was formed facing the railway track and extended nearly two miles east of Wellington. The artillery and cavalry were posted in the rear of the infantry. The cavalry was in line of platoons column and the batteries placed with 16 yards between. Behind the line were the engineer bridge trains, the signal corps, wagon trains, the ambulance corps and the quartermaster's wagon transportation. In some cases whole regiments were declared unfit for reviewing march by medical officers in charge. The trouble in almost every case was sore feet due to the stony Virginia roads and the strenuous work of the past four days. This work is considered one of the great advantages of the manoeuvres. It teaches the national guards of the states what actual warfare is including the hardships of campaigning.

PHILLIPS INDICTED

SAILOR IS ACCUSED OF MURDERING EDWARD MURRAY.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—An indictment for murder in the first degree was reported today against William Phillips, a sailor, by the grand jury for Suffolk county.

Phillips is alleged to have killed Edward Murray on the night of August 28 on board a schooner which was lying off Castle Island in Boston harbor. Murray was a sailor also.

No bill was found in the case of Henry Reardon of Dorchester who had been held on the charge of killing David M. Lewis with an ice pick during an altercation.

VAN ZANT IS REINSTATED.

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 10.—Connie Mack, of the Athletics, has waived all former claims to Van Zant, of the local team, and that player will be able to get into the game today. Mack purchased him from the Nashua team and Van Zant refused to play with his team.

It is said that Mack was afraid he would cause trouble between the Browns, who had strings on Van Zant, and the Philadelphias, so he gave him up. Van Zant was very much pleased because his suspension had been removed. He says he will do his best to wipe out any ill feeling which was caused by his refusal to become an Athletic.

DOUBLE-HEADER TODAY.

There will be a double-header at Spalding park this afternoon between the Lowell and Lawrence teams. The first game will be called at 2 o'clock sharp. As Lawrence always puts up its best game against Lowell some lively ball playing can be confidently looked for.

MIXED TENNIS

AT THE TRI-STATE TOURNAMENT.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10.—The finals in the ladies' doubles and men's doubles were played at the tri-state tennis tournament here yesterday. In the ladies' doubles, Miss M. McAteer of Pittsburg and Miss M. Weimer of Washington, defeated Miss W. Closterman and Miss E. Neely, 6—2, 6—4.

L. D. Little and Robert Leroy of New York easily won from Beals Wright and Edgar Leonard of Boston in the finals for the men's double, 6—2, 6—2, 6—4.

Owing to the illness of Kreigh Collins of Chicago, the present holder of the Governor's cup, Beals Wright of Boston and L. H. Waidner of Chicago will compete for the cup today. Miss McAteer and Miss Closterman are the contestants in the ladies' finals.

GOLF CHAMPION

EGAN AND HERRESHOFF TO BATTLE FOR HONORS.

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 10.—With Walter J. Travis defeated as the champion of American golfers, the honor of succeeding him is to be decided today on the Baltusrol club's links. Either H. Chandler Egan of the Exmoor Country club of Chicago, or Frederick Herreshoff, of the Ekwanok Country club of Manchester, Vt., will be the new champion, as these two are the survivors of a field of 133 men representing clubs all over the United States, who started in the annual tournament last Tuesday.

Herreshoff defeated Ormiston of Pittsburg in the third round yesterday morning by four up and three to play.

In the semi-final round, Herreshoff again displayed excellent form and won by six up and five to play, from W. T. West, a young player of much promise, from Camden, N. J.

Egan played well in his morning round with Havemeyer of Seabright, N. J., but he was a bit wild in his drives, while his short game was excellent. He beat Havemeyer by four up and three to play. In the semi-final round, Egan defeated Dr. D. F. Fredericks of Oil City, two up and one to play.

As Egan is the western champion and Herreshoff is the Vermont state champion, the final round of 16 holes match play will be a battle between the East and West.

SEA GIRT SHOOT

GOOD SHOOTING AT INTERNATIONAL TOURNAMENT.

SEA GIRT, N. J., Sept. 10.—Four contests were concluded yesterday at the joint international shooting tournament of the National Rifle association of America and the New Jersey Rifle association and firing was continued in all the individual matches. The skirmish team match was won by United States Marine corps second team with a total of 412.

The Seabury long range military rifle match was won by Lieutenant Twees of New Jersey and the Tyro company team match went to the first team of the second troop of New Jersey whose total was 129 out of a possible 150.

Lieutenant K. K. V. Casey was awarded first prize in the Spencer match. The president's match for individual military championship of the United States will be in progress all today. The executive office announced last evening that the protest against the marine corps being allowed to compete last Wednesday in the company team match, on the ground that the marine corps is not organized as companies, was not sustained. The ruling entitles the marine corps to second prize in the company team match.

BASKET BALL

The following is from the Manchester Mirror:

The basket ball season is near at hand, and the question arises is Manchester to be represented in the game this winter.

At the preliminary drawing for franchises at the recent meeting of the New England league, in Boston, this city was overlooked, for some reason or other, and the impression obtained that Manchester had been dropped. John Smith, however, declares that the local association has not been dropped and that its standing with the league is just where it was at the close of last season. Manchester was notified of the meeting in Boston, Mr. Smith says, but did not send any representative. There is to be another meeting of the league in Boston next Sunday at which the local association will probably be represented.

It is said that Barney McLaughlin, the well-known ball player, is gunning for an opening to place a Manchester team in the league, but Mr. Smith declares Manchester is still in the game and adds that there is no opening for another team.

The stories published in Massachusetts papers regarding Manchester's standing with the league, alleging that the association had been dropped because John Smith had tried to get Jake Morse into the league as president and that the Manchester association was in debt to its players, Mr. Smith says, are amusing. He says that the association at the close of last season was in debt to the players but that there was a dispute as to the amount due. The question is still unsettled, but will be fixed up as soon as the association and the players can come to terms. Mr. Smith also says that President Cummings himself told him that there was nothing to the story that Manchester had been dropped from the league.

In Lawrence nothing has been given out as yet regarding basket ball and nothing stronger than surmises can be gained with other New England teams. However it is officially stated that the league will be much stronger and the contest warmer than last season.

In Haverhill, Connie Driscoll has his old team of players signed and some of the salaries which he is to pay are reported to be larger than those of last season. Fortune smiled on Driscoll a year ago, and the barrel of coin which came his way has lent inspiration to the working of the new team. Pat Doyle, of Manchester, who used to create all sorts of rough houses, has signed, and Joe Plante, formerly of the new champion Bristol, Pa. team, will play with the Haverhill bunch also.

Just what will be the roster of the Lowell outfit has not been given out officially, but Jimmie Gray will handle the ribbons without doubt.

RECORD BROKEN

Prince Alert Makes New Mark

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 10.—On an excellent track but with a fairly heavy head wind, in the stretch, Prince Alert yesterday afternoon established new figures for pacing geldings without wind shield, going the mile in 1.69½. The previous record was 1.59¾, held by himself. With Alta P. McDonald up in place of Jack Curry, who was in Hartford, the gelding went the first quarter in 29¾, the half in 59, the three-quarters in 1.29¼, and the mile in the time given.

The judges announced their decision in reference to the 2.24 pace of Monday last, when Alta P. McDonald, relieved John Aylward of Syracuse, won the fourth, fifth and sixth heats and race with Ambiem. Aylward and the mare were suspended for the balance of the season and $150 of the former's winnings, awarded to McDonald. C. Pitman of Trenton, N. J., was suspended for 20 days for not trying to win with Mixed Wood on the same event, and ten days additional for failing to drive out Fonda in the first heat of the 2.11 pace Thursday.

MATCH ARRANGED

GANS AND WALCOTT WILL MEET SEPT. 30.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Joe Gans and Walcott now. The two colored champions will meet before the San Francisco Athletic club on the evening of Sept. 30. Walcott wired his acceptance and Gans grabbed up the match, being a chance that he has always wanted. The weight will be that asked by the welterweight champion, 142 pounds at the ringside.

O'NEIL BESTS LOWRY

LEWIS' SECONDS STOP BOUT WITH JONES.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—Jack O'Neill of this city had the best of Jack Lowry of New York last night in the windup at the Manhattan Athletic club. The men appeared afraid of each other. The fight was tame until the sixth round. At the start of that round O'Neill was staggered by a hard right, but came back and clinched, and before the bell had Lowry bleeding from the nose and mouth and in distress.

In the semi-finals "Grif" Jones, the Brooklyn boy, met Harry Lewis, but the bout was stopped in the third round by Lewis' seconds who jumped into the ring and protested against the tactics employed by Jones. Jones was very rough in the first two rounds, and pushed Lewis to the floor through the ropes in the second round, injuring Lewis' knee. The third was the same rough house and the fight was stopped.

SHE TOOK POISON

WOMAN THOUGHT SHE HAD NOTHING TO LIVE FOR.

LYNN, Sept. 10.—Mary E. Collins, aged 22, bright and pretty, dank laudanum Thursday night because she had a quarrel with a man. She is at the Lynn hospital and will recover. According to her friends, she has repeatedly said she would end her life if her lover did not make up with her.

Miss Collins came here from New Hampshire and has been employed in a number of shoe factories, packing shoes. She became acquainted with a young man and they were fast friends up to a few months ago, and were often seen together.

He ceased his attentions, and the young woman took the matter much to heart. Thursday night she received a letter from him, and after ending it she announced to her roommate at 171 Summer street that she had nothing else to live for.

The girl friend went away to spend the evening and when she returned she found Miss Collins unconscious. She aroused the household, and a physician was summoned. After several hours' work Miss Collins was partially restored and then taken to the hospital.

JAPS ADVERTISE

They Say to Drink Beer and be Happy

THE SUN TRADE JOURNAL OF TOKIO

Is Decidedly a Hustling Publication

"Drink and be merry. Drink and be happy. Come, gents. If you come near the Shinbashi Bridge, drop in our beer hall where our famous beverage from the brewery ice-cooled may be had by the cup. Try our delicious and sparkling Yebisu."

Such, with a Japanese Barchus for trade mark and photograph of a brewery, is a full-page advertisement, part in English, part in Japanese, in the current issue of the Sun Trade Journal of Tokio (head office, Sanchome, Honcho Nihonbashiki, Tokyo, Japan, 30 cents a copy, $3.50 a year.) It is the second most conspicuous advertisement in a magazine as well filled with advertisements as most American trade journals. The most conspicuous is a brain-tonic advertisement. In English it reads, "The Kennogwan. This remedy has a marvelous efficacy and speed in the cure of all diseases of the brain and nervous affection. Compounded by H. Mori. Sold at Tampei & Co., Osaka, Nippon."

Mercly parenthetically, one may note a certain significance in these two advertisements, evidently representing two articles of consumption most in demand in the Japanese capital. On the one side, Drink and be Happy. Quite so. It is "our delicious and sparkling Yebisu," and that, if one reflects is a light lager which is found copiously agreeable in the clubs of the foreign settlements of the East. For Japan, herself, with so much hustling yet before her, judiciousness of the invitation is yet to be proved. There seems an incongruity in the association of beer swilling with the world's present estimate of Japan. And on the other side—a brain tonic. Something to stimulate brains already abnormally active, and something to repair brains already showing the exhaustion of an unexampled outflow of intellectual application to the mastery of a whole world of new ideas and new sciences.

A description of a Japanese trade journal and monthly magazine should make a useful criterion for the estimate of the new world power. It is already trite to say that this country needs to study Japan quite as much as any other foreign power. China is recognized to be the biggest open market for the products of modern industry. The United States is near China, Japan is nearer. Japan is in process of assimilating a portion of the Chinese empire and of dictating the policy of Peking.

The Sun Trade Journal, founded in 1887, now boasts a circulation of 100,000 copies. Its motto is "International Peace and Prosperity Depend Upon Enlightened Commerce and Industry." Its primary function is that of a trade journal, carrying trade advertisements appealing to Japanese buyers. Where do most of these advertisements come from. That on the front page is monopolized by an English canned milk firm. That seems to indicate who is going to supply Japan with what she has not hitherto supplied for herself.

The articles advertised are watches, tools, pianos, revolvers, stoves, incandescent lights, naval and surveying instruments, fans, rollop desks and principally, machinery. But the largest advertisement, from the Midvale Steel company of Philadelphia, is for face-hardened armor plates and armor piercing shells.

As to the contents of the magazine, these are worth catalouging in detail. Of no less than 270 pages of magazine matter, 240 are in the native writing, which is, in the main, Chinese, though now differing in meaning, word for word, from its parent; 24 pages are in English. There are a number of blue half-tone illustrations, all dealing with the war, and of value to military students. One of them shows how barbed wire obstacles look after demolition by shells. Without artillery they must prove veritable shambles for the attackers, and the Japanese have doubtless been "up against" a lot of them round Port Arthur.

Of the Japanese letter press one cannot speak except by the card. The table of contents show excellent magazine matter, entirely devoted to war, with one exception. This is an article entitled "Character Sketch; Roosevelt, the President President of the United States," by Toyage. One would like to be able to read that article in the vernacular. After a newsy review of current war news there are special contributions, all by authors prefixed "Hon." The subjects discussed, again very significant, are:

On financial topics, by Baron Tajiri.
How to stand prolonged war.
The war finances and the post-bellum measure.
War preparations beside the military equipment.
The Japano-Russian war and the German policy.
The Russian war finance.
A view of the war finances.
Manchuria and Korea.
The resources of the people.

After that there are departments devoted to:

Novels and amusement.
Literature.
Historical and geographical.
Home and foreign events.
Our foreign advertisers.

This, it will be conceded, is the magazine reading of an intensely active, vigilant and modern nation. The fact that novels have a separated department from literature is worth noticing, a suggestion that fiction is a large branch of itself. The special contributions in the English section are:

"The Three Great Refutations," by the Hon. Shimada, M. P.

"Japan—Her Destiny," by Professor Rose. American Trade, the association for promoting our business in Korea and Manchuria, the export of mineral water, the government monopoly of tobacco, etc. All these headings are in themselves suggestive of large Japanese questions which deserve more attention in America. Mr. Shimada's article, "The Three Great Refutations," opens in the following vigorous strain:

"Since the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese war, there have been not a few rumors afloat against Japan, groundless, of course, but highly prejudicial to Japan's true interests, if they are believed even to the slightest extent. They have doubtless been invented and spread abroad by the Muscovites who are not slow in having recourse to such base and cowardly means against their enemies. Nothing can be more untrue than the assertions of these unscrupulous liars that the war between Russia and Japan is nothing less than a struggle for existence between Occidental and Oriental civilization, between the white and the yellow race, between Christianity and heathenism, respectively representing the two nations. They are too glaringly false to need any refutation whatever on the part of Japan; still, for the sake of self-preservation, the ambitious intentions imputed to our country can not be connived at without making some remarks on them."

KILLED TRAMP

WOMAN SENT BULLET INTO HIS HEAD.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 10—Mrs. Charles Nebbington was alone in her farm-house near Clarks Mills yesterday, when a burly tramp called. The woman locked the doors, but the unknown visitor climbed through a window and began to ransack the house. The tramp found a trunk which was locked, and when Mrs. Nebbington refused to hand over the key he knocked her down and pounded her.

The woman finally promised to get the key, and the tramp let her rise. She was gone a minute and returned with a revolver in her hand. The tramp saw the weapon and darted through the window by which he entered.

Mrs. Nebbington fired as the man rushed out of the yard. She emptied two shells and decided that one must have taken effect when she saw the fleeing thug lift one hand to his head and hold it there as he ran down the road.

Word came from Clarks Mills yesterday afternoon that an unknown man answering the description of the tramp had been found dead at the roadside a few miles distant. There was a bullet hole in his head.

NEGRO HANGED.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 10.—Geo. Williams, the Jefferson county negro who waylaid and criminally assaulted Laura Knade near Harper's Ferry, several weeks ago, was hanged at the state prison in Moundsville last evening at 5.16 o'clock. Eleven minutes later, life was pronounced extinct. Williams never lost his nerve and declared to the last his innocence.

WARD FOUR RALLY

In Interest of Mr. Hennessy Last Evening

J. Joseph Hennessy, democratic congressional candidate, and his Ward Four friends to the number of about 150, held an enthusiastic rally in the Lyon street school basement last evening.

The affair was gracefully presided over by Patrick B. McHugh, who after brief remarks, introduced the several speakers.

William E. Curtin was the first speaker and after referring to the different problems of importance that come before congress, dwelt upon the necessity of sending to congress a man capable of handling these problems.

J. Joseph O'Connor spoke next and after reference to the subject of reciprocity with Canada, dwelt upon that ever-present enemy, apathy, and urged all democrats not only to take a lively personal interest in the coming campaign, but to interest their democratic friends as well.

Edward P. McVey was then introduced and he made a stirring speech, in which he referred to the candidate in glowing terms.

The last speaker was Mr. Hennessy, who was warmly received. Mr. Hennessy branded as a lie the report that he, if nominated, would "lie down," so to speak before Butler Ames. He stated that if nominated he would go through every town and hamlet in the district and arouse all the democratic voters.

At the conclusion of the rally it was announced that other ward rallies will be held, the dates and places to be announced later.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Says Practical Politics:

If certain rumors from the 4th Essex district are to be taken seriously the situation there will shortly be simplified by the withdrawal of "Dick" Dow from the race and the selection of Walker of Amesbury as the republican candidate. Up to date the tall man from Haverhill has not publicly announced the fact, but people who claim to be pretty close to him say that he will not be in the fight much longer. According to the story, "Dick" has his eye on a good, fat county job and is laying his wires far enough ahead to be able to land it without much of a contest.

Senator How is a relative and great friend of Mayor Howe and is a frequent and welcome visitor here.

FOR PRESIDENT OF SENATE.

Gen. Francis H. Appleton of Peabody who has been mentioned as a candidate for the presidency of the senate ever since the legislature of 1904 adjourned, has issued a statement as follows:

"A few days after the prorogation of the general court I announced my willingness to be a candidate for return to the state senate. It had been indicated to me by friends within and without my district that a return to the upper branch might mean for me the presidency of the state senate. Since that time I have carefully looked the ground over and analyzed the situation. My friends have done likewise. They are confident that I can be elected president of the upper branch, and my own investigations lend me to the same conclusion. I am, therefore, in the contest for the high honor to stay.

"As far as my renomination from the Middlesex-Essex district is concerned I have little doubt. In fact nothing appears today to make me believe that the custom of nominating for the senate by acclamation will not be adhered to this fall. The rumors that I was about to withdraw from this contest for the presidency were pure fabrications and as unfounded in fact as the allegations spread broadcast by a few individuals that the business interests would not support me. My strongest assurances of support have come from business men of the state. I have the greatest respect for my senatorial colleagues who are looking for the presidency, but the situation has so shaped itself that I would be unfair both to my district and myself did I not take advantage of the opportunity offered.

"I trust there will be no further misunderstanding of my exact position in this matter."

TWO MEN KILLED

In a Wreck on the Southern Railway

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 10.—Two men were killed and another seriously injured in a wreck on the Southern Railway between Dogwood and Wilton on the Birmingham and Selma division yesterday afternoon. The dead:

W. H. CHERRY, engineer.
WILL IVEY, negro brakeman.

Dangerously injured:

N. L. Snow, white, fireman.

The train was running thirty miles an hour when the engine jumped the track and struck the cross ties, turning completely over, crushing the engineer beneath it. Several other employes of the road are said to have been bruised but not seriously hurt.

It is reported that General Kuropatkin is breaking down under the strain of such a severe campaign as he has been through. He has had to bear the weight of the responsibility while Viceroy Alexieff has flitted around giving orders and doing nothing himself except taking care to keep at a safe distance from danger.

FLIMSY FIRE ESCAPES.

Flimsy fire escapes that fall to the ground as soon as a few persons attempt to use them are among the latest dangers attached to fire fighting in New York. It appears that some tenements are fitted with fire escapes fastened only by spikes driven into the mortar in the walls. Such escapes are about as valuable as the life preservers that go to the bottom like lead.

RICHARD OLNEY FOR GOVERNOR.

Col. Gaston's withdrawal as a gubernatorial candidate, shows that gentleman's unselfishness in seeking the advancement of the democratic party. No man in Massachusetts did more to strengthen the party or to bring it back to what it was in the palmy days of Governor Russell than did Colonel Gaston. He used his time, money and talent unsparingly and to him the party is more deeply indebted than to any other man for self-sacrificing labor and support for the past few years. It is true that Col. Gaston was the standard bearer of the party, but even so, had he been merely a selfish office seeker he would not have made so many sacrifices as he did.

He has chosen to retire and he urges the nomination of Hon. Richard Olney as a means of helping the national ticket. Should Olney be nominated, his election would be almost a certainty. Compared with Olney, such men as Governor Bates and Curtis Guild dwindle into the rank of political pigmies.

It is by no means settled that Mr. Olney will run, but if he should he will be the next governor of Massachusetts.

CONNECTICUT CAMPAIGN.

Hon. A. Heaton Robertson, a prominent lawyer of ability and wide popularity, has been nominated for governor of Connecticut with excellent chances of carrying the state. His opponent on the republican side will probably be Hon. H. W. Cleaveland, who succeeded Heaton as judge of probate. The platform adopted by the democrats comes out squarely for reciprocity with Canada, an issue which seems to concern the Nutmeg state more than any other single state issue yet put before the people. The democrats are to go in for a red hot campaign in Connecticut with a good prospect of winning.

PRESIDENT COMBES AND THE CONCORDAT.

President Combes of France has made a flat-footed demand for the severance of the Concordat under which the government supports the Catholic church. He cannot sever the instrument any too soon for Pope Pius X who is utterly disgusted with the assumption of political control over the appointment of bishops. His Holiness knows how far the church would be degraded if such influences ruled and for that reason he will not yield a jot to save the Concordat. He realizes that the church must be independent or else weakened and unable to fulfill her mission as she should.

The Concordat is bound to fall; and the sooner the better for the church. After being supported by government the people will find it difficult to support the church by voluntary contributions but they will get used to it like the people of other countries.

GENERAL WOOD'S MONUMENT

The best monument which General Wood as governor of Cuba left behind is a lottery, or gambling institution which President Palma is endeavoring to abolish. It is known as the "Jai Alai of Havana," and Bishop Candler after a visit to Cuba in a burst of indignation makes this comment on the Jai Alai of Havana, supposed to be legalized under the Platt amendment:

"Could anything reflect more discreditably upon our government than that it should be placed in such a position of sponsorship for a gambling concern which the Cuban government would destroy if it had a free hand? Was the Platt amendment designed to be perverted to such base ends? Cannot the congress of the United States by some act of modification or statute of construction of the Platt amendment give the Cuban government enough freedom of action to extirpate this abomination? Shall our government be disgraced and the Cuban people damaged for ten long years by the continuance of this detestable franchise and the maintenance of this den of blacklegs?"

CATCHES IN THE LUCE LAW.

Referring to the operation of the Luce law, Practical Politics has the following:

It is not at all improbable that some of the cities of the commonwealth will bump into a stack of trouble on account of the operations of the Luce election law. The law requires the appointment of election officers in the month of August, and as the primaries do not occur until about the middle of September, some of the cities may have overlooked the provision and will be put to more or less bother to comply with the election law requirements. Under the Luce law the election officers become of importance. They are to conduct not only the elections, but are to have charge of the primaries. Instead of two days' pay at six dollars a day, the election officers will receive four days' pay at the same figure. On account of the additional expense, it is presumed that the expenses of some of the election departments will this year exceed the appropriations.

This is but one of the many catches in the Luce law and it is safe to say that more will crop out during the first practical tests.

THE NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

The city council has elected a new superintendent of public buildings, a man, it is presumed, selected wholly on the ground of qualification. There is need of new schools in various parts of the city. Will they be erected now? Will that rear entrance be constructed in the Green school? Will the heating apparatus of the High school be remedied forthwith? According to some members of the city council the only obstacle to the speedy performance of all these different tasks was Supt. Conlon. They refused to place any money at his disposal. They claimed he was extravagant. Well, if he was he was not the first man who showed extravagance in that office, nor is that the only office in the city government today in which extravagance is apparent. It would be well for the city council to go along the line and cut off the heads of other officials who spend the city's money recklessly.

The school board we understand or certain officials thereof had serious fault to find against Conlon on the ground of extravagance, yet the school board is itself the most extravagant of all the city departments, and that is saying a good deal.

Let us hope Supt. O'Connor will meet the public demand for efficiency, economy and all the other qualities desirable in an official.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Lightnin' does play strange tricks," said the old farmer. "I paid $50 for a lightnin' rod, when, here comes a storm, an' the lightnin' made for that rod the first thing; ripped it off the buildins, an' twisted it into them hoops there you see the children playin' with. Then it came down the chimney, an', finding the key in the clock wound the clock up, threw a dishpan at the cook, an' then went gallopin' 'cross country!"

A few suggestions for trolley officials from the Boston Record:

Reserved seats for large people three in a seat.

Reserved seats for parents with squawling, sticky-fingered babies.

Three rear seats reserved for smokers. First for pipe smoker, second for cigar users, and the last for cigarette fiends.

No tobacco chewing allowed on cars.

I am only a little grafter,
A thief of low degree;
But the politicians whom I "salt",
Keep good watch over me.
And bar the courts from "butting"
In our reciprocity.

My field is not confined at all,
The trade is plied most free,
In nation, stat or township,
North, south, from sea to sea.
Of course I get more "rake-offs" where
They're not quite on to me.

And wealth is piling up so fast,
That friends will often say—
"What shall you ever do with it
When you have had your day?"
I have the answer ready but
To tell it seems a shame.
I've planned to leave posterity
A grafter's Hall of Fame.

A friend who contemplates a hunting trip to New Brunswick, which means a big game chase, has asked when the big game season opens in that section. I answer in this column thinking others might like to know. The big game season will open on Sept. 15th. The license fee for shooting moose and caribou is $50 for a non-resident and $2 for resident sportsmen. No license to shoot deer is necessary. One moose, two caribou and two deer are all that may be shot by one person during the season. It will give one an idea of how the hunt for big game has increased in New Brunswick to know that in 1896 the hunting license receipts were but $300; in 1903 they were, $18,000 and promise to be greater this year.

Two women of my acquaintance, who have been as thick as hops for a year or more, had a falling out last week. Yesterday a third woman undertook to effect a reconciliation between them. Having pointed out to Mrs. A. how foolish it was to maintain the quarrel, she went to Mrs. B. and said:

"Mrs. A. is ready to make up if you are."

"Make up?" said Mrs. B., with a curl of her lip. "Hump! She's always ready to make up. She sounds before her glass an hour every day making up."

So the peace-maker told Mrs. A. what Mrs. B. said, and now the breach is wider than ever.

"Well," said the peace-maker to me afterward, with a beatific expression on her face, "I am sure I did everything I could to bring them together."

So, there!

My friend Henry was seated in a crowded open car the other day when a woman with a small baby in her arms came aboard. Henry gave his seat to her and undertook to stand in front of a well dressed man who sat next to her.

"You can't stand there," said the man, shoving forward on the seat so that his knees might take up all the space.

"Why not?" Henry asked, unwilling to believe that, under these circumstances, any man could do this from purely selfish motives.

"Because I paid for this seat and I am going to occupy it in comfort," the man answered, sprawling as far as conditions would permit.

Now Henry says he thinks this incident ought to be a good subject for an editorial. Perhaps it ought but somehow I can't help feeling that the police court reporter is really the proper person to handle it. I believe most men would enjoy reading that Henry had been arrested for assault and battery and that his case had been postponed until the other fellow could get out of the hospital.

This is the way the Salem Quaker monument question impressed a writer in the Boston Transcript:

"While in the Witch city, I was shown a copy of the princely offer of Frederick Fanning Ayer, to erect on Salem common statues of his Quaker ancestor and ancestress, Lawrence and Cassandra Southwick, at a cost of $50,000; together with a copy of the remonstrance of about a score of Salemites against the acceptance of that offer. Slighting the sage counsel of Senator Hoar, these remonstrants would prefer to see Salem common remain bare rather than see it adorned with statues of these early settlers who followed in religion the ways of George Fox and William Penn. Their objection to the appearance of the tiger in the group as the incarnation of the spirit of persecution is a poor one, and in making it they disregard the time-honored maxim not to look a gift-horse in the mouth. Far better would it be for them if they would follow the example of Hawthorne, and apologize to Mr. Ayer for the cruelties inflicted by their forbears upon his forbears. Discovering no artist's name among the obscure remonstrants, I am half inclined to quote for their edification a speech made by B. W. Ball, the poet, in reply to a local magnate in Lawrence, where he then lived, on a subject too wonderful for the magnate's understanding. 'Mr. Chairman,' the poet observed, 'if this question related to the price of butter or eggs or Cheshire cheese, I should defer very much to that gentleman's opinion. But this is a question which calls for the exercise of judgment, intelligence and skill. It is no barnyard question, and therefore the gentleman must excuse me if I decline to adopt his view'. The local magnate had nothing to do but join in the laughter, with which all present greeted the poet's sarcasm."

PRIVATE AUDIENCE

PAPAL SECRETARY OF STATE RECEIVES ARCHBISHOP CHAPPELLE.

ROME, Sept. 9—Papal Secretary of State Merry Del Val, who came to Rome today from his summer residence at Castel Gandolf only for a day to receive the diplomatic corps, granted an audience to Archbishop Chappelle, which is a special distinction, audiences being very rare now.

The archbishop explained that the object of his visit was to present his homage to the new pope and to submit his report as apostolic delegate to Cuba and Porto Rico and as archbishop of New Orleans.

The secretary was most cordial and expressed a wish to see more of Archbishop Chappelle during his stay in Rome.

TRADES UNIONISTS

DENOUNCED THE SOUTH AFRICAN LABOR ORDINANCE.

LEEDS, England, Sept. 9—The Trades union congress at its session today, unanimously adopted a resolution emphatically protesting against the government's action in sanctioning the South African labor ordinance as being opposed to the best interests of British workmen at home and abroad, as sanctioning conditions of labor for unfortunate beings and as contrary to the anti-slavery traditions of the British empire.

MINERS LOST STRIKE

THEY WILL RETURN TO WORK MONDAY.

ZANESVILLE, O., Sept. 10.—After an idleness of nearly six months, 2000 coal miners in sub district No. 6, have declared off the strike which was begun because of a request that they accept a greater reduction than that contained in the Indianapolis convention agreement. The miners now agree to accept a wage reduction of 10 per cent. less than that received for two years prior to April 1, 1904. The miners have lost $320,000 in wages, and the operators about $2,000,000 income since the suspension of work. The miners will resume work Monday.

BIG RAILROAD DEAL

WABASH ROAD MAKES $12,000,000 PURCHASE.

The deal gives the Wabash the advantage of an immense tonnage for immediate haul and entrance into all the iron tonnage producing mills of Pittsburg.

At the hospital he complained that someone had taken his good clothes and $8000 in money, but he could not remember the circumstances.

PURE FOOD BILL

IT WILL COME BEFORE THE NEXT CONGRESS.

Every day's events show the country more and more how imperatively necessary for our food it is that the pure food bill should pass at the next session of congress, and yet there is plenty of indication that it will be held up in the senate. The situation at present is that the bill has passed the house by a vote of 201 to 68, and the senate committee has reported favorably upon it and added to it amendments tending to make it more stringent in favor of the consumer. One of these brings drugs also under authority of the government, and would make it possible to prevent the sale of the pernicious adulterations which too often are used to fill physicians' prescriptions, and put a stop generally to traffic in adulterated and imitation drugs. There is another amendment which calls for pure whiskey. It is not necessary to dilate on the value to suffering humanity which these just measures for the protection of the sick would have.

But the effect of these amendments has been to add an army of new opposers to the great body of food manufacturers who are ready to bring millions of dollars to fight the bill. Delay in its passage is all they ask, for the good reason that they know it is all that they can get, but this delay, if it can be carried on long enough, is perfectly satisfactory to the dealer in food frauds. The men who make money by them are alert and determined, and well able to spend fortunes to gain their ends. The people who suffer loss of both health and money, as long as the pure food bill is hung up, are patient and confiding, and not all in a way to obtain the information which would make them strong in support of the men who are fighting in their interests. The papers of the country have done their best to awaken the community to the truth in regard to food adulterations, of both the harmless and the harmful sort, but the very mass of evidence of the great extent of this has proved so appalling that, it takes a clear-headed man or woman to see how easily the reform could be made if those trying to bring it about had the support of the consumers.

No amount of money spent in influencing the people's representatives in Washington in favor of what is ostensibly merely a little longer consideration of the pure food bill would prevent its passing at the coming session if the people were roused to their interests and determined that it should pass. But it is a case of a wealthy, active and well organized force standing against an indifferent set, too careless to exert a power which would be overwhelming if once felt. The men who are trying to have an interstate pure food bill passed are energetic and persevering, but it is ten years now since they have known what it is to fail regularly. It is not all failure, for their work has resulted in great agitation of the subject and the institution of state and city laws which are effective in a degree, but not able to check the evil as they would be if all the states came under the same rules.

The attempt to keep impure and improperly marked foreign goods out of the country has been very successful since the Agricultural Department was authorized to sample all food imports, and given power to exclude them if found fraudulent or dangerous. Already the foreign manufacturer has learned that there must be greater honesty on his part in dealing with Americans. The reform has come about so quietly that it has hardly been realized how much stuff has been returned to European ports, or else destroyed in ours, under the late rulings. The new laboratories intended for the inspection of imported goods will make it sure that we have these practically pure. The citizen's knowledge of this superior purity of what comes to us from abroad will be a help in making our fraudulent manufacturers improve their ways, in order to keep their markets in opposition to the goods that are worth the money paid for them and known to be what they are said to be. The outlook for a better food supply for the United States is excellent, but the passing of the pure food bill must come before we can be certain of what we eat and what we drink and what we give our sick. The state laws must be supplemented by a law that will allow no evasion through local rulings.

WOMAN COLLAPSED

WHEN SHE LEARNED SHE HAD BEEN LEFT A FORTUNE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Miss Louisa Haycox, a stenographer employed by Charles Lavanne, formerly of this city, but who died after an operation for appendicitis in Toledo, O., has been left Lavanne's fortune of $30,000. Miss Haycox was his clerk and stenographer for six years, and as he had no near relatives he wrote a will just before the operation, bequeathing to her all his property.

He felt he would not rally from the operation and told the surgeons and nurses that he desired to leave his property to one who had always been faithful in his employ, careful of his business interests and tactful in her treatment of his patrons.

Miss Haycox collapsed when she was notified of the provisions of the will last evening.

HORRORS OF WAR

Japanese Losses Estimated at 30,000, Russian 20,000

Dreadful Sufferings of Russian Army on Its Retreat to Mukden—The Japanese on Wednesday Abandoned the Pursuit

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10.—1.50 a.m.—It seems to be definitely established that Field Marshal Oyanma's tired troops practically abandoned on Wednesday the attempt to head off Gen. Kuropatkin, and the latter's army has arrived safe at Mukden, after frightful exertions in floundering through mud and mire.

Some descriptions of the scenes along the line of retreat are almost incredible. They tell how the men lay down in the mud and slept in a drenching rain and without shelter.

It is evident that the last determined effort of the Japanese to bring Kuropatkin to bay was made on Tuesday, but the Russian commander-in-chief faced about and two corps, with artillery, beat off the Japanese, while the remainder of the troops continued the march to Mukden. After that the Japanese could only hang on to the flanks and try to shell the retreating columns from the hills.

The outposts are still in contact, but they are not even exchanging shots.

A late Associated Press despatch sent last night from Mukden described the horrible plight of the tentless and shelterless soldiers. The detailed statement of Russian losses, which it is promised will be issued Saturday, is awaited with intense interest. The general expectation is that the losses will approximate 20,000 against 30,000 for the Japanese.

The work of burying the dead was left to the Japanese, who were forced to attempt the task as a matter of self-preservation, but it was almost impossible. The awful rain handicapped the work of cremating, on which the Japanese relied, and only shallow trench burials were possible under the circumstances. Not only is this work one of the greatest difficulty, but it is almost valueless from a sanitary point of view, the storms undoing it soon after it is accomplished.

The care of the wounded has taxed the hospitals to the utmost. One correspondent says that 12,000 wounded had passed through Mukden hospitals up to Sunday, and only the most severe cases could be attended to by the nurses and physicians. Many, therefore, had to be left to the rough but well meant care of their comrades.

Now that the battle of Liao Yang belongs within the domain of history, officers of the general staff are more disposed to discuss some of the circumstances of the fight, although they still lack specific information, which makes it impossible for them to speak authoritatively on many points. General Kuropatkin's army at Liao Yang consisted of 200 battalions, 147 squadrons of cavalry and 700 guns, approximately 108,000 bayonets, 15,000 sabres and 10,000 gunners. Portions of the European corps and one Siberian corps had been left at Mukden, and a number of these reserves were brought into the fight. The size of the Japanese army has not been definitely established, but its actual fighting force is supposed to have had a superiority in numbers of from 50,000 to 60,000 men, and a considerable superiority also in artillery.

One of the chief advantages possessed by Field Marshal Oyama, according to the Russian experts, consisted in the greater elasticity in movement and in handling, on account of the separation of the three respective armies of Generals Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu. Kuropatkin very late also introduced the same system after a fashion, when he created the eastern and southern armies under the respective commands of Generals Ivanoff and Zarroubaieff, but these armies had not been acting independently for months, while the Japanese armies had been so acting.

On his arrival at the seat of war Lieut. Gen. Bilderling of the Seventeenth army corps, took over the command of General Ivanoff, who, though a seasoned and tried commander, familiar with his men, with the field of battle, and with the tactics of the Japanese, had to give way to a man older in years, who possessed none of these advantages. The changes in commanders at such a critical time is considered here to have been extremely unfortunate. Although it is admitted that the eastern army had to face Kuroki, who has earned a reputation as the most skilful of the Japanese leaders, the poor showing which it made in comparison with the southern army under Zaroubaieff, perhaps not altogether unjustifiably, might be attributed to this change of commanders, and the battle might have been won if Bilderling had been able to duplicate in the east, the splendid fight which Zaroubaieff made against Oku.

It was the second repulse by the Japanese force on the heights at Yentai which induced Kuropatkin to order a retreat, and there are officers of the general staff who believe that this order was precipitated, holding that if Kuropatkin had followed up the offensive on September 2, leaving to Stakelberg, who arrived at the Yentai mines in time to support Orloff, the blocking of the sweeping movement the day might have been saved.

The subsequent retreat of the Russian army over the terrible roads in the face of the determined foe is considered a brilliant feat by all, but it is undeniable that Kuropatkin has disappointed many of his old admirers, who are unable to forgive the defeat. Nevertheless, perhaps with the majority, faith in General Kuropatkin remains unshaken.

HEAVY RAINS AND LIGHTNING

MUKDEN, Sept. 10.—Last evening around Mukden occurred the greatest downpour of rain of the whole campaign and with it a terrifying accompaniment of thunder and lightning. There has been the greatest difficulty in preventing the cavalry stampeding by the double guards and all the horse lines have been tied. The men are scarcely able to keep their feet around the moving horses and are singing and talking to quiet them.

All the lower ground is under water and Chinese boats from the Hun river are navigating many of the roads and some of the streets. This makes little difference to the men who are under canvas; but all others are soaked to the skin and are sleeping exhausted in mud and water, indifferent to the weather if they can snap much needed rest.

One advantage is that the rain has entirely checked the movements of the Japanese eastern and southern armies—in fact quiet reigns over the whole front.

The Chinese population of Mukden is so far fairly orderly. The Chinese are suffering greatly and in the villages all around, crops, cattle and poultry have been trodden down and killed. The Russians are endeavoring to pay for all damage, though this is often difficult owing to the rapid shifting of the troops and the natives are always ready where possible to induce two or more commanders to pay for the same damage.

JAPS' SILENCE LOOKS OMINOUS

LONDON, Sept. 10—The horror and privations of the Russians' retreat recounted in the Associated Press despatches have not been printed here, hence the English morning papers, for lack of news, comment chiefly on the details of the battle of Liao Yang. Another day of Japanese silence, however, strikes the military critics here with suspicion that the lull in action may be ominous for the Russians.

The explanation in the Associated Press despatches that the absence of developments around Mukden is largely due to the rains, has not yet been published in London, hence the Daily Chronicle eulogizes Gen. Kuropatkin, declaring that Captain A. T. Mahan, U. S. N., (retired) was the first and only military critic to foresee the genius which inspired the strategy of the Russian commander-in-chief.

The Daily Telegraph in commenting on the full accounts of the battle of Liao Yang, says it was a struggle "terrible beyond imagination, with a desperation unparalleled in war. Henceforth," it says, "a new standard of heroism is set in war. The Japanese and Russians alike have shown capacity for sacrifice, contempt for death and utter abnegation of self in answer to the supreme demand of patriotism which have never yet been excelled."

The Daily Telegraph declares that Kuropatkin completely foiled Oyama's strategy, but that "Russian and Japanese capacity of sacrifice for an ideal has restored the sense of heroism which redeems even the horrors of war, ennobles armies and strengthens nations."

OKU'S INFANTRY FINEST IN THE WORLD

LONDON, Sept. 10—The Times this morning prints a despatch dated at Pekin from a correspondent lately with Gen. Oku's army, which says:

"Liao Yang at sunrise on September 4 presented a dismal spectacle. The Russian settlement was burning and overhung with a pall of smoke. The scared Chinese were in hiding and the dead-beat Japanese were bivouacking in the suburbs. Not a shot was fired inside the barricade that day and not a Russian left except a few deserters disguised as Chinese.

"The town was not greatly damaged by the shell fire, but all the European shops and the wealthy Chinese residences had been sacked by the Tenth Siberian Rifles. Over fifty Chinese were killed by the Japanese shell fire.

"The Japanese shells of war were insignificant. They got no locomotives, which they urgently need, and which would have been more valuable to them than artillery.

"The Japanese divisional commander attempted to pursue the Russians and managed to secure a bridge, but his troops were too fatigued to effect anything."

"My honest opinion," says the correspondent, "is that there was nothing strategically excellent in the handling of either army, though Kuropatkin can claim to have defeated the main object of the Japanese operations.

"The Russians obviously in their tactics clung to the cardinal error of overmanning their defensive positions, while the whole spirit of the Japanese tactics, as illustrated under Oku, was sledge hammer frontal attacks.

"I am enthused that Oku commands the finest infantry in the world. I do not believe that any other army could in five days deliver eight unsuccessful infantry assaults against entrenchments and still persevere.

"It is probable that Kuropatkin will now take up a position somewhere on the Harbin road, and that the Japanese army will be compelled to rest at Mukden; and if the report of the advance of Lieut. Gen. Linevitch should be true, Kuroki may find it necessary to base himself on the same line of communications as Oku and Nodzu."

INTERNAL POLICY WILL NOT BE CHANGED

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Echo De Paris sends an interview which he had with Prince Peter Sviatopol K. Mursky, the new minister of the interior in which the prince said:

"I do not intend to change Russia's internal policy, but shall strive to follow the program set forth in the emperor's manifesto of February, 1903, working on the foundation laid by my sovereign to inspire my actions by true and broad liberalism, especially as this will not change the established order of things I am a firm partisan of centralization and consequently propose to give the provincial communal assemblies extensive powers to regulate their local affairs."

The prince declared that he intended to treat the Jews kindly, but said that if he granted them the liberty now possessed by the Orthodox they might assume too great importance.

KUROKI'S ADVANCE TO BE CHECKED

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Daily Express claims to have trustworthy information that the Russian army is divided into five columns. The first has reached Tie pass (4 miles north of Mukden) and is preparing to defend that place against the Japanese. The second is midway between Mukden and Tie pass. The third is at Mukden. The fourth, consisting of 40,000 men, under General Meyendorff, is holding General Kuroki in check by hard fighting, 12 miles south of Mukden. The fifth, of about 12,000 men, is further south, exhausted by incessant fighting, and is surrounded on three sides by the Japanese, its position being one of extreme danger, from which it can hardly hope to escape.

"Everything now depends," says the paper, "on Meyendorff's ability to hold Kuroki in check, which so far, has been successfully done."

FIERCE FIRE

PROGRESSO, TEX., VISITED BY BIG FIRE.

PROGRESSO, Tex., Sept. 10.—The fierce fire which broke out here yesterday, raged unchecked all day. It wiped out an entire block of business houses occupied by firms engaged in the general merchandise business. The loss is estimated at from $1,000,000 to $1,200,000, with but little insurance.

The burned territory consists of the square and two blocks south of water front and facing one of the principal plazas directly opposite the custom house.

The warehouses were burned to the ground and the loss on fibre will aggregate $300,000.

The loss of the dry goods and grocery, drug, and coffee importing concerns will approximate $400,000.

THE LUCE LAW

Politicians Discuss the Provisions of it

Details Left Out of the Law

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—At Young's hotel last evening the association of Massachusetts registrars listened to the two leaders of the house of representatives, the Rev. H. H. Newton of Everett and George A. Schofield of Ipswich, republican and democrat, respectively, while they expatiated on the good and bad points of the Luce law.

Representative Newton said that the purpose of the Luce legislation aimed to give dignity to the caucus. Here he compared our representative form of government with monarchial forms and showed that the caucus was necessary in our system.

The fault in these latter days, he said, lies in the fact that our younger voters are not being educated to understand the real idea of suffrage. It is a matter of common knowledge that votes today are bought and sold. The belief seems to be general that individuals and not principles are of the greatest moment. In other days the caucus was more simple. Then principle was uppermost and individuals were known personally to the voters. The election law aims to better conditions, to place principle uppermost by making it more difficult to pack caucuses in the interest of self-seeking individuals.

The present law aims to prevent the use of money in elections, though perhaps it is not entirely effective. The Luce law is simply the evolution of our election laws.

Direct nomination he thought exceedingly satisfactory, and the principle should be extended. Another difficulty was that a man might skilfully carry on an advertising campaign and get the nomination, though that opportunity might not prove to be for the best interests of the people. Direct nomination, he thought, would not work well in the "shoestring" district because he doubted if the people of that strung-out district could thoroughly know a candidate.

As to the hours for primary elections, from 12 to 9 o'clock he thought the best time.

The corrupt practice act aims to prevent the wrong use of money in elections. The feelings of the newer voters seem to be that the size of the pocketbook of the candidate is bigger than the principles involved.

Representative Schofield could not wholly agree with his opponent in the house. The Luce law went into effect after days of battling, and then, with nine-tenths of it amended, so that only one-tenth of the "evolutions" and Luce's ideas remained. Luce himself said that he was dissatisfied with it at the time and practically disowned it. Today, however, Luce is enthusiastically in favor of retaining it. The author he believed to be sincere, though his ideas were colored by strong partisanship.

He believed with Mr. Newton in a government of principles, but he would add a government of individuals who could be trusted to carry out the principles. He thought a better solution of the problem would be a government of both interviewed.

He then offered a number of suggestions with a view to improving the election laws. The section providing that each party shall appoint two registrars of voters is nullified in the smaller towns by granting the selectmen, who very often dominate matters, the power to appoint registrars. If the principle is good in a city ward or precinct, it is good also in the smaller town.

He regarded the reading and writing test as something of a gamble because the several cards containing extracts from the constitution are not of equal difficulty.

The corrupt practice act is all right in intention, but a failure in practice. Differing from the previous speaker, he said he was not in favor of party politics.

The registrars discussed the election law, and it seemed to be the opinion that the Luce law was legislation on principles with the details left out. The purpose of the association is to bring about a uniform system of registration and unravel the Luce law, about which no one seemed to have a very clear idea.

A question about the right of a citizen duly registered, who will be 21 the 28th day of September, to vote in a primary election, to be held the 27th created some discussion. All but John P. Farley of Lowell were of the opinion that the citizen could not vote, and they went so far as to say that they would not register any one under those conditions. They learned, however, that the supreme court (Mass. 107, 425) decided that a man is entitled to vote in an election occurring the day before his birthday.

During the afternoon the present board of officers was re-elected, and it was voted to reduce the annual assessment to $2. The following were present: Alton P. Joyce, Medford; John P. McCormack, Cambridge; John P. Farley, Cornelius F. Sullivan, Girard P. Dadman, Lowell; W. D. S. Haven Jones, Melrose; Walter A. Davis, president, Fitchburg; Preston Friend, Gloucester; John H. Flinn, secretary, Woburn.

GRANT DEFEATED

General Bell Demolished the Blue Army

CORPS HEADQUARTERS, Gainesville, Va., Sept. 10—The second manoeuvre problem ceased at 9 o'clock yesterday with Gen. Bell commanding the Brown army, demolishing Gen. Grant, commanding the Blue army, east of Bull Run.

This result awards victory to the attacking force in each of the two problems and makes Gen. Grant the first victor and Gen. Bell the second so far as results can be estimated without bullets.

The manoeuvring and fighting yesterday, was far the most spectacular and exciting of the campaign. The first day of the second problem developed nothing but a rear guard action on the part of Gen. Grant, while Gen. Bell had spent his time endeavoring to make a demonstration on the left wing or to the south of the Blue line. During the night the situation was changed. Gen. Grant's main position remained the same behind or to the east of Bull Run. He withdrew his first brigade under Gen. Wint, who had fought the rear guard action the day before, to the famous stone bridge across Bull Run, along whose eastern shores the trenches dug by the Federal troops still remain and in which Gen. Grant posted Gen. Wint's line after it had been driven across the bridge with the loss of one brigade. Gen. Bell executed a magnificent march with the forces which the day before were on the left wing of his enemy. He drew them during the small hours of the night from the left to the right of Grant's position. When daylight came, they were put across Bull Run at Sudley, or to the extreme north of the manoeuvre scene. His centre remained practically the same and fought a brigade action at Stone Bridge. It was here that the fighting of the day began. The Brown forces charged up to the bridge, which was constructively blown up, but were repulsed and ordered back. A second charge likewise did not meet the approval of the umpire, but the third was accomplished by a most brilliant action. A part of the Brown forces, a section of the Ninth Infantry, had deployed in the woods, gone down stream and waded across. They crept up on the east bank and got in position not twenty yards behind the Blue defenders, when the Eighth Massachusetts and 12th New York, who were making the charge on the west side, came up the third time. It did not take the umpires a second to rule out the entire Blue force at this point and the Brown army crossed the run at will. In the meantime the force which had crossed to the north of Sudley had been coming down towards the pike. They struck Grant's line in the rear and the manoeuvre ended when this force appeared in a flanking movement on a Blue line which was facing a Brown line that had crossed at the stone bridge.

In summing up the situation last night, Col. Wagner, chief umpire, gave the precise movement of each brigade during the night, after which he commented on the manoeuvre as follows:

"The Blue cavalry accomplished nothing during the day. Gen. Bell having taken the precaution to change his base. Among the Blue regiments that lost most heavily in constructive killed or captured were the South Carolina, the Alabama and the Florida regiments, in all the Blue army. The withdrawal of Gen. Grant to a defensive position east of Bull Run, was effected most skilfully, the handling of the rear guard by Gen. Wint, being especially fine.

"Gen. Bell's plan of action was an able one. Menacing the left flank of the Blue, he had a long, prompt night march, by which he placed himself on the enemy's right flank in a way that promised brilliant result. What the result would have been in actual warfare, it is impossible to say. The Blue right was badly shattered, but Price's brigade was still intact and immediately available for support. Reinforcements could have been drawn from the brigade of Frost. Whether the frontal attack across Bull Run would have been sufficient to hold these two brigades in check, or whether the brigades in question would themselves have been carried away in the general rush, it is idle to speculate.

In relinquishing the command of the manoeuvre force, Gen. Corbin issued a general order last night expressing his approval of the work done by each commander and the force under him.

The militia will be paid today after the review, which is to be held at Wellington at 1 o'clock. After the review, 8,000 of the eastern militia will be entrained and started for home. The Southern railway will run as many special trains as necessary from Washington today, as great crowds are expected to witness the review.

WAS STABBED

RICHARD WALLACE JOSTLED A STRANGER IN STREET.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Richard Wallace, 32, living at 20 Union street, Peabody, while passing through Beach street about 7.40 last evening on his way to the station to take a train for home, accidentally struck against a man who was standing on the sidewalk filling his pipe.

There were words between the two. Suddenly the man who was filling his pipe, and incidentally was holding his knife in his hand, jabbed Wallace in the abdomen and then ran away. Wallace was not seriously injured and made his way to the Emergency hospital. Word was sent from there to the police of division 4 and the injured man was removed to the City hospital relief station.

Immediately upon his arrival he was put up under ether and operated upon. The doctors said last night that unless peritonitis set in Wallace would recover.

The police of division 4 went out in search of Wallace's assailant and arrested a man on suspicion. It is claimed that he was identified by a man who saw the assault. The man under arrest was taken to the Relief station for the purpose of identification, but as Wallace was under ether, he was taken back to the station and locked up.

Capt. Dugan of police headquarters was also notified of the case and visited the hospital, but was not allowed to interview Wallace.

Light refreshments were served and Master Gendron was the recipient of many presents.

JACK THE RIPPER

Negro Says He Committed Eleven Murders

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 10.—A "Jack the Ripper" in black was arrested last night at Shreveport, La. The negro is a young man, probably not more than 30 years old, but since attaining his majority he has committed not less than 11 murders and perhaps some that he does not now recall. He can give no excuse for his sanguinary disposition except that he cannot refrain from seeing human blood.

Jim Lee, which is the name of the negro, is arrested upon complaints of having during the past year committed four murders as follows: James Johnson, a white levee camp foreman in Concordia parish, La.; Tice Lyons, a negro at the same place; Bud DeWitt, a negro of Bossier parish, and Mary Scarbrooke, a negro woman who resided near Donaldsville. All of the murders were committed in Louisiana. It is remarkable that with all these deaths occurring within a radius of 100 miles Lee was not before suspected. But so cleverly did he conceal his identity that it was only when he murdered Johnson in daylight and the deed was witnessed by several workmen, that the other crimes were laid at his door.

JEWELRY GONE

YOUNG WOMAN HAS ARDENT SUITOR ARRESTED.

WORCESTER, Sept. 10.—William Brayton, a conductor on the Fitchburg Gardner & Westminster street railway line, was arrested yesterday at the request of the Worcester police and will be arraigned in central district court on a charge of larceny made against him by Miss Laura E. Tracy of Leicester, who claims he has taken from her a diamond ring valued at $200 a pair of gold earrings valued at $25, and a gold ring set with opals valued at $25.

According to Miss Tracy's story Brayton had been keeping company with her for some time and she told him about her diamond ring being broken. He volunteered to bring it to a jeweler in Worcester to have it repaired and she gave it to him, but has not been able to get it back. She has also missed her earrings and her gold ring.

Although Brayton visited her as an unmarried man, Miss Tracy says she has learned he is married and has a wife and two children in Fitchburg.

The warrant issued by the Worcester police was served by Chief Tinsdale of Fitchburg and Inspector Patrick O'Day of the Worcester force went to Fitchburg for the prisoner.

TAP AN INFERNO

TUNNEL DIGGERS MADE STRANGE DISCOVERY IN ROME.

ROME, Sept. 10.—Work on the Simplon tunnel, which it was expected would be completed by the beginning of next month, was suddenly stopped yesterday, owing to the exposure of a hot spring flowing 1500 gallons per minute, while the temperature in the tunnel reached 112 degrees. The workmen had to flee for their lives. Refrigerators will be installed and the work resumed a month from date. The Simplon tunnel, which is being cut through Simplon mountain will be 21,-323 yards long, and it already has been pierced for a distance of 21,142 yards.

A dispatch from Turin Sept. 20, 1902, said that the heat in the interior of Simplon mountain was deadly to the workmen in the tunnel. The men had to be sprinkled with cold water constantly, and though fresh air was pumped into the tunnel, many of the workmen succumbed.

JOY POLLARD, GENERAL ORGANIZER OF THE WESTERN FEDERATION OF MINERS.

CRIPPLE CREEK

Miners' Agent Tells of Conditions There

Joy Pollard, general organizer and representative of the Western Federation of Miners, was in this city yesterday in the interest of the striking miners of Cripple Creek, Col., district. He is collecting funds and at the same time giving the miners' side of the trouble in Colorado.

Little need be said of the condition of affairs in and around Cripple Creek at the present time, or of the murders, riots, fires, persecutions and other acts which thrilled the country for weeks when the eyes of the world were centered on the mining districts at Cripple Creek.

Mr. Pollard left Cripple Creek just one year ago to go to northern Michigan and Wisconsin to keep the miners of that district from going west and taking the places of the miners who struck in sympathy with the smelters and mill hands of the Cripple Creek district, for an eight-hour day. At about the same time the mine managers sent agents to the different places to secure help, but as the miners of Michigan and Wisconsin were members of unions which were affiliated with the Western Federation of Miners, the agents of the mine owners met with little success.

Mr. Pollard understands the situation at Cripple Creek from beginning to end and gave the following brief history to a representative of The Sun:

"The miners of Cripple Creek and the vicinity, which is a district of about six square miles, with Cripple Creek as the principal town, were receiving $4 per day for an eight-hour day, while the smelters and the people who worked in the mills were working 11 hours on the day shift and 13 hours on the night shift. The fumes from the smelting works in a great measure shorten life and few if any men work more than seven years in the smelting works. Five years ago a law providing that miners, smelters and mill hands working in the mines of Colorado should work but eight hours a day was passed by the legislature. The owners of the mines carried the law to the supreme court and it was declared unconstitutional owing to technicalities. In 1902 the state voted on the eight-hour day for miners and the eight-hour day won by a majority of 46,714 votes. The members of the legislature were elected shortly after this and the different members were pledged to vote for the eight-hour law, but the governor of the state at a meeting called in the militia and tried to unseat some of the members of the legislature. The matter hung fire for 90 days when the session was speedily adjourned. It was afterwards found that the session had adjourned before making an appropriation for the state of Colorado at the St. Louis exposition and a special session was called.

"On the tenth of August of last year 5000 miners in Cripple Creek and other towns refused to supply the gold ore to the smelters and mill workers until an eight-hour law was given the latter.

"Ever since the lawless governor of the state recalled his mob of soldiers from Cripple Creek the reign of terror continues. Stores belonging to a foreign corporation have been looted in broad daylight by 'law abiding citizens' of the town. Not one of these criminals fears arrest or punishment and daily outrages are committed with impunity, by mobs composed of members of the Citizens' Alliance and the Colorado Mine Operators' association who run the affairs of the state as they please. These crimes are committed with the consent and approval of the governor, who refuses to enforce the law and restore order on the pitiful pretense that he has 'not been officially notified.'

"Ex-convicts, gamblers, desperadoes and other criminals have been and are now knowingly employed and paid by the Colorado Mine Operatives' association and the Citizens' Alliance in Cripple Creek, Victor and elsewhere in the state as deputy sheriffs, guards, detectives, etc. A man serving a 14 years sentence for rape was taken out of jail and made marshal of Goldfield, while a train robber and horse thief who was also serving time in jail was appointed an under sheriff in the district.

"It was stated by the mine operators that the men of the district were largely foreigners, but such is not the fact. Over 75 per cent. of the miners and workers in the smelting mills and other places connected with the mines are American born and read and write and speak good English. We are going to win the eight-hour day if it costs the whole state of Colorado."

Mr. Pollard during the past year has been working eastward addressing labor unions and soliciting funds and intended to address the labor unions in this city, but upon learning of the cotton strike which occurred in this city a year ago last spring he decided that it would not be right to impose upon the people, a good many of whom have not yet recovered from the effects of the strike, and has been making his headquarters in Nashua. He did not, therefore, solicit any funds here.

He stated, however, that if any person wished to assist the miners that all contributions would be gratefully received by William D. Haywood, secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners at room 3, Pioneer building, Denver, Col.

JUDGE PARKER

WILL MAKE HIS TEMPORARY HOME IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—There is every reason to believe that Judge Parker will make arrangements to come to New York for temporary residence soon after his formal leter of acceptance is made public.

It is known that leading democrats have strongly represented to him that his continued presence at such an inconvenient location as Rosemount, with no hotel accommodations, has kept Judge Parker from personal contact with many prominent men, who are frequently in New York city, but who have not time for the journey to Esopus.

The plan has even progressed as far as the making of tentative arrangements for him to take a suite of rooms here.

According to those close in Judge Parker's counsels his idea is to be immediately in touch with the party leaders and accessible to those whom it is needful and desirable to meet as the campaign progresses.

RUDDER POST BROKEN.

HIGHLANDS, N. J., Sept. 10—The United States steamer Hist is reported in tow of the U. S. battleship Kearsarge, returning to Newport, R. I., with her rudder post broken.

ASSAULTED HIM

CAPTAIN NOWELL SAYS WIFE THREW BRIC-A-BRAC.

DEDHAM, Sept. 10.—The divorce libel of Capt. John P. Nowell, Brookline, prominent in military, social and business circles in Boston, against his wife, Elizabeth B. Nowell, or better known to the public as Lizzie B. Raymand, a vaudeville actress, was heard yesterday in the superior court by Judge Sherman.

The libel was uncontested. Mrs. Nowell is supposed to be in South Africa, although recently in New York city.

In the libel Capt. Nowell says he was married to Mrs. Nowell March 17, 1902.

He asks that he be granted a divorce on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment and of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication.

In speaking of his wife's habits and treatment of him, Capt. Nowell testified that she was under the influence of liquor on numerous occasions. He testified that his wife frequently assaulted him with bric-a-brac while he was in bed. He also told of other men being in the house.

Two other witnesses supported his testimony.

Capt. Nowell's marriage to the actress caused a stir among his circle of society and business friends, and was strongly opposed by his relatives.

Since her marriage, the vaudeville star forsook the stage for only a short period.

BARELY ESCAPED

J. PIERPONT MORGAN'S LAUNCH NEARLY RUN DOWN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—J. Pierpont Morgan had a narrow escape from death in the North river yesterday, his second this summer under similar circumstances, when the steamer Grand Republic came near running down a naphtha launch in which Mr. Morgan and his two friends were passing from his yacht, the Corsair, to the New York yacht club landing at East 26th street.

Mr. Morgan was at the helm of the launch and the second mate of the Corsair was looking after the engine. The launch had gone several hundred feet when the Grand Republic came along. Mr. Morgan suddenly realized that he could not cross the bows of the steamer and he ordered the mate to reverse the engines. This takes several seconds, and meantime the launch stood still directly in the patch of the Grand Republic.

When it seemed that nothing could save the little craft, the engine suddenly started to work and the launch backed away from the steamer. As the Grand Republic went swiftly by, great swells rolled away from her sides and those on shore saw the frail launch picked up and tossed about as though it were a feather. They saw Mr. Morgan throw up his hands and almost plunge overboard from the sudden lift.

Mr. Morgan grasped the tiller again and stood with a white face as a second and a third great swell caught the launch and tossed it high. By good luck it lived through both.

When Mr. Morgan landed he looked exhausted. His clothing was soaked and the launch had taken a foot of water aboard. Every one in the party was more or less drenched.

FOR PRESIDENT

ALTON B. PARKER OF NEW YORK.

What does the election of Judge Parker mean to the people of Massachusetts?

It means that every effort will be made to secure reciprocity with Canada both in raw and manufactured products.

It means extended markets, more work, high wages, and lower prices.

Massachusetts would receive a liberal share of the benefits of such a Treaty.

The National Democratic Convention has pledged the Democratic Administration, if elected, to try to secure such a Treaty, by the following provision in its platform:—

"We favor liberal trade arrangements with Canada and with peoples of other countries where these can be entered into with benefit to American agriculture, manufactures, mining or commerce."

Republican leaders in Massachusetts, thoroughly scared at the declared sentiment of the people in favor of Canadian Reciprocity, have made a twenty-fourth hour statement that they, too, favor reciprocity with Canada, even in competitive products.

The Home Market Club of Boston, which largely fixes the policy of Massachusetts Republicans, on April 3, 1903, passed a Resolution which was in part as follows:—

"We accept the policy of reciprocity in non-competing products as laid down in the last Republican national platform, but we are unalterably opposed to reciprocity in competing products."

As applied to Canada, this declaration would leave only arctic furs as a subject for reciprocity!

The Republican National Convention of 1904 declared for:—

"Commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistent with the principles of protection, and without injury to American agriculture, American labor, or any American industry."

Under this declaration we could never hope for reciprocity in any product whenever any protected industry objects!

Does any reasonable man suppose that the Republican Party could overcome the opposition of the Home Market Club to a genuine reciprocity treaty?

If you want extended trade with Canada, if you want to see a marvellous industrial growth in Massachusetts, Vote for ALTON B. PARKER electors for President!!

TAKEN TO COURT

Legality of Committee Assessments Will be Tested

Writ of Mandamus Served on Sec. O'Brien to Show Cause Why He Will Not Give Francis Donahue Nominations Papers, Even Though Donahue Refuses to Pay Assessment

Francis A. Donahue of ward three, who wants to be a democratic candidate for the legislature without giving up the assessment levied on candidates, has secured a writ of mandamus, ordering Sec. J. Frank O'Brien to appear before court on Tuesday and show cause why he should not give Donahue his nomination papers.

It is alleged that Donahue refused to pay the assessment of the city committee and demanded his nomination papers from Sec. O'Brien. The latter refused to produce the papers unless Donahue could show him a receipt from Treasurer O'Brien.

Mr. Donahue decided to take legal steps in the matter and brought his case to the attention of John L. Hunt, Esq.

Mr. Hunt presented the case before Justice Lathrop of the supreme court in Boston yesterday morning, and after hearing the petition the justice authorized the issue of papers notifying Secretary O'Brien to appear before the supreme judicial court in Boston next Tuesday morning, to show cause why nomination papers should not be issued to Mr. Donahue without an accompanying assessment.

The notice was served upon Mr. O'Brien in his office yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Clark.

The petition which has been drawn up by Lawyer Hunt to be presented before the court Tuesday morning is as follows:

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

Suffolk ss.

Francis A. Donahue, Petitioner for Mandamus.

The Petitioner, Francis A. Donahue, says that he is a citizen of Lowell in the county of Middlesex, a voter therein and is and has been for several years a recognized member of the democratic party; that in conformance with the provisions of Chapter II of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts, nomination papers were issued to John F. O'Brien, secretary of the Democratic City Committee of said Lowell by the Clerk of said City of Lowell without any payment of any money or pecuniary conditions as to the same, and the said nomination papers did not under the provisions of said Chapter, become the property of said John F. O'Brien, or of the said Committee, that he represents, but remained the property of the source that issued them, and under the provisions of said Chapter are returnable to the City Clerk of said City of Lowell after the same have been filed with the Secretary of said Committee that nomination papers would be issued by him to applicants therefor, and no condition as to the payment of any money or thing for the issue of the same was made therein, and the Petitioner in conformance with the terms of said notice, and having legal right to obtain from said Secretary nomination papers so issued, made application to the said Secretary of said Democratic City Committee for nomination papers as a candidate for the nomination by the Democratic voters of his district, comprising wards 1, 2, 3 and 6 of said City of Lowell and was informed by him that the nomination papers would not be issued until he had paid to the Treasurer, of the Democratic City Committee, Patrick J. O'Brien, a sum of money, to wit: $25.00, therefor, and exhibited to him, said John F. O'Brien, the receipt of said Treasurer for the same. Your Petitioner demanded the issue by said John F. O'Brien of said nomination papers without the payment of any sum of money therefor, but the said Secretary of said City Committee unlawfully refused to issue them to or for him unless said payment was made as aforesaid, and still refuses and your Petitioner has not been able to obtain the same.

Wherefore your Petitioner respectfully prays the Honorable Court to issue its writ of mandamus in favor of your Petitioner to be directed against said John F. O'Brien to restore your Petitioner to the full exercise and enjoyment of all his rights as said candidate for said nomination, and as to the issue by said John F. O'Brien, of said nomination papers to applicants for the same to him, and not further to deny, interfere or abridge them.

FRANCIS A. DONAHUE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Middlesex ss. Sept. 8, 1904.

Then personally appeared Francis A. Donahue, the above Petitioner, and made oath to the truth of all the foregoing matters and statements by him subscribed.

Before me.

JOHN L. HUNT,
Justice of the Peace.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Suffolk ss. Supreme Judicial Court.

In the foregoing petition it is ordered that the petitioner give notice to the said respondent to appear before the justice of this court to be holden at Boston within and for said county of Suffolk on the thirteenth day of September current at 9.30 o'clock A. M., by serving him an attested copy of said petition and of this order thereon, forthwith that he may then and there show cause why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

By the court.

Sept. 9, 1904.

WALTER F. FREDERICK,
Assistant Clerk.

A true copy of said petition and order.

Attest.

WALTER F. FREDERICK,
Assistant Clerk.

At the hearing before Justice Lathrop yesterday morning Lawyer Hunt called attention to the provisions of the election laws relating to the matter of obtaining nomination papers, and pointed out to the judge that there had been a violation of the same.

He does not predict that a legal battle will ensue, but says Mr. O'Brien will be instructed by the court to deliver the nomination papers to his client.

TWO BOSTON BOYS

Mr. Woodbury of Pelham Caused Their Arrest

George H. Moulton, 16, and Henry A. Walsh, 15, two Boston lads, were arrested in this city by Inspector John Walsh last evening and are now at the police station awaiting the arrival of their parents from Boston.

George and Henry started out last Saturday on a tour of inspection. They visited Lexington and Old Concord and talked of the battles that had been fought. They grew eloquent when they saw a monument and were rich in reminiscense when they came upon a cannon. Although the cannon's mouth was forever silenced they talked of its destructive powers until their fever for adventure grew apace and instead of returning to Boston as was originally their intention they set out to see other places and other things.

They went on and on and finally landed in Pelham, N. H. Their desire for adventure began to fade when they were unable to provide for the inner man. When they arrived in Pelham they looked so hungry that Mel Woodbury, the fellow who runs the store and other things near the monument, set out to pinch them.

Just as he was about to do so the boys boarded a car for Lowell and a new idea occurred to Mel. He telephoned to the Lowell police and told them that two hungry and suspicious looking youngsters were on the car that would arrive in the square at such a time. Inspector Walsh was on hand when the car came in and the boys were arrested. Young Moulton has satisfied himself on one point. He told the police he had arrived at the conclusion that a boy's best friend is his mother and he wants to get back to her just as fast as steam will carry him.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

At the regular meeting of Passaconaway tribe last night two applications were received. The adoption degree was conferred on six palefaces. At the next meeting six more palefaces will receive the adoption degree. Visiting brothers were present from sister tribes and spoke on the order in general. At the close of the meeting a musical program and whist and a social hour were enjoyed.

Woman's Relief Corps, No. 33, spent a pleasant afternoon and evening at the home of one of their members, Mrs. Shay, 75 Foster street, Thursday. An elaborate supper was served at six o'clock and the event was graced by the presence of Rev. George F. Kenngott, pastor of the First Trinitarian-Congregational church. Two army nurses, Mrs. Lacy of Rahway, N. J., and Mrs. Smith of this city, were also present.

Music, both instrumental and vocal, was enjoyed by the large crowd present. A number of Post 120 comrades helped to make the affair pleasant and one to be long remembered.

A new council to be known as Campeau council, has been formed within Court St. Antoine, No. 566, Catholic Order of Foresters, consisting of 35 members, upon whom the second degree was worked at the last regular assembly of the court. The council was named in honor of Rev. Fr. Campeau, O. M. I., chaplain of Court St. Antoine.

The officers of the new council are: Dr. G. A. Payette, grand supreme chief; Denis Deschenaux, vice supreme chief; Leonce Forth, grand supreme prophet; Michael Lafleur, past supreme chief; Azarie Thibault, supreme treasurer; Arthur N. IRISH DELEGATES

HON. JOHN E. REDMOND, THE IRISH LEADER WHO WILL SPEAK IN LOWELL NEXT TUESDAY.

Got a Rousing Reception in Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—An enthusiastic and warm-hearted reception was given the Hon. John E. Redmond and his Irish colleagues in parliament when they arrived in Boston last evening. They have come here to meet their countrymen and the friends of the Emerald Isle at a mass meeting in the Boston Theatre tomorrow evening, and their coming has been looked forward to with much interest.

For several days Mr. Redmond and his associates have been in New York. Mgr. Denis O'Callaghan of South Boston and a large number of the other members of the reception committee, including Thomas B. Fitzpatrick, national treasurer of the United Irish League; John O'Callaghan, national secretary of the league; Dr. P. J. Timmins, president of the central council, and Dr. T. J. Dillon, president of the Boston council of the league; Daniel P. Sullivan, M. J. Jordan, Mark H. Crehan, M. A. Toland, Michael A. Mayner and Michael P. Curran, were at the station to greet the Irish envoys, and when Mr. Redmond and his party appeared he was cheered again and again.

After the greeting of the city had been extended to Mr. Redmond and his associates, carriages were taken for the Hotel Lenox, where they will make their headquarters during their stay in the city.

During the evening many prominent Irish-Americans called at the hotel to meet Mr. and Mrs. Redmond and their charming daughter, Esther, and the other members of parliament.

The local branches of the league held meetings during the evening to complete arrangements for the reception tomorrow evening at the Boston Theatre. A large sale of tickets was reported, and Mr. Redmond will face a representative gathering of the Irish cause when he rises to explain the present condition of affairs in his native land.

Mayor Collins, who will return from his vacation to meet the Irish envoys, will preside.

In addition to Mr. Redmond, the speakers will be Capt. A. J. C. Donellan, M. P.; Patrick O'Brien, M. P., and the Hon. W. Bourke Cockran of New York. Mrs. Redmond and her daughter will occupy one of the private boxes at the reception.

COMING TO LOWELL TUESDAY.

The committee on arrangements for the reception to the Irish envoys, Messrs. Redmond, Donehue and O'Brien met at Barristers hall last evening and heard reports upon various matters pertaining to the home rule demonstration in Huntington hall on Tuesday evening.

It was announced that Div. 2, A. O. H., had voted to turn out as escort to the Irish visitors from the depot to the hall or from the American House to the hall.

It is understood that if the other divisions of the A. O. H. do not find it convenient to take action on the invitation to turn out, all the individual members thereof who wish to turn out in regalia will be welcome to join Division 2. A committee was appointed to see the Irish envoys today so as to ascertain the time of their arrival and other details which will be reported to the escorting society tomorrow. Orders for the turn out will then be published in Monday's papers.

The mayor of the city, members of the city council and all the local legislators together with many prominent citizens have been invited to attend.

The United Irish League will meet at Jackson hall tomorrow evening to complete the arrangements.

Mr. Redmond's wife and daughter, accompanying him on his tour, will probably visit Lowell on Tuesday evening.

ABBOTT JEWELS

COURT SAYS WIDOW CANNOT RECOVER THEM.

FALL RIVER, Sept. 10.—Another phase of the litigation over the property of the late Dr. John H. Abbott, a former mayor of this city, was heard yesterday before Probate Judge Fuller. Mrs. Elizabeth C. Abbott, the widow, sought for the removal of O. Elton Borden as executor, alleging that he had not properly administered the estate, and had not properly prosecuted a claim against Dr. A. C. Dedrick, Dr. Abbott's nephew, for the diamonds left by the doctor. It was shown that the jewels were given to Dr. Dedrick by Dr. Abbott, but remained in the possession of the latter. The petition was denied, Judge Fuller saying that the executor was not obliged to commence expensive litigation that would eat up the estate.

KILLED BY FALL

WOMAN FOUND DEAD AT FOOT OF FLIGHT OF STAIRS.

HINGHAM, Sept. 10.—A woman employed as a domestic in the family of C. F. McCaffrey, a Boston undertaker, whose summer home is on Rockland street, was found dead at the foot of a flight of stairs in his home last evening with her neck broken. The woman, of whom little is known, came from Boston Thursday morning, securing the position through an employment office.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. McCaffrey and family had been out sailing, leaving his mother, a hired man and the servant at home. When he returned about 5.30 the hired man said to him: "I guess the woman servant must have gone back to Boston—I can't find her."

Mr. McCaffrey then began a search about the house. During the conversation with the hired man he had been standing at the rear of the house and started to enter through the rear entrance.

At first he was unable to open the door, but after a struggle, it was finally forced and there at the foot of the stairs lay the body of the woman. She was facing the floor and had a dustpan in her left hand. The last seen of her was about 4 o'clock and it was nearly 6 when the body was discovered. Medical Examiner J. W. Spooner was notified and pronounced death to be due to accident, her neck being broken by the fall.

The dead woman was about 5 feet 2 inches tall, and weighed about 200 pounds. She had mixed gray hair. In her clothes was found a bank book made out in the name of Miss Margaret McArt, and calling for a little more than $200 on the East Cambridge savings bank.

Among other effects found on her person was a letter addressed to Miss Mugaret McArt, 17 Davis street, Boston, Mass., and dated June 17. A small trunk which she brought with her had not yet been opened.

NOT GOOD EVIDENCE

JUDGE STONE MADE AN IMPORTANT RULING.

CLINTON, Sept. 10.—This has been a week of important decisions by Judge C. C. Stone of the district court. If yesterday's finding in a liquor case is sustained generally in the practice of the courts of the state there will have to be adopted a new method of procedure in the office of the state chemist.

Judgment was yesterday given by Judge Stone in the case of Edward C. Graham of Fitchburg, a manufacturer of hop ale. The case of the police rested entirely on the certificates of the state assayer of analysis of samples of the hop ale seized by Chief of Police O. B. Bates.

These certificates showed that the samples contained respectively, 1.34, 1.19 and 1.06 per cent. of alcohol. The legal limit fixed by statute is 1 per cent., an excess of that amount of alcohol making an intoxicating liquor, out of a temperance drink in the eyes of the law.

Counsel for the defence objected to the admission of the certificates as evidence, and argued that they did not bear the official seal of the state assayer, which, he claimed, was necessary to make them legal. Judge Stone for two days considered the matter, and yesterday morning, on the ground that the certificates were not admissible without being sealed, found the defendant not guilty and ordered his discharge from custody.

The police are now somewhat at sea in the matter. Certificates similar to those presented in the Graham case have been used to secure the conviction of several people of illegal liquor traffic in the past few months. Chief Bates, knowing that the matter turned on the admissibility of the certificates, has had a conference with State Assayer Albert E. Leach, in which the latter said that he never had an official seal, that none of his certificates were sealed, and that never before had the question of their being admitted as evidence been raised.

CURTIS MISSING

THE GIRL HE DESERTED TOOK POISON.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 10.—Officials are looking for a man who, under the name of Curtis, is accused of marrying or promising to marry, Mamie Lalando, a French-Canadian girl, when, according to his own admission, he had a wife and child living at Hartford, Ct. Curtis has disappeared and Miss Lalando is dead from swallowing paris green.

Curtis, who claimed to be a near relative of J. Pierpont Morgan, was a patient at the Britannia private hospital. While there he met Miss Lalando. Two weeks ago Curtis disappeared and a few days later Miss Lalando was arrested, charged with stealing from her employer. The next day she committed suicide by taking paris green.

The officer who made the arrest admitted afterward that he had furnished the girl with money to procure laudanum for toothache. The newspapers then took up the case and forced the officials to begin an investigation. No trace of Curtis has been found.

LARGE INCREASE

In Attendance at the Parochial Schools

Church Notes From the Several Parishes

On Monday those parochial schools of the city which did not begin the fall term this week will open their doors for the reception of pupils. The schools connected with the French Catholic diocese began sessions last Tuesday and the registration was ahead of that of last year. At the French college which is in charge of the Marist Brothers the books show a registration which passes the 800 mark while at the convent where the girls are taught by the Grey nuns and the kindergarten school for little chaps there are more than 1200 pupils in attendance. Thus about 2000 children are cared for at the schools conducted by the French parishes.

The Sisters of Mary, who have charge of the Sacred Heart parochial school, spent Thursday and Friday of this week in grading the new pupils and performing other preliminary work so that on Monday the regular school work will be taken up. While the pupils were notified that the school term would open last Thursday little aside from the arranging of classes could be done in the two days of this week. The attendance is ahead of the opening registration last September, but as there will be others who will be enrolled next week no figures have been given out as yet. During the vacation a large veranda has been built on the convent occupied by the Sisters and several rooms added.

ST. MICHAEL'S SCHOOL.

Last year was one of the most successful in the history of St. Michael's school and Rev. John J. Shaw, the pastor of the church, expects that the registration Monday will reach the 500 mark. The attendance last year was 435 but Fr. Shaw has every reason to expect a large increase and has provided for any extra call for space by having a new class room laid out. The teaching corps has been increased and this term will find thirteen Dominican Sisters engaged in educating the young people of St. Michael's parish. This means an extra regular teacher and a teacher of music. Rev. Fr. Shaw will celebrate mass for the children at 8.30 Monday morning after which the pupils will march to the school building adjoining the church and take their places in their respective classes.

Sessions of Sunday school for the public school children will be resumed next Sunday.

There will be a reception of new members into the Rosary society the third Sunday in October.

The annual reunion of St. Michael's parish will be held in Huntington hall September 22. The stage performance in which a number of well known young people of the city will take part is called "The Husking Bee" and is one of the most humorous pieces filled with local hits that Lowell people have ever been treated to. There will be dancing, also the usual booths and decorations. The management of the affair is in the hands of Rev. Fr. Mullin.

ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOLS.

There are two parochial schools and Notre Dame academy connected with St. Patrick's parish. All will begin the school term Monday morning. At 8 o'clock the pupils will assemble at St. Patrick's church and the pastor, Rev. William O'Brien, P. R., will celebrate mass. Afterwards the boys will return to the school in Suffolk street which is in charge of the Xaverian Brothers. There will be at least 500 boys at this school. The lower classes will be in charge of Sisters of Notre Dame as formerly. The Sisters of Notre Dame also have charge of the academy and the school for girls. Some of the pupils of the academy have arrived here already and many more are expected tomorrow to be in time to attend the mass on Monday morning.

When asked last evening how work on the church is progressing Rev. Fr. O'Brien said "The work is going along in a satisfactory manner and I expect that the work of slating will begin next week. The outside work will be practically completed and the church closed in by the time bad weather sets in.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

The Immaculate Conception parochial school pupils will attend mass at the parish church Monday morning and the celebrant will be Rev. Fr. Smith, O. M. I. This school is for boys and girls and so fine a showing has it always made that the seating capacity of the school is taxed about all the time. The preliminary work here will occupy little time as all the old pupils know just what classes they have been assigned to, and the only trouble will be in grading the new applicants. During the vacation season the interior of the school has been painted and decorated and other improvements made that will conduce to the comfort of the young people.

It is expected that the total opening registration for the parochial schools of the city will pass the 4500 mark.

CLEAN, WHOLESOME FAIR

THE MIDDLESEX NORTH SOCIETY'S SHOW NEXT WEEK.

With such a favorable year for fruits and vegetables and flowers there is sure to be a fine display of these rich products of the soil at the Middlesex North agricultural society's fair next week. And after all, what is more beautiful than nature's loveliness as displayed in her variety of apples, pears, peaches, plums, apricots and other fruits as well as in the coarser but none the less valuable potatoes, beets, celery, corn, wheat, oats, beans, etc? Already the assurances point to the best display in these classes ever seen at a Middlesex North fair.

The stock sheds are also likely to be well filled, and the poultry fully up to previous years.

Without introducing attractions of questionable character, which are seen at too many fairs nowadays, there will be a varied list of attractions. The baby show on Friday will doubtless be bigger and better even than this very successful feature was last year, and a new attraction will be the competitive drill for cash prizes between companies C, G, and M of the local militia.

Other good things are being arranged and those who go to the fair are sure to be well interested and entertained.

WOMAN STARVING

SHE WAS FOUND WANDERING IN A PARK.

BOSTON, Sept. 10—A woman bedraggled, wet, and weak from hunger, was found about 9 o'clock last night wandering in Franklin Park, near Blue Hill avenue, on the Dorchester side of the park. She was taken in charge by Patrolman Dupee of the Jamaica Plain station, who escorted her to the waiting room at Blue Hill avenue, where he provided her with food.

After she was warmed, the woman was asked to give an account of herself. She said her name was Miss Beatrice Lyons, 56 years of age, and that she lived with her niece, Ella McKinnon, at 133 Sellon street, Waltham.

She could give no information as to how or when she got into the park, but knew that it was a long time since she had anything to eat. She was taken to the station and sent from there to the Chirandon street home. From the woman's condition and her general appearance, the police think she must have been wandering about the park for two or three days.

STOCKHOLDERS KICK

WANT LARGER DIVIDENDS ON THEIR STOCK.

A meeting of the stockholders of the American-Mason Safety Thread company, which operates a plant on Perry street, this city, was held Thursday afternoon in the board of trade rooms in Lawrence. The meeting was called at the request of a number of stockholders, who were represented to be very much dissatisfied with their dividends and the amount of money being paid by the company on the stock.

A number of the stockholders reside in Lawrence and vicinity. William S. Marsh, formerly superintendent of streets there, is one of those at whose request Thursday's meeting was called.

William S. Marsh of Kennebunkport, Me., presided. The situation was thoroughly discussed by the 18 stockholders present.

Mr. Marsh presented a letter from President Lamson of Lowell, stating that he would be glad to hold a conference with the stockholders and furnish them any information in his power. The meeting adjourned without setting a date for a future meeting.

Rev. J. M. Rife of Columbus, O., who has been attending the encampment at Boston and with his wife has been visiting at Mrs. Damon's at 537 Pine street, will leave soon for home.

Mrs. Frances McNamee of Stackpole street, has returned from Franklin Falls, N. H., where she attended the funeral of her brother, Archibald McDonald.

What is Gas?

What is Gas? It's ordinary coal with the dirt, ashes and smoke taken out by the Gas Company.

What is Gas? It's hard, heavy coal, the kind you pack up stairs in buckets, with the weight and work taken out.

What is Gas? It's coal not delivered in your back yard, but through a small pipe, right into your Gas Range in the kitchen.

What is Gas? It's coal which makes cooking a drudgery, with the drudgery taken out

What is Gas? It's refined coal with everything taken out but the heat, the one thing you want.

And more than that. Gas is coal with a part of the price taken out, and you don't pay in advance either.

Such is Gas. The most unique cooking convenience of the 20th century. Are you wide awake to all its advantages?

Open Evenings From 7 to 9.

Saturday, Sept. 17, at 3 o'clock p. m.

I wish to call your attention to one of the best opportunities for investment that has been offered for some time at public auction. Two tenement blocks, one of 6 tenements, the other of 2, and about 3000 square feet of land, more or less, situated at 451 Broadway, directly opposite the American Card Clothing Co.'s building and the Turner Screw Co., but a step to the Lowell Hosiery and many private manufactories which warrant good tenants.

This property has always paid the present owner a good per cent. on the investment, and has a yearly income of $788, and a first class lot of tenants.

The building, No. 451 Broadway, is a three-story building with a gravel roof laid out in flats of 3 rooms each, all piped for water and gas, with water closet for each tenant. The building is well constructed on modern architecture and is very conveniently arranged.

The building in the rear is a 2 1-2 story house of two tenements of 4 rooms each, with all modern conveniences and has always been occupied until recently, and if a person has the time to look after this property and fix the property up a little and give it a coat of paint you can not find a spot in the city of Lowell where you will get such a large return as you can from this property. As Broadway is as fine a street as you have in the city, it has smooth pavement, electric cars, one of the main thoroughfares to and from the center of the city, and a good business street. Look this property over before day of sale as it is to be sold in one parcel.

Terms of sale: $500 must be paid or secured to the auctioneer as soon as sold; other terms made known at sale.

Per order E. A. HARRIS.

COTTAGE HOUSE AND ABOUT 1863 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 1 STANLEY AVENUE.

Owing to my poor health, which causes me to dispose of this parcel of property, also all my household furniture, for it is my intention to go abroad to the old country and remain there the rest of my days. The cottage contains six large rooms, large hall, cemented cellar, best of sewerage and in perfect repair. It sets on the southerly side of Stanley avenue, which is a short avenue, running westerly from Stanley street to West street, Centralville. The lot contains about 1863 square feet of land with a frontage on the avenue of about 41 feet. There are four pear trees and grapevine on the lot, and good room on the easterly side which gives it quite a nice garden. It is all fenced in, it is high and dry, and on the whole, makes a very neat and comfortable, small home. The neighborhood is all that could be desired, being clustered with many pretty little homes and good neighbors, and handy to the street cars. Now, as I have said before, it is my firm intention of leaving the country, and the highest bidder will positively buy this place on the day of sale.

Terms: $200 must be paid or secured to the auctioneer, at time and place of sale; other terms at sale. By order of

THREE STORY, SIX TENEMENT BLOCK, STORE AND ABOUT 3237 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NOS. 92, 94 AND 96 CONCORD STREET.

Promptly at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the 13th instant, at the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, I will offer to the public and make a positive sale by auction of this six tenement block, store and about 3237 square feet of land, in one parcel. While I have owned this property it has been a fine paying one at mostly all times, it being rented to very good tenants. Now other things arising which I have to give my sole and undivided attention, causes me to release that care and attention which a piece of realty of this kind should receive. The block is a wooden structure of three stories, with six tenements and a basement store; there are two tenements of seven rooms each and four of five rooms each. Each tenement has separate cellar, and has separate toilet closets on their respective floors. The whole building is in fair condition, outside of a little papering and painting, which would put it in perfect condition. There is a bulk-head leading to Pond street on the north side, giving easy access for the removal of ashes, etc., from each cellar to the street. It sets on a good solid foundation, is dry land, and has the best of sewerage and city necessities. The lot contains about 3237 square feet of land, with a frontage of about 56 feet on Concord street and about 60 feet on Pond street. There is a small yard room in front, as the building sets back about 10 feet from the street line. The street walks are concreted and curbed and there is no out-lay to make, except but for the few things mentioned above, if the purchaser so desired. It is situated in a fine tenement district, a place where your tenements will always rent, as it is in close proximity with the several industries in this section, handy to schools, churches, and has every requirement for a well located piece of tenement property. It is up for absolute sale, and Mr. Keyes is authorized to positively sell to the highest bidder, on this day.

Terms: $400 must be paid or secured with the auctioneer, at time and place of sale; other terms at sale. By order of

MARGARET A. HEERY.

COTTAGE HOUSE OF SIX ROOMS AND ABOUT 3623 SQUARE FEET OF LAND, AT NO. 50 FULTON STREET, AT THE CORNER OF BLINKHORN AVENUE.

Promptly at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, I will make a positive sale by public auction, of this cottage house and about 3623 square feet of land at No. 50 Fulton street. The house contains six rooms and pantry. It sets on the northeast corner of the lot, giving good room on the south side of the house for building purposes. It has a frontage of about 80 feet on Fulton street and about 45 feet on Blinkhorn avenue. This will undoubtedly be a grand, good speculation for someone, as the chances for improvement are very good. Fulton street runs northerly off Lakeview avenue, and this being a corner lot certainly adds to its value. Now, I am determined to sell it to the highest bidder, on the day and time set apart, and someone will make a good purchase.

TERMS: $100 must be deposited or secured with the auctioneer, at time and place of sale.

THE LIBBY RESIDENCE, CORNER OF TROY ND HARVARD STREETS. HOUSE AND ABOUT 7150 SQUARE FEET OF LAND. FOR FURTHER DESCRIPTION, SEE TUESDAY'S SUN.

Saturday, Sept. 17, at 4.15 o'clock

TWO-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 1197 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NOS. 11 AND 13 GARNET STREET.

Regardless of any condition of the weather, I will positively sell to the highest bidder by public auction, this two-tenement house and 1197 square feet of land, situated at Nos. 11 and 13 Garnet street. Being a non-resident of your city, I feel that it is a duty I owe myself of releasing all care and responsibility that incumbers one while holding a parcel such as this, without being handy to watch and care for it. The house contains two tenements of five rooms each with separate cellars and water-closets. This is a good parcel of tenement property and would require but a few dollars spent to put it in perfect condition. It is well located on the west side of the street between Appleton and Middlesex streets, and is handy to the stores and mills. For an investment, one will make no mistake by attending the sale, for at the price it will sell for, its purchaser will undoubtedly receive a large interest on his money, from renting.

TERMS: $200 must be deposited with the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off; other terms at sale.

Make all inquiries of the auctioneer, whom I have left in full charge.

Tuesday, Sept. 20, at 3 o'clock

EXECUTRIX SALE. THE BEAUTIFUL WALKER RESIDENCE, AT NO. 14 BELROSE AVENUE; HOUSE AND ABOUT 7837 SQUARE FEET OF LAND.

Wishing to make a settlement of this estate, and feeling that the surest and only way of obtaining best results is to place it before the public at auction sale, so that all might know, and have a chance of purchasing as fine a built modern house, as there stands in Lowell, for in its construction Mr. Walker spared nothing in making it modern, up-to-date and finished. Its exterior is of a pretty style of architecture, with a large wide piazza rounding the south and west sides, large side-bays giving beautiful window seats to the rooms of which they are parts, and setting well high on the lot makes it a very pretty and attractive home. On the interior is a large reception hall finished in chestnut, floors of oak; drawing-room, music room with tiled fireplace and mirrored mantel, a large dining-room finished in chestnut, china closet built in, and oak flooring; library, lavatory, kitchen and pantry; there are four large chambers and large bath on the second floor, servants' room on floor above and excellent closet room throughout the house; the cellar is all cemented with laundry in same, and door leading to garden in rear. It is heated throughout by steam, the boiler fittings, piping, etc., in basement, being encased in asbestos, making it a finished job; it is lighted by gas and electricity, has electric bells and nothing is found wanting in its entire make-up. The lot is high and situated on the north side of the avenue with a frontage on the avenue of about 82 feet, and contains about 7837 square feet. It is at the base or overlooking the beautiful Fort Hill Park and clustered with the many pretty residences at this point, gives it as fine a residential locality as one would wish for. The sale will be an absolute one, and the highest bidder will purchase it.

TERMS: $650 will be required as a deposit and must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off; other terms made known at sale.

Make all inquiries at the office of the auctioneer, who will be pleased to show the residence at any time.

By order of

NIGHT EDITION

SCHOOLS TO OPEN

Children Will Return to Studies on Monday

On Monday next the public schools of the city will reopen their doors and Supt. Whitcomb and his assistants have made all arrangements for the annual event which is now a matter of regular routine with the department. Some increases in attendance are expected though the size of the increase cannot be estimated until the schools have been open a week.

An additional room will be opened in the Moody school where Principal Greene is assured of a sufficient number of pupils to warrant it, and there will probably be some crowding at the Varnum and Highland schools, both of which are in need of more accommodations. The principals of these schools, however, made their promotions in June to make room for the newcomers in September and thus are prepared for the opening. A week will tell just what their needs will be.

Asked if he expected an increase in pupils Supt. Whitcomb said: "I should expect that there would be an increase this year owing to the fact that the assessors this year found a substantial increase in the number of polls in the city. For the past several years there have been decreases in the number of polls and in each case a corresponding decrease in the number of pupils in attendance at the schools, and therefore with an increase in polls we would naturally look for an increase in the number of children. We are prepared for most any number, however, and come who may we shall open without any friction."

MANY TEACHERS; FEW JOBS.

Mr. Whitcomb when asked if any new teachers would receive employment this year replied: "Wherever a vacancy is found on the opening day a substitute will be sent in the order of her seniority, under the civil service rules. It is remarkable how the number of vacancies has decreased, while the supply of teachers is ever on the increase. For the past 10 years we averaged 20 elections a year but last year we had only three vacancies and this year we have but four thus far."

The following young ladies were recently admitted to the Training school as practice teachers: Misses Edith A. Kelly, Christina M. Kane, Elizabeth Provencher, Annie E. Irving, Clara E. Perkins, Mabel A. Metcalf, Harriet B. Whittaker, Margaret Hagerty, Mary E. Cassidy and Eleanor Cull.

Besides these Miss Lucy M. Stevenson and a Miss Driscoll from Lawrence passed the examination and were admitted, but since their admission have notified Supt. Whitcomb that they have obtained positions elsewhere and will not present themselves at the Training school. Four of the young ladies admitted were college graduates but they took the examination with the rest. Supt. Whitcomb said that it had been found necessary to have the college graduates take the examination with the others in order to keep the school from being filled with college graduates. Last year 24 college girls applied for admission under the supposition that they would be admitted upon their diplomas. Supt. Whitcomb when asked how many of the girls admitted were from this city, replied: "They are practically all Lowell girls".

Mr. Ketchum, the new supervisor of drawing, evidently intends to lose no time in getting down to business for he has notified Supt. Whitcomb that he will address the teachers without loss of time according to the grades they teach and has sent out a call to the primary school teachers of the city to meet with him on Tuesday afternoon in the basement of the Greene school. He will take the other grades later.

STOLE DIAMONDS

Married Woman Lost Rings and Money

The police are looking for a young man who won the good graces of a married woman at the grocers' picnic at Willow Dale several days ago. The woman in question, who belongs in one of the neighboring towns, was robbed of two diamond rings, her wedding ring, a gold watch and chain and two silk waists.

The young man whom she met at the picnic was a very pleasing young fellow and it didn't take him very long to install himself in her good graces. Although married she was very susceptible to his flattery and she leaned on his arm in a way to convince the natty young fellow that he had a "cinch."

They came to Lowell together and had supper at a restaurant. The young man displayed quite a roll of bills and he was willing to buy wine or anything else there was going. The pair adjourned to a hotel and instead of wine the young man ordered a bottle of whiskey.

The woman declares that she did not drink the whiskey and that she indulged in nothing stronger than ginger ale. She claims that the young man drugged her, and when she recovered from her stupor she found that she had been robbed of rings, watch and money. She had a box containing two new silk waists and they too had disappeared together with the jewels and money and the slick young man. The woman did not tell her troubles to the police right away but finally decided to and now they are looking for the young man. The woman is doing a little detective work herself. She is following the fairs, hoping that she may catch a glimpse of the young man who stole her heart and diamonds.

Cross opened the fourth by getting his base on balls. Tierney hunted along the third base line but the fielders thought it would go foul and let the ball roll. It went fair, however, and Tierney reached first while Cross went to second. Connors advanced both men with a sacrifice hit. Hickey flied out to O'Hara. Lake flied out to Beard, closing the inning.

Score—Lowell 5, Lawrence 0.

FIFTH INNING.

Foley was the first man up for Lawrence in the fifth and he fanned the wind. Driscoll foul flied out to Lake. Beard made a single to centre field. Eaton got a single to centre field. Wiley foul flied to Diggins.

SWEPT BY FIRE

Timber Land Ruined and and Lives Probably Lost

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Forest fires are now raging in many of the principal timber sections in the northern districts of California and in the immediate vicinity of this city. In the Santa Cruz mountains the situation is serious in the extreme and it is believed that at present the state park in the Big basin which contains some of the finest red wood timber in the state, is doomed.

Down the mountains to the coast line the flames are now sweeping everything before them, ranches and property of all kinds and it is hoped that the conflagration may not extend to the city of Santa Cruz. The fire in Marin county is now checked, it is believed, after devastating an area of 140,00 acres.

From Telhama, Butte and other points up north come reports of loss by flames which have swept the mountains. So far no loss of human life has been reported, but it is feared that in many instances it must have been impossible for people to escape.

SPECIAL TRAINS CANCELLED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—All Knights Templars' special trains scheduled to leave for the east via Ogden last night were cancelled on account of the fires in the snow sheds in the Sierras.

The only east bound train that left here last night was the one destined for Reno, Nev., and which was held at Colfax.

The special car of the Earl of Uston is attached to this train and will be taken up by the first through train. According to railroad advices received here all the sheds between Blue Canyon and Cisco were destroyed. It is expected that the overlands will resume running today.

SUBPOENA WRIT

Served on Daughers of Veterans

Miss Stella B. Smith, of this city, who was elected junior vice president of the Mary E. Smith tent, Daughters of Veterans, at a meeting held last December, has had a sub-poena served on members of the local organization for their appearance in court on the first Monday of October to show why she should not be recognized as a member of the local organization.

Named in the writ are a number of the leading members of the organization. According to the story of a member of the organization, Miss Smith was elected junior vice president, but owing to the fact that a person who voted and who it was claimed was not a rightful member of the organization, the election was declared null and void. The officers was served last spring the meetings were declared to have been illegally elected. Miss Smith, it is alleged, tried to gain recognition from the local branch, the state branch and the national body, but was refused recognition on all sides and thus she decided to have a sub-poena issued, summoning members into court to show why she should not be recognized as a member.

The meetings were always held in the Memorial hall, but after the sub-poena was served last spring the meetings were transferred to another place. The ex-president of the tent stated to a representative of The Sun this morning that the only reason why the meeting place was changed was so that no disgrace would fall on Memorial hall.

The ex-president, who refused to give her name, stated that the account in a morning paper in regard to the affair was all wrong, it being intimated that injunctions had been served on the local, state and national bodies. The ex-president claimed that such was not the case.

At a meeting held last night new officers were elected, but the above mentioned ex-president refused to divulge the names of the newly elected officers. The whole business will be aired in court on the first Monday of October, when the members of the local tent will appear in court on the sub-poena which was served by Deputy Sheriff Eveleth.

PLAYED PIANO

ECCENTRIC FREAK OF A BURGLAR.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10—An eccentric and mysterious night marauder has lately been terrorizing citizens of Lake View, every precaution taken to capture him having proven futile.

He entered the house of Louis Anderson, No. 812 Herndon street, where he took $12; then he entered the room of Ella Ellensen, a little girl from Milwaukee visiting the Andersons, threw the rays of a powerful searchlight in her face and lounged over to the piano and in a rollicking manner played "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," after which he took his departure.

His usual entrance is through the bathroom or pantry window, and having gained access, he usually administers chloroform to the inmates and proceeds to rob the house at his leisure.

It is more profitable to advertise honorably and fail in the attempt to get business, than to advertise dishonorably and succeed for a little while.

THE LOSS IS 60,000

Battle of Liao Yang Resulted Disastrously to Both Sides

Reports are still current that the Russian army is effecting a retrograde movement from Mukden, though St. Petersburg officials say they are unable to confirm them. Only brief dispatches have been received today from the seat of war and they leave the situation rather vague. No fighting has occurred beyond occasional contacts of outposts, a condition probably due largely to the heavy rains which dispatches say now prevail, preventing any extended movements of either army.

No official figures on the losses of the battle of Liao Yang have been given out but estimates still place the casualties on both sides at not far from 50,000 to 60,000. The news silence continues unbroken from Tokio, no advices being directly on the operations having been received from that source for several days.

CRUISER ASKOLD TAKEN FROM DOCK

SHANGHAI, Sept. 10.—The Russian protected cruiser Askold was taken from her dock today and moored alongside the Russian gunboat Maudjur and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi.

It has been decided that the crews of these Russian ships will remain on board under the supervision of the local customs authorities and a Chinese gun boat.

RUSSIAN LOSSES NOT MADE PUBLIC

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10, 5.51 p. m.—The general staff up to this hour has no news confirming the report of a retrograde movement from Mukden, though it is frankly admitted that whether General Kuropatkin intends to remain at Mukden or not, the transport and baggage and a portion of the troops will be sent north.

The story that Kuropatkin himself has gone to Tie pass is positively denied as is also the current rumor that Major General Orleoff will be court martialed for disobedience to orders.

The promised statement regarding the Russian losses has not yet been made public.

CHINESE BETRAY JAPANESE PLANS

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10—8.10 a.m. Workmen attached to the St. Petersburg torpedo factory have returned from Port Arthur where they were detailed some time ago. They left the besieged fortress August 2 and give long interesting accounts of the conditions.

The defences they assert were largely augmented by the discovery of a Chinese store of artillery thirteen miles from the fortress. It consisted of 200 Krupp guns of large calibre with from 200 to 3,000 rounds of ammunition for each piece.

The guns and ammunition were in perfect condition. A large store of rifles found were not so good.

The Japanese made many arrangements with residents of the suburban Chinese village to furnish information from the fortress by means of pigeon post. The plan was divulged by Chinamen. Conspicuous gallantry was displayed by two companies of sailors who were cut off in the hills by the Japanese and were isolated two days. Their ammunition soon run out. Stones and boulders were hurled at the heads of the attackers. Finally several old cannon were dismantled and rolled down the hills upon the heads of the attacking column. Ultimately 40 sailors out of 320 escaped. The returned workmen say that riding in cabs was an almost prohibitive luxury, the smallest droshky fare being $2. There are 300 cabmen in Port Arthur. The commandant forces ordered them to remain back of the firing line during actions and transport wounded free of charge.

STEAMER LOST

Crew Rescued After Hard Battle With Breakers

HIGHLAND LIGHT, Mass., Sept. 10—The steamer Longfellow of New York loaded with 300 tons of dynamite and bound from Wilmington, Del., for Lake Superior, sprang a lead on Nantucket Shoals yesterday afternoon and sank about three miles southeast of Cap Cod light before midnight. The entire crew of sixteen men, after several hours in two open boats, reached land although one of the boats capsized in the surf. The Longfellow lies in about thirty fathoms of water and is not believed to be a menace to navigation.

The steamer was sighted off the Pamet river life saving station at nine o'clock last night, showing red lights and blowing signals of distress.

Owing to the terrific surf which was breaking on the beach the life-savers of that station were unable to launch their boat and were compelled to wait upon the beach.

At ten o'clock the whistling ceased and the lights went out. The life-savers, however, kept a sharp watch and early this morning two boats were discovered just outside the breakers. They were warned to keep off shore until daylight and they pulled away to sea.

At dawn they had both gone farther up the beach and one of them attempted to land opposite the Highland Light saving station, but in doing so was capsized in the surf. The crew of that life-saving station rushed into the breakers and dragged the men ashore considerably exhausted. The other boat kept off again and the crews of the Highland and High Head stations launched their own life-boats to their assistance.

Taking the Longfellow crew in tow all three pulled still farther up the beach and managed to reach land without any mishaps opposite the Peaked Hill Bar station seven miles from that point.

Captain Edward G. Riley, of the Longfellow, reported that his vessel sprang a leak under the engine room, when going over Nantucket Shoals yesterday afternoon. He kept on, hoping to reach Provincetown, but before going up to Highland Light the water reached the boilers and the vessel began to sink. The crew of 16 men taking their personal effects put off from the vessel in two boats and about midnight the Longfellow sank in thirty fathoms of water.

Captain Riley had orders to call at a Nova Scotian port for coal. The Longfellow was a vessel of 218 tons net, 146 feet long, 27 feet wide and 12 feet in depth.

She was built in Boston in 1883.

THE LONGFELLOW

WAS FAMILIAR CRAFT IN MASSACHUSETTS WATERS.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Sept. 10.—The steamer Longfellow which sank off Highland Light during the night was a familiar craft in the waters of Massachusetts Bay several years ago. For a long time she was owned by the Boston and Provincetown steamship company and plied between those ports. It is regarded as a peculiar incident that the old boat after being absent from the cape so long should find her last resting place within a few miles of her former moorings in Provincetown Bay. The Longfellow was a small boat and was built by the Lockwood Mfg. Co. of East Boston in 1883. Several years ago she was sold to the New York and Porto Rican S. S. Co., and used by that concern in West Indian waters. It is understood she was recently chartered by a company operating on the lakes. The dynamite on board was consigned to Hancock, Michigan.

At the time of the great storm in 1898 the Longfellow was one of the mediums by which the first details of the loss of the steamer Portland, northeast of the cape, were conveyed from her to Boston. The value of the vessel is not known here.

DIED SUDDENLY

Heart Failure or Apoplexy Caused Death

Frederick Peterson, aged about 42 years, died very suddenly at W. F. Bennett's boarding house at 29 Webster street on the Hamilton corporation this morning. Death was due either to heart failure or apoplexy.

Mr. Peterson came to Mr. Bennett's boarding house about four or five weeks ago and was employed at the Lowell machine shop. Last Tuesday he was taken ill and gradually grew worse. This morning at 6.30 o'clock Mr. Bennett went to the police station to have the man removed to an hospital, and the ambulance was summoned, but in the meantime the man had died and when the ambulance arrived it was found that its services were not needed.

Undertaker Eld was then notified and the body was removed to his undertaking parlors.

MANAGER DODGE

GREETED BY A NEW BOY ON HIS RETURN FROM OHIO FAIR.

Manager Dodge, of Hood's Farm, returned from the Ohio state fair at Columbus yesterday very jubilant over the success of his exhibition of Berkshires, which took six first prizes, five seconds and five thirds.

At the New York state fair at Syracuse his Berkshires took both championship prizes, together with eleven first prizes, seven seconds and three thirds.

He is now shipping the exhibit of twenty Berkshires to Indianapolis to be exhibited there, after which they will be sent to the St. Louis fair, to enter a competition about the first of October. Manager Dodge will go there before the end of this month.

On his return home yesterday he was greeted by a boy heir, who arrived during Mr. Dodge's absence. This piece of news caused more jubilation at the Dodge home than did all the prizes won by the Berkshires.

RESCUED BY BOYS

TWO MEN WERE SAVED FROM DROWNING.

BOSTON, Sept. 10. Clinging to the bottom of an upturned dory half a mile off Wood Island Point, East Boston, yesterday afternoon, two men were rescued from drowning.

Their cries were heard by three boys, John Mahoney, Michael Chisholm and Lawrence Moran of East Boston, who were fishing. They at once started in the direction of the cries, which came from the other side of the point.

Upon seeing their rescuers the men urged the boys to hurry, as their strength was beginning to fail and the heavy sea was fast weakening them.

The boys bent to their oars and were soon alongside the submerged boat and, after hard work, succeeded in pulling the men into their boat.

The men would not give their names, but they took the names of the boys and told them that they would hear from them in a few days.

MILLS TO CLOSE

For One Week Only Says Agent Southworth

AGENT THOMAS OF BOOTT MILLS

Says He Hopes to Start up in Two Weeks

The Massachusetts mills closed today for one week, only. The mills will open again Monday morning, Sept. 19. The reason of the shut-down is because the Massachusetts is short of cotton, but the cotton is on the way.

Agent Southworth was not very well pleased with the insinuation in a morning paper to the effect that the shut-down in the Massachusetts might, like the Boott mills, mean for a longer period than at first stated.

"There is no reason why," said Mr. Southworth, "the Massachusetts mills would not resume operations on Monday morning, September 19. We are closing down for one week because we are short of cotton, but the cotton is on the way. The statement in the morning paper was somewhat mischievous."

The Massachusetts mills employ 2000 operatives and everybody will be glad to know that the shut-down will be for one week only.

While nothing is positively known relative to the starting up of the Boott mills, it is believed that operations will be resumed one week from Monday. Agent Thomas of the Boott mills in reply to questions by a representative of The Sun today, said: "We are awaiting orders from the selling house through the treasurer. I am not in a position to say when the Boott will resume operations, but I think and hope that it will be within two weeks."

ARRESTED HERE

Agnes McLaughlin Figures in Arson Case

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 10—The mystery surrounding the disappearance from Manchester, N. H., three weeks ago of Agnes McLaughlin, the 18-year-old daughter of James McLaughlin of East Manchester, is solved.

She lies at the point of death at the Rhode Island hospital, and is known there as Mrs. Jack Sweeney. Her purported husband is locked up at the central station, for the authorities scout the theory that her terrible burns were self-inflicted. The young couple came to this city last Saturday. Sweeney says they were married in April, 1903. Her father denies this and says the young folks eloped from Manchester last month. Last Wednesday night the 6th station officers were called to a house, where they were told a woman had been burned. They found Mrs. Sweeney literally roasted and were told that she and Sweeney had had a quarrel and that a kerosene lamp had been thrown at the wife. Sweeney avers that his wife became despondent because she could not dress better and that she deliberately poured kerosene upon her night clothes and applied a match.

Sweeney will be arraigned next Monday unless his wife dies sooner, which seems probable.

Agnes McLaughlin was arrested in this city about one year ago for setting fire in Hills' block on Tyler street. Later on she was released and returned to Manchester.

SUPT. W. B. MOFFATT

PHONOGRAPHS TO BE DRIVEN FROM POOL ROOMS.

Starts War on Phonographs in Pool Rooms

Because of the many complaints that have reached police headquarters relative to phonographs in pool rooms and other places, Supt. Moffatt has determined to do what he can to suppress what has really grown to be a nuisance.

Phonographs are used for advertising purposes, to call attention to the place where they are located, and Supt. Moffatt finds that his authority relative to phonographs is not as far reaching as it might be. He can order them out of pool rooms and bootblack stands, but when it comes to private residences, barber shops or places where the noisy things are sold, his hands are tied.

The chief objection to the phonograph is that it sounds far into the night. It is in a sense a disturber and as the phonograph is not a thing of life and unable to create a disturbance of its own accord the responsibility of such disturbance falls upon the shoulders of "the man behind."

While the superintendent cannot order the phonograph from certain places he suggests a way that the war against the alleged musical instruments can be waged. If the phonograph fiend keeps the thing running late enough to disturb the slumbers of his neighbors he can be complained of for disturbing the peace or maintaining a nuisance.

The pool room managers look upon the superintendent's order as a hardship and think it unjust they should be ordered to dispose with their machines while barbers and others are allowed to keep them.

Several liquor saloons use phonographs to attract customers and these, too, it is stated may be ordered out. The police commissioners, it is stated, have been appealed to in this direction and immediate action will be taken to abate the alleged nuisance.

DEPORTED MINER

Says He Had a Hand in Explosions

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 10.—B. F. Slagel, alias Robert Romaine, a deported miner, under arrest here for burglary, has confessed to the county attorney to complicity in the Independence depot and the Vindicator mine explosions in the Cripple Creek district last June, by which 15 non-union miners were killed outright and others injured. Romaine says he helped to place the dynamite and wires running beneath the depot and by which the charge was set off. He gave the names of those whom he alleged were implicated with him in the plot.

A Cripple Creek dispatch says Sheriff Bell declared today: "We know positively that Romaine worked in the district while the strike was in progress and was a spy employed by the Western Federation of Miners. He had long been under suspicion."

The men whom Romaine implicates with himself, 12 in number, are said to be former officers and members of miners' unions in this district. Only one of them, believed to be Charles G. Kennison, former president of the Miners' union 40, Cripple Creek, is now in the district. Kennison is in the county jail charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in connection with the Independence depot explosion.

Romaine was sentenced to the state penitentiary from Pueblo for burglary in March, 1901, for two to four years. He was discharged in July, 1903.

COLONEL LAMONT

TELLS JUDGE PARKER HE WILL NOT RUN FOR GOVERNOR.

ESOPUS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Colonel L. Lamont and John Wing of Millbrook, N. Y., came to Rosemount today to take luncheon with Judge Parker. This gave Colonel Lamont an opportunity to talk over the political situation with Judge Parker, who desired to consult with former President Cleveland's secretary of war on several matters connected with the national campaign. The candidate accepts Colonel Lamont's statement that he does not desire the governorship nomination for New York and it is understood that he has no intention of asking him to change his mind. Judge Parker and Colonel Lamont are warm personal friends.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 10.—One hundred and [illegible] passengers including heavy [illegible] from important mining and [illegible] districts throughout the northland, [illegible] Klondike treasure valued at $500,000, came on the steamers Dolphin and Portage City which have arrived from southeastern Alaska.

JAPANESE PRINCE

WILL VISIT AMERICA AS MIKADO'S REPRESENTATIVE.

TOKIO, Sept. 10—Noon—Lieut. Gen. Fushimi will sail for America on the steamer Hipmanchuria in October.

Prince Fushimi will visit the St. Louis fair and Washington as the special representative of the Emperor of Japan. Prince Fushimi commanded the first division at the battle of Nanshan Hill. He has returned to Tokio to make the trip to America one month and he will be accompanied by a numerous suite.

It is probable that Lieut. Gen. Hasegawa, commander in chief of the Imperial Guards division, will be promoted to a generalship and appointed military governor of that portion of Manchuria occupied by the Japanese.

Gen. Sir William Nicholson, one of the British military attaches, who is ill, has left Feld Marshal Oyama's headquarters and returned to Japan to recuperate.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY

WILL SHORTLY PUBLISH HIS AUTOBIOGRAPHY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—Announcement is made that Rear Admiral Schley will shortly publish his autobiography under the title "Forty Five Years Under the Flag."

About one third of the book will be devoted to the Spanish War, concerning which the admiral will say in his preface:

"In the chapters which relate to the operations against Cervera's fleet the purpose has been to record the events from the writer's own viewpoint, to criticize in a spirit of fairness, but without malice bearing in mind that wherever it has been necessary to refer to apparent inconsistence in the statements of others the author has endeavored always to avoid unnecessary personalities.

"Through the courtesy of Secretary Moody, recourse has been had to official papers which were not available before his accession to office."

SAYS GREAT BRITAIN HAS NOT ANNEXED ANY TERRITORY.

LHASSA, Thursday, Sept. 8—Via Gyangtse, Sept. 10—In a speech after signing the treaty with Thibet, Sept. 7th, Colonel Younghusband, the British political agent, pointed out that the British therein avoided interfering in the smallest degree with the international affairs of the country. They had not annexed any territory and had fully recognized the continuing sovereignty of China. They had merely sought to ensure the observance of the treaty of 1890 that trade relations between India and Thibet should be established and that Thibet should not depart from her traditional policy in regard to political relations with other countries.

MAINE CAMPAIGN

Each Side Claims an Increased Vote

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 10.—The final day of the state election campaign in Maine was a busy one for the workers of the four parties. Chairman F. M. Simpson of the state republican committee gave out the following statement concerning the outlook for Monday's election:

"We will carry the state for Mr. Cobb, the gubernatorial candidate, by a plurality of from 16,000 to 18,000. We will carry every congressional district in the state by pluralities which will be the equal of those which we have had in previous years when the opposition has made a hard fight. We shall elect the majority of the legislative tickets throughout the state and at least 27 of the 31 state tickets with an even chance for the other four. All over the state our plurality will be fully as good as in years when both parties have made a vigorous campaign. The democrats have injected state issues into their campaign with a view of crowding out the national issues and in consequence the campaign has been waged more on the line of state issues than national."

Dr. Edgar L. Jones of Waterville, chairman of the state democratic committee, said:

"The republican claim on the stump and in the press of 10,000 or 15,000 majority is an old trick of those claiming less than they expect or ought to have, and then winning what they call a victory. If the people are with them as they claim they should have the full majority of four years ago, 33,384, or their majority of 48,246 of eight years ago. But we will take for a standard their majority over the democrats in the last presidential year. A single vote over that is a gain, one less a loss."

SCALE OF WAGES

BOARD OF CONCILIATION ARRANGING ONE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10—A board of conciliation selected by the Republic Iron and Steel company and 2,000 of the employees has met here to fix a scale of wages for the coming year.

The decision of the board was withheld pending additional arguments by the employees, which are to be heard today.

The dispute which the board is to settle arose over the desire of the company to reduce the wages of its skilled "merchant" iron workers from five to fifteen per cent.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS.

LEEDS, England, Sept. 10—At the final session of the Trades Union congress today, William Abraham, member of parliament for the Rhonda Valley division of Glamorganshire and J. Wignall were selected to represent the congress at the coming labor conference in the United States.

BLEW HIMSELF UP

Indian Chief's Way of Committing Suicide

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 10—An Indian chief at Bella Bella sent down to a local firm a short time ago an order for a coffin. From another firm he ordered a keg of gun powder.

The keg of powder was taken to the chief's house and carefully placed under the chief's bed. During the night the inhabitants of the village were startled by a terrific explosion and rushing out they found the chief's house had been blown to atoms.

Small fragments of the body of the unfortunate chief were found in the debris. It is thought to have been a case of deliberate suicide.

HELD BY BANDITS

Ransom Demanded for Banker Eikend

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 10—A dispatch to the Record from Roswell, N. M., says: Banker Eikend has returned to his home at Portales, N. M., and verified the story that he had been held by brigands in the state of Sonora, Mexico. Hardships which he encountered caused him to lose 50 pounds. Eikend was forced by the bandits to write to his wife demanding the ransom. He was captured August 6 and marched through the mountains until the night of August 30, when he escaped and finally reached a railroad 40 miles from where he started.

JUDGE PARKER

GRATIFIED WITH WORK OF COMMITTEE.

ESOPUS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The following authoritative statement was issued at Rosemount today:

A. B. McClausland, Judge Parker's private secretary, said this morning that the stories to the effect that Judge Parker is to go to New York to take personal charge of the canvass or to assist the committee in its conduct or that he is dissatisfied with the work of either the national or state committee are untrue. He is gratified with the efforts of both the committees. He believes the members of all of them are working intelligently, harmoniously and effectively and that they are wise in not telling about it. The judge has thought of going to New York for a day or two after the publication of his letter of acceptance, but he may not even do that.

INSANE SWEDE

Tried to Murder His Wife and Children

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 10—Julius Nelson, a Swede, attempted in a fit of insanity to murder his wife and two children in their tenement here today. Police Officer John F. Brazell heard the woman's cries and forcing the door open, got there in time to overpower the man after a hard struggle, in which the officer broke his club over the maniac.

Leaving Nelson apparently unconscious, Brazell went to summon the patrol wagon. Returning he found Nelson gone.

Later he saw the lunatic running over Tower Hill nude. Two pedestrians helped capture him. Mrs. Nelson is in the Lynn hospital, badly bruised and hysterical. Nelson was committed to the Danvers asylum.

MAY BE SUICIDE

A Wealthy Haverhill Woman is Missing

HAVERHILL, Sept. 10—Standing on the lonely Groveland bridge over the Merrimack at midnight, gazing into the swiftly flowing waters, the conductor and motorman of a late car saw a richly dressed woman of middle age. When they returned on the next trip the woman was gone, but near the railing was a black silk coat, a silk umbrella, a Boston bag, and a purse, which Louis Sinotte, a wealthy druggist, early this morning identified as belonging to his wife.

Sergeant Pierson and two officers with the aid of lanterns started immediately after the matter was reported to police headquarters to drag the river in the hope of finding a body.

The current is particularly swift at present and it is feared that if a body is in the river it may have been carried a mile or more down stream within a short time.

Mr. Sinotte, who lives at 36 Jackson street and is in business at 16 Locust street, told the police the following story early this morning:

"My wife left home at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, saying she was going shopping. She had not returned at 11 p.m. and I went in search of her.

"I visited several relatives and then came here to the police station.

"The articles which the car crew brought in belonged to my wife, I am positive.

"Mrs. Sinotte is 45 years old and the mother of six children. Since the birth of the last child, 10 months ago, she has been in poor health.

"For the last three months she has been acting in a more and more strange manner."

Sinotte, as he identified the coat and other belongings, seemed dazed and suddenly burst into tears.

FAST GOLF PLAY

Egan Proved Stronger Than Herreshoff

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 10.—The youthful golfers, one a Harvard student, the other a Brooklyn lad who attends school at Pottstown, Pa., are striving for national amateur golf championship honors in the final match play round of 36 holes on the Baltusrol club links today. H. Chandler Egan of the Exmoor Country club, Chicago, champion of the western golf association and captain of the Harvard university golf team, represents the west and Frederick Herreshoff, a 16-year-old Brooklyn boy who won the state championship of Vermont a few weeks ago and entered from the Ekwanok Country club of Manchester, Vt., is the eastern representative in today's battle. Each of the survivors of the big field of 133 starters has shown remarkably good form during the week and while Egan by his consistency is considered to be the more likely to succeed Walter J. Travis, the defeated champion, young Herreshoff has a host of followers who believe that his work being less erratic and his long game the surer, he ought to be returned the winner. When the pair started out today for the first round of the 18 hole course a large and representative gallery of prominent men and women followed in their wake.

At the start Herreshoff, for whom Donald Bell, the professional of the Ekwanona club acted as caddie, won the toss for the honor and drove a long ball, slightly sliced, while Egan with his cousin, Walter E. Egan, acting as caddie, pulled into the long grass. He took two iron shots to get out and was on the green with a beautiful cleek shot. Herreshoff's third went to the far side of the green and he was short on his putt. Egan rimmed the cup with a long putt and Herreshoff won the hole (463 yards) in 5 to 65 both pulled slightly from the second tee, the balls going into the long grass. Egan had to play back and sent the ball into a bunker. Herreshoff's second was close to the green and he was on in 3. Egan made a fine recovery with an iron reaching the edge of the green and gained a half in five. The second hole was 376 yards.

Playing in the third hole (200 yards) both players drove well close to the edge of the green. Herreshoff's approach putt laid dead for the hole which he won in 3 to 4, making the Brooklyn boy 2 up.

Herreshoff made the better drive, going to the fourth hole (488 yards) as Egan sliced. Both landed in the rough with their brassey shots. Each was on the green in 3 and Egan holed out in 5 to 6.

Egan drove 230 yards for the fourth hole (300 yards) which Herreshoff was short and had to play a full iron shot.

Egan putted poorly and the hole was halved in fours.

Both got into rough going to the sixth (345 yards) Egan having the better lie. Herreshoff got to the right of the green in 3. Egan was dead to the hole with his third and won it in 4 to 5, making the match all square.

From the seventh tee Egan pulled his drive into the road.

Herreshoff drove a shorter ball on the fair green and sliced his second into the rough. Egan here demonstrated his superiority at the long game, winning the hole (525 yards) in 6 to 7. Herreshoff picked up instead of putting out. Egan 1 up.

The eighth (253 yards) was halved and Egan was 2 up at the turn, having won the ninth hole (182 yards) in 3 to 4, cleverly negotiating a half stymie.

Egan drove the tenth green (184 yards) but Herreshoff's ball fell into a sand trap. He took two to get it out, Egan winning the hole in 3 to 5.

Herreshoff placed his drive for the eleventh hole (310 yards) the ball lying behind the trees back of the bunker. Egan drove straight and won the hole in 4 to 6, increasing his lead to 4 up.

Egan outplayed his opponent on the twelfth hole (262 yards) and won it 3 to 4.

On the thirteenth hole (321 yards) Hereshoff missed a short putt for a half and Egan holed out in 4 to 5, giving him a lead of 6 up.

Egan played a very strong game all the way through but occasionally had a tendency to cull his drive but his recoveries were remarkably well executed.

The younger player, Herreshoff, seemed to lose heart as the match progressed, frequently playing shots poorly which he executed with vigor and precision yesterday.

Egan had a splendid four on the 14th (329 yards) but Herreshoff topped his drive and was down in five. Egan was 7 up at this stage.

Egan missed the cup by a hair's breadth for a four on the fifteenth (464 yards) and won it in 5 to 6. Egan 8 up.

The sixteenth (525 yards) was halved in sixes. Herreshoff topped his tee shot but made a beautiful brassey which made up for this blunder.

Egan pulled his drive going to the seventeenth (352 yards) the hill on which he won his semi-final match from Dr. Fredericks yesterday and his ball fell almost on the same spot.

While Herreshoff was in a good position on the fair green, Egan's second struck near a bank of the green and rolled back but the hole was halved in fours.

Egan's drive for the eighteenth with a slight slice fell on the road within 20 yards of the green. Both were off the green in 2. Egan just barely missed a 12-foot out for a 3 but Herreshoff missed one at half the distance and Egan won in 4 to 5, finishing the first half of the match 8 up.

The cards:

Out: Egan 654, 544, 553-41.
Herreshoff 553, 645, 754-44.
In: Egan 343, 445, 644-37,78.
Herreshoff 554, 556, 645-45-89.

As a preliminary measure it is desired to obtain the opinion of the learned public on the desirability and practicability of the proposed conference. For this purpose the present circular has been sent to the members of the American Philographical association which are to meet in St. Louis about the middle of September when the chief philogists of the world will be assembled in that city.

BRADLEY KILLED

His Body Was Identified Twice

MARLBORO, Sept. 10—There was a double identification of the body of the man struck by a train on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. at Fayville, Wednesday night.

Yesterday a section foreman on the railroad identified the body as that of "John Murphy," employed with a construction gang on the railroad, and who, the foreman said, had relatives in Cambridge.

An effort was made to locate them, and in doing so, members of a family named Bradley were met, who said the body might be that of a relative who, for some reason, had given his name as "John Murphy."

This morning a brother of the dead man came here and identified the remains as those of John J. Bradley, and took the body to Cambridge.

Yesterday Bradley's father and mother arrived from Ireland and it was arranged that a reception should be tendered them, which was to have taken place last night, but when the suspicion was aroused that the dead man at the Marlboro undertaker's night possibly be a son of the couple it was intended to honor, there was called a halt in the preparations for the festivity.

The deceased, according to his brother's statement, was some time ago arrested in Lowell for some trivial offence, and it is thought that because of that fact he had assumed the name by which he was known to his fellow workmen.

The local police say that Bradley was never arrested in this city.

THE LATE EDWARD R. DONOVAN.

ED. R. DONOVAN

Well Known Real Estate Dealer Passed Away

DEATH WAS CAUSED BY A CARBUNCLE

Had Been Ill But a Short Time

Edward R. Donovan, the well-known real estate dealer, and a widely known and highly respected citizen, died at St. John's hospital, yesterday afternoon, after a two weeks' illness with a carbuncle at the top of the spinal column.

The news of Mr. Donovan's death was entirely unexpected to the public at large, very few knowing of the serious nature of his illness, and it shocked the community.

Mr. Donovan took ill with a carbuncle about two weeks ago and first paid no more than ordinary attention to it. But as it grew and his sufferings increased he decided to submit to an operation and accordingly was removed to St. John's hospital last Tuesday where he was operated upon at once. The operation showed that the carbuncle had made great inroads into his system yet he appeared to rally from the effects of the operation and was in the best of spirits on Thursday when it was believed he might recover. But a relapse set in on Thursday evening and from that time on a series of sinking spells followed until the end came yesterday about 4 o'clock, the dying man having received the last rites of the Catholic church.

Edward R. Donovan was born in North Billerica 37 years ago and received his early education in the Howe school at the Centre.

After leaving school he came to Lowell and engaged in the provision business in Lincoln street. Subsequently he engaged in other business pursuits, among them being the real estate business in which he was most successful up to the time of his last illness.

He was an active worker in the old Catholic union and one of the organizers of the old Les Miserables club. He was a man of sterling qualities and made friends of all with whom he came in contact. He possessed a sunny temperament and highly moral character and in business was industrious, straightforward and the soul of integrity. While in his bachelor days he was the life of many a social gatherings, since his marriage several years ago, he had resigned his earlier pleasures for the delights of the family hearthside and had become a veritable homebody, the latchstring of whose hospitable domicile was ever out to his friends.

Besides his wife and daughter he is survived by four brothers and three sisters, the latter being Mrs. Mary Spencer, the widow of the late Robert Spencer; Annie E. Donovan, the well-known teacher in the Edson school; Grace, the wife of Dr. Hurtubise. Of the brothers, James C. is the well-known harness manufacturer of Market street, and William H. is employed in the same establishment; John J. is a resident of Seattle, Washington, and J. P. resides in Marblehead. This is the first death in the Donovan family in twenty years, the father dying in 1884. The remains were removed from St. John's hospital last night by Undertaker Savage to the late home of the deceased, 14 Stevens street.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon from his late home.

BRAVE FIREMEN

Score of Women and Children Rescued

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—More than a score of women and children were rescued from a fire in a five-story tenement house at No. 501 Tenth avenue early today. The blaze started under a stairway on second floor and spread so quic ough the tenement that the f s living above the second floor had no time to gather clothing.

Twelve families occupied the second and third floors and all had narrow escapes losing everything they possessed. One woman was confined to her bed by illness and the flames had reached her roof when a fireman stood in the window and called her down to the fire escapes. Her husband and children who had remained in the first flat were carried down extension ladders by the firemen.

The most sensational rescue was that of a mother and two children who were taken from the ledge of a fourth story window. They had been driven from their apartment by the flames and were clinging to the ledge crying for help when the firemen arrived.

When a 35-foot ladder was thrown up against the side of the burning building it fell four feet short of the fourth story window.

There was no time to make a change and two men rushed up the ladder. Balancing himself on the topmost round while his companion firmly grasped his legs from a more secure position below the ladderman caught the children as the mother dropped them into his arms. Other firemen had taken position on the ladder by this time and the rescued ones were passed safely to the ground.

CONTRACTS TRANSFERRED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Francis Bowles, late rear-admiral and chief constructor in the navy, has succeeded in effecting an arrangement with Secretary Morton for the transfer of all of the contracts of the important naval construction work at the yards of the Fore River Engine and Ship Building company to its successor. The government works now under way at the yards comprise the three great battleships, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Vermont, which the navy is particularly anxious to have completed on time.

EYE FOR EYE

ANSONIA MAN ALSO GETS WOODEN LEG AND $200.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 10—William Galway of Ansonia, who has just been released from the New Haven hospital, announced yesterday that the hospital authorities had tendered him a wooden leg, a glass eye, and $200 in cash for an eye which he claims to have lost while there through the carelessness of an attendant.

Galway was taken to the hospital to have amputated a leg, which was crushed by the falling of a derrick. As a result of the ether which was administered to him during the operation, Galway claims his eye became swollen and inflamed, and the nurse in charge was left some eye lotion to drop into the affected member. According to the story she was unused to the business and dropped iodine into his eye, instead of the liquid intended for it.

His eye was so terribly burned as a result that an operation was performed at once and the eye removed. The doctors, it is claimed, told him that his eye had been affected by blood poisoning from the crushed limb.

GEOGRAPHIC CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—There was no general meeting of the geographic congress today but sectional meetings were held in the various lecture rooms of the George Washington university. The subjects of these meetings included physiography, biography, glaciers, meterology and terrestrial magnetism. The attendance upon the meeting today was good.

The last session of the congress at Washington will be held this afternoon. On Sept. 12, the congress will resume its session in Philadelphia.

Mrs. J. W. Paradis, Sr., has gone to Charlemagne, Que., where she is to visit her daughter, Mrs. Alderic Bonenfant, formerly of this city.

RETURNING HOME

Troops on Way Back From Manassas

CORPS HEADQUARTERS, Gainesville, Va., Sept. 10.—One-half of the militia men who participated in the four days of manoeuvring were too badly used up to participate in the review at Wellington today. The review closed the annual army manoeuvres for the Atlantic division, the reviewing officer being Gen. Chaffee, chief of the general staff. Accompanied by Inspector General Burton, General Chaffee arrived from Washington at 11 o'clock and the review was started at 11.30 and was witnessed by a large number of persons.

Special trains were run from Washington and the south over the Southern railway. Immediately after the review troop trains were supplied at Wellington and 8000 militia men from the eastern states including the Maine and Massachusetts regiments were entrained and started on their homeward journey.

After the four days of actual campaigning, marching along dusty roads, sleeping in the field, fording streams and fighting the enemy the ranks of regulars and militia, both blue and brown looked decidedly like veterans.

General Grant and his forces of the first division had the right of the line and General Bell and the troops of camp number 2 and the troops of the second division formed the left. The line was formed facing the railway track and extended nearly two miles east of Wellington. The artillery and cavalry were posted in the rear of the infantry. The cavalry was in line of platoons column and the batteries placed with 16 yards between. Behind the line were the engineer bridge trains, the signal corps, wagon trains, the ambulance corps and the quartermaster's wagon transportation. In some cases whole regiments were declared unfit for reviewing march by medical officers in charge. The trouble in almost every case was sore feet due to the stony Virginia roads and the strenuous work of the past four days. This work is considered one of the great advantages of the manoeuvres. It teaches the national guards of the states what actual warfare is including the hardships of campaigning.

PHILLIPS INDICTED

SAILOR IS ACCUSED OF MURDERING EDWARD MURRAY.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—An indictment for murder in the first degree was reported today against William Phillips, a sailor, by the grand jury for Suffolk county.

Phillips is alleged to have killed Edward Murray on the night of August 28 on board a schooner which was lying off Castle Island in Boston harbor. Murray was a sailor also.

No bill was found in the case of Henry Reardon of Dorchester who had been held on the charge of killing David M. Lewis with an ice pick during an altercation.

The funeral took place from the home of the deceased, 14 Wilson street, No. Billerica, at 8.30 and was largely attended by sorrowing friends and relatives of the deceased. The cortege proceeded to St. Andrews' church, where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was celebrated. Rev. Fr. Derosiers, O. M. I., officiated. The choir under the direction of Mr. J. F. BUY A HOME OF YOUR OWN—If you are renting a house a thousand rent receipts hold no meaning for the future. Investigate our plan it is never too late to begin. It is easier to pay a few dollars down and balance as rent than to pay a thousand dollars all at once. Rent money is like seed, but the harvest is the landlord's not yours. The renter lives from day to day, from springtime to springtime. The home owner enjoys the satisfaction of a permanent home for his family, the small improvements and adornments that make a home the center of a family pride are doubly dear, because their permanency is assured. Hundreds of renters are yearly becoming home owners through the assistance of the liberal terms of the S. Lugasse Co. You can now those rent dollars in the field of easy payments and reap a home of your own, start today. Without seeding there can be no harvest, you can begin with $25.00 or more down, balance same as rent. call today. S. Lugasse, 335 Hildreth street, Centralville.

LOWELL'S GAME

Lawrence Defeated in First of Double Header

Lowell defeated Lawrence at Spalding park this afternoon in the first game of a double header. The attendance was very light, owing to the threatening weather and there were about three hundred fans present when the first game was called.

The grounds were in good condition and the weather was warm enough to insure a larger attendance, while both teams were on their mettle. Lowell and Lawrence players went on to the field at 1.30 o'clock and practiced for half an hour, and at two o'clock sharp Umpire Brady called the game.

FIRST INNING.

Lawrence went to bat first and in the first inning neither side scored. Beard was the first man up and he singled to left field. Eaton singled to right field, sending Beard to second base. Wiley flied out to Dorgan, and when the latter tried to make a double play, the local players were off their bases and could not complete it. O'Hara hit to McLaughlin and the latter tagged second, putting Eaton out and then threw to first for a double play.

In Lowell's half Tierney opened up by striking out. Connors flied out to Colburn, the latter making a pretty catch in back of first base. Hickey hit to centre field and Lake foul flied out to Eaton.

Score--Lowell 0, Lawrence 0.

SECOND INNING.

Two goose eggs were also registered in the second inning. Green opened up for Lawrence by striking out. Colburn flied out to Bigbie, and Murphy flied out to McLaughlin.

In Lowell's half Bigbie sent a line drive to Wiley, and was the first out, while McLaughlin and Diggins sent grounders to Murphy, and were retired at first base.

Score—Lowell 0, Lawrence 0.

THIRD INNING.

The ice was not broken in the third inning. Lawrence got men on second and third bases with but one man out, when Tierney steadied down and struck out two men. Foley opened with a fly out to Grant. Klobedanz hit along the first base line for a single. Beard hit to centre field and Kloby went to third. Beard then stole second base. Tierney closed the inning by striking out Eaton and Wiley.

In Lowell's half Grant singled to left field and Dorgan sent him to second with a pretty sacrifice, but Tierney foul flied out to Wiley. Connors drew his base on balls and Hickey hit to Murphy and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 0, Lawrence 0.

FOURTH INNING.

In the fourth inning O'Hara singled to right field. Green sacrificed and sent Foley to second. Colburn drew his base on balls but fell asleep off first and was thrown out by Diggins. Murphy drew his base on balls and Foley struck out.

In the latter half of the fourth inning Lowell earned two runs. Lake opened with a single to the left field fence. Bigbie tried to sacrifice but bunted to Kloby and Lake was thrown out at second. McLaughlin hit to the right field fence but the ball got by Green and Barnie made three bases while Bigbie scored. Diggins sent a Texas leaguer to short left field and McLaughlin scored. Grant flied out to Green and Dorgan sent a pop fly to O'Hara.

Score—Lowell 2, Lawrence 0.

FIFTH INNING.

Lawrence went out in one, two, three order in the fifth inning. Klobedanz and Beard struck out and Eaton flied out to McLaughlin.

For Lowell Tierney drew his base on balls and Connors sacrificed. Hickey struck out and Lake flied out to Foley.

Score—Lowell 2, Lawrence 0.

SIXTH INNING.

The first error made during the game was in the sixth when Connors made a bad throw which resulted in Lawrence scoring its first run. O'Neil opened the inning by striking out. O'Hara foul flied out to Connors. Green hit to Connors and Billy threw about a mile over Lake's head and Green reached second. Colburn singled to deep left field and Green scored. Murphy drew his base on balls and Foley flied out to Dorgan.

Lowell went out in quick order, Bigbie flied out to Colburn, and despite the fact that the ball was right over O'Hara's head the latter did not make a move to catch it. McLaughlin hit to Colburn and went out at first and Diggins was the third out, hitting to Klobedanz and going out at first.

Score—Lowell 2, Lawrence 1.

SEVENTH INNING.

In the seventh inning Klobedanz hit to deep left field and though Bigbie misjudged the ball he got his hands on it but dropped it and Kloby found two bases on the hit. Beard bunted to Tierney and the latter threw to third, catching Kloby. Eaton hit to Hickey. Hickey threw to McLaughlin, getting Beard and the ball was then sent to first catching Eaton and completing a double play.

Lowell failed to score in the latter part of the seventh. Grant hit to right field and Dorgan sacrificed sending him to second. Tierney foul flied out to Eaton and Connors drew his base on balls. Hickey was the third out, foul flying out to Eaton.

EIGHTH INNING.

Wiley opened the eighth inning for Lawrence by striking out. O'Hara flied out to Dorgan. Green closed the inning by flying out to Dorgan.

Lake drew his base on balls after a big kick by Wiley and Klobedanz with the umpire. On the third ball Klobedanz swung around as if to deliver the ball and it dropped out of his hands. The umpire then called three balls, stating that the ball had been delivered. Both Wiley and Kloby kicked against this, but it did not go and the next ball delivered sent Lake to first base. Wiley made a pretty running catch of Bigbie's foul fly. McLaughlin hit to the right field fence for two bases. Diggins hit a line drive to Murphy, the latter catching the ball a few inches above the ground. Grant drew his base on balls, filling the bases. Dorgan hit a hard grounder at O'Hara which struck him in the face and then rolled away and Lake and McLaughlin scored. Eaton threw to first to catch Dorgan napping and Grant went to third on the play. Dorgan tried to steal second and was thrown out.

Score—Lowell 4, Lawrence 1.

NINTH INNING.

Colburn foul flied to Diggins and Murphy flied out to Hickey. Foley singled to left field. Klobedanz hit to Connors who threw to Hickey putting Foley out at second.

ANSWER FILED

BY CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY OF AMERICA.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The Catholic university of America filed an answer in the district supreme court today signed by Cardinal Gibbons, chancellor of the university to the petition of petitioning creditors of Thomas E. Waggaman, denying that Mr. Waggaman committed an act of bankruptcy by transferring to the trustees of the university a deed of trust to certain tracts of land owned by Mr. Waggaman and stating that this deed of trust was to secure an indebtedness to the university of $876,768. It is averred that the deed of trust was received with the positive assurance by Mr. Waggaman that over and above all liabilities he was worth not less and considerably more than $1,000,000 and the university denies that the conveyance was made with the intent to prefer the university as a creditor.

STAFFORD'S PLEA

THE AERONAUT PLEADED NOT GUILTY.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Eugene L. Stafford, the aeronaut who gave himself up to the authorities a few weeks ago, was arraigned today in the Suffolk superior court on the charge of murdering M. B. Teussel by shooting, the tragedy occurring in a south end lodging house on Feb. 17. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded to jail to await trial.

SHE TOOK POISON

WOMAN THOUGHT SHE HAD NOTHING TO LIVE FOR.

LYNN, Sept. 10.—Mary B. Collins, aged 22, bright and pretty, drank laudanum Thusday night because she had a quarrel with a man. She is at the Lynn hospital and will recover. According to her friends, she has repeatedly said she would end her life if her lover did not make up with her.

Miss Collins came here from New Hampshire and has been employed in a number of shoe factories, packing shoes. She became acquainted with a young man and they were fast friends up to a few months ago, and were often seen together.

He ceased his attentions, and the young woman took the matter much to heart. Thursday night she received a letter from him, and after reading it she announced to her roommate at 171 Summer street that she had nothing else to live for.

The girl friend went away to spend the evening and when she returned she found Miss Collins unconscious. She aroused the household, and a physician was summoned. After several hours' work Miss Collins was partially restored and then taken to the hospital.

RUSSIAN-JAPANESE WAR

JAPANESE HOSPITAL AT LOUISA BAY

CHEFOO, Sept. 10—The Novikara of Port Arthur, official organ of Viceroy Alexieff in its issue of September 3, a copy of which was received here today, says the Japanese have erected a hospital at Louisa Bay and apparently confirms previous reports to the effect that a Japanese vessel was sunk while laying mines off Port Arthur, August 31st.

The Japanese squadron on the horison on Sept. 1 consisted of the protected cruisers Matsushima, Itsushima, Hassidate and Akashi, the armored cruiser Adsuma and 12 torpedo boat destroyers.

KUROPATKIN'S MOVE WAS WELL PLANNED

TIE PASS, Manchuria, Sept. 10.—The breakdown of General Kuropatkin's strategy when he had withdrawn his main army to the right bank of the Taitse river, after General Kuroki had crossed the stream above Liao Yang is explained as follows:

The movement was beautifully planned. Kuropatkin intended to engage Kuroki, push a column up the right bank and completely isolate him from Generals Oku and Nodzu on the other side of the river. Only an accident upset his plan. General Stakelberg's corps which was still on the left bank at the extreme right, assailed to stand up against the superior force of the Japanese. When Stakelberg reported that he was retreating it seemed to Kuropatkin that a portion of his army which he had faced eastward with the right resting on the river and the left unprotected might be enveloped by the Japanese in pursuing Stakelberg. He, therefore, drew off and reformed his front and the retreat from Yental began had continued the rest of September 3, the Russians reaching Shakespet September 4. The losses on both sides from August 26 to September 5 are estimated at from sixty to seventy thousand killed or wounded. Many of the killed and wounded were left behind in the Chinese corn.

The Japanese are experiencing great difficulty in bringing up supplies of ammunition.

RUSSIAN ARMY MOVING NORTHWARD

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10.—1.15 p. m. There was no specific news from the front this morning but it continues to be reported that the Russian army is moving northward from Mukden. General Kuropatkin is said to be at Tie pass. The evacuation of Mukden, however, is not officially admitted.

GRAND ASSAULT HAS BEEN POSTPONED

CHEFOO, Sept. 10—Noon—Japanese who left Dalny yesterday say that the grand assault on Port Arthur which it was rumored was planned by the Japanese for today, has been postponed until Tuesday next, September 13, and that a still further postponement is possible, as the Japanese intend to make every possible preparation before again hurling themselves upon the worn-out garrison. A Chinaman who left Port Arthur on the evening of September confirms the reports of heavy fighting from August 27 to Aug. 31 when he and many others were kept busy day and night burying the dead which included Chinese, Russians and Japanese. He says that during this fight four forts in the vicinity of Rihlungshan were captured.

The Russians signalled the garrisons of these forts to retire, whereupon the Japanese occupied them but were compelled to retire later under a heavy bombardment. Previous reports said that the Japanese had only entered one fort during this attack. Since August 31 fighting has been comparatively unimportant. The Russians have since remounted guns upon forts above mentioned.

The Chinaman also confirms the report of a three hours' attack upon Fort Itzshan on the morning of September 2. When he left the Russians were preparing vigorously to resist the next assault for which their spies said the Japanese are making elaborate preparations.

MIXED TENNIS

AT THE TRI-STATE TOURNAMENT.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10.—The finals in the ladies' doubles and men's doubles were played at the tri-state tennis tournament here yesterday. In the ladies' doubles, Miss M. McAteer of Pittsburg and Miss M. Weimer of Washington, defeated Miss W. Closterman and Miss E. Neely, 6—2, 6—4.

L. D. Little and Robert Leroy of New York easily won from Beals Wright and Edgar Leonard of Boston in the finals for the men's double, 6—2, 6—2, 6—4.

Owing to the illness of Kreigh Collins of Chicago, the present holder of the Governor's cup, Beals Wright of Boston and L. H. Waldner of Chicago will compete for the cup today. Miss McAteer and Miss Closterman are the contestants in the ladies' finals.

The committee on sports arranged a very entertaining program and there is music and other things galore. This evening the visiting delegation will be banqueted at Odd Fellows' temple and there will be a musical entertainment and speeches.

NEGRO HANGED.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 10.—Geo. Williams, the Jefferson county negro who waylaid and criminally assaulted Laura Kunde near Harper's Ferry, several weeks ago, was hanged at the state prison in Moundsville last evening at 5.16 o'clock. Eleven minutes later, life was pronounced extinct. Williams never lost his nerve and declared to the last his innocence.

JAPS ADVERTISE

They Say to Drink Beer and be Happy

THE SUN TRADE JOURNAL OF TOKIO

Is Decidedly a Hustling Publication

"Drink and be merry. Drink and be happy. Come, gents. If you come near the Shinbashi Bridge, drop in our beer hall where our famous beverage from the brewery ice-cooled may be had by the cup. Try our delicious and sparkling Yebisu."

Such, with a Japanese Bacchus for trade mark and photograph of a brewery, is a full-page advertisement, part in English, part in Japanese, in the current issue of the Sun Trade Journal of Tokio (head office, Sanchome, Honcho Nihonbashiki, Tokyo, Japan, 30 cents a copy, $3.50 a year.) It is the second most conspicuous advertisement in a magazine as well filled with advertisements as most American trade journals. The most conspicuous is a brain-tonic advertisement. In English it reads, "The Kennogwan. This remedy has a marvelous efficacy and speed in the cure of all diseases of the brain and nervous affection. Compounded by H. Mori. Sold at Tampei & Co., Osaka, Nippon."

Merely parenthetically, one may note a certain significance in these two advertisements, evidently representing two articles of consumption most in demand in the Japanese capital. On the one side, Drink and be Happy. Quite so. It is "our delicious and sparkling Yebisu," and that, if one reflects is a light lager which is found copiously agreeable in the clubs of the foreign settlements of the East. For Japan, herself, with so much hustling yet before her, judiciousness of the invitation is yet to be proved. There seems an incongruity in the association of beer swilling with the world's present estimate of Japan. And on the other side—a brain tonic. Something to stimulate brains already abnormally active, and something to repair brains already showing the exhaustion of an unexampled outflow of intellectual application to the mastery of a whole world of new ideas and new sciences.

A description of a Japanese trade journal and monthly magazine should make a useful criterion for the estimate of the new world power. It is already trite to say that this country needs to study Japan quite as much as any other foreign power. China is recognized to be the biggest open market for the products of modern industry. The United States is near China, Japan is nearer. Japan is in process of assimilating a portion of the Chinese empire and of dictating the policy of Peking.

The Sun Trade Journal, founded in 1887, now boasts a circulation of 100,000 copies, its motto is "International Peace and Prosperity Depend Upon Enlightened Commerce and Industry." Its primary function is that of a trade journal, carrying trade advertisements appealing to Japanese buyers. Where do most of these advertisements come from That on the front page is monopolized by an English canned milk firm. That seems to indicate who is going to supply Japan with what she has not hitherto supplied for herself.

The articles advertised are watches, tools, pianos, revolvers, stoves, incandescent lights, naval and surveying instruments, guns, rolltop desks and principally, machinery. But the largest advertisement, from the Midvale Steel company of Philadelphia, is for face-hardened armor plates and armor piercing shells.

As to the contents of the magazine, these are worth cataloguing in detail. Of no less than 270 pages of magazine matter, 240 are in the native writing, which is, in the main, Chinese, though now differing in meaning, word for word, from its parent; 24 pages are in English. There are a number of blue half-tone illustrations, all dealing with the war, and of value to military students. One of them shows how barbed wire obstacles look after demolition by shells. Without artillery they must prove veritable shambles for the attackers, and the Japanese have doubtless been "up against" a lot of them round Port Arthur.

Of the Japanese letter press one cannot speak except by the card. The table of contents show excellent magazine matter, entirely devoted to war, with one exception. This is an article entitled "Character Sketch: Roosevelt, the President President of the United States," by Toyage. One would like to be able to read that article in the vernacular. After a newsy review of current war news there are special contributions, all by authors prefixed "Hon." The subjects discussed, again very significant, are:

On financial topics, by Baron Tajiri.

How to stand prolonged war.

The war finances and the post-bellum measure.

War preparations beside the military equipment.

The Japano-Russian war and the German policy.

The Russian war finance.

A view of the war finances.

Manchuria and Korea.

The resources of the people.

After that there are departments devoted to:

Novels and amusement.

Literature.

Historical and geographical.

Home and foreign events.

Our foreign advertisers.

This, it will be conceded, is the magazine reading of an intensely active, vigilant and modern nation. The fact that novels have a separated department from literature is worth noticing, a suggestion that action is a large branch of itself. The special contributions in the English section are:

"The Three Great Refutations," by the Hon. Shimada, M. P.

"Japan—Her Destiny," by Professor Ruse, American Trade, the association for promoting our business in Korea and Manchuria, the export of mineral water, the government monopoly of tobacco, etc. All these headings are in themselves suggestive of those Japanese questions which deserve more attention in America. Mr. Shimada's article, "The Three Great Refutations" opens in the following vigorous strain:

"Since the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese war there have been not a few rumors afloat against Japan, groundless, of course, but highly prejudicial to Japan's true interests, if they are believed even to a limited extent. They have doubtless been invented and spread abroad by the Muscovites who are not slow in having recourse to such base and cowardly means against their enemies. Nothing can be more untrue than the assertions of these unscrupulous liars that the war between Russia and Japan is nothing less than a struggle for existence between Occidental and Oriental civilization, between the white and the yellow race, between Christianity and heathenism, respectively representing the two nations. They are too glaringly false to need any refutation whatever on the part of Japan; still, for the sake of self-preservation, the ambitious intentions imputed to our country can not be connived at without making some remarks on them."

KILLED TRAMP

WOMAN SENT BULLET INTO HIS HEAD.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 10—Mrs. Charles Nebbington was alone in her farm-house near Clarks Mills yesterday, when a burly tramp called. The woman locked the doors, but the unknown visitor climbed through a window and began to ransack the house. The tramp found a trunk which was locked, and when Mrs. Nebbington refused to hand over the key he knocked her down and pounded her.

The woman finally promised to get the key, and the tramp let her rise. She was gone a minute and returned with a revolver in her hand. The tramp saw the weapon and darted through the window by which he entered.

Mrs. Nebbington fired as the man rushed out of the yard. She emptied two shells and decided that one must have taken effect when she saw the fleeing thug lift one hand to his head and hold it there as he ran down the road.

Word came from Clarks Mills yesterday afternoon that an unknown man answering the description of the tramp had been found dead at the roadside a few miles distant. There was a bullet hole in his head.

RECORD BROKEN

Prince Alert Makes New Mark

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 10.—On an excellent track but with a fairly heavy head wind, in the stretch, Prince Alert yesterday afternoon established new figures for pacing geldings without wind shield, going the mile in 1.59½. The previous record was 1.59¾, held by himself. With Alta P. McDonald up in place of Jack Curry, who was in Hartford, the gelding went the first quarter in 29¾, the half in 59, the three-quarters in 1.29¼, and the mile in the time given.

The judges announced their decision in reference to the 2.24 pace of Monday last, when Alta P. McDonald, relieved John Aylward of Syracuse, won the fourth, fifth and sixth heats and race with Ambiem. Aylward and the mare were suspended for the balance of the season and $160 of the former's winnings, awarded to McDonald. C. Pitman of Trenton, N. J., was suspended for 20 days for not trying to win with Mixed Wood on the same event, and ten days additional for failing to drive out Fonda in the first heat of the 2.11 pace Thursday.

MATCH ARRANGED

GANS AND WALCOTT WILL MEET SEPT. 30.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Joe Gans and Walcott now. The two colored champions will meet before the San Francisco Athletic club on the evening of Sept. 30. Walcott wired his acceptance and Gans grabbed up the match, being a chance that he has always wanted. The weight will be that asked by the welterweight champion, 142 pounds at the ringside.

O'NEIL BESTS LOWRY

LEWIS' SECONDS STOP BOUT WITH JONES.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—Jack O'Neill of this city had the best of Jack Lowry of New York last night in the windup at the Manhattan Athletic club. The men appeared afraid of each other. The fight was tame until the sixth round. At the start of that round O'Neill was staggered by a hard right, but came back and clinched, and before the bell had Lowry bleeding from the nose and mouth and in distress.

In the semi-finals "Griff" Jones, the Brooklyn boy, met Harry Lewis, but the bout was stopped in the third round by Lewis' seconds who jumped into the ring and protested against the tactics employed by Jones. Jones was very rough in the first two rounds, and pushed Lewis to the floor through the ropes in the second round, injuring Lewis' knee. The third was the same rough house and the fight was stopped.

GOLF CHAMPION

EGAN AND HERRESHOFF TO BATTLE FOR HONORS.

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 10.—With Walter J. Travis defeated as the champion of American golfers, the honor of succeeding him is to be decided today on the Baltusrol club's links. Either H. Chandler Egan of the Exmoor Country club of Chicago, or Frederick Herreshoff, of the Ekwanok Country club of Manchester, Vt., will be the new champion, as these two are the survivors of a field of 133 men representing clubs all over the United States, who started in the annual tournament last Tuesday.

Herreshoff defeated Ormiston of Pittsburg in the third round yesterday morning by four up and three to play.

In the semi-final round, Herreshoff again displayed excellent form and won by six up and five to play, from W. T. West, a young player of much promise, from Camden, N. J.

Egan played well in his morning round with Havemeyer of Seabright, N. J., but he was a bit wild in his drives, while his short game was excellent. He beat Havemeyer by four up and three to play. In the semi-final round, Egan defeated Dr. D. F. Fredericks of Oil City, two up and one to play.

As Egan is the western champion and Herreshoff is the Vermont state champion, the final round of 16 holes match play will be a battle between the East and West.

HAVERHILL POLICE

SEARCHING FOR BODY OF MRS. SINOTTE.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Sept. 10.—The police and relatives of Mrs. L. J. Sinotte are searching for her body in the Merrimack river at Groveland, their action resulting from a theory held that she has committed suicide by jumping from the Groveland bridge into the river. Her jacket and hat together with her shopping bag and several recent purchases were discovered on the roadway of the bridge early today by a street railway conductor.

After they had been taken to the police station the husband of the missing woman reported that his wife had been ill for several weeks and that she had not returned to her home.

WARD FOUR RALLY

In Interest of Mr. Hennessy Last Evening

J. Joseph Hennessy, democratic congressional candidate, and his Ward Four friends to the number of about 150, held an enthusiastic rally in the Lyon street school basement last evening.

The affair was gracefully presided over by Patrick B. McHugh, who after brief remarks, introduced the several speakers.

William E. Curtis was the first speaker and after referring to the different problems of importance that come before congress, dwelt upon the necessity of sending to congress a man capable of handling these problems.

J. Joseph O'Connor spoke next and after reference to the subject of reciprocity with Canada, dwelt upon that ever-present enemy, apathy, and urged all democrats not only to take a lively personal interest in the coming campaign, but to interest their democratic friends as well.

Edward D. McVey was then introduced and he made a stirring speech, in which he referred to the candidate in glowing terms.

The last speaker was Mr. Hennessy, who was warmly received. Mr. Hennessy branded as a lie the report that he, if nominated, would "lie down," so to speak before Butler Ames. He stated that if nominated he would go through every town and hamlet in the district and arouse all the democratic voters.

At the conclusion of the rally it was announced that other ward rallies will be held, the dates and places to be announced later.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Says Practical Politics:

If certain rumors from the 4th Essex district are to be taken seriously the situation there will shortly be simplified by the withdrawal of "Dick" How from the race and the selection of Walker of Amesbury as the republican candidate. Up to date the tall man from Haverhill has not publicly announced the fact, but people who claim to be pretty close to him say that he will not be in the fight much longer. According to the story, "Dick" has his eye on a good, fat county job and is laying his wires far enough ahead to be able to land it without much of a contest.

Senator How is a relative and great friend of Mayor Howe and is a frequent and welcome visitor here.

FOR PRESIDENT OF SENATE.

Gen. Francis H. Appleton of Peabody who has been mentioned as a candidate for the presidency of the senate ever since the legislature of 1904 adjourned, has issued a statement as follows:

"A few days after the prorogation of the general court I announced my willingness to be a candidate for return to the state senate. It had been indicated to me by friends within and without my district that a return to the upper branch might mean for me the presidency of the state senate. Since that time I have carefully looked the ground over and analyzed the situation. My friends have done likewise. They are confident that I can be elected president of the upper branch, and my own investigations lead me to the same conclusion. I am, therefore, in the contest for the high honor to stay.

"As far as my renomination from the Middlesex-Essex district is concerned I have little doubt. In fact nothing appears today to make me believe that the custom of nominating for the senate by acclamation will not be adhered to this fall. The rumors that I was about to withdraw from this contest for the presidency were pure fabrications and as unfounded in fact as the allegations spread broadcast by a few individuals that the business interests would not support me. My strongest assurances of support have come from business men of the state. I have the greatest respect for my senatorial colleagues who are looking for the presidency, but the situation has so shaped itself that I would be unfair both to my district and myself did I not take advantage of the opportunity offered.

"I trust there will be no further misunderstanding of my exact position in this matter."

TWO MEN KILLED

In a Wreck on the Southern Railway

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 10.—Two men were killed and another seriously injured in a wreck on the Southern Railway between Dogwood and Wilton on the Birmingham and Selma division yesterday afternoon. The dead:

W. H. CHERRY, engineer.

WILL IVEY, negro brakeman.

Dangerously injured:

N. A. Snow, white, fireman.

The train was running thirty miles an hour when the engine jumped the track and struck the cross ties, turning completely over, crushing the engineer beneath it. Several other employes of the road are said to have been bruised but not seriously hurt.

It is reported that General Kuropatkin is breaking down under the strain of such a severe campaign as he has been through. He has had to bear the weight of the responsibility while Viceroy Alexieff has flitted around giving orders and doing nothing himself except taking care to keep at a safe distance from danger.

FLIMSY FIRE ESCAPES.

Flimsy fire escapes that fall to the ground as soon as a few persons attempt to use them are among the latest dangers attached to fire fighting in New York. It appears that some tenements are fitted with fire escapes fastened only by spikes driven into the mortar in the walls. Such escapes are about as valuable as the life preservers that go to the bottom like lead.

RICHARD OLNEY FOR GOVERNOR.

Col. Gaston's withdrawal as a gubernatorial candidate, shows that gentleman's unselfishness in seeking the advancement of the democratic party. No man in Massachusetts did more to strengthen the party or to bring it back to what it was in the palmy days of Governor Russell than did Colonel Gaston. He used his time, money and talent unsparingly and to him the party is more deeply indebted than to any other man for self-sacrificing labor and support for the past few years. It is true that Col. Gaston was the standard bearer of the party, but even so, had he been merely a selfish office seeker he would not have made so many sacrifices as he did.

He has chosen to retire and he urges the nomination of Hon. Richard Olney as a means of helping the national ticket. Should Olney be nominated, his election would be almost a certainty. Compared with Olney, such men as Governor Bates and Curtis Guild dwindle into the rank of political pigmies.

It is by no means settled that Mr. Olney will run, but if he should he will be the next governor of Massachusetts.

CONNECTICUT CAMPAIGN.

Hon. A. Heaton Robertson, a prominent lawyer of ability and wide popularity, has been nominated for governor of Connecticut with excellent chances of carrying the state. His opponent on the republican side will probably be Hon. H. W. Cleaveland, who succeeded Heaton as judge of probate. The platform adopted by the democrats comes out squarely for reciprocity with Canada, an issue which seems to concern the Nutmeg state more than any other single state issue yet put before the people. The democrats are to go in for a red hot campaign in Connecticut with a good prospect of winning.

PRESIDENT COMBES AND THE CONCORDAT.

President Combes of France has made a flat-footed demand for the severance of the Concordat under which the government supports the Catholic church. He cannot sever the instrument any too soon for Pope Pius X who is utterly disgusted with the assumption of political control over the appointment of bishops. His Holiness knows how far the church would be degraded if such influences ruled and for that reason he will not yield a jot to save the Concordat. He realizes that the church must be independent or else weakened and unable to fulfill her mission as she should.

The Concordat is bound to fall; and the sooner the better for the church. After being supported by government the people will find it difficult to support the church by voluntary contributions but they will get used to it like the people of other countries.

GENERAL WOOD'S MONUMENT

The best monument which General Wood as governor of Cuba left behind is a lottery or gambling institution which President Palma is endeavoring to abolish. It is known as the "Jai Alai of Havana," and Bishop Candler after a visit to Cuba in a burst of indignation makes this comment on the Jai Alai of Havana, supposed to be legalized under the Platt amendment:

"Could anything reflect more discreditably upon our government than that it should be placed in such a position of sponsorship for a gambling concern which the Cuban government would destroy if it had a free hand? Was the Platt amendment designed to be perverted to such base ends? Cannot the congress of the United States by some act of modification or statute of construction of the Platt amendment give the Cuban government enough freedom of action to extirpate this abomination? Shall our government be disgraced and the Cuban people damaged for ten long years by the continuance of this detestable franchise and the maintenance of this den of blacklegs?"

CATCHES IN THE LUCE LAW.

Referring to the operation of the Luce law, Practical Politics has the following:

It is not at all improbable that some of the cities of the commonwealth will bump into a stack of trouble on account of the operations of the Luce election law. The law requires the appointment of election officers in the month of August, and as the primaries do not occur until about the middle of September, some of the cities may have overlooked the provision and will be put to more or less bother to comply with the election law requirements. Under the Luce law the election officers become of importance. They are to conduct not only the elections, but are to have charge of the primaries. Instead of two days' pay at six dollars a day, the election officers will receive four days' pay at the same figure. On account of the additional expense, it is presumed that the expenses of some of the election departments will this year exceed the appropriations.

This is but one of the many catches in the Luce law and it is safe to say that more will crop out during the first practical tests.

THE NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

The city council has elected a new superintendent of public buildings, a man, it is presumed, selected wholly on the ground of qualification. There is need of new schools in various parts of the city. Will they be erected now? Will that rear entrance be constructed in the Green school? Will the heating apparatus of the High school be remedied forthwith? According to some members of the city council the only obstacle to the speedy performance of all these different tasks was Supt. Conlon. They refused to place any money at his disposal. They claimed he was extravagant. Well, if he was he was not the first man who showed extravagance in that office, nor is that the only office in the city government today in which extravagance is apparent. It would be well for the city council to go along the line and cut off the heads of other officials who spend the city's money recklessly.

The school board we understand or certain officials thereof had serious fault to find against Conlon on the ground of extravagance, yet the school board is itself the most extravagant of all the city departments, and that is saying a good deal.

Let us hope Supt. O'Connor will meet the public demand for efficiency, economy and all the other qualities desirable in an official.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Lightnin' does play strange tricks," said the old farmer. "I paid $60 for a lightnin' rod, when, here comes a storm, an' the lightnin' made for that rod the first thing; ripped it off the buildins, an' twisted it into them hoops there you see the children playin' with. Then it came down the chimney, an', finding the key in the clock wound the clock up, threw a dishpan at the cook, an' then went gallopin' 'cross country!"

A few suggestions for trolley officials from the Boston Record:

Reserved seats for large people three in a seat.

Reserved seats for parents with squawling, sticky-fingered babies.

Three rear seats reserved for smokers. First for pipe smoker, second for cigar users, and the last for cigarette fiends.

No tobacco chewing allowed on cars.

I am only a little grafter,
A thief of low degree;
But the politicians whom I "sell",
Keep good watch over me.
And bar the courts from "butting"
In our reciprocity.

My field is not confined at all,
The trade is plied most free,
In nation, stat or township,
North, south, from sea to sea.
Of course I got more "rake-offs" where
They're not quite on to me.

And wealth is piling up so fast,
That friends will often say—
"What shall you ever do with it
When you have had your day?"
I have the answer ready but
To tell it seems a shame.
I've planned to leave posterity
A grafter's Hall of Fame.

A friend who contemplates a hunting trip to New Brunswick, which means a big game chase, has asked when the big game season opens in that section. I answer in this column thinking others might like to know. The big game season will open on Sept. 15th. The license fee for shooting moose and cariboo is $10 for a non-resident and $2 for resident sportsmen. No license to shoot deer is necessary. One moose, two cariboo and two deer are all that may be shot by one person during the season. It will give one an idea of how the hunt for big game has increased in New Brunswick to know that in 1896 the hunting license receipts were but $300; in 1903 they were $18,000 and promise to be greater this year.

Two women of my acquaintance, who have been as thick as hops for a year or more, had a falling out last week. Yesterday a third woman undertook to effect a reconciliation between them. Having pointed out to Mrs. A. how foolish it was to maintain the quarrel, she went to Mrs. B. and said:

"Mrs. A. is ready to make up if you are."

"Make up?" said Mrs. B., with a curl of her lip. "Hump! She's always ready to make up. She stands before her glass an hour every day making up."

So the peace-maker told Mrs. A. what Mrs. B. said, and now the breach is wider than ever.

"Well," said the peace-maker to me afterward, with a beatific expression on her face, "I am sure I did everything I could to bring them together."

So, there!

My friend Henry was seated in a crowded open car the other day when a woman with a small baby in her arms came aboard. Henry gave his seat to her and undertook to stand in front of a well dressed man who sat next to her.

"You can't stand there," said the man, shoving forward on the seat so that his knees might take up all the space.

"Why not?" Henry asked, unwilling to believe that, under these circumstances, any man could do this from purely selfish motives.

"Because I paid for this seat and I am going to occupy it in comfort," the man answered, sprawling as far as conditions would permit.

Now Henry says he thinks this incident ought to be a good subject for an editorial. Perhaps it ought but somehow I can't help feeling that the police court reporter is really the proper person to handle it. I believe most men would enjoy reading that Henry had been arrested for assault and battery and that his case had been postponed until the other fellow could get out of the hospital.

This is the way the Salem Quaker monument question impressed a writer in the Boston Transcript:

"While in the Witch city, I was shown a copy of the princely offer of Frederick Fanning Ayer, to erect on Salem common statues of his Quaker ancestor and ancestress, Lawrence and Cassandra Southwick, at a cost of $50,000; together with a copy of the remonstrance of about a score of Salemites against the acceptance of that offer. Slighting the sage counsel of Senator Hoar, these remonstrants would prefer to see Salem common remain bare rather than see it adorned with statues of these early settlers who followed in religion the ways of George Fox and William Penn. Their objection to the appearance of the tiger in the group as the incarnation of the spirit of persecution is a poor one, and in making it they disregard the time-honored maxim not to look a gift-horse in the mouth. Far better would it be for them if they would follow the example of Hawthorne, and apologize to Mr. Ayer for the cruelties inflicted by their forbears upon his forbears. Discovering no artist's name among the obscure remonstrants, I am half inclined to quote for their edification a speech made by R. W. Ball, the poet, in reply to a local magnate in Lawrence, where he then lived, on a subject too wonderful for the magnate's understanding. 'Mr. Chairman,' the poet observed, 'if this question related to the price of butter or eggs or Cheshire cheese, I should defer very much to that gentleman's opinion. But this is a question which calls for the exercise of judgment, intelligence and skill. It is no barnyard question, and therefore the gentleman must excuse me if I decline to adopt his view.' The local magnate had nothing to do but join in the laughter, with which all present greeted the poet's sarcasm."

PAPAL SECRETARY OF STATE RECEIVES ARCHBISHOP CHAPPELLE.

ROME, Sept. 9.—Papal Secretary of State Merry Del Val, who came to Rome today from his summer residence at Castel Gandolf only for a day to receive the diplomatic corps, granted an audience to Archbishop Chappelle, which is a special distinction, audiences being very rare now.

The secretary was most cordial and expressed a wish to see more of Archbishop Chappelle during his stay in Rome.

TRADES UNIONISTS

DENOUNCED THE SOUTH AFRICAN LABOR ORDINANCE.

LEEDS, England, Sept. 9—The Trades union congress at its session today, unanimously adopted a resolution emphatically protesting against the government's action in sanctioning the South African labor ordinance as being opposed to the best interests of British workmen at home and abroad, as sanctioning conditions of labor for unfortunate beings and as contrary to the anti-slavery traditions of the British empire.

MINERS LOST STRIKE

THEY WILL RETURN TO WORK MONDAY.

ZANESVILLE, O., Sept. 10.—After an idleness of nearly six months, 2000 coal miners in sub district No. 6, have declared off the strike which was begun because of a request that they accept a greater reduction than that contained in the Indianapolis convention agreement. The miners now agree to accept a wage reduction of 10 per cent, less than that received for two years prior to April 1, 1904. The miners have lost $320,000 in wages, and the operators about $2,000,000 income since the suspension of work. The miners will resume work Monday.

BIG RAILROAD DEAL

WABASH ROAD MAKES $12,000,000 PURCHASE.

The deal gives the Wabash the advantage of an immense tonnage for immediate haul and entrance into all the iron tonnage producing mills of Pittsburg.

PURE FOOD BILL

IT WILL COME BEFORE THE NEXT CONGRESS.

Every day's events show the country more and more how imperatively necessary for our food it is that the pure food bill should pass at the next session of congress, and yet there is plenty of indication that it will be held up in the senate. The situation at present is that the bill has passed the house by a vote of 201 to 68, and the senate committee has reported favorably upon it and added to it amendments tending to make it more stringent in favor of the consumer. One of these brings drugs also under authority of the government, and would make it possible to prevent the sale of the pernicious adulterations which too often are used to fill physicians' prescriptions, and put a stop generally to traffic in adulterated and imitation drugs. There is another amendment which calls for pure whiskey. It is not necessary to dilate on the value to suffering humanity which these just measures for the protection of the sick would have.

But the effect of these amendments has been to add an army of new opposers to the great body of food manufacturers who are ready to bring millions of dollars to fight the bill. Delay in its passage is all they ask, for the good reason that they know it is all that they can get, but this delay, if it can be carried on long enough, is perfectly satisfactory to the dealer in food frauds. The men who make money by them are alert and determined, and well able to spend fortunes to gain their ends. The people who suffer loss of both health and money, as long as the pure food bill is hung up, are patient and confiding, and not all in a way to obtain the information which would make them strong in support of the men who are fighting in their interests. The papers of the country have done their best to awaken the community to the truth in regard to food adulterations, of both the harmless and the harmful sort, but the very mass of evidence of the great extent of this has proved so appalling that it takes a clear-headed man or woman to see how easily the reform could be made if those trying to bring it about had the support of the consumers.

No amount of money spent in influencing the people's representatives in Washington in favor of what is ostensibly merely a little longer consideration of the pure food bill would prevent its passing at the coming session if the people were roused to their interests and determined that it should pass. But it is a case of a wealthy, active and well organized force standing against an indifferent set, too careless to exert a power which would be overwhelming if once felt. The men who are trying to have an interstate pure food bill passed are energetic and persevering, but it is ten years now since they have known what it is to fail regularly. It is not all failure, for their work has resulted in great agitation of the subject and the institution of state and city laws which are effective in a degree, but not able to check the evil as they would be if all the states came under the same rules.

The attempt to keep impure and improperly marked foreign goods out of the country has been very successful since the Agricultural Department was authorized to sample all food imports, and given power to exclude them if found fraudulent or dangerous. Already the foreign manufacturer has learned that there must be greater honesty on his part in dealing with Americans. The reform has come about so quietly that it has hardly been realized how much stuff has been returned to European ports, or else destroyed in ours, under the late rulings. The new laboratories intended for the inspection of imported goods will make it sure that we have these practically pure. The citizen's knowledge of this superior purity of what comes to us from abroad will be a help in making our fraudulent manufacturers improve their ways, in order to keep their markets in opposition to the goods that are worth the money paid for them and known to be what they are said to be. The outlook for a better food supply for the United States is excellent, but the passing of the pure food bill must come before we can be certain of what we eat and what we drink and what we give our sick. The state laws must be supplemented by a law that will allow no evasion through local rulings.

WOMAN COLLAPSED

WHEN SHE LEARNED SHE HAD BEEN LEFT A FORTUNE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Miss Louisa Haycox, a stenographer employed by Charles Lavanne, formerly of this city, but who died after an operation for appendicitis in Toledo, O., has been left Lavanne's fortune of $30,000. Miss Haycox was his clerk and stenographer for six years, and as he had no near relatives he wrote a will just before the operation, bequeathing to her all his property.

He felt he would not rally from the operation and told the surgeons and nurses that he desired to leave his property to one who had always been faithful in his employ, careful of his business interests and tactful in her treatment of his patrons.

Miss Haycox collapsed when she was notified of the provisions of the will last evening.

Japanese Losses Estimated at 30,000, Russian 20,000

Dreadful Sufferings of Russian Army on Its Retreat to Mukden—The Japanese on Wednesday Abandoned the Pursuit

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10.—1.50 a.m.—It seems to be definitely established that Field Marshal Oyauma's tired troops practically abandoned on Wednesday the attempt to head off Gen. Kuropatkin, and the latter's army has arrived safe at Mukden, after frightful exertions in floundering through mud and mire.

Some descriptions of the scenes along the line of retreat are almost incredible. They tell how the men lay down in the mud and slept in a drenching rain and without shelter.

It is evident that the last determined effort of the Japanese to bring Kuropatkin to bay was made on Tuesday, but the Russian commander-in-chief faced about and two corps, with artillery, beat off the Japanese, while the remainder of the troops continued the march to Mukden. After that the Japanese could only hang on to the flanks and try to shell the retreating columns from the hills.

The outposts are still in contact, but they are not even exchanging shots.

A late Associated Press despatch sent last night from Mukden described the horrible plight of the tentless and shelterless soldiers. The detailed statement of Russian losses, which it is promised will be issued Saturday, is awaited with intense interest. The general expectation is that the losses will approximate 20,000 against 30,000 for the Japanese.

The work of burying the dead was left to the Japanese, who were forced to attempt the task as a matter of self-preservation, but it was almost impossible. The awful rain handicapped the work of cremating, on which the Japanese relied, and only shallow trench burials were possible under the circumstances. Not only is this work one of the greatest difficulty, but it is almost valueless from a sanitary point of view, the storms undoing it soon after it is accomplished.

The care of the wounded has taxed the hospitals to the utmost. One correspondent says that 12,000 wounded had passed through Mukden hospitals up to Sunday, and only the most severe cases could be attended to by the nurses and physicians. Many, therefore, had to be left to the rough but well meant care of their comrades.

Now that the battle of Liao Yang belongs within the domain of history, officers of the general staff are more disposed to discuss some of the circumstances of the fight, although they still lack specific information, which makes it impossible for them to speak authoritatively on many points. General Kuropatkin's army at Liao Yang consisted of 200 battalions, 147 squadrons of cavalry and 700 guns, approximately 168,000 bayonets, 15,000 sabres and 10,000 gunners. Portions of the European corps and one Siberian corps had been left at Mukden, and a number of these reserves were brought into the fight. The size of the Japanese army has not been definitely established, but its actual fighting force is supposed to have had a superiority in numbers of from 50,000 to 60,000 men, and a considerable superiority also in artillery.

One of the chief advantages possessed by Field Marshal Oyama, according to the Russian experts, consisted in the greater elasticity in movement and in handling, on account of the separation of the three respective armies of Generals Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu. Kuropatkin very late also introduced the same system after a fashion, when he created the eastern and southern armies under the respective commands of Generals Ivanoff and Zarabubaieff, but these armies had not been acting independently for months, while the Japanese armies had been so acting.

On his arrival at the seat of war Lieut. Gen. Bilderling of the Seventeenth army corps, took over the command of General Ivanoff, who, though a seasoned and tried commander, familiar with his men, with the field of battle, and with the tactics of the Japanese, had to give way to a man older in years, who possessed none of these advantages. The changes in commanders at such a critical time is considered here to have been extremely unfortunate. Although it is admitted that the eastern army had to face Kuroki, who has earned a reputation as the most skilful of the Japanese leaders, the poor showing which it made in comparison with the southern army under Zaroubateff, perhaps not altogether unjustifiably, might be attributed to this change of commanders, and the battle might have been won if Bilderling had been able to duplicate in the east, the splendid fight which Zaroubateff made against Oku.

It was the second repulse by the Japanese force on the heights at Yental which induced Kuropatkin to order a retreat, and there are officers of the general staff who believe that this order was precipitated, holding that if Kuropatkin had followed up the offensive on September 2, leaving to Stakelberg, who arrived at the Yental mines in time to support Orloff, the blocking of the sweeping movement, the day might have been saved.

The subsequent retreat of the Russian army over the terrible roads in the face of the determined foe is considered a brilliant feat by all, but it is undeniable that Kuropatkin has disappointed many of his old admirers, who are unable to forgive the defeat. Nevertheless, perhaps with the majority, faith in General Kuropatkin remains unshaken.

HEAVY RAINS AND LIGHTNING

MUKDEN, Sept. 10.—Last evening around Mukden occurred the greatest downpour of rain of the whole campaign and with it a terrifying accompaniment of thunder and lightning. There has been the greatest difficulty in preventing the cavalry stampeding by the double guards and all the horse lines have been tied. The men are scarcely able to keep their feet around the moving horses and are singing and talking to quiet them.

All the lower ground is under water and Chinese boats from the Hun river are navigating many of the roads and some of the streets. This makes little difference to the men who are under canvas; but all others are soaked to the skin and are sleeping exhausted in mud and water, indifferent to the weather if they can snap much needed rest.

One advantage is that the rain has entirely checked the movements of the Japanese eastern and southern armies—in fact quiet reigns over the whole front.

The Chinese population of Mukden is so far fairly orderly. The Chinese are suffering greatly and in the villages all around, crops, cattle and poultry have been trodden down and killed. The Russians are endeavoring to pay for all damage, though this is often difficult owing to the rapid shifting of the troops and the natives are always ready where possible to induce two or more commanders to pay for the same damage.

JAPS' SILENCE LOOKS OMINOUS

LONDON, Sept. 10—The horror and privations of the Russians' retreat recounted in the Associated Press despatches have not been printed here, hence the English morning papers, for lack of news, comment chiefly on the details of the battle of Liao Yang. Another day of Japanese silence, however, strikes the military critics here with suspicion that the lull in action may be ominous for the Russians.

The explanation in the Associated Press despatches that the absence of developments around Mukden is largely due to the rains, has not yet been published in London, hence the Daily Chronicle eulogizes Gen. Kuropatkin, declaring that Captain A. T. Mahan, U. S. N., (retired) was the first and only military critic to foresee the genius which inspired the strategy of the Russian commander-in-chief.

The Daily Telegraph in commenting on the full accounts of the battle of Liao Yang, says it was a struggle "terrible beyond imagination, with a desperation unparalleled in war. Henceforth," it says, "a new standard of heroism is set in war. The Japanese and Russians alike have shown capacity for sacrifice, contempt for death and utter abnegation of self in answer to the supreme demand of patriotism which have never yet been excelled."

The Daily Telegraph declares that Kuropatkin completely foiled Oyama's strategy, but that "Russian and Japanese capacity of sacrifice for an ideal has restored the sense of heroism which redeems even the horrors of war, ennobles armies and strengthens nations."

OKU'S INFANTRY FINEST IN THE WORLD

LONDON, Sept. 10—The Times this morning prints a despatch dated at Pukin from a correspondent lately with Gen. Oku's army, which says:

"Liao Yang at sunrise on September 4 presented a dismal spectacle. The Russian settlement was burning and overhung with a pall of smoke. The scared Chinese were in hiding and the dead-beat Japanese were bivouacking in the suburbs. Not a shot was fired inside the barricade that day and not a Russian left except a few deserters disguised as Chinese.

"The town was not greatly damaged by the shell fire, but all the European shops and the wealthy Chinese residences had been sacked by the Tenth Siberian Rifles. Over fifty Chinese were killed by the Japanese shell fire.

"The Japanese shells of war were insignificant. They got no locomotives, which they urgently need, and which would have been more valuable to them than artillery.

"The Japanese divisional commander attempted to pursue the Russians and managed to secure a bridge, but his troops were too fatigued to effect anything."

"My honest opinion," says the correspondent, "is that there was nothing strategically excellent in the handling of either army, though Kuropatkin can claim to have defeated the main object of the Japanese operations.

"The Russians obviously in their tactics cling to the cardinal error of overmanning their defensive positions, while the whole spirit of the Japanese tactics, as illustrated under Oku, was sledge hammer frontal attacks.

"I am satisfied that Oku commands the finest infantry in the world. I do not believe that any other army could in five days deliver eight unsuccessful infantry assaults against entrenchments and still persevere.

"It is probable that Kuropatkin will now take up a position somewhere on the Harbin road, and that the Japanese army will be compelled to rest at Mukden; and if the report of the advance of Lieut. Gen. Linevitch should be true, Kuroki may find it necessary to base himself on the same line of communications as Oku and Nodzu."

INTERNAL POLICY WILL NOT BE CHANGED

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Echo De Paris sends an interview which he had with Prince Peter Sviatopol K. Mursky, the new minister of the interior in which the prince said:

"I do not intend to change Russia's internal policy, but shall strive to follow the program set forth in the emperor's manifesto of February, 1903, working on the foundation laid by my sovereign to inspire my actions by true and broad liberalism, especially as this will not change the established order of things I am a firm partisan of centralization and consequently propose to give the provincial communal assemblies extensive powers to regulate their local affairs."

The prince declared that he intended to treat the Jews kindly, but said that if he granted them the liberty now possessed by the Orthodox they might assume too great importance.

KUROKI'S ADVANCE TO BE CHECKED

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Daily Express claims to have trustworthy information that the Russian army is divided into five columns. The first has reached Tie pass (4 miles north of Mukden) and is preparing to defend that place against the Japanese. The second is midway between Mukden and Tie pass. The third is at Mukden. The fourth, consisting of 40,000 men, under General Meyendorff, is holding General Kuroki in check by hard fighting, 12 miles south of Mukden. The fifth, of about 12,000 men, is further south, exhausted by incessant fighting and is surrounded on three sides by the Japanese, its position being one of extreme danger, from which it can hardly hope to escape.

"Everything now depends," says the paper, "on Meyendorff's ability to hold Kuroki in check, which so far, has been successfully done."

FIERCE FIRE

PROGRESSO, TEX., VISITED BY BIG FIRE.

PROGRESSO, Tex., Sept. 10.—The fierce fire which broke out here yesterday, raged unchecked all day. It wiped out an entire block of business houses occupied by firms engaged in the general merchandise business. The loss is estimated at from $1,000,000 to $1,200,000, with but little insurance.

The burned territory consists of the square and two blocks south of water front and facing one of the principal plazas directly opposite the custom house.

The warehouses were burned to the ground and the loss on fibre will aggregate $300,000.

The loss of the dry goods and grocery, drug, and coffee importing concerns will approximate $400,000.

THE LUCE LAW

Politicians Discuss the Provisions of it

Details Left Out of the Law

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—At Young's hotel last evening the association of Massachusetts registrars listened to the two leaders of the house of representatives, the Rev. H. H. Newton of Everett and George A. Schofield of Ipswich, republican and democrat, respectively, while they expatiated on the good and bad points of the Luce law.

Representative Newton said that the purpose of the Luce legislation aimed to give dignity to the caucus. Here he compared our representative form of government with monarchial forms and showed that the caucus was necessary in our system.

The fault in these latter days, he said, lies in the fact that our younger voters are not being educated to understand the real idea of suffrage. It is a matter of common knowledge that votes today are bought and sold. The belief seems to be general that individuals and not principles are of the greatest moment. In other days the caucus was more simple. Then principle was uppermost and individuals were known personally to the voters. The election law aims to better conditions, to place principle uppermost by making it more difficult to pack caucuses in the interest of self-seeking individuals.

The present law aims to prevent the use of money in elections, though perhaps it is not entirely effective. The Luce law is simply the evolution of our election laws.

Direct nomination he thought exceedingly satisfactory, and the principle should be extended. Another difficulty was that a man might skilfully carry on an advertising campaign and get the nomination, though that opportunity might not prove to be for the best interests of the people. Direct nomination, he thought, would not work well in the "shoestring" district because he doubted if the people of that strung-out district could thoroughly know a candidate.

As to the hours for primary elections, from 12 to 9 o'clock he thought the best time.

The corrupt practice act aims to prevent the wrong use of money in elections. The feelings of the newer voters seem to be that the size of the pocketbook of the candidate is bigger than the principles involved.

Representative Schofield could not wholly agree with his opponent in the house. The Luce law went into effect after days of battling, and then, with nine-tenths of it amended, so that only one-tenth of the "evolutions" and Luce's ideas remained. Luce himself said that he was dissatisfied with it at the time and practically disowned it. Today, however, Luce is enthusiastically in favor of retaining it. The author he believed to be sincere, though his ideas were colored by strong partisanship.

He believed with Mr. Newton in a government of principles, but he would add a government of individuals who could be trusted to carry out the principles. He thought a better solution of the problem would be a government of both interviewed.

He then offered a number of suggestions with a view to improving the election laws. The section providing that each party shall appoint two registrars of voters is nullified in the smaller towns by granting the selectmen, who very often dominate matters, the power to appoint registrars. If the principle is good in a city ward or precinct, it is good also in the smaller town.

He regarded the reading and writing test as something of a gamble because the several cards containing extracts from the constitution are not of equal difficulty.

The corrupt practice act is all right in intention, but a failure in practice. Differing from the previous speaker, he said he was not in favor of party politics.

The registrars discussed the election law, and it seemed to be the opinion that the Luce law was legislation on principles with the details left out. The purpose of the association is to bring about a uniform system of registration and unravel the Luce law, about which no one seemed to have a very clear idea.

A question about the right of a citizen duly registered, who will be 21 the 28th day of September, to vote in a primary election, to be held the 27th created some discussion. All but John P. Farley of Lowell were of the opinion that the citizen could not vote, and they went so far as to say that they would not register any one under those conditions. They learned, however, that the supreme court (Mass. 107, 425) decided that a man is entitled to vote in an election occurring the day before his birthday.

During the afternoon the present board of officers was re-elected, and it was voted to reduce the annual assessment to $2. The following were present: Alton P. Joyce, Medford; John P. McCormack, Cambridge; John P. Farley, Cornelius F. Sullivan, Girard P. Dalman, Lowell; W. D. S. Haven Jones, Melrose; Walter A. Davis, president, Fitchburg; Preston Friend, Gloucester; John H. Flinn, secretary, Woburn.

GRANT DEFEATED

General Bell Demolished the Blue Army

CORPS HEADQUARTERS, Gainesville, Va., Sept. 10—The second manoeuvre problem ceased at 9 o'clock yesterday with Gen. Bell commanding the Brown army, demolishing Gen. Grant, commanding the Blue army, east of Bull Run.

This result awards victory to the attacking force in each of the two problems and makes Gen. Grant the first victor and Gen. Bell the second so far as results can be estimated without bullets.

The manoeuvring and fighting yesterday, was far the most spectacular and exciting of the campaign. The first day of the second problem developed nothing but a rear guard action on the part of Gen. Grant, while Gen. Bell had spent his time endeavoring to make a demonstration on the left wing or to the south of the Blue line. During the night the situation was changed. Gen. Grant's main position remained the same behind or to the east of Bull Run. He withdrew his first brigade under Gen. Wint, who had fought the rear guard action the day before, to the famous stone bridge across Bull Run, along whose eastern shores the trenches dug by the Federal troops still remain and in which Gen. Grant posted Gen. Wint's line after it had been driven across the bridge with the loss of one brigade. Gen. Bell executed a magnificent march with the forces which the day before were on the left wing of his enemy. He drew them during the small hours of the night from the left to the right of Grant's position. When daylight came, they were put across Bull Run at Sudley, or to the extreme north of the manoeuvre scene. His centre remained practically the same and fought a brisade action at Stone Bridge. It was here that the fighting of the day began. The Brown forces charged up to the bridge, which was constructively blown up, but were repulsed and ordered back. A second charge likewise did not meet the approval of the umpire, but the third was accomplished by a most brilliant action. A part of the Brown forces, a section of the Ninth Infantry, had deployed in the woods, gone down stream and waded across. They crept up on the east bank and got in position not twenty yards behind the Blue defenders, when the Eighth Massachusetts and 12th New York, who were making the charge on the west side, came up the third time. It did not take the umpires a second to rule out the entire Blue force at this point and the Brown army crossed the run at will. In the meantime the force which had crossed to the north of Sudley had been coming down towards the pike. They struck Grant's line to the rear and the manoeuvre ended when this force appeared in a flanking movement on a Blue line which was facing a Brown line that had crossed at the stone bridge.

In summing up the situation last night, Col. Wagner, chief umpire, gave the precise movement of each brigade during the night, after which he commented on the manoeuvre as follows:

"The Blue cavalry accomplished nothing during the day, Gen. Bell having taken the precaution to change his base. Among the Blue regiments that lost most heavily in constructive killed or captured were the South Carolina, the Alabama and the Florida regiments, in all the Blue army. The withdrawal of Gen. Grant to a defensive position east of Bull Run, was effected most skilfully, the handling of the rear guard by Gen. Wint, being especially fine.

"Gen. Bell's plan of action was an able one. Menacing the left flank of the Blue, he had a long, prompt night march, by which he placed himself on the enemy's right flank in a way that promised brilliant result. What the result would have been in actual warfare, it is impossible to say. The Blue right was badly shattered, but Price's brigade was still intact and immediately available for support. Reinforcements could have been drawn from the brigade of Frost. Whether the frontal attack across Bull Run would have been sufficient to hold these two brigades in check, or whether the brigades in question would themselves have been carried away in the general rush, it is idle to speculate.

In relinquishing the command of the manoeuvre force, Gen. Corbin issued a general order last night expressing his approval of the work done by each commander and the force under him.

The militia will be paid today after the review, which is to be held at Wellington at 1 o'clock. After the review, 8,000 of the eastern militia will be entrained and started for home. The Southern railway will run as many special trains as necessary from Washington today, as great crowds are expected to witness the review.

WAS STABBED

RICHARD WALLACE JOSTLED A STRANGER IN STREET.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Richard Wallace, 32, living at 20 Union street, Peabody, while passing through Beach street about 7.40 last evening on his way to the station to take a train for home, accidentally struck against a man who was standing on the sidewalk filling his pipe.

There were words between the two. Suddenly the man who was filling his pipe, and incidentally was holding his knife in his hand, jabbed Wallace in the abdomen and then ran away. Wallace was not seriously injured and made his way to the Emergency hospital. Word was sent from there to the police of division 4 and the injured man was removed to the City hospital relief station.

Immediately upon his arrival he was put up under ether and operated upon. The doctors said last night that unless peritonitis set in Wallace would recover.

The police of division 4 went out in search of Wallace's assailant and arrested a man on suspicion. It is claimed that he was identified by a man who saw the assault. The man under arrest was taken to the Relief station for the purpose of identification, but as Wallace was under ether, he was taken back to the station and locked up.

Capt. Dugan of police headquarters was also notified of the case and visited the hospital, but was not allowed to interview Wallace.

JACK THE RIPPER

Negro Says He Committed Eleven Murders

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 10.—A "Jack the Ripper" in black was arrested last night at Shreveport, La. The negro is a young man, probably not more than 30 years old, but since attaining his majority he has committed not less than 11 murders and perhaps some that he does not now recall. He can give no excuse for his sanguinary disposition except that he cannot refrain from seeing human blood.

Jim Lee, which is the name of the negro, is arrested upon complaints of having during the past year committed four murders as follows: James Johnson, a white levee camp foreman in Concordia parish, La.; Tice Lyons, a negro at the same place; Bud DeWitt, a negro of Bossier parish, and Mary Seabrooke, a negro woman who resided near Donaldsville. All of the murders were committed in Louisiana. It is remarkable that with all these deaths occurring within a radius of 100 miles Lee was not before suspected. But so cleverly did he conceal his identity that it was only when he murdered Johnson in daylight and the deed was witnessed by several workmen, that the other crimes were laid at his door.

JEWELRY GONE

YOUNG WOMAN HAS ARDENT SUITOR ARRESTED.

WORCESTER, Sept. 10.—William Brayton, a conductor on the Fitchburg Gardner & Westminster street railway line, was arrested yesterday at the request of the Worcester police and will be arraigned in central district court on a charge of larceny made against him by Miss Laura E. Tracy of Leicester, who claims he has taken from her a diamond ring valued at $200, a pair of gold earrings valued at $25, and a gold ring set with opals valued at $25.

According to Miss Tracy's story Brayton had been keeping company with her for some time and she told him about her diamond ring being broken. He volunteered to bring it to a jeweler in Worcester to have it repaired and she gave it to him, but has not been able to get it back. She has also missed her earrings and her gold ring.

Although Brayton visited her as an unmarried man, Miss Tracy says she has learned he is married and has a wife and two children in Fitchburg.

The warrant issued by the Worcester police was served by Chief Tinsdale of Fitchburg and Inspector Patrick O'Day of the Worcester force went to Fitchburg for the prisoner.

TAP AN INFERNO

TUNNEL DIGGERS MADE STRANGE DISCOVERY IN ROME.

ROME, Sept. 10.—Work on the Simplon tunnel, which it was expected would be completed by the beginning of next month, was suddenly stopped yesterday, owing to the exposure of a hot spring flowing 1500 gallons per minute, while the temperature in the tunnel reached 112 degrees. The workmen had to flee for their lives. Refrigerators will be installed and the work resumed a month from date. The Simplon tunnel, which is being cut through Simplon mountain will be 21,-391 yards long, and it already has been pierced for a distance of 21,142 yards.

A dispatch from Turin Sept. 20, 1902, said that the heat in the interior of Simplon mountain was deadly to the workmen in the tunnel. The men had to be sprinkled with cold water constantly, and though fresh air was pumped into the tunnel, many of the workmen succumbed.

JOY POLLARD, GENERAL ORGANIZER OF THE WESTERN FEDERATION OF MINERS.

CRIPPLE CREEK

Miners' Agent Tells of Conditions There

Joy Pollard, general organizer and representative of the Western Federation of Miners, was in this city yesterday in the interest of the striking miners of Cripple Creek, Col., district. He is collecting funds and at the same time giving the miners' side of the trouble in Colorado.

Little need be said of the condition of affairs in and around Cripple Creek at the present time, or of the murders, riots, fires, persecutions and other acts which thrilled the country for weeks when the eyes of the world were centered on the mining districts at Cripple Creek.

Mr. Pollard left Cripple Creek just one year ago to go to northern Michigan and Wisconsin to keep the miners of that district from going west and taking the places of the miners who struck in sympathy with the smelters and mill hands of the Cripple Creek district, for an eight-hour day. At about the same time the mine managers sent agents to the different places to secure help, but as the miners of Michigan and Wisconsin were members of unions which were affiliated with the Western Federation of Miners, the agents of the mine owners met with little success.

Mr. Pollard understands the situation at Cripple Creek from beginning to end and gave the following brief history to a representative of The Sun:

"The miners of Cripple Creek and the vicinity, which is a district of about six square miles, with Cripple Creek as the principal town, were receiving $4 per day for an eight-hour day, while the smelters and the people who worked in the mills were working 11 hours on the day shift and 13 hours on the night shift. The fumes from the smelting works in a great measure shorten life and few if any men work more than seven years in the smelting works. Five years ago a law providing that miners, smelters and mill hands working in the mines of Colorado should work but eight hours a day was passed by the legislature. The owners of the mines carried the law to the supreme court and it was declared unconstitutional owing to technicalities. In 1902 the state voted on the eight-hour day for miners and the eight-hour day won by a majority of 46,714 votes. The members of the legislature were elected shortly after this and the different members were pledged to vote for the eight-hour law, but the governor of the state at a meeting called in the militia and tried to unseat some of the members of the legislature. The matter hung fire for 90 days when the session was speedily adjourned. It was afterwards found that the session had adjourned before making an appropriation for the state of Colorado at the St. Louis exposition and a special session was called.

"On the tenth of August of last year 5000 miners in Cripple Creek and other towns refused to supply the gold ore to the smelters and mill workers until an eight-hour law was given the latter.

"Ever since the lawless governor of the state recalled his mob of soldiers from Cripple Creek the reign of terror continues. Stores belonging to a foreign corporation have been looted in broad daylight by 'law abiding citizens' of the town. Not one of these criminals fears arrest or punishment and daily outrages are committed with impunity, by mobs composed of members of the Citizens' Alliance and the Colorado Mine Operators' association who run the affairs of the state as they please. These crimes are committed with the consent and approval of the governor, who refuses to enforce the law and restore order on the pitiful pretense that he has 'not been officially notified'.

"Ex-convicts, gamblers, desperadoes and other criminals have been and are now knowingly employed and paid by the Colorado Mine Operatives' association and the Citizens' Alliance in Cripple Creek, Telluride and elsewhere in the state as deputy sheriffs, guards, detectives, etc. A man serving a 14 years sentence for rape was taken out of jail and made marshal of Goldfield, while a train robber and horse thief who was serving time in jail was appointed under sheriff in the district.

"It was stated by the mine operators that the miners of the district were largely foreigners, but such is not the fact as 70 per cent. of the miners and workmen in the smelting mills and other places connected with the mines are American born and read and write and speak good English. We are going to win the eight-hour day if it costs the whole state of Colorado."

Mr. Pollard during the past year has been working eastward addressing labor unions and soliciting funds and intended to address the labor unions in this city, but upon learning of the cotton strike which occurred in this city a year ago last spring he decided that it would not be right to impose upon the people, a good many of whom have not yet recovered from the effects of the strike, and has been making his headquarters in Nashua. He did not, therefore, solicit any funds here.

He stated, however, that if any person wished to assist the miners that all contributions would be gratefully received by William D. Haywood, secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners at room 3, Pioneer building, Denver, Col.

JUDGE PARKER

WILL MAKE HIS TEMPORARY HOME IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—There is every reason to believe that Judge Parker will make arrangements to come to New York for temporary residence soon after his formal leter of acceptance is made public.

It is known that leading democrats have strongly represented to him that his continued presence at such an inconvenient location as Rosemount, with no hotel accommodations, has kept Judge Parker from personal contact with many prominent men, who are frequently in New York city, but who have not time for the journey to Esopus.

The plan has even progressed as far as the making of tentative arrangements for him to take a suite of rooms here.

According to those close in Judge Parker's counsels his idea is to be immediately in touch with the party leaders and accessible to those whom it is needful and desirable to meet as the campaign progresses.

CAPTAIN NOWELL SAYS WIFE THREW BRIC-A-BRAC.

DEDHAM, Sept. 10.—The divorce libel of Capt. John P. Nowell, Brookline, prominent in military, social and business circles in Boston, against his wife, Elizabeth B. Nowell, or better known to the public as Lizzie B. Raymand, a vaudeville actress, was heard yesterday in the superior court by Judge Sherman.

The libel was uncontested. Mrs. Nowell is supposed to be in South Africa, although recently in New York city.

In the libel Capt. Nowell says he was married to Mrs. Nowell March 17, 1902.

He asks that he be granted a divorce on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment and of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication.

In speaking of his wife's habits and treatment of him, Capt. Nowell testified that she was under the influence of liquor on numerous occasions. He testified that his wife frequently assaulted him with bric-a-brac while he was in bed. He also told of other men being in the house.

Two other witnesses supported his testimony.

Capt. Nowell's marriage to the actress caused a stir among his circle of society and business friends, and was strongly opposed by his relatives.

Since her marriage, the vaudeville star forsook the stage for only a short period.

BARELY ESCAPED

J. PIERPONT MORGAN'S LAUNCH NEARLY RUN DOWN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—J. Pierpont Morgan had a narrow escape from death in the North river yesterday, his second this summer under similar circumstances, when the steamer Grand Republic came near running down a naphtha launch in which Mr. Morgan and his two friends were passing from his yacht, the Corsair, to the New York yacht club landing at East 26th street.

Mr. Morgan was at the helm of the launch and the second mate of the Corsair was looking after the engine. The launch had gone several hundred feet when the Grand Republic came along. Mr. Morgan suddenly realized that he could not cross the bows of the steamer and he ordered the mate to reverse the engines. This takes several seconds, and meantime the launch stood still directly in the patch of the Grand Republic.

When it seemed that nothing could save the little craft, the engine suddenly started to work and the launch backed away from the steamer. As the Grand Republic went swiftly by, great swells rolled away from her sides and those on shore saw the frail launch picked up and tossed about as though it were a feather. They saw Mr. Morgan throw up his hands and almost plunge overboard from the sudden lift.

Mr. Morgan, grasped the tiller again and stood with a white face as a second and a third great swell caught the launch and tossed it high. By good luck it lived through both.

When Mr. Morgan landed he looked exhausted. His clothing was soaked and the launch had taken a foot of water aboard. Every one in the party was more or less drenched.

FOR PRESIDENT
ALTON B. PARKER
OF NEW YORK.
What does the election of Judge Parker mean to the people of Massachusetts?
It means that every effort will be made to secure reciprocity with Canada both in raw and manufactured products.
It means extended markets, more work, high wages, and lower prices.
Massachusetts would receive a liberal share of the benefits of such a Treaty.
The National Democratic Convention has pledged the Democratic Administration, if elected, to try to secure such a Treaty, by the following provision in its platform:—
"We favor liberal trade arrangements with Canada and with peoples of other countries where these can be entered into with benefit to American agriculture, manufactures, mining or commerce."
Republican leaders in Massachusetts, thoroughly scared at the declared sentiment of the people in favor of Canadian Reciprocity, have made a twenty-fourth hour statement that they, too, favor reciprocity with Canada, even in competitive products.
The Home Market Club of Boston, which largely fixes the policy of Massachusetts Republicans, on April 3, 1903, passed a Resolution which was in part as follows:—
"We accept the policy of reciprocity in non-competing products as laid down in the last Republican national platform, but we are unalterably opposed to reciprocity in competing products."
As applied to Canada, this declaration would leave only arctic furs as a subject for reciprocity!
The Republican National Convention of 1904 declared for:—
"Commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistent with the principles of protection, and without injury to American agriculture, American labor, or any American industry."
Under this declaration we could never hope for reciprocity in any product whenever any protected industry objects!
Does any reasonable man suppose that the Republican Party could overcome the opposition of the Home Market Club to a genuine reciprocity treaty?
If you want extended trade with Canada, if you want to see a marvellous industrial growth in Massachusetts, Vote for ALTON B. PARKER electors for President!!
Massachusetts Democratic State Central Committee.

TAKEN TO COURT

Legality of Committee Assessments Will be Tested

Writ of Mandamus Served on Sec. O'Brien to Show Cause Why He Will Not Give Francis Donahue Nominations Papers, Even Though Donahue Refuses to Pay Assessment

Francis A. Donahue of ward three, who wants to be a democratic candidate for the legislature without giving up the assessment levied on candidates, has secured a writ of mandamus, ordering Sec. J. Frank O'Brien to appear before court on Tuesday and show cause why he should not give Donahue his nomination papers.

It is alleged that Donahue refused to pay the assessment of the city committee and demanded his nomination papers from Sec. O'Brien. The latter refused to produce the papers unless Donahue could show him a receipt from Treasurer O'Brien.

Mr. Donahue decided to take legal steps in the matter and brought his case to the attention of John L. Hunt, Esq.

Mr. Hunt presented the case before Justice Lathrop of the supreme court in Boston yesterday morning, and after hearing the petition the justice authorized the issue of papers notifying Secretary O'Brien to appear before the supreme judicial court in Boston next Tuesday morning, to show cause why nomination papers should not be issued to Mr. Donahue without an accompanying assessment.

The notice was served upon Mr. O'Brien in his office yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Clark.

The petition which has been drawn up by Lawyer Hunt to be presented before the court Tuesday morning is as follows:

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

Suffolk ss.

Francis A. Donahue, Petitioner for Mandamus.

The Petitioner, Francis A. Donahue, says that he is a citizen of Lowell in the county of Middlesex, a voter therein and has been for several years a recognized member of the democratic party; that in conformance with the provisions of Chapter II of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts, nomination papers were issued to John F. O'Brien, secretary of the Democratic City Committee of said Lowell by the Clerk of said City of Lowell without any payment of any money or pecuniary conditions as to the same, and the said nomination papers did nor under the provisions of said Chapter, become the property of said John F. O'Brien, or of the said Committee, that he represents, but remained the property of the source that issued them, and under the provisions of said Chapter are returnable to the City Clerk of said City of Lowell after the same have been filed with the Secretary of said Committee that nomination papers would be issued by him to applicants therefor, and no condition as to the payment of any money or thing for the issue of the same was made therein, and the Petitioner in conformance with the terms of said notice, and having legal right to obtain from said Secretary nomination papers so issued, made application to the said Secretary of said Democratic City Committee for nomination papers as a candidate for the nomination by the Democratic voters of his district, comprising wards 1, 2, 3 and 6 of said City of Lowell and was informed by him that the nomination papers would not be issued until he had paid to the Treasurer, of the Democratic City Committee, Patrick J. O'Brien, a sum of money, to wit: $25.00, therefor, and exhibited to him, said John F. O'Brien, the receipt of said Treasurer for the same. Your Petitioner demanded the issue by said John F. O'Brien of said nomination papers without the payment of any sum of money therefor, but the said Secretary of said City Committee unlawfully refused to issue them to or for him unless said payment was made as aforesaid, and still refuses and your Petitioner has not been able to obtain the same.

Wherefore your Petitioner respectfully prays the Honorable Court to issue its writ of mandamus in favor of your Petitioner to be directed against said John F. O'Brien to restore your Petitioner to the full exercise and enjoyment of all his rights as said candidate for said nomination, and as to the issue by said John F. O'Brien, of said nomination papers to applicants for the same to him, and not further to deny, interfere or abridge them.

FRANCIS A. DONAHUE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Middlesex ss. Sept. 8, 1904.

Then personally appeared Francis A. Donahue, the above Petitioner, and made oath to the truth of all the foregoing matters and statements by him subscribed.

Before me,

JOHN L. HUNT,
Justice of the Peace.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Suffolk ss. Supreme Judicial Court.

In the foregoing petition it is ordered that the petitioner give notice to the said respondent to appear before the justice of this court to be holden at Boston within and for said county of Suffolk on the thirteenth day of September current at 9.30 o'clock A. M., by serving him an attested copy of said petition and of this order thereon, forthwith that he may then and there show cause why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

By the court.

Sept. 9, 1904.

WALTER F. FREDERICK,
Assistant Clerk.

A true copy of said petition and order.

Attest.

WALTER F. FREDERICK,
Assistant Clerk.

At the hearing before Justice Lathrop yesterday morning Lawyer Hunt called attention to the provisions of the election laws relating to the matter of obtaining nomination papers, and pointed out to the judge that there had been a violation of the same.

He does not predict that a legal battle will ensue, but says Mr. O'Brien will be instructed by the court to deliver the nomination papers to his client.

TWO BOSTON BOYS

Mr. Woodbury of Pelham Caused Their Arrest

George H. Moulton, 16, and Henry A. Walsh, 15, two Boston lads, were arrested in this city by Inspector John Walsh last evening and are now at the police station awaiting the arrival of their parents from Boston.

George and Henry started out last Saturday on a tour of inspection. They visited Lexington and Old Concord and talked of the battles that had been fought. They grew eloquent when they saw a monument and were rich in reminiscense when they came upon a cannon. Although the cannon's mouth was forever silenced they talked of its destructive powers until their fever for adventure grew apace and instead of returning to Boston as was originally their intention they set out to see other places and other things.

They went on and on and finally landed in Pelham, N. H. Their desire for adventure began to fade when they were unable to provide for the inner man. When they arrived in Pelham they looked so hungry that Mel Woodbury, the fellow who runs the store and other things near the monument, set out to pinch them.

Just as he was about to do so the boys boarded a car for Lowell and a new idea occurred to Mel. He telephoned to the Lowell police and told them that two hungry and suspicious looking youngsters were on the car that would arrive in the square at such a time. Inspector Walsh was on hand when the car came in and the boys were arrested. Young Moulton has satisfied himself on one point. He told the police he had arrived at the conclusion that a boy's best friend is his mother and he wants to get back to her just as fast as steam will carry him.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

At the regular meeting of Passaconaway tribe last night two applications were received. The adoption degree was conferred on six palefaces. At the next meeting six more palefaces will receive the adoption degree. Visiting brothers were present from sister tribes and spoke on the order in general. At the close of the meeting a musical program and whist and a social hour were enjoyed.

Woman's Relief Corps, No. 33, spent a pleasant afternoon and evening at the home of one of their members, Mrs. Shay, 75 Foster street, Thursday. An elaborate supper was served at six o'clock and the event was graced by the presence of Rev. George F. Kenngott, pastor of the First Trinitarian-Congregational church. Two army nurses, Mrs. Lacy of Rahway, N. J., and Mrs. Smith of this city, were also present.

Music, both instrumental and vocal, was enjoyed by the large crowd present. A number of Post 129 comrades helped to make the affair pleasant and one to be long remembered.

A new council to be known as Campeau council, has been formed within Court St. Antoine, No. 566, Catholic Order of Foresters, consisting of 35 members, upon whom the second degree was worked at the last regular assembly of the court. The council was named in honor of Rev. Fr. Campeau, O. M. I., chaplain of Court St. Antoine.

The officers of the new council are: Dr. G. A. Puyette, grand supreme chief; Denis Deschenaux, vice supreme chief; Leonce Farlin, grand supreme prophet; Michael Lafleur, past supreme chief; Azarie Thibault, supreme treasurer; Arthur N. Boulais, supreme secretary; Alfred Cloutier, supreme conductor; Eugene Boudreau, supreme sentinel; Henri Desmarais, grand supreme commander; J. Labelle and J. Montminy, supreme lieutenants; supreme guards, Benjamin Lepine, W. Gauthier, C. Dufresne, A. Genest, G. Michaud, J. Lamare, A. Mercier and J. Comeau; grand supreme physician, Dr. George E. Caisse.

IRISH DELEGATES

HON. JOHN E. REDMOND, THE IRISH LEADER WHO WILL SPEAK IN LOWELL NEXT TUESDAY.

Got a Rousing Reception in Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—An enthusiastic and warm-hearted reception was given the Hon. John E. Redmond and his Irish colleagues in parliament when they arrived in Boston last evening. They have come here to meet their countrymen and the friends of the Emerald Isle at a mass meeting in the Boston Theatre tomorrow evening, and their coming has been looked forward to with much interest.

For several days Mr. Redmond and his associates have been in New York.

Mgr. Denis O'Callaghan of South Boston and a large number of the other members of the reception committee, including Thomas B. Fitzpatrick, national treasurer of the United Irish League; John O'Callaghan, national secretary of the league; Dr. P. J. Timmins, president of the central council, and Dr. T. J. Dillon, president of the Boston council of the league; Daniel P. Sullivan, M. J. Jordan, Mark H. Crehan, M. A. Toland, Michael A. Mayner and Michael P. Curran, were at the station to greet the Irish envoys, and when Mr. Redmond and his party appeared he was cheered again and again.

After the greeting of the city had been extended to Mr. Redmond and his associates, carriages were taken for the Hotel Lenox, where they will make their headquarters during their stay in the city.

During the evening many prominent Irish-Americans called at the hotel to meet Mr. and Mrs. Redmond and their charming daughter, Esther, and the other members of parliament.

The local branches of the league held meetings during the evening to complete arrangements for the reception tomorrow evening at the Boston Theatre. A large sale of tickets was reported, and Mr. Redmond will face a representative gathering of the Irish cause when he rises to explain the present condition of affairs in his native land.

Mayor Collins, who will return from his vacation to meet the Irish envoys, will preside.

In addition to Mr. Redmond, the speakers will be Capt. A. J. C. Donellan, M. P.; Patrick O'Brien, M. P., and the Hon. W. Bourke Cockran of New York. Mrs. Redmond and her daughter will occupy one of the private boxes at the reception.

COMING TO LOWELL TUESDAY.

The committee on arrangements for the reception to the Irish envoys, Messrs. Redmond, Donohue and O'Brien met at Barristers hall last evening and heard reports upon various matters pertaining to the home rule demonstration in Huntington hall on Tuesday evening.

It was announced that Div. 2, A. O. H., had voted to turn out as escort to the Irish visitors from the depot to the hall or from the American House to the hall.

It is understood that if the other divisions of the A. O. H. do not find it convenient to take action on the invitation to turn out, all the individual members thereof who wish to turn out in regalia will be welcome to join Division 2. A committee was appointed to see the Irish envoys today so as to ascertain the time of their arrival and other details which will be reported to the escorting society tomorrow. Orders for the turn out will then be published in Monday's papers.

The mayor of the city, members of the city council and all the local legislators together with many prominent citizens have been invited to attend.

The United Irish League will meet at Jackson hall tomorrow evening to complete the arrangements.

Mr. Redmond's wife and daughter, accompanying him on his tour, will probably visit Lowell on Tuesday evening.

ABBOTT JEWELS

COURT SAYS WIDOW CANNOT RECOVER THEM.

FALL RIVER, Sept. 10.—Another phase of the litigation over the property of the late Dr. John H. Abbott, a former mayor of this city, was heard yesterday before Probate Judge Fuller. Mrs. Elizabeth C. Abbott, the widow, sought for the removal of O. Elton Borden as executor, alleging that he had not properly administered the estate, and had not properly prosecuted a claim against Dr. A. C. Dedrick, Dr. Abbott's nephew, for the diamonds left by the doctor. It was shown that the jewels were given to Dr. Dedrick by Dr. Abbott, but remained in the possession of the latter. The petition was denied, Judge Fuller saying that the executor was not obliged to commence expensive litigation that would eat up the estate.

KILLED BY FALL

WOMAN FOUND DEAD AT FOOT OF FLIGHT OF STAIRS.

HINGHAM, Sept. 10—A woman employed as a domestic in the family of C. P. McCaffrey, a Boston undertaker, whose summer home is on Rockland street, was found dead at the foot of a flight of stairs in his home last evening with her neck broken. The woman, of whom little is known, came from Boston Thursday morning, securing the position through an employment office.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. McCaffrey and family had been out sailing, leaving his mother, a hired man and the servant at home. When he returned about 5.30 the hired man said to him: "I guess the woman servant must have gone back to Boston—I can't find her."

Mr. McCaffrey then began a search about the house. During the conversation with the hired man he had been standing at the rear of the house and started to enter through the rear entrance.

At first he was unable to open the door, but after a struggle, it was finally forced and there at the foot of the stairs lay the body of the woman. She was facing the floor and had a dustpan in her left hand. The last seen of her was about 4 o'clock and it was nearly 6 when the body was discovered. Medical Examiner J. W. Spooner was notified and pronounced death to be due to accident, her neck being broken by the fall.

The dead woman was about 5 feet 6 inches tall, and weighed about 200 pounds. She had mixed gray hair. In her clothes was found a bank book made out in the name of Miss Margaret McArt, and calling for a little more than $200 on the East Cambridge savings bank.

Among other effects found on her person was a letter addressed to Miss Magaret McArt, 17 Davis street, Boston, Mass., and dated June 17. A small trunk which she brought with her had not yet been opened.

NOT GOOD EVIDENCE

JUDGE STONE MADE AN IMPORTANT RULING.

CLINTON, Sept. 10.—This has been a week of important decisions by Judge C. C. Stone of the district court. If yesterday's finding in a liquor case is sustained generally in the practice of the courts of the state there will have to be adopted a new method of procedure in the office of the state chemist.

Judgment was yesterday given by Judge Stone in the case of Edward C. Graham of Fitchburg, a manufacturer of hop ale. The case of the police rested entirely on the certificates of the state assayer of analysis of samples of the hop ale seized by Chief of Police O. B. Bates.

These certificates showed that the samples contained respectively, 1.34, 1.10 and 1.06 per cent. of alcohol. The legal limit fixed by statute is 1 per cent., an excess of that amount of alcohol making an intoxicating liquor out of a temperance drink in the eyes of the law.

Counsel for the defence objected to the admission of the certificates as evidence, and argued that they did not bear the official seal of the state assayer, which, he claimed, was necessary to make them legal. Judge Stone for two days considered the matter, and yesterday morning, on the ground that the certificates were not admissible without being sealed, found the defendant not guilty and ordered his discharge from custody.

The police are now somewhat at sea in the matter. Certificates similar to those presented in the Graham case have been used to secure the conviction of several people of illegal liquor traffic in the past few months. Chief Bates, knowing that the matter turned on the admissibility of the certificates, has had a conference with State Assayer Albert E. Leach, in which the latter said that he never had an official seal, that none of his certificates were sealed, and that never before had the question of their being admitted as evidence been raised.

CURTIS MISSING

THE GIRL HE DESERTED TOOK POISON.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 10.—Officials are looking for a man who, under the name of Curtis, is accused of marrying or promising to marry, Mamie Lalando, a French-Canadian girl, when, according to his own admission, he had a wife and child living at Hartford, Ct. Curtis has disappeared and Miss Lalando is dead from swallowing paris green.

Curtis, who claimed to be a near relative of J. Pierpont Morgan, was a patient at the Britannia private hospital. While there he met Miss Lalando. Two weeks ago Curtis disappeared and a few days later Miss Lalando was arrested, charged with stealing from her employer. The next day she committed suicide by taking paris green.

The officer who made the arrest admitted afterward that he had furnished the girl with money to procure laudanum for toothache. The newspapers then took up the case and forced the officials to begin an investigation. No trace of Curtis has been found.

LARGE INCREASE

In Attendance at the Parochial Schools

Church Notes From the Several Parishes

On Monday those parochial schools of the city which did not begin the fall term this week will open their doors for the reception of pupils. The schools connected with the French Catholic diocese began sessions last Tuesday and the registration was ahead of that of last year. At the French college which is in charge of the Marist Brothers the books show a registration which passes the 800 mark while at the convent where the girls are taught by the Grey nuns and the kindergarten school for little chaps there are more than 1200 pupils in attendance. Thus about 2100 children are cared for at the schools conducted by the French parishes.

The Sisters of Mary, who have charge of the Sacred Heart parochial school, spent Thursday and Friday of this week in grading the new pupils and performing other preliminary work so that on Monday the regular school work will be taken up. While the pupils were notified that the school term would open last Thursday little aside from the arranging of classes could be done in the two days of this week. The attendance is ahead of the opening registration last September, but as there will be others who will be enrolled next week no figures have been given out as yet. During the vacation a large veranda has been built on the convent occupied by the Sisters and several rooms added.

ST. MICHAEL'S SCHOOL.

Last year was one of the most successful in the history of St. Michael's school and Rev. John J. Shaw, the pastor of the church, expects that the registration Monday will reach the 500 mark. The attendance last year was 435 but Fr. Shaw has every reason to expect a large increase and has provided for any extra call for space by having a new class room laid out. The teaching corps has been increased and this term will find thirteen Dominican Sisters engaged in educating the young people of St. Michael's parish. This means an extra regular teacher and a teacher of music. Rev. Fr. Shaw will celebrate mass for the children at 8.30 Monday morning after which the pupils will march to the school building adjoining the church and take their places in their respective classes.

Sessions of Sunday school for the public school children will be resumed next Sunday.

There will be a reception of new members into the Rosary society the third Sunday in October.

The annual reunion of St. Michael's parish will be held in Huntington hall September 22. The stage performance in which a number of well known young people of the city will take part is called "The Husking Bee" and is one of the most humorous pieces filled with local hits that Lowell people have ever been treated to. There will be dancing, also the usual booths and decorations. The management of the affair is in the hands of Rev. Fr. Mullin.

ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOLS.

There are two parochial schools and Notre Dame academy connected with St. Patrick's parish. All will begin the school term Monday morning. At 8 o'clock the pupils will assemble at St. Patrick's church and the pastor, Rev. William O'Brien, D. D., will celebrate mass. Afterwards the boys will return to the school in Suffolk street which is in charge of the Xaverian Brothers. There will be at least 500 boys at this school. The lower classes will be in charge of Sisters of Notre Dame as formerly. The Sisters of Notre Dame also have charge of the academy and the school for girls. Some of the pupils of the academy have arrived here already and many more are expected tomorrow to be in time to attend the mass on Monday morning.

When asked last evening how work on the church is progressing Rev. Fr. O'Brien said "The work is going along in a satisfactory manner and I expect that the work of slating will begin next week. The outside work will be practically completed and the church closed in by the time bad weather sets in.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

The Immaculate Conception parochial school pupils will attend mass at the parish church Monday morning and the celebrant will be Rev. Fr. Smith, O. M. I. This school is for boys and girls and so fine a showing has it always made that the seating capacity of the school is taxed about all the time. The preliminary work here will occupy little time as all the old pupils know just what classes they have been assigned to, and the only trouble will be in grading the new applicants. During the vacation season the interior of the school has been painted and decorated and other improvements made that will conduce to the comfort of the young people.

It is expected that the total opening registration for the parochial schools of the city will pass the 4500 mark.

CLEAN, WHOLESOME FAIR

THE MIDDLESEX NORTH SOCIETY'S SHOW NEXT WEEK.

With such a favorable year for fruits and vegetables and flowers there is sure to be a fine display of these rich products of the soil at the Middlesex North agricultural society's fair next week. And after all, what is more beautiful than nature's loveliness as displayed in her variety of apples, pears, peaches, plums, apricots and other fruits as well as in the coarser but none the less valuable potatoes, beets, celery, corn, wheat, oats, beans, etc? Already the assurances point to the best display in these classes ever seen at a Middlesex North fair.

The stock sheds are also likely to be well filled, and the poultry fully up to previous years.

Without introducing attractions of questionable character, which are seen at too many fairs nowadays, there will be a varied list of attractions. The baby show on Friday will doubtless be bigger and better even than this very successful feature was last year, and a new attraction will be the competitive drill for cash prizes between companies C, G, and M of the local militia.

Other good things are being arranged and those who go to the fair are sure to be well interested and entertained.

WOMAN STARVING

SHE WAS FOUND WANDERING IN A PARK.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—A woman bedraggled, wet, and weak from hunger, was found about 9 o'clock last night wandering in Franklin Park, near Blue Hill avenue, on the Dorchester side of the park. She was taken in charge by Patrolman Dupee of the Jamaica Plain station, who escorted her to the waiting room at Blue Hill avenue, where he provided her with food.

After she was warmed, the woman was asked to give an account of herself. She said her name was Miss Beatrice Lyons, 56 years of age, and that she lived with her, niece, Ella McKinnon, at 122 Selton street, Waltham.

She could give no information as to how or when she got into the park, but knew that it was a long time since she had anything to eat. She was taken to the station and sent from there to the Charndon street home. From the woman's condition and her general appearance, the police think she must have been wandering about the park for two or three days.

STOCKHOLDERS KICK

WANT LARGER DIVIDENDS ON THEIR STOCK.

A meeting of the stockholders of the American-Mason Safety Thread company, which operates a plant on Perry street, this city, was held Thursday afternoon in the board of trade rooms in Lawrence. The meeting was called at the request of a number of stockholders, who were represented to be very much dissatisfied with their dividends and the amount of money being paid by the company on the stock.

A number of the stockholders reside in Lawrence and vicinity. William S. Marsh, formerly superintendent of streets there, is one of those at whose request Thursday's meeting was called.

William S. Marsh of Kennebunkport, Me., presided. The situation was thoroughly discussed by the 18 stockholders present.

Mr. Marsh presented a letter from President Lamson of Lowell, stating that he would be glad to hold a conference with the stockholders and furnish them any information in his power. The meeting adjourned without setting a date for a future meeting.

Saturday, Sept. 17, at 3 o'clock p. m.

I wish to call your attention to one of the best opportunities for investment that has been offered for some time at public auction. Two tenement blocks, one of 6 tenements, the other of 2, and about 3000 square feet of land, more or less, situated at 451 Broadway, directly opposite the American Cord Clothing Co.'s building and the Turner Screw Co., but a step to the Lowell Hosiery and many private manufactories which warrant good tenants.

This property has always paid the present owner a good per cent. on the investment, and has a yearly income of $768, and a first class lot of tenants.

The building, No. 451 Broadway, is a three-story building with a gravel roof laid out in flats of 3 rooms each, all piped for water and gas, with water closet for each tenant. The building is well constructed on modern architecture and is very conveniently arranged.

The building in the rear is a 2 1-2 story house of two tenements of 4 rooms each, with all modern conveniences and has always been occupied until recently, and if a person has the time to look after this property and fix the property up a little and give it a coat of paint you can not find a spot in the city of Lowell where you will get such a large return as you can from this property. As Broadway is as fine a street as you have in the city, it has smooth pavement, electric cars, one of the main thoroughfares to and from the center of the city, and a good business street. Look this property over before day of sale as it is to be sold in one parcel.

Terms of sale: $500 must be paid or secured to the auctioneer as soon as sold; other terms made known at sale.

COTTAGE HOUSE AND ABOUT 1863 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 1 STANLEY AVENUE.

Owing to my poor health, which causes me to dispose of this parcel of property, also all my household furniture, for it is my intention to go abroad to the old country and remain there the rest of my days. The cottage contains six large rooms, large hall, cemented cellar, best of sewerage and is in perfect repair. It sets on the southerly side of Stanley avenue, which is a short avenue, running westerly from Stanley street to West street, Centralville. The lot contains about 1863 square feet of land with a frontage on the avenue of about 41 feet. There are four pear trees and grapevine on the lot, and good room on the easterly side which gives it quite a nice garden. It is all fenced in, it is high and dry, and on the whole, makes a very neat and comfortable, small home. The neighborhood is all that could be desired, being clustered with many pretty little homes and good neighbors, and handy to the street cars. Now, as I have said before, it is my firm intention of leaving the country, and the highest bidder will positively buy this place on the day of sale.

Terms: $200 must be paid or secured to the auctioneer, at time and place of sale; other terms at sale. By order of

THREE STORY, SIX TENEMENT BLOCK, STORE AND ABOUT 3237 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NOS. 92, 94 AND 96 CONCORD STREET.

Promptly at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the 13th instant, at the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, I will offer to the public and make a positive sale by auction of this six tenement block, store and about 3237 squre feet of land, in one parcel. While I have owned this property it has been a fine paying one at mostly all times, it being rented to very good tenants. Now other things arising which I have to give my sole and undivided attention, causes me to release that care and attention which a piece of realty of this kind should receive. The block is a wooden structure of three stories, with six tenements and a basement store; there are two tenments of seven rooms each and four of five rooms each. Each tenement has separate cellar, and has separate toilet closets on their respective floors. The whole building is in fair condition, outside of a little papering and painting, which would put it in perfect condition. There is a bulk-head leading to Pond street on the north side, giving easy access for the removal of ashes, etc., from each cellar to the street. It sets on a good solid foundation, is dry land, and has the best of sewerage and city necessities. The lot contains about 3237 square feet of land, with a frontage of about 56 feet on Concord street and about 60 feet on Pond street. There is a small yard room in front, as the building sets back about 10 feet from the street line. The street walks are concreted and curbed and there is no out-lay to make, except but for the few things mentioned above, if the purchaser so desired. It is situated in a fine tenement district, a place where your tenements will always rent, as it is in close proximity with the several industries in this section, handy to schools, churches, and has every requirement for a well located piece of tenement property. It is up for absolute sale, and Mr. Keyes is authorized to positively sell to the highest bidder, on this day.

Terms: $400 must be paid or secured with the auctioneer, at time and place of sale; other terms at sale. By order of

COTTAGE HOUSE OF SIX ROOMS AND ABOUT 3623 SQUARE FEET OF LAND, AT NO. 50 FULTON STREET, AT THE CORNER OF BLINKHORN AVENUE.

Promptly at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, I will make a positive sale by public auction, of this cottage house and about 3623 square feet of land at No. 50 Fulton street. The house contains six rooms and pantry. It sets on the northeast corner of the lot, giving good room on the south side of the house for building purposes. It has a frontage of about 80 feet on Fulton street and about 45 feet on Blinkhorn avenue. This will undoubtedly be a grand, good speculation for someone, as the chances for improvement are very good. Fulton street runs northerly off Lakeview avenue, and this being a corner lot certainly adds to its value. Now, I am determined to sell it to the highest bidder, on the day and time set apart, and someone will make a good purchase.

TERMS: $100 must be deposited or secured with the auctioneer, at time and place of sale.

Saturday, Sept. 17, at 4.15 o'clock

TWO-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 1197 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NOS. 11 AND 13 GARNET STREET.

Regardless of any condition of the weather, I will positively sell to the highest bidder by public auction, this two-tenement house and 1197 square feet of land, situated at Nos. 11 and 13 Garnet street. Being a non-resident of your city, I feel that it is a duty I owe myself of releasing all care and responsibility that incumbers one while holding a parcel such as this, without being handy to watch and care for it. The house contains two tenements of five rooms each with separate cellars and water-closets. This is a good parcel of tenement property and would require but a few dollars spent to put it in perfect condition. It is well located on the west side of the street between Appleton and Middlesex streets, and is handy to the stores and mills. For an investment, one will make no mistake by attending the sale, for at the price it will sell for, its purchaser will undoubtedly receive a large interest on his money, from renting.

TERMS: $200 must be deposited with the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off; other terms at sale.

Make all inquiries of the auctioneer, whom I have left in full charge.

EXECUTRIX SALE. THE BEAUTIFUL WALKER RESIDENCE, AT NO. 14 BELROSE AVENUE; HOUSE AND ABOUT 7837 SQUARE FEET OF LAND.

Wishing to make a settlement of this estate, and feeling that the surest and only way of obtaining best results is to place it before the public at auction sale, so that all might know, and have a chance of purchasing as fine a built modern house, as there stands in Lowell, for in its construction Mr. Walker spared nothing in making it modern, up-to-date and finished. Its exterior is of a pretty style of architecture, with a large wide piazza rounding the south and west sides, large side-bays giving beautiful window seats to the rooms of which they are parts, and setting well high on the lot makes it a very pretty and attractive home. On the interior is a large reception hall finished in chestnut, doors of oak; drawing-room, music room with tiled fireplace and mirrored mantel, a large dining-room finished in chestnut, china closet built in, and oak flooring; library, lavatory, kitchen and pantry; there are four large chambers and large bath on the second floor, servants' room on floor above and excellent closet room throughout the house; the cellar is all cemented with laundry in same, and door leading to garden in rear. It is heated throughout by steam, the boiler fittings, piping, etc., in basement, being incased in asbestos, making it a finished job; it is lighted by gas and electricity, has electric bells and nothing is found wanting in its entire make-up. The lot is high and situated on the north side of the avenue with a frontage on the avenue of about 82 feet, and contains about 7837 square feet. It is at the base or overlooking the beautiful Fort Hill Park and clustered with the many pretty residences at this point, gives it as fine a residential locality as one would wish for. The sale will be an absolute one, and the highest bidder will purchase it.

TERMS: $650 will be required as a deposit and must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off; other terms made known at sale.

Make all inquiries at the office of the auctioneer, who will be pleased to show the residence at any time.
